As if some one somewhere had set the tune, there rises from customary quarters the complaint that our "liberty" is being imperilled. It is being imperilled, they tell us, by President Truman's program designed to check skyrocketing prices that are eating us out of house and home and, unless something is done, will lead us straight to a crash.—Thomas L. Stokes in syndicated column.

More Will Follow

Lena Horne in commenting on Jackie Robinson's triumph with the Brooklyn Dodgers, had this to say: "More important was the triumph of the principle that all men are created equal and can live, work, and play in harmony and happiness if given a decent chance. Jackie showed in a dramatic way that it could be done. More will follow, I am sure."

Apparently it has not yet penetrated the navy mind that every case of arrogant injustice to a native people has become an international question. This is due to the fact that America can be so outraged by the oppression of a minority group by any other nation.—Harold L. Ickes.

HOW UNIONISM WORKS UNDER SOCIALISM

By PAUL FRENCH

In the Soviet Union, all unions are "industrial" in form; that is, all workers in one industry belong to one union, not like in America, where, although there are some industrial unions in the C.I.O., more than half of the workers are separated, rather than united, by "craft" unions.

In the American building industry, for example, there are many craft unions, one for carpenters, another for plumbers, another for electricians, for painters, hod-carriers, masons, and so on.

One result is "jurisdictional" disputes over who does certain jobs, sometimes strikes of workers against workers; and always little local "monopolies" in craft unionism, with "closed" membership, bureaucratic union officials, who extort princely "salaries" equal to those of bankers, who are therefore far from even having any ideas or interests in common with real workers, and who build up a "machine" that keeps them in office by terrorizing the union membership, sometimes as long as they live, officials who not infrequently are bosom friends with the corporation chiefs whom they are supposed to "fight."

There's nothing like that under socialism. Because "depressions" are impossible, and there is always work for everybody, there are no "jurisdictional disputes" possible, besides there being for example, no separate craft union of one craft trying to shove another craft union out of certain jobs.

In the Soviet Union, all unions are run under a system called "democratic centralism." Fundamentally, this democracy in the unions is rooted in the democracy of the whole social system, in which the whole working class owns, collectively, all the industries, benefits by higher wages, lower prices and better social and cultural improvements from any improvement in production.

It is this that makes it seem downright silly for Americans to demand that workers inthe Soviet Union must strike, and if they dont' strike, then such Americans claim that this shows that they are "slaves" Why should workers who own the industry they work in, go on strike? Who would they strike against? Themselves, very clearly. What do people who ask such questions think Soviet workers are, idiots?

Democracy in the unions under socialism is the real McCoy. No union official is paid more salary than he could earn by working as a skilled worker. No $20,000 a year and expenses (and what "expenses"!); no $10,000 jobs for rival cliques to fight over as in the Auto Workers Union in America; no bunch of paunchy "international officers" thinking and acting like bankers and lording it over the membership as in the whole A.F. of L. Not on your life.

Under socialism, every union official must be elected, by secret ballot. And he is always subject to being voted out if he misbehaves. He must report, regularly and frequently, to the membership, and if his report isn't satisfactory, out he goes. And to attend a union meeting in the Soviet Union, is an education in itself.. If a union officer whose work is doubtful makes his report, the union members literally rain questions upon him, questions he must answer, and satisfactorily, too.

Firstly, of course, union officials must work under control of elected committees, they are never little "tin Hitlers" as too many union officers are in America. Union members, who control auditors, hold all officers accountable for funds. There can be no dishonesty there. Nobody, either in the union, or outside of it can impose union officials upon the membership, as so often is done in America, when some "union boss' orders it, or "the international" takes over a local union and puts in officers that the local membership never elected.

Of course, with the real control of their unions built from the membership up, and not from the leadership down, when the national orgainzation makes some decision, local unions cannot disobey it. That's the "centralism" in democratic centralism. Democracy and centralism must go together. Officials must not only report to the membership, but they must publish their reports in trade union papers, and do it before the date of the meeting at which the report is

Helen Gahagan Douglas Speaks

This is Congresswoman Douglas' statement, in part, on the contempt of the 19 Hollywood writers and producers.

In voting against the contempt citations I take my stand in defense of the principles of justice, not in defense of Hollywood or any individual or any individual's behavior before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The Hollywood hearings were a tragic farce. They reflected discredit not only on the Committee, but on the Congress itself.

I do not think that the activities of the Committee are such that they warrant the support of the members of Congress.

While I realize that the procedure essential to a courtroom cannot prevail in a Congressional hearing, nevertheless Congress should not permit this Committee to continue to do violence to our American standards of decency and fair play.

The Committee permitted witnesses to accuse men and women of communist affiliations without producing any evidence to support their statements, and refused to allow the victims of character assassination to refute these accusations.

The Congress must take steps immediately to protect innocent people from the wanton, irresponsible invasion of their civil liberties by this Committee. Congress, which is the instrument of the people, should set the pattern for upholding civil liberties instead of evoking the condemnation not only of liberal opinion but of sober minded conservative opinion as expressed by the New York Times, the New York World Telegram, and the Washington Post.

I hope that Congress will study and prepare a bill which, while in no way limiting the power of investigation, will provide a procedure which will adequately safeguard individual rights.

Regardless of constitutional rights, I personally regret that the witnesses subpoened before the Committee on Un-American Activities did not answer the question put to them as to their political affiliation. I think it would have cleared the atmosphere. I don't know whether or not there were any Communists among those subpoened. But whether people are Communist, Republican, or Democrat they are entitled to decent and orderly treatment in accordance with American principles. We cannot fight totalitarianism by adopting it . . .

How then de we combat Communism? Certainly not by wordy speeches against Communism. People can't eat words.

Clothes Make The Difference

Go into a restaurant in any of the states below the Mason and Dixon line, as a Negro, and you'll be kicked out. Wear a turban—and you'll be treated like Princess Elizabeth fairy prince.

This fact was proved recently by the Rev. Jesse Weyman Routte, 39-year old pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Jamaica, New York City.

Rev. Weyman accepted an invitation recently to sing and play and to lecture in a Negro church in Mobile, Alabama.

But Rev. Weyman knew all about the Jim Crow regulations on trains below that dividing line, and about Jim Crow rules everywhere in the South. So - - - this clever Negro clergyman, lecturer, and singer rented a turban and dressed himself up a prince of the Far East.

The result? He was received with great acclaim everywhere he went. He rode in the section of the train reserved for white people, ate in "white" restaurants, and as we said was treated like Prince Charming along the line.

That just makes us wonder if the Communists couldn't pull a similar stunt. If those "white" folk in the South couldn't tell the difference between an honest-to-goodness Negro and a "white" man by simply changing his head gear, would the Thomas-Rankin Committee know the difference between a liberal and a reactionary by employing some such hoax on them?

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

The dry, droll humor of Konni Zilliacus, member of Parliament from London, who spoke in the Embassy auditorium last Friday evening, kept his audience chuckling delightedly, but it also served to drive home several well-pointed remarks which might otherwise have escaped notice.

Mr. Zilliocus was one of a group of eight members of the Labor Party who recently visited Eastern Europe, including Russia, to study conditions.

"We saw Socialism," he said, "and we can report to you that it works. We saw countries that had been hideously devastated by war. These countries have received very little aid from the outside. Nevertheless it was an inspiration to be there. For there the workers have come into their own. There is a sense of happiness there. Of purpose. Of high resolve. They know where they're going and what they're doing. They have a plan."

Within ten years' time, Mr. Zilliacus predicted, the world will be astonished at what has been accomplished in Eastern Europe.

In Western Europe, however, there is confusion, instability, with the people wandering about not knowing what to do or where to go.

"In Western Europe," said Mr. Zilliacus, "the people are undergoing a social revolution. And they are rough and tough, the same as you revolutionaries were in 1776. If some of the members of the DAR could suddenly meet their ancestors, they'd have a fit."

In this crisis, he said Uncle Sam was behaving like a middle-aged spinster who had always led a sheltered life. Then one day she went for a visit to a farm and saw the facts of life first hand. "She sure took on in a big way about them," he commented.

"You are closing your eyes to the facts of life," he told his audience. "And when you hear the facts, say about Greece, or Turkey, or China, you get all hot and bothered. One of the tragedies of life occurs when a beautiful theory meets a hard fact. You just can't get rid of a fact."

"We people in Europe are very glad that you have outgrown your isolationism," he went on in his inimitable style, "but we hope now you won't overdo it. We hope Uncle Sam won't take it into his head to go over there and atom bomb us to force us to think the way he does."

Commenting on the Marshall Plan, he remarked, "Of course you should never look a gift horse in the mouth. But we aren't sure when it gets to us, whether it will neigh or growl, whether it will not be ready to bite any government that stands a little to the left of Mr. Churchill."

He said he believed, however, the Marshall Plan was a genuine desire to help. If it isn't, if the only desire is to "spread a curtain of greenbacks over Europe," then Mr. Zilliacus said it could be described as a "humbug—something in which moral insincerity is linked with intellectual dishonesty."

"Of course," he quipped, "Uncle Sam really isn't taking sides. If after taking a course in the Marshall Plan, the countries in question should place the rightists in power, that would be purely coincidental."

Mr. Zilliacus urged the need of the common people to take a more active part in their government, including foreign affairs. "Our leaders are not doing so well. If we believe in democracy, we've got to make it work. No use to put it upon a pedestal, and just talk about it. We must purge ourselves of our self-righteousness. We better not say too much about 'expansion' and 'world sovereignty.' It's very big of Uncle Sam to go half-way around the world to stop American expansion right on the Soviet doorstep. But what would you say if Russia tried the same thing in Mexico or Central America?"

Mr. Zilliacus was introduced by Judge Stanley Moffatt, who met him in London upon a recent trip he and his daughter made to Europe. Judge Moffatt presided at the meeting Friday evening, which was held under the auspices of the American Russian Institute of Southern California.

A Christmas gift everyone will appreciate is a copy of STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK, by Marian Inglewood. The stories are taken from the Bible, the Workingman's Book, and interpreted from the point of view of the workingman. For sale at the office of The California Eagle, 4071 South Central avenue. Proceeds from its sale are used to fight restrictive covenants, particularly the case of the Laws family, ordered out of their home on East 92nd street because they are Negroes.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Owing to a stress of other matters we came near forgetting that it was our evening at Mary Anns. We are quite sure that it was not a sense of hunger that brought the date to memory. We were somewhat surprised when Mary Ann III met us at the door all togged up, dressed as for a party, and so it turned out to be.

"Thought mabe you had forgot," said Mary Ann III. "He better not forgot," came a voice from the kitchen. "These heah buiscuits and chicken can't wait much longer," Well there were all of Mary Ann's III classmates, and we were informed that it was her 14th birthday. After doing ample justice to Mary Ann's chicken and biscuits we were informed that the class was to write essays on the High Cost of Living; especially the cost of food.

It was a good thing that they specialized food, for we were afraid that they might mention some economic problem that furrows the brow of our Congressmen. But as we told them, most problems have a base, and if we can find the base, or the root of the problem, there is a chance that it can be solved. The girls had their notebooks and we noticed, particularly, that the white girl—her classmates called her Beatrice—was very attentive. We stated that the most essential foodstuffs were meat and dairy products, and that grain, such as wheat and corn, was the basic source of such as meat, poultdy, eggs, milk, butter, and by-products from those staples, were all dependent on grain, and that the price of grain determined the cost of our food, and food today, is the world's greatest problem.

We told them that the United States has taken on the task of feeding the devastated countries of the world, and that has created an economic problem for this country, which is puzzling our statesmen. We elaborated on the high cost of grain, especially wheat, which is the world's basic food, and that weather conditions had much to do with crops, and that bumper crops determined the cost. The girls seemed delighted with the information given and Mary Ann senior, said "I sure did learn sumthin' tonight." After partaking of a goodly slice of Mary Ann's III birthday cake and wishing her "Happy Years" we reluctantly said "Good Night."

Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of San Francisco's schools, believes in education for a purpose. In a talk before the Lions Club recently, he stated "That the goal of San Francisco public schools will be to take each child and develop him to the optimum degree in the four field of school endeavor: the academic, physical, emotional, and social." He explained that schools are much better today, than when he went to school, but the problems are far greater. He made the explanation that two decades ago high schools were "highly selective institutions" and some of them had entrance examinations. The result was that the student who failed in the examination did not enter.

He said, "Today's high schools house almost all boys and girls between 14 and 18. They are not selective." There is to be a survey made and Dr. Clish says that, "For years we have been going along giving a watered-down version of the college preparatory curriculum, and we have been turning out students without marketable skills."

"We have to look at the school system and see what it is doing for the individual student," Dr. Clish said.

We remember the time when we suggested that recipients of scholarships, awarded by a certain fraternity, should state their aim in life, we were hooted down as opposed to higher education. If a boy or girl has nothing to offer but the "Gift of Gab" or a befuddled explanation of the U. S. constitution, which is forgotten with the award we are of the opinion still that it is a waste of money. If he or she aspires to a profession where diligent search will be of use to humanity, all good. But if that girl or boy has no further aspiration that a beauty parlor operator or clothes cleaner, they have no need for university training. We heartily believe in education, but one which will be useful, not ornamental.

A recent report from the office of Dist. Atty. Edmund G. Brown, highlights what is termed a high wave of crime in the district occupied by Negroes. It, the survey concludes, "is the result of creating another 'Harlen.'" The Negro population is rated at 42,000, about 5 percent of San Francisco's population. The acknowledgment is made that the rise in crime is due to bad housing, and the unhealthy atmosphere in which the masses are forced to live. We have time and again called attention to the disgraceful conditions in that area, but there has been little, if any, response to our plea. The report also states that the condonence of crimes committed against one another in sections from which many of them come, are serious problems confronting the law enforcement of the city. But that does not say, nor mean, that enforcement of the law includes needless brutality on the part of the enforcers. Too, we object to the general term Negro, without due qualification. All Negroes are not criminals; there are just as many self-respecting, law-abiding Negroes, who deplore criminality, as there are in any other race of people in San Francisco.

The district attorney's office should learn to differentiate and not place in one category all Negro men and women. There is as much difference in Negro social status as there is in other groups. The criminal instinct is confined to no race, or peoples, as criminal records will show. Environment and economic conditions are perfect potents in the acts of any people. Eliminate racial proscriptions and discrimination in living conditions, segregate the criminal class of all peoples, so that the law can be readily enforced, and we can curb criminality generally, and without racial mention.

LAYMAN'S IEW

By Leon W. Steward

NEW DAY ADORNING NEGRO SCREEN ACTORS?

gro actors of the screen y have been going through worst days since they first n to crash—at almost any —Hollywood's casting offices.

Steward

The very few with whom we have been permitted to discuss the matter appeared to have been under the impression that they owed these lean days to Walter White's efforts to lift them out of otyped roles without having consulted the actors themes. Regardless as to the acy of this idea, the effort he NAACP executive to renmoving pictures less offento the Negro appear to have ipitated the efforts of the en Actors Guild towards just very sort of thing—and, if apparently reliable sources nformation to this effect are ect—these later efforts prom a new day to Negro actors— to Negroes generally, who e either been stereotyped as oons, entertainers, or loyal ants of whites or omitted altogether from the American scene as presented by the movies to the world.

The three-point plan for improving the status of the Negro in and by the movies are:

● If a Negro is indicated in a movie script the part will be played by a Negro and the real character will not be changed. (This will eliminate blackened faces with white rings around the eyelids.)

● The Negro will be portrayed on the screen as an ordinary human being and a normal member of the community. The Negro will not be portrayed as a caricature. (Thank heaven.)

● "Some thought" will be given from time to time to casting Negroes in the routine, unnamed bits in scripts, such as gas station attendants, elevator operators, etc. (and as soldiers, sailors, laborers and doctors, we hope).

And, according to a report recently made by one of the Guild's officers, the producers have agreed upon all three of these suggestions and by next year moving pictures will be reflecting the results.

As has been pointed out in this column over a year ago, the reason for this lay-off of Negro players, which has been on for some time, appears to have been the producers' way of protesting their inability to understand as to just what Negro leaders did want. Of course they took for granted it was understood that the producers had to respect the will of the Southern patrons and assumed that Negro leaders understood that the South would not accept even a Negro passer-by in an American street scene or a black man in an American military uniform in a movie. Well, take this as you may, it is our fond hope that the decision to give these three progressive policies a try has been motivated by a change of heart and a broadening of outlook on the part of these men, who in some instances are themselves members of a minority group which knows discrimination first hand.

The defeat of Rankin the Mississippi senatorial race is not the only evidence that even the South is gradually growing up. Surely the moving picture industry should not hesitate in doing so.

With organized baseball, the legitimate stage and the Virginia voters facing a new day for democracy and the Negro let us pray that the great educational and high-wage-offering moving picture industry will lead radio into doing likewise. Congratulations upon the start already made by the movies.

The Singing Measure

Three Poems by Edward Dejoie Burbridge

EDITOR'S NOTE — Although it isn't generally known locally, Eddie Burbridge, theatrical editor of The California EAGLE, is nationally known as one of the better poets of the nation and his poetry has been published in many books, Poetry magazine, Verse, the Crisis, various anthologies and through the Associated Negro Press.

COLOR THREAT

If ever again you wage war
And seek me to bear arms with you,
First we must settle an old score,
Rooted deep without the benefit of song.
With mine the right and yours the wrong.
Defend yourself!
For before I lift a gun to fight your cause,
Before I go to your wars,
I would fight you yourself until
There be no blood left in me,
For my own freedom,
Rather than battle to set you free.

GONE ARE THE BRIGHT DAYS

Too soon the bright days are gone,
Too soon the latch finally rusts upon the door,
And none of us are now here
To laugh and love in life's glowing core.
Ah Youth, you failed me when first I bore the light,
When every starry night
Should have meant excitement, rebirth.
It was you who revealed the world's wide girth.
But it is I returning,
Who now beats upon your door in vain,
Knowing I'll never pass your way again.

GOLD STAR MOTHER

Black I am but five sons I gave,
To America, called the home of the brave.
Five sons and every one I loved,
Every one I nursed from my warm breast,
Every one I thought of as the one I loved the best.
There was Jonathan, his white teeth smiling
From his black face.
Jonathan, bright, keen, alert,
Who smiled even more, whenever he was hurt.
There was Sammy, a devil if one you ever saw,
But it was Sammy who tenderly dried my eyes,
At the death of the childrens' Pa.
There was Johnny, who dreamed silly things,
Like storybook queens and kings,
But whose voice was gold stretched to a thin wire,
As he made Christian after Christian,
Johnny sang in the choir.
There was Freddie, somehow I never could figure him out,
Noisy as a fire bell, always ready to shout.
But though Freddie forever sought his thrills,
Freddie had a good job, he always footed the bills.
Last but not least there was Donald,
So quiet, so polite, ever ready to lend a hand,
Donald, to whom my every request was a command.
He was my baby, I mothered him,
For Donald was sickly, a youngster who
Peered timidly over the earth's dark rim,
Oh, God! how I hated parting with him.
Five dead sons, a dreadful toll for democracy,
But I sometimes wonder, thinking of Jonathan's smile,
If any of my five sons had returned,
Would the effort have really been worthwhile?

Trail Blazers: Max Williams

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

One of the greatest handicaps the Negro suffers today is the unpreparedness of too many of our people to meet new job opportunities. There are many reasons for this, of course, including defeatism inspired by denial of opportunity. Job bias is not the only obstacle, however. We must frankly face the fact that quite often the admitted existence of job discrimination serves as an alibi for lack of ambition, of will to achieve, of intelligent selection of fields in which opportunities abound. All over the country schools are bulging with three times as many students as before the war, yet few are willing to enter the specialized trades.

This is especially true of printing. "The field is wide open," says Max Williams, "and the pay is as high as $2.10 an hour. But the Negro linotype operators on the Pacific Coast are appallingly few. And the demand is increasing in all shops for experienced operators."

Williams, who has been a veteran printer for 20 years, came to Los Angeles in 1925 from New Orleans. He received his education in the public schools in Los Angeles, being the first Negro to graduate from Jefferson High with linotype training. Following graduation in 1929 he began working in the California EAGLE print shop.

At that time the EAGLE was printed in its own offices at 9th and Central until it was finally moved to 41st and Central. Williams has been an intricate part of that pattern that has woven its way into the greater and expanding community. During the war he worked as a burner in the Los Angeles shipyard. More recently, he went into partnership with Rene Hewlett engaging in job printing in the California EAGLE print shop. The boys are doing a fine job in service and patronage.

MAX WILLIAMS

Yes, Williams is a trained linotype operator with 20 years of composition and make-up experience. But he's more than that. He's just a swell 'guy' with a heart o' gold. His generosity is warm and genuine. He's the kind who'll share his last dime with his buddies.

For all that, Williams is still 'one of the boys.' His well-rounded personality attracts people like a magnet. He's a wonderful fella' to talk with and men enjoy his company as well as women. He is the father of two sons, Max Joseph Bass Williams, namesake of late editor of J. B. Bass of California EAGLE, and Garland, by a previous marriage and is now married to the former Marguerite Brown.

An avid golf fiend, Williams won a trophy in 1941 from the West Coast Golf Association Tournament at Griffith Park. However, he's 'wild' about all sports and is a rabid Jackie Robinson fan. Max Williams' ambitions are high. Still a young man. He predicted that the California EAGLE printing dept. will spread its wings across the nation as one of the most complete printing establishments west of the Mississippi.

Our nce, our industry, our art, music, our philosophy have formed and enriched by les from throughout the d.

ur diversity, however, has one disadvantage. The fact the forebears of some of rrived in America later than e of others, the fact that e of us have lived in sepa groups, and the fact that e of us have different cus- and religious beliefs, or erent skin colors, have too been seized upon as justiion for discrimination.

minority, broadly defined, is roup which is treated or h regards itself as a people rt. It is distinguishable by ural or physical characters, or both. The extent to h it can be distinguished ally indicates its degree of rtness. On the other hand, ority lines in the United es often cut across one anr. For example, south Euron immigrant groups are mity groups in relation to older, lish-speaking immigrants. they are part of the white ority in relation to the Negro ority. Members of religious orities may belong either to orities or majorities, based ace or national origin.

ne dominant majority in the ed States is Caucasion, Engspeaking, Protestant, and of paratively distant Anglon or European background. majority outnumbers any icular minority group, algh its dominant position is apparent when the minoriare added together.

nce the colonial period, two t streams of European immiion have peopled the coun- The first was from northern western Europe, and the sec- lasting from the end of the l War to the end of World I, from southern and east- Europe. Immigrants are no er allowed to come in the vast numbers of the past. However, one out of every four Americans is still either a foreign-born white or the child of foreign-born white parents. One out of every five white Americans speaks some language other than English in his home.

Religious differences among Americans have in the past been closely allied with national origin. The bulk of the early population was Protestant, although there were some Catholics and small numbers of Jews among the settlers. The second great stream of southern and eastern Europeans included large numbers of Catholics and Jews.

Of those people in the United States who are church members, a majority are Protestants. In certain sections of the country, however, the majority become the minority. For example, in Boston the great majority are Catholics, and Protestants are a minority. The largest religious minorities in the country as a whole are the Catholics and the Jews. Identification of people as Catholics tends to rest on their affiliation with the Church, just as it does with Protestants. Jews, however, are usually identified as being Jewish if it is known that some of their ancestors belonged to that religious tradition. There are a myriad of Protestant denominations and other religions, any one of which may be considered a minority.

NEGROES THE LARGEST MINORITY

Groups whose color makes them more easily identified are set apart from the "dominant majority" much more than are the Caucasian minorities. The Negroes are by far the largest of these groups. They were brought here from almost the very beginning of our history, in small numbers as indentured servants and in larger numbers as slaves. Many were freed before the Civil War, but most of them were emancipated at that time. Today, one in every ten Americans is a Negro. Our other racial minorities are all much smaller than the 13 million Negroes. But these groups, identified by physical appearance, unique culture traits, or both, are often geographically concentrated. As a result, irrespective of their small number in the total population, theirs are the predominant civil rights problems in particular localities.

The great majority of immigrants to the United States from other American countries have been Mexicans, who began entering this country around the turn of the century. Although Mexicans and persons of Mexican descent, numbering over a million and a quarter, have found their way to all sections of the country, more than three-fourths of them have settled in Texas and California.

Two of the oldest minority groups in the country are the Indians and the Hispanos. The great majority, but by no means all, of the 400,000 Indians live on reservations. The diversity of their original native cultures is reflected in the present groups. From reservation to reservation Indian life varies. The Hispanos of New Mexico and southern Colorado are descendants of the first Spanish settlers in the Rio Grande Valley, and still live in many ways as the early settlers did. There are about 250,000 of them, and they form a majority of the population in some parts of Mexico.

At the time of the second stream of European immigration, we were also drawing immigrants from the Far East, mainly China and Japan. All of them faced the same problems as did the European immigrants, greatly intensified by physical characteristics which no amount of acceptance of western ways could change. The Chinese came, mostly from Canton, in the middle of the 19th century. They were followed by the Japanese in the last decade of that century, and the first two of the present one. The Filipinos came still later. In 1940 there were about 127,000 persons of Japanese descent in the United States, 77,000 of Chinese descent, 45,000 of Filipino origin, and small groups from India and Korea. Before the war the largest of these groups was concentrated on the West Coast, where the bulk of Chinese Americans and Filipino Americans still live. Over a third of the Japanese Americans who had lived on the West Coast before they were evacuated during the war have chosen to make their homes in the East and Midwest.

Our diverse population also includes the inhabitants of areas administered by the United States: Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samo, the Trust Territory of the Pacific and the Panama Canal Zone. More than 2,500,000 people live in these dependent areas. They include Caucasians, Negroes, Asians, Eskimos, Indians, Polynesians and Micronesians. Of these peoples, only the Puerto Ricans have immigrated in substantial numbers to the mainland. In 1940, 150,000 had entered the country, and since then the rate of immigration has increased tremendously. Most of them have settled in New York City.

The varied nature of our population has resulted in differing relationships among groups and individuals. In many cases persons of different races or cultures have shown a high respect for each other, thereby reflecting our belief in equality. But other relationships have been characterized by prejudice and hostility and have reflected our failure to live up to that belief. In this report we are not concerned with the civil rights of particular minority groups as such. We tre concerned with the civil rights of Americans no matter who they are. The record shows, however, that the civil rights of certain minority groups have been in particular danger. After noting some signs of recent progress, we shall turn to a lengthier analysis of the condition of our rights.

SIGNS OF RECENT PROGRESS

Since the assignment of this Committee is to recommend ways of strengthening the civil rights of all of the people, we have naturally made it our business to consider the ways in which they are weak. We repeat that it woud be a grievous mistake to misread this as meaning that there is nothing in our record of which to be proud. There is a great deal; enough, we believe, to warrant our conviction that no nation in history has ever offered more hope of the final realization of the ultimate ideal of freedom and equality than ours. In no other nation have so many people come as close to this ideal as in America. There are many signs of progress and portents of still more to come. Some of these signs will now be noted; others will be referred to as the condition of our rights is examined.

The Committee believes that the greatest hope for the future is the increasing awareness by

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Marion Hurst, formerly conductor of a training course for business employees at the Y.W.C.A. in Oklahoma City, has written The 1-2-3 of Homemaking which gives in brief step-by-step form the acceptable methods of running a household, from changing the baby's diaper to serving a formal dinner. Its aim is to conserve the homemaker's time and energy. Though written primarily for the woman doing her own work there is a chapter for one able to have help. There are splendid section on cleaning and the care and use of household equipment, on table setting and service, on menu planning and the care and preparation of food, on laundry, child care and on the home care of the sick. The book is well illustrated and has a good index both of which add to its usefulness.

A Fistful of Stars by Sarah Lockwood is a first novel by a Wisconsin woman who has studied in Paris and written articles and books on antiques and decoration in which she is deeply interested. After her husband's death she did some lecturing and radio work. This is a heart-stirring story of a young girl, Emil, who at 18 leaves her pleasant home to marry Lint McVey. With him she goes to the crude iron-mining frontier of Wisconsin. She feels happy and secure and overlooks the hardships and discomforts but fails to understand his new interests and loyalties especially to women who seem loud and uncouth if not really bad. As they grow apart a series of tragedies occure—fire, murder, bankruptcy and bitter misunderstanding. How Lint meets these challenges to his manhood and how Emily faces her hour of choices make an exciting and romantic novel with an undercurrent of truth.

Man Alive in the Greatest Profession in the World, is by Robert E. Moore, a former vice-president of two advertising agencies and author of several business publications. It is a book on Showmanship in which he shows how service and salesmanship are the two forces which have brought satisfaction and success to the country's most outstanding experts. The book is invaluable both for the beginner and for the experienced salesman. The author stresses the importance of training oneself by learning everything possible about the company, the products, the customers and prospects, and also the planning of the work and ways to dramatize. There are many apt illustrations in black and white, cartoon-like drawings and a good index.

The Years of the Locust, by Loula Grace Erdman, teacher of Creative Writing at West Texas State college, is a prize novel in in which she chooses her native state of Missouri for her setting. Dade Kenzie, big, wise and prosperous, is so sure of himself he appears almost arrogant, yet he is as simple as the earth. This is the story of Old Dade and of the men and women of the neighboring farms and villages whose lives were changed because they had known him. It is a rich, understanding novel of the bottomlands and rolling hills and we feel the pulsing rhythms of the seasons and of man, of lives interwoven and dependent on each other. There is the feeling of home and kinship and the need of security lying deep in each heart as expressed through the atmosphere of a small community knit together by their regard for a man they all respect and love. Here dignity, drama and humor are portrayed with genuine warmth and friendly charm.

John A. Kinneman's new book The Community in American Society is the result of many years of instruction in this subject. The author tries to show the inter-relations and interdependence between the rural and urban communities, giving information and illustrative data essential for an insight into the community. He gives much attention to the independent metropolitan centers—cities ranging in population from 25,000—100,000 which perform many of the wholesaling and industrial functions and afford access to rural life while at the same time they provide exposure to some of the most stimulating aspects of urban culture. There are suggested activities at the end of each chapter which should be of assistance in applying the material of the book to the actual experiences in the community. There are chapters on the structure of the community and on the people, with special section on minorities; there is a chapter on organization which includes education, recreation, religion, health, etc. It also takes up the functions and the planning of the community. It should be invaluable for students or for those planning to enter public service.

Treasure of the Sierra Madre, by B. Traven is a remarkable story of greed, hatred and violence laid in the wild mountainous interior of Mexico, that desolate sparsely inhabited region where a man can vanish abruptly, never to be heard of again. Three American derelicts journey into the hills in search of a lost gold mine. Desperate for wealth they ignore the fact that all who have before sought the mine have died—supposedly because it is protected by a terrible curse. The men are strangers to each other and the aura of death surrounding the mine makes them uneasy, quarrelsome and suspicious of each other. They suffer from the hot sun, are attacked by roving bandits and the distrust among them flames into bitter dispute, resulting in one near-murder and a brutally shocking climax. It is a strange absorbing novel which is to be filmed later.

THE LIVING SOUTH

PRAYER FOR THANKSGIVING

I never thought, during those years back in Texas, that I would ever be eating Thanksgiving dinner in Massachusetts. But here we are in the state where the Pilgrims celebrated the first Thanksgiving, 300 years ago, when our nation was still but rock and wilderness.

Celia, David, and I, feel like pilgrims and exiles, if welcome ones, away from our homeland. For like those first settlers here in Massachusetts, we have had to leave that homeland because of our opinions.

We are thankful for Massachusetts and especially for two of the many kind friends whom we have made here. Those friends have invited us to come over and eat Thanksgiving dinner with them. That's their way of telling us that the people of the North are backing up the people of the South so that some day the pilgrims and exiles can come home.

And although the Klan has driven us temporarily—but only temporarily — away from home, we have much to be thankful for when we see what is happening down there.

WORKING TOGETHER

We are thankful for the fact that more Negroes and more whites are organized and working together for a new South than at any time in the bloody, tortured history of Dixie. We are thankful for the South's fighting young labor unions which have brought this about—which are making our people of both colors understand that "we are all members, one of the others."

We are thankful for Southern Negro fighters like Moranda Smith of North Carolina and Southern white fighters like Mabel M. Weir, Sunday school teacher and assistant research director of the Oil Workers International Union, CIO, in Fort Worth, Texas.

And the Thanksgiving prayer that I shall read to my family and friends, next Thursday, is one that Mrs. Weir wrote for her union. Thinking that you also may want to read it at your Thanksgiving table, I reprint it from a recent issue of Economic Justice, official organ of the National Religion and Labor Foundation.

The prayer is called "Litany for Labor." Here it is:

"Our Father, today in America are men who cherish the rich heritage of martyrs for a cause, men whose fathers bled and died on the economic front, men who still bear the scars of persecution for their beliefs; but whose children, by Thy grace, will be free to speak and to hear, to see and to evaluate.

"Lord God, bless the labor movement.

"Give us earnest endeavor, unflagging courage, and the conditioning for personal sacrifice for the attainment of the common good. Purge us of selfish desire.

"Lord God, bless the labor movement.

"Father, help working people everywhere join together to eradicate the sins of prejudice, injustice and intolerance. May we go forth in the light of new knowledge to advocate equal rights and equal opportunity for all our fellow beings.

"Lord God, bless the labor movement.

"Gird us with the armor of righteousness and the sword of faith to pit our numerical strength against the power of the American Dollar.

"Lord God, bless the labor movement.

"May we see that we are not only worthy of our hire, but that we get the fruits of our worthiness.

"Lord God, bless the labor movement.

"In all humility and sincerity, we pray in the name of the Giver of all Good Gifts.

"Lord God, bless the labor movement.

"Amen."

How Unionism Works

to be discussed. So every worker can study it and criticize it.

Labor unions under socialism have many differences to those under capitalism. For instance, in the U. S. S. R., unions nominate candidates for government positions. And who ever heard of such a thing in the United States? Unions administer funds collected by the government for such purposes as insurance against accidents, sickness, and so on.

The unions own and operate vast networks or "rest homes" and sanitariums and the sweetest vacation hotels in the southern sub-tropical parts of the country. Imagine what it would be like if the unions here in America owned and operated the best hotels in southern California and Florida, and sent sick and convalescent workers there to recover and rest up—with no charge to such workers whatever. The social insurance fund even pays their railway fare to get there and back.

Naturally, with these advantages, most workers in the Soviet Union join the union. But they don't have to in order to get work. There are about 25,000,000 workers in the Soviet trade unions, over twice the number as belong to unions in the United States. You can see the reason why. Unionism works differently under socialism. Differently and a lot better.

Defective rear windows as well as windshields are now unlawful. A police officer may arrest you and require you to produce in court that evidence that your rear window, as well as your windshield, conforms to requirements of the code.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

As the Christmas season again approaches, the Los Angeles postal system is confronted with one of the greatest mail handling jobs in history. This is in part due to the great increase in population in this area and also because of the prosperous times we are now enjoying.

With normal postal facilities and personnel now taxed to the limit in all departments of the Post Office, it will be necessary to ask the public to cooperate in mailing packages and Christmas greetings before December 10 in order that the heavy volume of Christmas mail will be delivered on time.

If every citizen will take this warning seriously, it will be possible to have all Christmas mail delivered before Christmas day.

During the next few weeks you will receive news releases and other publicity material concerning this important campaign. It is mainly through your medium that we can tell our story and we shall be greatly indebted to you if you will give us as much space as possible in the pages of your publication.

If, at any time, you desire any further information, will you please telephone us at MAdison 7411, Extension 855.

Sincerely,
MICHAEL D. FANNING,
Postmaster.

Films Shown at Quarterly Meeting Of Women's Christian Temp. Unions

The quarterlymeeting of 17 Women's Christian Temperance Unions was held in the People's Independent church, 105th and Wilmington, last Thursday. Mrs. Esther Isaacs, state organizer and president of the quarterly meeting, presided.

As a memorial for prayer and praise to God, five lovely children were taken into the organization as "white ribbon" recruits. Mrs. Meadows, of the South Los Angeles mortuary, was enrolled as a member of the South Los Angeles Union.

A delicious luncheon, which broke the program for the morning and afternoon sessions, was served in the beautiful reception rooms of the church.

In the afternoon motion pictrues were presented by Mrs. Ruth L. Gates, first vice-president of the State W.C.T.U. They showed "The World's W.C.T.U. Convention" held last summer in New York City; and "When Tomorrow Comes," a youth educational program.

A liberal collection was given for the Educational Fund.

Truman Urged Drop Reported Plan for Raids

The Los Angeles county Democratic central committee has urged President Truman to call off the mass arrests of progressives and Communist party leaders forecast by O. John Rogge, former special assistant to U. S. Atty. Gen. Tom Clark.

Opposition to the predicted mass arrests were voiced in a special resolution introduced at the committee's last meeting by Writer Frank Scully and Bob MacKay, leading Hollywood Democrat.

Rogge charged recently that the Administration was planning widespread arrests to further promote its current war scare.

The resolution expressed apprehension that "these actions will serve as a spearhead against organized labor, culture and the press."

Count Basie To Open Tues. At Meadowbrook

Count Basie, often referred to as the "Jump King of Swing," moves into beautiful Meadowbrook Gardens Tuesday night, Dec. 2, with his sensational orchestra and entertainers.

Los Angeles lovers of swing are expected to turn out en masse on opening night to greet the good Count, a great favorite here in swing circles.

Jimmy Rushing, blues singer with the orchestra, and other entertainers will help make a trip to Meadowbrook, 8781 W. Washington Blvd., Culver City, one of supreme enjoyment.

AVOIDS STAGE

A New York play is definitely out for Greer Garson. The star, who has been having a whirl in New York, wired Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer that she returns to Hollywood, and will be immediately available for her new picture, "Julia Misbehaves."

LIVER

Auto-Toxemia—Biliousness

Don't be discouraged: Read what this famous doctor says: "This condition is very common, and is present in nearly every disease. Often when a complete physical examination will not disclose any organic disease, and where the diagnosing physician is baffled as to the cause of the patient's depression, it will be found that he is simply suffering from a form of self-poisoning from the products of perverted metabolism, the poisons thus engendered not being sufficiently eliminated through the usual channels for the purpose.

"In my office experience I have had many patients present themselves to me for examination, who have been put through most exhaustive examinations by other physicians who have told them to go home and forget about their troubles; that there was really nothing wrong with them; that they only imagined they were sick; or that they must be nervous. If these patients do not suffer from pain, and I cannot discover any organic disease, I always assume that they are suffering from some form of toxemia, which is, in almost every case, produced by poisons manufactured within their own bodies, but which have not been eliminate. The toxins produced in the organism alter the chemistry of the blood and other fluids in which the tissues of the body live..

"Perfect health depends upon the proper chemistry of the fluids of the body.

"This self-poisoning is produced mainly by the following factors:

"When the body is enervated by a waste of mental or physical energy there will often not be enough nerve force to operate the eliminative functions properly, and the normal wastes of the body will not be thrown out rapidly enough, but will remain in the tissues and interfere with the normal functioning of the organs and glands. Constipation exists in nearly every case of auto-toxemia, and is responsible for providing much toxic material which over-burdens the blood with waste products. If more food is used and digested than the tissues can assimilate there will be an excess of unabsorbed food material in the blood stream with a consequent state of self-poisoning. If food material in the blood cannot be used by the body for repairing tissues, it will in every case act as a poison until it is eliminated.

"Another cause wirth mentioning is too free a use of those foods which make an excess of bile. The bile is used ts a digestive fluid, and also as a method of excreting poisons. Certain foods must pass through the liver in the changes necessary before they can be used by the cells of the body.

"If the liver is over-worked with these food materials, it will not have sufficient time or energy to perform its regular function of excreting the normal wastes of the body.

"Anyone suffering from autotoxemia will feel very depressed, will be tired at all times, and sleep will not refresh him. He will have a coated tongue, a poor circulation, bad color of the skin, and will have "the blues" without any good and sufficient reason."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill columes."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physicians, says: "If the colon is clogged, the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum will have to seek other outlets.

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this breeding place of disease is to wash it out.

"With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea.

"A coated tongue, a sollow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration . . a thin inelastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart—these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. Get relief from constipation. Go to the New Yorker for a thorough cleansing of the large intestine or colon. Trial treatment, $3.00. Treatments at office only. No medicines or drugs. Consultation free—no obligation. 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. New Yorker, 355 So. Broadway, Suite 216, TR. 7031.

480 Leaders Ask Truman Grant Amnesty

Four hundred and eight persons, including leading ministers, professors, and authors from all parts of the country have addressed a joint letter to President Truman urging him to declare a general amnesty for conscientious objectors and other Selective Service violators without further delay.

The letter was released yesterday by Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher, honorary chairman of the Committee for Amnesty. Among its signers are Professor Albert Einstein, Princeton university; Emily Greene Balch, 1946 Nobel Peace Prize winner; Pearl Buck, author; Professor Rexford Guy Tugwell, University of Chicago; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president Stanfordside church, New York; Deems Taylor, composer; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president Stanford university; the Rt. Rev. William Scarlett, Episcopal bishop of Missouri: Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Free synagogue, New York; Arthur Garfield Hays, lawyer; Van WyckBrooks, author; James G. Patton, president National Farmers Union; Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, president National Council of Negro Women; and William Phillips, former U.S. ambassador to Italy.

"It is a matter of deep disappointment to us," the letter declared, "that more than two years after the end of the war, and seven months after the expiration of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, no amnesty has been granted conscientious objectors, Jehovah's Witnesses, and other persons convicted of violating that law. Seven hundred men remain in prison, while thousands already released are still without valuable civil rights. Hundreds continue under the restrictions of probation, parole, and conditional release."

Woodard Stresses Need for Extended Fight on Covenants

"Restrictive Racial Covenants" was the theme of a talk given by Allen C. Woodard III at a meeting of the Compass Group held last Saturday at the home of Vincent Williams, 3515 Fifth ave.

Said he: "Negroes should continue their fight to wipe from the face of the earth all racial sections of the city and write letters of support and thanks to all judges who hand down decisions in our behalf."

Among the members and friends present were: C. E. Spann, Mrs. Esther Worrill, Mrs. Estelle Fleet, Mrs. Mary Dorsey, Mrs. Pearl Scott, Lucius H. Fleet, Mrs. Iola B. Lytle, Uly and Olga Harris, Marie Gibbons, Mrs. Sarah Dobson, Marion M. Hawkins, Jewell Laster, Aileen (Cookie) Cooke, and Joffre Roberts.

Because of the Christmas season only one meeting will be held in December and that on December 20 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fleet, 1926 New Jersey street, when the children of the Campass Group will be given a Christmas party.

Jewish Congress Files Anti-Covenant Plea

The American Jewish Congress, New York, has filed a brief urging the appellate court not to enforce agreements restricting the sale or use of property because of race, color, or creed.

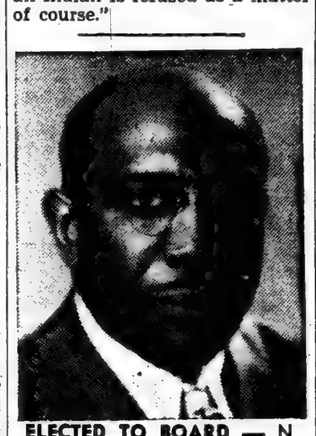
The brief filed deals with the particular case of Kemp vs. Rubin, and argues that the court should set aside an injunction which prevented the sale of property located in St. Albans, Queens, to a Negro.

Minority Groups Watching UN As S. Africa Flouts Its Ruling

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Minority peoples in every country are waiting anxiously to see whether the United Nations general assembly will force the Union of South Africa to abolish discrimination against the Union's Indian population.

Last year the general assembly ordered South Africa to halt its treatment of Indians as second-class citizens. Flouting the UN decision, South Africa's government instituted an economic boycott to starve Indians into accepting their present status as inferiors. The UN must now decide how to enforce its order.

The major discrimination problem in South Africa concerns the country's 6,000,000 natives, who are treated as slaves by 2,000,000 whites. But the UN can deal only with the problem of the 250,000 Indian population, which is an inter-government fight between South Africa and India. The Indian government this week warned Britain that "further deteriorations" of India's relations with South Africa might force India and Pakistan out of the British empire.



VITAL FIGHT

If the Indian population wins its battle for equality, it is generally felt that this will provide tremendous impetus to South Africa's natives and to the struggle of minority people everywhere for fair treatment.

in the army often found himself facing a Nazi machine gun in North Africa armed with nothing more than a pickhandle or spear.

Almost 80 percent of the Indian population is kept illiterate, because the government will not provide them with school facilities. In Natal, where Indians are 50 percent of the population, there are 155 schools for whites, 16 for Indians.

The "master race" does not like competition. An official in Natal responsible for handing out licenses necessary to open businesses summed up his procedure by saying: "A European license is granted as a matter of course, whereas the license to an Indian is refused as a matter of course."

ELECTED TO BOARD — N. Curtis King, M. D., was elected to the board of directors of the Los Angeles county branch of the American Cancer Society at branch's recent banquet at the L. A. County Medical Assn. Dr. King was also, together with Drs. Louis J. Regan and William E. Costolow, appointed to the committee on education.

Flash!

A resolution calling in South Africa to discontinue discrimination against its Indian population failed of passage in the plenary session of the United Nations general assembly when the U. S. joined other colonial powers in opposing it. The vote was 31 for, 19 against, with 6 abstaining. A two thirds vote was needed to pass the measure.

To plead the cause of the Indian minority, A. L. Meet, general secretary of the Natal Indian Congress, has come to this country.

"Equality in South Africa is utterly non-existant," Meer said in a press conference. Since 1885, more than 60 anti-Indian laws have been passed. Today, though more than 80 percent of the Union's Indians were born there, they are deprived citizenship rights.

Discrimination carries over even in death. At one of the few universities that does permit a small number of Indians to study, non-white medical students are prohibited from performing a post-mortem on a white body. As a matter of fact, all Indians must leave the room as soon as a white body is brought in.

SPORTING HANDICAPS

The list of "dont's," Meer said, covers everything from work to play, to keep Indians from learning any skilled trade, a law passed in 1925 prohibits their handling any machinery run by steam or electricity.

They can't use libraries. Their children aren't allowed to ride on the same public playground swings as whites. In most bulidings, public and private, elevators are out of bounds for a man with dark skin.

Another law prohibits Indians from carrying guns. Even during the war, Meers said, this law was kept in force by the Smuts regime. It meant that an Indian

Gov't. to Appeal Rent Act Ruling

WASHINGTON—Acting Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods said yesterday he will appeal "immediately" to the supreme court a federal district judge's ruling in Cleveland that the 1947 rent control act is unconstitutional.

Woods pointed out that two other federal judges at Denver and Hastings, Neb., had held the act constitutional.

The Cleveland decision was handed down last week by Federal Judge Paul Jones, senior judgeg of the Northern Ohio district. He said it was beyond the power of congress to enforce rent controls as a war emergency "when peace was returned in fact."

Santa Monica Notes

By LOWELL EVANS

It is our pleasure to give you this week a brief story and picture on the career of one of Santa Monica's outstanding young men, William Edward King, better known as "Mickie."

Aside from his outstanding athletic career he has demonstrated civic pride in lending every assistance in discouraging juvenile delinquency. While attending college he has found time to work for the civic good and the wherewithal to build a home for himself and his parents.

He was instrumental in helping Santa Monica High win the football championship in 1941. Like a number of patriotic young men, his academic studies were interrupted by the recent World War. He volunteered for service in the U. S. Navy in 1943, and was honorably discharged Dec. 31, 1945 as a BM2/c.

He reentered SMCC, played football and baseball, with an excellent season's record.

Additional highlight of his career is that he is an active member of the First A. M. E. church of Santa Monica.

His ambition is to finish SMC and enter UCLA. This young man believes in progress and should be an inspiration to all young people.

80,000 Witness Colorful Parade in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA—Some 80,000 persons witnessed the magnificent parade last Friday night on the streets of beautiful Santa Monica. In addition to the fine colorful turnout, fine music by the various bands, the occasion was topped by a Santa Claus float that was artistically arranged to capture the attention of the grown-ups as well as that of the children who were waiting so patiently to see the man that they have been making special requests to.

All in all, the parade was a job well done in the interests of Santa Monica business places, with its many reminders that the time is here for Xmas shopping. The business places vied with each other in appealing window displays showing gifts to meet every taste and pocket book. Santa Monicans now know they can get their Xmas gifts by visiting the downtown stores.

And by the way, Santa Monica business should know that the Negro population here is rapidly increasing with Santa Monica's great expansion program. Aside from the 6500 colored inhabitants at present, there are numerous housing units for colored now under construction, the largest in Santa Monica consisting of 102 units. This will house no less than 500 people.

Many private homes are being constructed, too, by newcomers to Santa Monica or those planning to move here. These newcomers, together with the old population, will greatly augment purchasing power. Let the California EAGLE deliver your message to them.

GREEN CONDUCTS

Johnny Green has checked in at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and started preparations for conducting the musical score of "Easter Parade," Technicolor musical starring Fred Astaire, Judy Garland, Peter Lawford and Ann Miller. Irving Berlin wrote the score. Charles Walters will direct the film, produced by Arthur Freed. Berlin will be his associate throughout the production.

Thanksgiving's Smart Bridal Array

LAST MINUTE preparation proved very picturesque to Photographer Vera Jackson as she caught the lovely Odessa James receiving assistance from her bridal attendants. Shirley Rakestraw, brides maid looks on, while Jessie Mae Brown, maid of honor, adjusts train.

Many Attend Reception Following Closed Episcopal Ritual Uniting Vance Jones-Odessa James

The Episcopal ritual uniting the former Odessa James, daughter of Mrs. Beatrice James and Vance Jones, son of Bishop and Mrs. C. P. Jones was witnessed by members of the two immediate families Sunday, Nov. 23, at 3:00 p.m., at St. Philips Episcopal Chapel. Father H. Randolph Moore presided the double ring ceremony.

The bride chose a gown of exquisite white satin with flowing train. The neckline of the gown was of bridal illusion and was elaborately beaded in seed pearl. At her throat she wore a locket, that belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Fannie Hoyt. Her quarter-length illusion veil was held in place by a dainty lace coronet trimmed in orange blossoms, and she carried a white prayer book covered with orchids and lilly of the valley. She was given in marriage by her cousin, Paul Willard Brown. The wedding band that she now wears, is an heirloom that has been handed down in the bride groom's family.

In smart contrast to the beautiful white of the bride's gown, the attendants wore velvet gowns of the new winter shade, Forest green. The skirts were reminissent of an old English period, displaying hooped skirts with slight trains. Jessie Mae Brown attended her cousin as maid of honor, her gown was complimented by a delicate pink satin chapeau with matching plume. She wore pink satin gauntlets and carried a profussion of light pink cornations. Shirley Rakestraw attended as brides maid. Her satin chapeau was of deeper pink with the matching gauntlets. She carried a profussion of cornations in the deeper pink. Lorenzo Morris served as best man, and David Lee as head usher.

Immediately after the vows were spoken, the couple received the blessings of the church. Grace Davis sang the wedding hymn as a background to the beautiful ritual.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Jones. A host of friends were invited between the hours of 4 to 6 p.m. In the receiving line were: Mrs. Beatrice James, the bride's mother. She wore a gown of black lace with gardenia corsage. Mrs. C. P. Jones, the bridegroom's mother wore a peach shade lace gown with gardenia corsage. Mrs. Corinne Eagleson, aunt to the bride, arrived from Kansas City especially to attend the ceremony, she received in a black crepe gown trimmed in gold sequins.

Mrs. Alice Harvey, the bridegroom's aunt received guests at the door, interchangably with Mmes. Marion B. Jackson and Fannie DeMan, cousins to the bride. Other assisting hostesses were: Mmes. Tena Lowry, Nellie Jones, aunts to the bridegroom, and Mmes. May Oliver, Lenora Lathrop, Ouida Pruitt Lehman, Mattie Hunter, Puffy Hill, Yvonne Johnson and Misses Ramona Robinson and Vermuta Dickson.

The bride is a native Californian. She is well known in Kansas City where she resided several years with her aunt, Mrs. Corine Eagleson and uncle, the late Dr. Albert Eagleson. She is an honor graduate of UCLA and is now teaching in the Los Angeles School system. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

The bridegroom is also a native Californian and is a member of one of the city's oldest families. He served over seas with the U. S. Army and is now attending USC, where he holds membership in Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

On Sunday morning, Nov. 30, the newlyweds will be blessed by the groom's father, Bishop Jones, at the Church of Christ, where he is presiding elder.

MR. AND MRS. ROY ANDREW cut the wedding cake at their reception on Sunday afternoon. The bride is the former Gwendolyn Harris, daughter of Mrs. Ella J. Harris. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Andrew.

Andrew-Harris Reception Elaborate Sunday Affair

More than 200 guests attended the wedding reception honoring the former Miss Gwendolyn Harris, daughter of Mrs. Ella J. Harris, and Roy Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Andrew, Sunday afternoon between the hours of 4 to 7 p.m. at Sojourner Truth Home.

The popular young couple was married Nov. 8, by Rev. Robert D. Hill in Pasadena. Miss Geraldine Jones stood as maid of honor, and William Andrew as his brother's best man. Gwendolyn chose a smart gray cut-away suit as her wedding garb and wore a dainty white hat and orchid corsage. Members of the two families attended the ceremony.

At Sunday's reception the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin, featuring the new padded hip line. She wore a wreath of gardenias in her hair, and held a prayer book covered with orchids. Geraldine Jones, the bride's niece, wore a pink taffeta gown, and Bristol Andrew stood with his brother.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ella J. Harris, was very charming in a gray formal gown with gardenia corsage. Mrs. Ruby Andrew, the groom's mother, chose gray chiffon velvet with gardenia corsage.

Hostesses at the lovely affair were: Jacqueline Price, Lenecia Boggs, Frederika Shaftner, Dorothea Rollins and Elsie Butchyer. Receiving at the door was Mrs.

Simmons-Chamberlin Vows Spoken in Home Ceremony

It was an impressive wedding in which Priscilla Louise Chamberlin and David Clinton Simmons were united on Sunday Nov. 16, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Chamberlin of 5523 Duarte st. Rev. J. B. Isaacs, of the 2nd A.M.E. Church officiated the ritual, that was witnessed by more than 200 guests.

The bride was beautiful in traditional white satin gown, featuring a sweet heart neck line and fitted bodice. The veil was of tulle and held by a tiara of pearls. The only jewels worn was a pearl necklace and ear rings. She carried a prayer book covered with orchids.

Mrs. Jewel Dean Jackson served as matron of honor, and Mr. Ralph Isaiah as best man.

The house was artistically decorated in Chrysanthemums. Gardenias and fern. Miss Margie Wooten played the wedding march and Miss Shirley Robinson sang "I Love You Truly."

The reception followed the ceremony immediately, and the young couple received many beautiful and useful gifts.

The bride is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High school, and is now attending East Los Angeles City College. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster Simmons of Washington, D. C.

After Dec. 1, the couple will be at home to friends at 5523½ Duarte st.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THIS THANKSGIVING finds all of us with much to be thankful for. Joining the California EAGLE staff, your social editor wishes for you a very pleasant holiday week-end. . . . While most of us are in the throes of enjoying one of the most promising winter seasons in many a year. Miss Ernie Mae Maxey, the young UCLA graduate who has taken such an outstanding part in the Panel of Americans, is biding her time as the only race member of the Pacific Coast Council on Inter-Cultural Relations. Dr. Stewart Cole is director of the council, whose main job is to educate teachers, in the local public school system, to better race and inter-cultural relations. The agency works through teachers' classes. This past summer its program was at USC and San Jose. At the present time, the council is busy in San Diego. The office of the Pacific Coast Council has branches in New York and other parts of the country. Guess the only successful method to put race relations over in the proper manner is to educate those to the point, who are educating others. Ernie Mae Maxey is one young woman who not only talks race relations, but believes in doing something about it. . . .

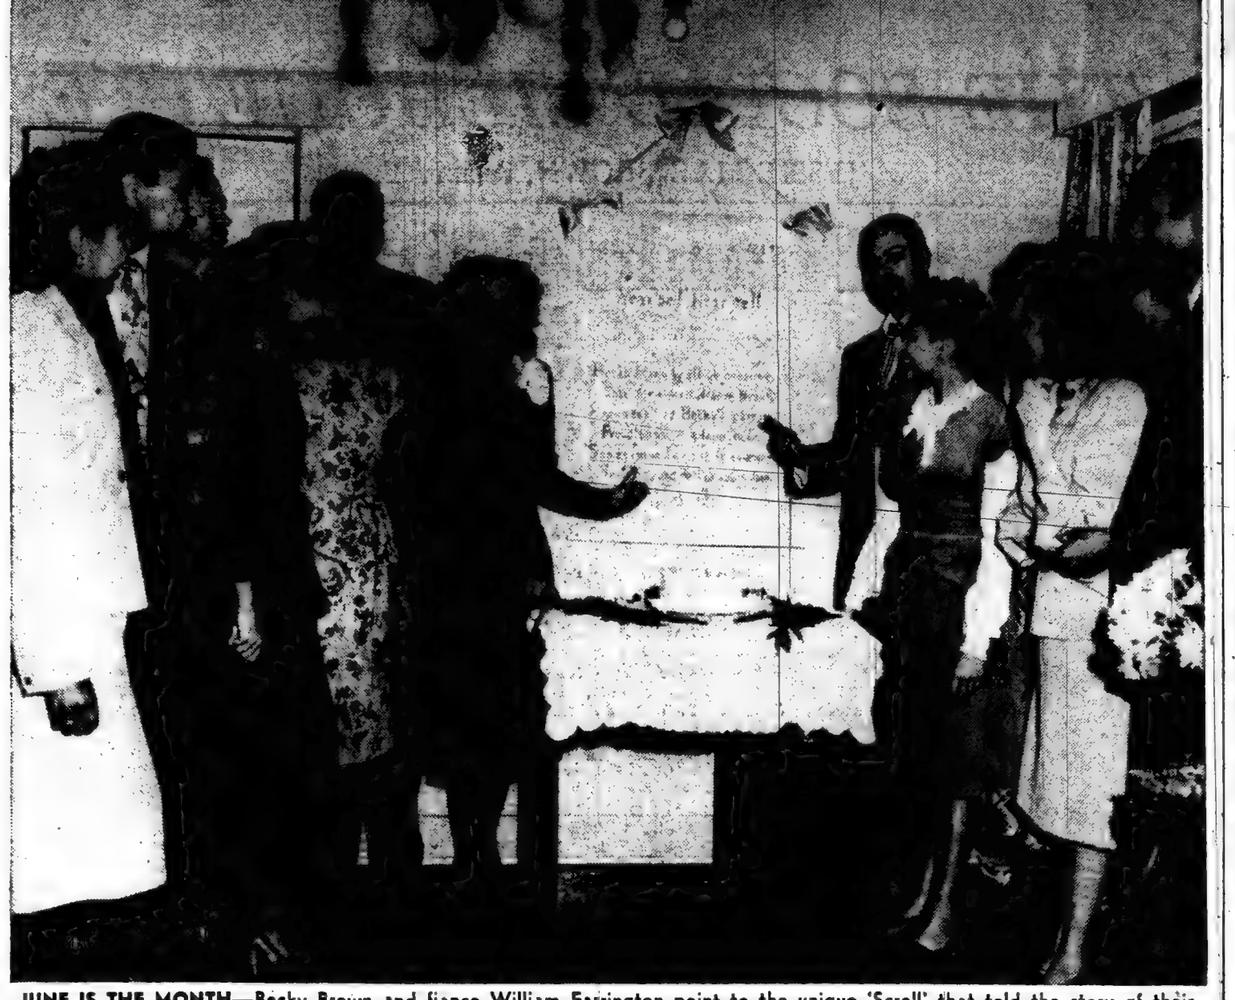
Jessie Mae Brown

I haven't heard much talk recently about the Big Jackie Robinson Day. The American Business Women's Athletic Club cancelled its plans to make a presentation to the Rookie of the Year, on Robinson Day, and made the presentation instead, on Monday night, during the last show at the Million Dollar Theatre. Faustina Johnson, sponsor of the athletic women's club, made the presentation speech, as she gave the world-famed Jackie a gold plaque featuring a Grecian goddess. The Athletic Women's Club has some very interesting plans on the new program for the year. . . .

FASHIONS IN THE LEAD

Still in the line of fashion, we carry on our jottings. . . . Dr. Veda Somerville's S. Harvard Blvd. home will be the fashionable scene this Sunday at 4 p.m. for a private showing of the artistic sketches of the Eastern designer of women's clothes, Julian Dempsey, who recently completed studies in San Francisco on a Rosenwald Scholarship. The ingathering will be in the form of a tea, with the young designer assisted by his mother, Mrs. Mabel Dempsey, lecturing on and displaying his works.

His designs are worn by Catherine Dunham, on stage and also for street wear. The Red creation worn by Ethel Waters in "Cabin In The Sky," is a Dempsey Original, as is the famous Carmen Gown, worn by Rice Stevens of the Metro-Opera. Mae West is another wearer of the Dempsey designs. The young Mr. Dempsey plans to do creations for women of the community, while he sketches and restyles for the different studios in Hollywood. A large group of style-conscious women have been invited by Dr. Somerville to attend the showing. . . .



Looking over other invites for the week-end, ye scribe finds the Talent Show Case on Friday night at Meadowbrook Gardens to be a must. By the way, the Sigma Men and their wives, are still agog over the success of their pre-Thanksgiving super dance given at Meadowbrook last Friday night. Many were those in attendance. Hamp's music was finer than ever and the program was tops. . . . The oodles of "green backs" received from the affair will go toward the Sigma National Convention, scheduled to be held in the dear old South Land of California next year. . . . Back to this week-end's events. . . . The Iota Phi Lambda, Cocktail Party is expected to be a crowded gay gathering Saturday night. Many personalities from the entertainment world have volunteered to make the program the best yet. . . . Those who received invites to the "Playtimer" informal party will more than likely be there with bells on. Mike Taylor's playhouse, the one oftimes mentioned in these columns, will be the setting for the fun fest. . . . Back to Friday night, the 28th, the Collegiate set is all set for the Ivy Leaf Pledge Club's Turkey Trot. Lloyd Gibbons will be on hand to furnish music for the Trot, and Music Town is the setting. Wilda Plummer says that cotton dresses, blue jeans, plaid shirts will definitely be in order. . . . By the way, Pan Hel Council is as happy as can be over the response given in filling baskets for needy families. However, last-minute donations are being collected at 4365½ S. Central. . . .

The Gamma Xi chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity is sending out invites this week to its formal dance Dec. 12, to be held on the UCLA campus. Paul Weaver is acting as dance chairman, and announcing that the new lighting system will be used and dancing will be to the music of a fine orchestra. . . . The Sphinx Club of the Alphas recently held election of officers. James Jones is president; Louie Robinson, vice president; William Slayton, treasurer; George Whittaker, recording secretary; Kenneth Hill, corresponding secretary; Robert Jones, parliamentarian; Hugo Hill, sergeant-at-arms, and Roy Jones, chaplain. The Sphinx and Kappa Scrollers are planning a joint affair after Thanksgiving to greet all new men students on campus. . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Frank Dupas and the former Zeline Trunk are celebrating their second month of marriage. The couple eloped to Yuma. . . . Carolyn Hennington and Mildred Cook are the two new members voted into the Crop 'n' Tail Riding Club, as of last meeting. . . . The Cosmos are getting together plans for the annual Cos-Nog. . . . The Derrick twins are among the new pledges initiated into Delta Sigma Theta. . . . Making deadline, and a very early one at that. . . .

'Til Next Week.

JUNE IS THE MONTH—Becky Brown and fiance William Farrington point to the unique 'Scroll' that told the story of their chosen wedding month, at the very gay birthday party given in Rebecca's honor on Saturday night. Gloria Grouch, Jackie Dickerson, Shirley Rakestraw, Antoinette Brown, Frances Rideau, El Roy Lott, Vic Rideau, may be seen in photo. (See story). —Jesse Smith photo.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Wibert Walton proudly announce the engagement of their niece, Zelma Wallace, to Mr. Henry Douglas (Jack) Hill. Miss Wallace is a native of Texas and has been living in Los Angeles for several years. Her fiance is a native of california. The couple will be married in December.

Rebecca Brown's Betrothal Told at Birthday Party

Many members of the younger social set gathere on Saturday night to help Rebecca Brown celebrate her birthday, at an informal party hosted by her sisters, Mmes. Fannie DeMan and Marion Brown Jackson.

Dancing lasted from 9 until 1, with a midnight buffet supper intervening. A belighted birthday cake was the center of attraction, until a huge parchment scroll, gayly tied in blue satin ribbon was slowly unrolled heralding the news that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown proudly announced the betrothal of their daughter, Rebecca to William Roan Farrington, grandson to Mrs. Louisa Roan. The wedding date will be some time in June, uniting two pioneer families of the city.

Rebecca attended UCLA and held membership in the Ivy Leaf pledge club to Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, her fiance, served over-seas with the U. S. Army for two years. On returning home, het entered East Los Angeles City College.

Among the many collegiates present at the birthday party were: Gloria Crouch, James White, Jackie Dickerson, Elroy Lott, Shirley Spencer, Johnny Weems, Rose Marie Osby, Shelby Robinson, Bernice Regard, Gwendolyn Mallory, Phyllis Williams, Bill and Phyllis Golden, Frances and Victor Rideau, Betty Shaw, Leo Johnson, Leonard Beavers, Harry Jones, Johnny Delgardo, Antoinette Brown, Carl Wills, Eugene Walker, Samuel Strain, R. B. Porter, David Brown, LeRoy Beavers, Bill Randall, Jessie Brown, Clifford Clark, and a host of others.

Salisbury Fete Club With Semi-Formal

The Mr. and Mrs. Social club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Salisbury. Each month the entertaining couple endeavors to make its affair different, so in keeping with the holiday season, the Salisburys entertained the club members with a semi-formal dancing party.

After an interesting business meeting, dancing and chatting were in order. Being very fortunate in having Mr. Raymond Williams, a photographer, in the group, pictures were made of each couple, to go into the historian's book for keepsakes.

Much to the surprise of the members, a vocal solo by Mr. Charles Bussey, accompanied by Mrs. Irene Price, pianist, and Mr. Milton Salisbury, violinist, proved very entertaining.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Smalley from Marysville, Calif., Mrs. Irene Price and Mr. Jimmie Brazle.

The hosts served cocktails and a delicious repast. Everyone had a grand time and are looking forward to the next meeting to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vandorn Sims, 848 E. 119th.

Lomepa Introductory Tea

The Lomepa Pledge club to Iota Phi Lambda sorority was introduced to the public on Sunday, Nov. 23, at a twilight tea between the hours of 4 to 7 p.m. at the beautiful home of Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, 1225 S. Wilton place.

These young business women made the first stop toward raising funds for Iota's sorority house on the West coast, under the direction of Hazel A. MacBeth, dean of pledgees of Alpha Phi chapter.

Music, verse and refreshments throughout the afternoon were enjoyed by the many guests. Members of the Euterpian club, who contributed delightful music were: James Warren, pianist; Arthur MacBeth, violinist; Louise Mesa, soprano soloist, and William De Valentine, bass soloist. Prince T. Patridge rendered readings and Norman Randall, of the cast of "Foxes of Harrow," sang.

Recordings of the program were cut and played back to the delighted guests by George Cutler, photographer.

Messages of congratulations were received from Mrs. Alice P. Allen, National president of Iota Phi Lambda, Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Lola Parker, national president emeritus, Chicago, and Mrs. H. Corine Lowery, national dean of pledgees, Denver.

The Lomepas include: Mildred Thomas, president; Frankie Osborne, secretary; Jewell Lockett, journalist; Gladys Stafford, Scrap Book chairman; Evelyn Brown, social chairman; Lucille Reynolds, treasurer; Wylean Jones, Delochia McClellan, and Phyllis Scott, who was absent from meeting due to vacationing in the East.

'Elks' Fantasy' Presented By Hiawatha Temple 91

Successful beyond all expectations was the "Elks' Fantasy" presented by Hiawatha Temple No. 91 last Thursday evening in the Elks auditorium, 4016 South Central avenue.

The history of the movement which has resulted in the great world organization of Elks was portrayed in song and story. Beautiful girls impersonated various characters in the stories which Robert Strather, president of the Pacific States Association of Elks, narrator for the evening, told with fine understanding.

J. Finley Wilson was portrayed by Archie Mitchell, as Mr. Strather told how Mr. Wilson responded to the vision of interesting the women of the country in the Elks' organization.

Emma Kelley, known as the Dreamer of Dreams, portrayed by Louise B. Fulgham, reclining on a couch, dreamed of what could be accomplished by the women and men of the country uniting in the Benevolent Organization of Elks.

Then came the "Extravaganza of 1947."

Among the many others who contributed to making the program a success were: Willie MacColeman who sang, "End of a Perfect Day"; Eva Fields, who sang "Sylvia"; and Queenie Mitchell who sang "When I Write My Song."

Of especial interest were the songs in which the themes were portrayed on the stage. Among these were "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody" sung by Elizabeth Turner and portrayed by William Cole; "Alice Blue Gown" was sung by Darlene Robinson and modeled by Margaret C. White; "Peg o' My Heart" sung by Robert Strather and modeled by Billie McGinnis; "The Waltz You Saved for Me" was sung by Queenie Mitchell and interpreted by Matthew Lipscomb and Margaret White. Miss White wore a gown by Frances Allen, modiste. Gracie Howard sang "As Time Goes By" and "Homing" as the finale.

All of the furs modeled in the "Fantasy" were loaned by Arkins & Freeman, 411 West 7th street.

Mrs. Echo Stanton Robinson is the Daughter Ruler of Hiawatha Temple, No. 91. Margaret White was chairman of the committee in charge of the Fantasy, and Queenie Mitchell, co-chairman.

Business Men Visit L. A.

Mr. William H. Sharpe, president of the Carver National Life Insurance Company; and Secretary and Vice-President John W. Ware, of the same company, are in the city planning the opening of a branch office which will be located in the Blodgett bldg., 25th and Central ave.

Purnte Hostesses

Mrs. Wilma Dean was hostess to the last regular meeting of the Puente Hostesses.

Christmas gifts will be distributed and secret pals divulged at the next meeting.

After the business discussion, a turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served and enjoyed by all. Exquisite bridge prizes were distributed to the lucky winners as follows: Mrs. Mae Tramel, first; Mrs. Mary Smith, second and roving; Mrs. Thelma Aldridge, consolation. Guests were Mrs. Virginia Johnson and Mrs. Gertrude Barnett, who was awarded the guest prize.

Mrs. Dean was ably assisted by her husband, Mr. Ellis Dean, and Mr. Sandy Varnado.

Next meeting with Mrs. Ruth Beane.

Food Conservation Stressed By Mrs. Lynch At Meeting

Mrs. Alice Lynch, active in civic, social, educational and welfare activities, has been recently appointed to serve on the Mayor's Committee for Food Conservation.

Representatives from many women's organizations, institutions and agencies met with Mrs. Lynch on Monday, Nov. 24, at the Young Women's Christian Association to plan the campaign to cover all women's organizations.

The Young Women's Christian Association will serve as a sponsoring agency not only because the major emphasis of this organization is with girls and women ,but also because a social concern about people and their needs is an important phase of its program.

If you are called upon to serve in any capacity on this committee, please do not refuse.

FOOD CONSERVATION was the topic developed by Mrs. A. Lynch at Woodlawn Y.W. Monday night. She is a member of the Mayor's committee. (See story).

Creative Artist To Display Work

Mrs. Claude Clark, the former Miss Alice Lockhart, of Philadelphia, is visiting her girlhood home in Riverside. She is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, and has a graduate degree in philosophy from Howard University.

Mr. Clark is one of the prominent young American Negro artists. He was born in Georgia. Mrs. Clark has brought with her about 15 of her husband's paintings, and they may be shown later in an exhibit in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Clark has shown much promise as a rising young journalist. She is working with her husband in the special field of tying in her interest in journalism with that of her husband's in painting and photography.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark have shown a keen sense of social responsibility, and in their work in the fields of journalism and art they are increasingly demonstrating their ability not only as creative artists but also as leaders in social administration.

Allen Stars To Give Musical Sunday

The Allen Stars Musical Club will give a recital at the Sojourner Truth Home Sunday afternoon, November 30, from 3:00 to 7:00 o'clock for the benefit of Outdoor Life and Health Association.

Come help a worthy cause and encourage the children. Mrs. Alberta L. Joyce, sponsor.

Beautiful Formal Gowns Shown By Fashionettes at Formal

The Fashionettes did it again on the beautiful night of Saturday, November 15, beginning at the hour of 10:00 p.m. and selecting the Elk's auditorium as the setting to introduce the latest costumes of evening attire. The twlve charming members were stunningly attired and escorted by gentlemen in formal attire.

At exactly 12:15, Honorable Mr. White, Elk's Lodge president served as master of ceremonies, opening the parade of fashions by introducing Miss Jerroline Zetar, debutant of 1947-48. The young Miss was beautifully dressed in a yellow off-shoulder, hoop-skirt gown. This gown was designed by the nenown Lenore Washington. Second on the scene was Mrs. Ida, of Omaha, Neb. Her creation was a two-tone blue crepe, designed by the leading modiste of her city.

Having completed all preliminaries, the more than 1500 guests waited anxiously to look upon the charming group of club women who represent the latest creations in fashionable gowns.

Mrs. Anna Warren modeled an 18th century, off shoulder dress made in California Red satin and designed by her modiste; Mrs. Hattie eBll Bradley, wore a vogue creation of light blue drape effect set off with sequins; Mrs. Alfretta Zetar, was most stunning in an exclusive Marmel Greek gown of royal blue, trimmed in gold sequins; Mrs. Victoria Bankston, wore a wine off the shoulder gown;Mrs. Armentaha Green, was exotic in a green satin drape-effect dress copied from Modes Royales exclusive patterns; Mrs. Isabell Fairchild, displayed a very stunning pink satin gown; Mrs. Rickie Collins was very smart in purple off shoulder dress designed by aPris Gowns; Mrs. Juanita Motley wore a pink satin bare shoulder gown, copied from a Martha Washington design; Mrs. Lovenia Ford wore an egg shell crepe designed with sequins and copied from a Vogue pattern; Mrs. Leona Johnson was stunning in a rose satin Martha Washington gown; Mrs. Anna Mae Johnson chose a Nile green strapless gown of satin and net, designed by Harper's Bazaar. Mrs. Johnson, president of the Fashionettes Social Club worked diligently to make the formal a success.

Keeping in line with the name of the club, the ladies are definitely familiar with the latest fashions of the day. Mr. Anderson was responsible for the very beautiful decorations of the Elks Ballroom. Sammy Franklyn's orchestra played for the occasion.

Nonagenarian Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Floyd of 529 Sloat street were surprised by a number of appreciative friends on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 16. The occasion being the 90th birthday of Mr. Floyd. The friends were members of the Loyal Welfare club of which Mr. Ralph S. Johnson is president. They came and with them there was everything to make a birthday celebration complete.

Dinner was served and the honored Mr. Floyd received many beautiful cards, gifts and flowers from the friends in their sincere felicitations to him.

The Floyds came to Los Angeles many years ago, and it is well known how much they have contributed in fellowship and philantrophy in the growth and development of many worth while institutions of the city.

Among those sharing the happy celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Johnson and sons, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kennedy, Mmes. Dorothy Clay, Lenora Green, Jettie Harper, Mary Hicks, Georgia Horton, Mamie Moore, Helena Smith, Mary Moore, Helena Smith, Mary Williams and Miss Lavarese Hicks.

Artists Recital Is Success For Christian Fellowship

The Church of Christian Fellowship (inter-racial), presented its first "Young Artists' Recital Sunday afternoon at Patriotic Hall. The recital was enjoyed by the audience, and the real cultural atmosphere of the afternoon was enriched by the entire enterprise.

The four young persons appearing on program won the spontaneous and generous applause of the entire audience. After a welcome by Rev. H. M. Kingsley, co-pastor of the church and introductions by Atloa, an American Indian member of the church, the four young artists were presented.

Harriet Harris, pianist, played three numbers, "Warrior Song" by Heller, "Waltz in C" by Chopin and Shubert's "Impromptus." This young Miss was accompanist for the Belmont High school orchestra last year and is presently studying piano with Margerite Bitter at U.S.C.

Irene Miller is a 13-year-old soprano pupil of Ralph Thomas' who is also instructing Deanna Durbin. She employed quite a range in singing Friml's "Indian Love Call," Archta's "Parlo" and "In the Garden of My Heart."

"Berceuse" by Godard, "The Swan" by Saint Saens, and "Liebesleid" by Kriesler were rendered by Zoe Wise, violinist, Concert Mistress at Belmont High school, member of city high school orchestra, pupil of Assistant Concert Master of the Philharmonic and winner of the PTA scholarship in music.

"Polonaise" in A by Chopin was offered by Carolyn Cooley, accompanist for the Berendo High school and advance pupil of Margaret Bitner. The closing number was good interpretation of Johnson's "The Creation" by Murney Marie Hardon, pupil of the actress Laura Bowman at an early age and will represent Dorsey High school in the City Speech Festival.

Mrs. Marie Fredericks was in charge of the project and is due much of the credit for its success.

Madame Wilson Says:

A Woman's Glory Is Her Hair

Mme. Mamie Wilson

Men testify to the potent influence of this wonderful gift. Age is a matter of feeling not of years of living and beauty is a woman's birthright. There is no reason in the world why the majority of our women should grow old-looking and haggard as early as they do. There is one thing the world demands of women and that is beauty. Man looks up to woman for high ideals and draws from her his inspiration. But what holds a man is charm and beauty. So start today and do something about that falling hair, itching scalp and that awful dandruff. Visit Mme. Wilson for a free examination. She can help you as she has helped many others. Mary Mahoney Award Given Mrs. Mabel K. Staupers

Mabel K. Staupers is the 1947 recipient of the Mary Mahoney award for distinguished service. It is one of the most coveted honors in the nursing profession, awarded annually by the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses. (NACGN)

Mrs. Staupers is a dynamic little woman with a vision that reaches international proportions, pierces racial and religious barriers and looks to the future. Today she looks back over 30 years of active service as a graduate nurse and a crusader for full professional status for the Negro nurse in America.

It is a far cry from the modern nurse of today smartly dressed in a crisp uniform, trained in the best universities and training schools, to the old rural mid-wife who met life and death with a prayer and superstition. The NACGN and Mabel K. Staupers had no little part in bringing the Negro nurse along this way.

The NACGN was started in 1908 by a handful of nurses because existing national nursing organizations had not assumed any direct responsibility to meet the Negro nurses problems of discrimination in education, opportunities for service, and unequal rates of pay. These conditions existed in all sections of the country.

In 1934, when America was taking stock of the forgotten man, the NACGN moved toward new horizons. It elected its first executive secretary and abandoned its old voluntary basis of operation. This new executive secretary was Mabel K. Staupers, who undertook to organize a headquarters project and to develop a program for the association.

After 10 years of her indefatigable direction tre NACGN took a pause to consider its achievements. From 75 dues-paying members in 1934, membership had grown to enarly 2,000. Negro nurses had been integrated into all branches of the profession, including public health, institutional and industrial nursing. Negro nurses were being trained on an equal basis with white nurses in public and private hospitals. United States Army and Navy discriminatory barriers against Negro nurses were broken through. Starting with a quota of 56, at the end of the war, the number of Negro nurses with officers ranks had reached 590. For the first time they were graded as Ensigns in the Navy, and there were more than 2,000 cadets in the nurses training corps. Nurses were being trained at Columbia and at Yale, at Catholic university, Washington, D. C., and Medical College in Richmond, Va. The number of institutions where Negro nurses could be trained with whites had increased over 100. Scholarships had been established and foundations hal allocated money to foster the NACGN program.

The greatest gains were found in New York City with over 300 Negro nurses in the Department of Health as a result of civil service examinations, with a proportionate number serving as supervisors. In the city's Department of Hospitals, over a thousand Negro nurses serve as staff nurses, head nurses, administrators, supervisors, and instructors.

Mrs. Staupers served the NACGN for 12 years, until 1946, leaving a proud record. It was with genuine appreciation and enthusiasm that the NACGN unanimously selected her for the 1947 Mary Mahoney Award. It was impressively presented at the first post-war biennial convention held at Clark college in Atlanta, Ga. Mary Mahoney, for whom the medal was named, was the first Negro woman to graduate from a professional school of nursing in 1879, from the New England Hospital for Women and Children in Boston, Mass.

Although Mrs. Staupers has given up her strenuous task directing the NACGN, she has increased her many community and public activities. She believes "That democracy will not come to nursing any faster than it comes to the Negro people." She feels that the Negro nurse has a great opportunity in helping to build a gerater America. "Because the health of a nation measures its greatness," she says, "many of the difficulties Negro Americans suffer today could be lessened if race distinctions are eliminated in educational programs. We cannot have separation and democracy." Mrs. Staupers cited as one of the signs of progress in this direction the admission of Negro nurses to membership in the state branches of the American Nurses' Association of seven Southern states.

Physical Ed. Confab Attended by Many

The Pacific Southwest Area YMCA Physical Education Conference met in Los Angeles, Nov. 15-16, with 28th street branch YMCA serving as the host association.

Hats were off to the general secretaries who were so noble in making it possible for the younger set of its staff to attend this conference. To those who did, a good investment was made; in fact, it was worth the cost of a college education.

The finest leadership in the Pacific Southwest was used in planning and leading the informal group that encouraged free thinking and expression of thought.

Highlights of the conference were the talks made by Dr. L. E. Morehouse, associate professor of physical education, aviation and medicine at the University of Southern California, on "Recent Studies In Learning Factors of Motor Skills," and Mr. George Hjetle, superintendent of playgrounds and recreation, City of Los Angeles, on "Cooperative Program Planning, Public and Private Recreation."

Twelve Big Sister Harvest Festival

The entire family is invited to the Harvest Festival, sponsored by "The Twelve Big Sisters," Saturday, Nov. 29, 1947, from 3 until 11 p.m., at Alpha Bowling Club, 2914 S. Western ave.

There will be booths of: ceramics, utility and fancy aprons, jewelry, fortune telling, fish pond, cosmetics, handbags, perfumes, needlework, cakes and pies, hot dogs and soft drinks, hot cider and doughnuts and many other items too numerous to mention. Oh, yes, Santa Claus will be there in person to listen to the requests of the "Kiddies" for Xmas delivery, from 3 until 7 p.m. You may dance from the beginning to the end.

The Twelve Big Sisters insist that you come and bring the entire family for a jolly good time, that they may make the Xmas party for the under-privileged girls from Juvenile Hall and our Mental Institutions a happier one when they give them a real party during the Xmas week. The president, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, has recently received information from the proper authorities of both institutions, that the need is growing each year and so she is encouraging the Big Sisters to overdo their part attempting to make up for some that havenot done.

There will be door prizes, raffles and auctions, you may be lucky. Twenty-four official hostesses will assist you.

out" Coleman when the latter refused to vacate the premises.

Hickman's defense rested on a plea of insanity at the time of the shooting, resulting from accumulated suffering due to intolerable housing conditions and grief over the loss of his children. A new trial was ordered for January 5.

Hickman, a steel worker and ex-sharecropper, was provided with defense counsel, financial and moral assistance by the Hickman Defense Committee, formed by the joint efforts of CIO, AFL and Independent unions, the NAACP, the American Veterans Committee, Baptist Ministers Conference and many other organizations and prominent individuals. The committee has branches in many cities, including Los Angeles.

The Committee has decided to continue the fight for Hickman's acquittal and is launching a new campaign to raise funds and arouse public sentiment in preparation for the second trial.

The trial opened Nov. 5 in a crowded courtroom before Judge Rudolf Desort. After three days of questioning prospective jurors, a jury of six men and six women was chosen.

Defense counsel did not deny the state's contention that Hickman shot Coleman, but stressed that he was suffering temporarily from mental illness at the time of the shooting, recited Hickman's background of suffering and poverty, followed by frustration and aggravation because of his inability to find a home for his family of nine in Chicago. Defense also pointed to the intolerable conditions under which he and his family lived in a tiny one-room attic, climaxed by the fatal fire which snuffed out the lives of his four youngest children after the landlord had threatened to "burn him out."

The court was also told how Coleman had taken $100 from Hickman on the promise to rent him a four-room apartment, that said promise was not kept nor the money returned.

Prosecution witnesses attempted to refute Hickman's statement that Coleman had confessed to causing the fatal fire, but were compelled under cross-examination to admit they were in no position to hear what was said between Hickman and Coleman.

Mrs. Julia Rogers and Will Jackson, both tenants in the building at the time of the fire, testified they heard Coleman threaten to burn out Hickman, saying, "I'll get you out if it takes a fire to do it," and "I know people on the eastside who will do anything I say."

Willis Hickman, 19-year-old son of the defendant, testified that he saw the landlord in the building on the night of the fire, told how he lowered his mother from the window and dropped her to the pavement below, then jumped after her.

Mrs. Hickman told of her husband's inability to eat and sleep normally after the fire.

Nation Watching As Fight Opens On Detroit Case

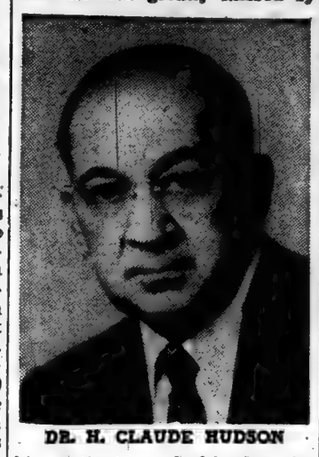
was appealed to the U. S. supreme court.

Tremendous interest, both public and official, has been focused on the Detroit case in view of the fact that the rapidly growing practice of restricting residential areas to occupancy by white citizens only, through the use of contracts signed by private individuals, has been the device, smiled upon by the courts, by which a 1912 decision of the supreme court prohibiting the zoning of areas according to race, has been circumvented.

The areas affected have become so large and so numerous and the groups restricted so diverse, that restrictive covenants today are recognized as a matter of gravest national concern. Aspects of the problem have been litigated in at least 21 states during the last 20 years. These cases reveal covenants affecting areas as large as 1000 lots and 26 city blocks. These restrictions are not levelled against Negroes alone. Courts have been asked to exclude from ownership or occupancy persons of Arabian, Armenian, Chinese, Ethiopian, Greek, Hindu, Korean, Persian, Spanish and Syrian ancestry as well as American Indians, Jews and Puerto Ricans, irrespective of citizenship. One petition now pending shows a clergyman excluded from occupancy of the parsonage of his church.



Attorneys for the NAACP hope to convince the high court that legal enforcement of restrictive covenants constitutes a violation of the 14th amendment to the constitution of the U. S. as well as a contravention of public policy.

The scope of the NAACP brief is indicated by a section dealing with the United Nations charter. It is stated in the brief that "Judicial enforcement of this restrictive covenant violates the treaty entered into between the United States and other members of the United Nations under which the agreement here sought to be enforced is void."

Condon, who argued the case last August before Justice Peters, declared yesterday, "This is a great vindication of the peoples' rights and should have an important bearing on similar cases now in court."

Condon referred to the Fillmore theatre case in San Francisco and one in Los Angeles which also involved legal action against pickets in fair employment disputes.

In making its decision, Condon said, the district court reaffirmed several similar decisions by the U. S. supreme court upholding the right of peaceful picketing.

Penn. Solon Urges Study of Politics In Lincoln Lecture

Homer G. Brown, Pennsylvania state legislator, from Pittsburgh, spoke at the recent convocation of the Lincoln students. The distinguished legislator urged the students to become aware of their duties as citizens and to take an active part in electing the legislators who are the lawmakers of our land.

Brown, who has served in the Pennsylvania house since 1935, described the workings of the state legislature to the students. He pointed out the power wielded by committees and he suggested that the state FEPC bill was killed in the last legislature by a powerful committee.

He wound up the stimulating address by urging the students to study the journals of the legislature, see how the representatives voted and reward friends and punish enemies. "The citizen," he said, "is supreme because he is the ultimate ruler in our free America."

Annual Harvest Dance Marks School Highlight

The organized student body of Glover and Sons Institute of Garment Making and Technical Design, held its third Annual Harvest Dance, Tuesday night at the Avadon Ballroom, with a capacity crowd.

Glover's Institute, located at 445 Towne avenue with a regular enrollment of 370 students, is classed as one of the largest and most modernly equipped tailoring schools of its kind in the western hemisphere.

Already, the institution has risen to a top place in the state's adult teaching institutions. The annual dance is one of the school's growing extra-curricular activities. Joe Alexander and Houston Penson were in charge of the dance program.

Fremont Council

A panel discussion on safety was the point of interest at Fremont Council meeting Friday, Nov. 21, at Graham school. Mrs. Russell Reay, Safety Chairman for Tenth District introduced the participants, Mr. Rodger Plaisted Director of Accident Prevetion and Home Safety of Los Angeles Red Cross. Captain Marx Scott, Fire Department of Los Angeles and officer J. Paul Hughie from Traffic Educational Unit of Los Angeles Police Department.

These men very dramatically presented what they are endeavoring to do in the field of Safety education to save lives.

Miss Donna Dahlby B. 12 Civics student from Fremont High school spoke on the "Bill of Rights."

The Graham school chorus of 4th, th and 6th graders led and accompanied by Mrs. Barney Riley entertained the Council.

Mrs. Chas. Emrick president of Graham P.T.A. was introduced and presented her principal who spoke to welcome the Council, Jessie Sherman Nordstrom.

Mrs. Frank Jackson was asked to introduce her roommother chairman from 92 st. P.T.A. who explained how she organized 75 mothers into a working group to give party to each room without taking any Parent Teachers funds and the pleasure they had doing it.

The next meeting of Fremont Council will be at 49th st. school, Friday, December 19, at 10 a.m. Lunch to be served by the 49th st. P.T.A. and Christmas presents wil be exchanged.

Graham P.T.A. served lunch at the close of this meeting. A lovely visit was enjoyed by all.

Sees One Million Germans Dying From Hunger in Coming Winter

John Hollister, who has spent some time in making a survey of the human needs in Germany, declared at a press conference in Clifton's Broadway Cafeteria last Thursday that at least a million Germans will die this winter because of lack of food.

"For two and one-half years the German people have been getting just enough to keep alive," said Hollister, who is a director for relief in Germany. "They have been suffering from malnutrition and this winter with its added rigors, and the fact that there apparently will be less food than ever, will doubtless prove too much to endure."

German cities were overcrowded during the war years, and it was estimated that something like 10,000,000 people lived in the metropolitan areas. This created a drain on the agricultural products. And since Germany has always produced less than half the food she consumes, the extra mouths to feed made an extra burden that could scarcely be borne.

Germany will not be able to produce any food until June 1948, Hollister said. The American Friends Service Committee is trying to raise $2,000,000 to help tide the German people over the crisis this winter.

don told newsmen "this is one of the most flagrant attempts to misdirect justice I have ever witnessed." The lawyer intimated that the charges against Dr. Johnson represented an attempt at "extortion."

The girl's stepfather was temporarily held in court custody but was released later when Judge McCoy ordered the district attorney to probe further into his activities.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

Well, it looks as if the 1948 political race for the office of esident of the United States is definitely on. But behind the es there has been much bickering and mollycobbling. Bets are eady being taken on the candidates that are believed to have e best chance. Now let's view some of the possibilities.

It seems strange that such a man as Howard Taft, after writ- the undisguised labor bill that tends to make us all slaves, ould be up for the office of presidency. His record has been posed up and down over the pages of every paper that has not en operated by a Rockefeller or a disinterested doormat. I have t heard how Taft feels about Communism. I do know that there s a clause in the bill that demands a non-communist affidavit fore a person could join a union. But since the bill was written both Taft and Hartley, it is hardly possible to know who threw that bit of trash. It seems that no one can think of a particular nount of good that Taft has done, and yet there he goes, in the sh . . . and of all things, running for President.

There has been a rumor that certain others will appear on e 1948 ballot, and let us pray that they do. Governor Earl War- n, from the sunshine state will be in the race too. If Governor arren does win, I do hope that he will by all means, put a bit California Sunlight on some of the shady matters of Washing- n, such as the House un-American activities Committee.

The two candidates already mentioned seem to be the most ked about a sthings stand now. I wonder which will call him- f a Republican, and which will calal himself a Democrat? Not at it matters in the least, for today a Democrat is perhaps a tter Republican than anyone who goes under the name of Re- blican, and vise versa. For at long last the two political emies have gotten together and made a treaty of peace such as e world has never seen before. They're setting all time records brotherhood, or should I say party-hood. Now we mustn't feel o severely toward the two parties, for after all, money is money.

What happened to Wallace, and the third party that was lieved to be growing and rushing toward the '48 ballot? What ppened to the people's choice, and the man, who if runs for e office, will win by such a comfortable margin and I refer to nry Wallace. What about the prediction that Eisenhower will drafted?

Well, the third party . . . the idea is still somewhat vague, d the chances of the arrangements being made, and Wallace nning on the new ticket is hardly more than a dream. As I ve said before, progress is slow. To assemble a powerful po- ical party within the course of less than a year is a task for addin. Campaign expenses, red tape, the convention . . . Wal- ce cannot do it along. The help and the effort that he will re- ive will be pooled against big money and political power. In nerica, and not in Russia, which do you think should win? And t, there are people, like me, in the United States today who nt to see Wallace and a third party in action more than any- ing else.

Eisenhower can be drafted. However, I do not think that that ll be the case. I believe Eisenhower will go voluntarily. He was smart general and he can make, with a little coaching, a very art politician. If I were in his position, I would hold out until e first of next year, and until I had been given about a million llars worth of publicity. And then in the most innocent man- r I would say that if the American people wanted to have me ve them as president, then it would be my duty to do so. Is at the way you see it too, general?

Just where is Truman in the minds of the American people? is hard to tell. Having to take office under such difficult cir- mstances, it seems to me that Truman has done a wonderful , or at least he has made a lot of wonderful promises. Never- eless, the promises were made, and they drew quite a bit of mment . . . some ridicule too, of course. He also pulled a most portant string when he appropriated "several" million dollars the aid of Greece and Turkey . . . to arm themselves against mmunism. But now the thought comes to me that if you, Presi- nt Truman, had the right to combat communism in Greece d Turkey, why shouldn't Stalin have the right to combat U. S. pitalism in the Latin American countries? We would hear cry- g from some of the uppers like we never heard crying before. d pretty soon some one would mention the words "ultimatum," ussia", and "War". Yet, we go on doing the things for which e criticize others. We shall leave it President Truman, with the mple statement that many of the "common" people of America ve peace and also love their lives.

I am very pessimistic about the 1948 elections, for it will de- le the trend of the United States and perhaps the world for the xt ten years. The president who is put into office in '48 will cide which direction we shall take, while searching for peace d security. The only person who in my mind will deal with rld affairs fairly and squarely is Henry Wallace.

It is up to the American people to choose the road which will d to future peace and security. With sufficient battle waged, e ballot can bet the money in 1948. But the cooperation of every nerican, whether he be called a Communist or not, is necessary raise the giant sail of honesty and brotherhood, and steer the rld to peace and happiness.

What's Happenin'

By JOHNNY DELGARDO

Many people today have ac- ired a popular conception that e student GI is living a life ease. Since his tuition is be- g paid, and he is receiving subsistence pay from the gov- nment, it is assumed that his ly worry is to be able to study order to stay in school.

This conception of the GI has en greatly exaggerated to such extent, that veterans receive tle or no attention from the neral public when trying to gister complaints about their ancial and scholastic stand- g.

Being away from school and rd study for a considerable ngth of time, the returning teran is confronted by a great stacle in which it will take a tle more time than others to ercome. Another barrier is his ck of being able to concentrate ely upon the subject in which must study.

Financially, veterans find it ry hard to meet the many ligations which are confront- g them every day. The ma- rity of veterans are self-sup- rting and must struggle along make substantial living, and et their common everyday eds. There is rent to pay, food d clothes to buy, and money pay for other everyday neces- ies, all of which is a control- g factor in the veterans' prob- lems. The boys who left their homes, jobs, and schools, and returned as men, should be en- couraged and given all the sup- port that Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public can muster.

Coming out with a gala affair last Friday night, the Graduate Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity gave a fine sport dance at the Meadowbrook Gardens. Congratulations to the Men of Sigma, who made it possible for the public to be entertained on such a memorable occasion. Keeping the crowd in an uproar with fun and fine music was none other than Lionel Hampton and his famous band of music makers. Enjoying themselves to the utmost the utmost of pleasure were: Or- chid Oliver, Fritz Banks, Marsha Cardnal, Scott Gilbert, Geraldine Barnum, Horace Griffin, Eleanor Finlayson, Haywood Taylor, Gloria Crouch and James White. Seen having a wild time at their reserved table were: Rosemary Osby, Louie Cup Cake) Robinson, Jackie Rigard, Wally Miles, Joyce Finney, Herbert Howard, Chiquita Adams, Randall Gosse- by, Jo Ann, Everett Beize, Bernice Rigard, and yours truly. Hal Faulkner and Ray Bowens seemed to enjoy themselves by observing the fun-spirited crowd.

Saturday night the local col- legiates were kept on the move, taking in the many parties that went on around town. Dropping in on the party given by the men of the Kappa Alpha Psi frater- nity at the home of John Redford were: Constance Maney, Roy Johnson, Grace Davis, Ava Ta- bor, well-known gridiron ace from the University of Nevada, Gloria Lamby, Ferguson Rimm, and many others.

From there, party lovers ven- tured to the birthday party of Rebecca Brown on West Exposi- tion blvd., where they ran into Frances and Victor Rideau, Jes- sie Mae Brown, Leroy Beavers, Phyllis and Bill Golden, Shirley Spencer, Carl Wills, Phyllis Wil- liams, Vernon "Butch" Randall, Sam Strain, and Leonard Beav- ers. Incidently, Rebecca will say "I do" to Billy Farington in June.

Journeying on, we find Evelyn and Johnny Williams entertain- ing guests with a birthday party given for Sadie Carpenter at their Eighth ave. home. After 'tippin' in," we find Betty Wal- lace, Clayton Moore, Audrey Cloyd, Chase Edmonds, Joe Blue, Gwen Malory, and many others too numerous to mention, mak- ing "much woppee."

A retreating after party was held at the home of Louie Rob- inson for the night owls who still couldn't stop having fun, even though the hours were late and the sun was threatening. Ber- nice Rigard, Everett J. Beize, Joyce Finey, Herbert Howard, Phyllis and Bill Golden, Rose- mary Osby and Stanley "Steam- er" Robertson, "She Had a Won- derful Time."

Starting next week, I will take a short vacation from "WHAT'S HAPPENIN'." During my leave of absence, this column will be written by Stanley Robertson. I'll let you know "What's Hap- penin'" again at the beginning of 1948.

Lynn Whitney Turns Artistic Ability to Making Plapues of Famous Negro Leaders

Lynn Whitney, of Hollywood, has turned her artistic talent to commemorating faces of famous leaders of the Negro people. Plaques have been done in ebony or walnut ready to hang, in sets of three or four or as individual plaques.

Among them is Simon, the Cyrenian. Simon was the Negro who carried the cross for Jesus, when He stumbled under its weight on the way to Calvary.

Frederick Douglass is another in this set. Douglass, no one needs to be told, was the great Negro leader against slavery, the friend of Garrison and Whittier and other great Abolitionists. He believed and preached that slav- ery could be abolished without a war. As it could have been if the people of that day had taken a livelier interest in their govern- ment.

George Washington Carver, the great scientist, is one of the lead- ers whom many of us still re- member. His work has made America famous. He taught the chemistry of extracting unheard of riches from the lowly peanut and sweet potato, not only to the members of his classes in Tuskegee Institute but also to all America.

Phyllis Wheatley was the first American poet. A little slave girl, stranded on the wharf of Boston, she was cared for by a philanthropic lady and later put some of the longings and nostal- gia of Africa into verse.

There are plaques of many other famous Negro leaders—all suitable for valuable Christmas gifts.

L. A. Youth Member Of Military Police Company in Japan

WITH THE 8th ARMY IN OSAKA, JAPAN—Technical Ser- geant Loyiel Harris, son of Mr. & Mrs. Jones of 637 E. 23rd st., Los Angeles, California, is a member of the 24th infantry, now stationed at Gifu, Japan.

T/Sgt. Harris is a member of Co. I and has recently been placed on duty with the military police company, and is playing a very important part in the Occupation Mission of the 24th infantry.

T/Sgt. Harris entered the army in Feb. 1936 and received his basic training at Fort Huca- huca, Arizona. He departed for overseas duty in January, 1944 and since arrival in Japan was assigned to the 24th infantry regiment.

Before entering the service T/Sgt. Harris attended Booker T. Washington High school.

Students to Compete For Longest Beard

"Men's Week" will be observed at East Los Angeles Junior col- lege beginning Monday, Dec. 1. The male students will not shave the entire week. The girls will be supposed to carry their boy friends' as well as their own books. There will be a "for-men- only" assembly on Tuesday, a tug of war on Wednesday, a general assembly on Thursday at which a queen will be selected by popular applause, and the week will end with a dance on Friday, at which the man with the longest beard will be de- clared king.

Youth Addresses Weekly Forum Meet

G. Raymond Booth, executive director of the Council for Civic Unity, was the speaker at the forum meeting held in the Poly- technic Evening high school, 400 West Washington blvd., last Tuesday evening. Intercultural relations and the promotion of interest in the culture of other races that form a part of our population was the subject for discussion.

The meetings are open to the public, and are held each Tues- day evening at 7:30 p.m. They are held under the direction of George W. Hamilton, a dynamic leader.

The SCOUTING TRAIL

The Third Annual Meeting and Banquet of the McKinley District, Boy Scouts of America, held in the cafeteria of the Thomas Jefferson High school; was without a doubt a tribute to the fine quality of men and women who are working as volunteers with youth, and are using the Boy Scout program as a tool to develop the character and citizenship traits of our boys.

While we're giving out orchids, let's not forget Roger Willis, dis- trict executive of the McKinley District, Boy Scouts of America, who had the job or recruiting, organizing and training this army of volunteers into such a splendid team.

Judge Edwin L. Jefferson, who succeeded himself as district chairman, did a remarkable job as master of ceremonies. As- semblyman Augustus F. Hawk- ins gave a masterful address.

Installation of the new District officers by William T. Lindsay, executive director of Camping and Activities for the Los An- geles Area Council, was impress- ive and challenging.

The highlight of the program was when Donald Nichols, a Boy Scout of Troop 131 who received the highest award of rank that a Scout can earn, the badge of an Eagle Scout. It took Donald four years to get his Eagle Badge, but the training he re- ceived while earning it will help tim to be the kind of a man that America will be proud of.

The following officers were elected and selected to guide Scouting in the McKinley Dis- trict during the year of 1948.

Judge Edwin L. Jefferson, district chairman, Dr. Paul A. Fisher, vice-chairman, Leroy Heart, vice-chairman.

The Operating Committee chairman are as follows:

Paul A. Fisher, leadership training, Lawrence A. Carter, ad- vancement, camping and activi- ties Albert C. Grissman, P. J. Rambo, health and safety, Cor- dell Norman, orgainzation and extension, and Dee Hodge, fi- nance.

Mrs. Rubye Wiggins was elec- ted as Cubbing Coordinator.

Members at large are as fol- lows:

Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, C. O. English, William M. Jones, C. A. Bradford, George T. Mosby, C. M. Neilson, James A. Reid, H. O. Cook, Sr., H. O. Cook Jr., Harry A. Graham, Dr. J. A. Hayes, and Dr. W. C. Howard.

The Commissioner Staff is as follows.

Lonzie Jones, district commiss- ioner; Rudolph Walker, assistant district commissioner, Julian Greene, assistant district com- missioner — Neighborhood Commissioners: Charles Browne, Charles Grose, Royal E. Carter, Urban Matrz, Frank Perez, James L. Flourney, James D. Boyd, Archie McKinley, A. T. Williams, Charles T. Smith, John W. John- son, O. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: The Proof Of A Christian. Lesson Text and Outline: 1. John 4:15-21; 5:10-13; 2. John 4-6. Motto Text 1. John 4:21. .....

Introduction

Since God is love and love is of God, the proof of a Christian must be love which be devoted brotherhood and diligent walking in truth serves the God of truth and love.

Comments

1. The Christian proof of confession seems to include faith in the heart as the foundation of it, acknowledgment with the mouth to the glory of God and Christ, and profession in the life and conduct in opposition to the flatteries or frowns of the world. And so he who thus confesses Christ, and God in him, is enriched with or possessed by the Spirit of God, and has a knowledge of God and much holy enjoyment of Him. The Christian revelation is, what should endear it to us, the revelation of the divine love; the articles of our revealed faith are but so many articles relating to the divine love.

The history of the Lord Christ is the history of God's love to us; all His transactions in and with his Son were but testifications of His love to us, and means to advance us to the love of God.

2. The Son is life; eternal life in his own essence and person. He is eternal life to us, the spring of our spiritual and glorious life. He that is united to the Son is united to life. He who hath a title to the Son hath a title to life, to eternal life. Such honor hath the Father put upon the Son: such onor must we put upon him too. These believers have eternal life. They have it in the covenant of the gospel, in the beginning and first-fruits of it within them, and in their Lord and head in heaven.

3. From the apostle's joy herein we may observe that it is pleasant to see children treading in good parents' steps; and those who see this may well congratulate their parents thereupon, and that both to excite their thankfulness to God for, and to enlarge teir comfort in so great a blessing. We see here also the rule of true walking: the commandment of the Father. Then is our walk true, our converse right, when it is managed by the word of God. Love will avail where authority will not; and we may often see that the more authority is urged the more it is slighted. The apostolical minister will love and beseech his friends into their duty. This commandment of mutual Christian love may be said to be a new one in respect of its new enactment and sanction by the Lord Christ; but yet, as to the matter of it (mutual holy love), it is as old as natural Jewish, or Christian religion. This commandment must everywhere attend Christianity, that the disciples of it must love one another. There may be mutual love taht is not religious and Christian; but we know ours to be so, by our attendance to all other commands beside that of mutual love.

Comment On the Motto Text

As God has communicated his image in nature and in grace, so he would have our love to be suitably diffused. We must love God originally and supremely, and others in Him, on the account of their derivation and reception from him, and of His interest in them. Now, our Christian brethren having a new nature and excellent privileges derived from God, and God having His interest in them as well as in us, it cannot but be a natural suitable obligation that he who loves God should love his brother also.

MAKING PLANS FOR ALL-STATE TEA—The Governors, Lieut. Governors, Senators, and Representatives making final plans for the All-State Tea, to be held Thursday, November 27, at the Second Baptist church. Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, president, is standing with the flag.

All-States Tea Thursday at Second Baptist

"The Parade of the States" will be in full sway Thursday, November 27, when the Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith ave., will present its annual All-States Tea at 8 p.m.

Each state will be displayed in miniature, and the choir will give state songs and yells. Everyone is urged to be on hand to greet their old friends and to make new ones from their Home State.

Just as the nation has new trends and ties, and new ideas toward helping run the peace of the world, so the "All-States Tea" will reproduce these new trends in miniature with the "Freedom Train," the "Friendship Train," etc.

The public is invited to come out and boost their home state.

Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson is minister of the Second Baptist church. Vassie D. Wright is general chairman for the tea.

Raid Victim Denied Paid Time on Air

Hugh Hardyman, whose home was invaded recently at a meeting of the Crescenta-Canada Demrocratic Club by a group of armed men calling themselves the Americanization Committee of Post 127, Glendale, American Legion, was denied the right of telling his story over radio station KFWB although the time had been ordered and paid for by the California Legislative Conference.

No reason was given by the manager, Harry Maizlish, for cancelling the program.

Father and Son Banquet to Hear Fight Broadcast

The 41st annual Father and Son banquet of the 28th street YMCA will be held in the Jefferson High school dining hall Friday evening, Dec. 5.

Because this is the evening scheduled for the Louis-Wolcott bout, arrangements have been made to broadcast the event over a public address system, and maybe—although this is not certain—the fight will be televised.

Among the many celebrities who are expected to attend are Jackie Robinson, Lena Horn and Frank Bull. Rev. John L. Branham, pastor of St. Paul Baptist church, and Floyd Covington, executive director of the L. A. Urban League, will be guest speakers. Leon Washington, editor and publisher of The Los Angeles Sentinel, will be master of ceremonies.

Among the young folks on the program will be: the Lightsy Brothers quartette; Royal Sutton, trombonist; Henderson Pratt Jr., trumpeter; Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon, concert pianist, and her son, Frederic, violinist; and Floyd Covington Jr.

Fear in the mind of man is the cause of many deaths. Rev. Sarah Dalco is a divine healer, advisor, and restorer of health. Call on her and receive your wealth. 2035 W. 31st St. RE. 2-1973

Noted Gospel Singer to Feature Thanksgiving Service at Mt. Moriah

Mt. Moriah Baptist church, 1021 East 41st place, will hold its annual Thanksgiving service on Thursday, November 27, with a program which will feature Mrs. Willie Mae Ford Smith, national gospel singer of St. Louis, Mo.; and the senior choir and male ensemble of the "Mount." Rev. Earl A. Pleasant, the young progressive pastor, will deliver the Thanksgiving message.

Missionary Sunday wil be observed Sunday, November 30, when the senior and junior mission societies will have charge of the program. At 11 a.m. the pastor will bring the message and the choir will be in charge of the music.

Mrs. Odessa Reed, president of the California Baptist State Junior Women's Convention, will be the special guest at the evening service.

The public is cordially invited to attend all of these services.

Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Soul Winning Tabernacle to Have Early Thanksgiving Morn Service

Soul Winning Tabernacle (Missionary Baptist), located at 1741 East 108th street, will open Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27, with an early morning service at 6 a.m. This service will be followed by a breakfast, with services continuing throughout the day.

"Our pastor, Rev. Hattie M. Crooms, is grateful to God for our little place of worship and we are looking forward to great things in the Lord, for she promised not to be disobedient to her heavenly vision," states a member of the Tabernacle.

Rev. Crooms is an ordained Baptist minister, a former student of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Ft. Worth, Texas, and is now a student of the Providence Baptist Theological seminary, Los Angeles, where she is studying Greek.

HATTIE M. CROOMS

"The public is invited and is welcome to worship with us at all times. We are not interested in men's opinions or criticisms. We are only interested in their souls. Intrinsic value lies not in silver or gold, but in undaunted faith and winning of souls. Such is our desire and we welcome you to come and help us win someone to Jesus."

Our motto: "He that winneth souls is wise."

Hattie M. Crooms, pastor. Ethel Lee Hurd, secretary.

Regular Worship

The services of the Phoenix Antioch Baptist church in Arizona were delivered by the pastor, Rev. R. N. Holt, at the regular morning worship hour. The congregation enjoyed both morning and evening services. One candidate was accepted for baptism.

Christian Science Topic Denounces Hypnotism

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from Jeremiah: "Let not your prophets and your diviners, that be in the midst of you, deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cause to be dreamed. For they prophesy falsely unto you in my name: I have not sent them, saith the Lord." The subject is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced."

Matthew's Gospel reports that there was brought unto Jesus "one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw. . . . But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils. And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, . . . If Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand? . . . But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Our Master cast out devils (evils) and healed the sick. It should be said of his followers also, that they cast fear and all evil out of themselves and others and heal the sick. God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God."

HERE ARE A GROUP of singers appearing in the Sunday morning services, 11:00 p.m., November 30, at Lincoln Memorial Congregational church. This is the choir of First Congregational church of Burbank. This Sunday service is built around the theme "Great Music in the Cathedral. There will be 10 great anthems and several solos. Lincoln Memorial welcomes any persons who desires to share in so rich an experience of "music by the masters" will be presented Sunday.

MRS. MAUDE KITCHEN LEWINGS of 1230 East 53rd st. passed Nov. 10 after an illness of seven weeks. Her death was a shock to all who knew her, for to know here was to love her. Her faith was in God, her keeper, and though the mist of sorrow may cloud the paths of her husband, family, and friends, may they walk together through the shadows until the dawn breaks through. Mrs. Lewings leaves a husband, three sisters, three brothers, and a host of friends to mour her. The entire family wishes to thank the many friends who visited, telephoned and sent messages. Mrs. Woodson of Chicago, her sister, was with her during her entire illness and was joined by brothers and sisters for the funeral.

L.A. Youth Senior At Pacific Union Col.

Major C. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White, 1339½ East 42nd street, is a member of the newly organized senior class at Pacific Union college, the Seventh-day Adventist college in the Coast Range mountains of Northern California. The class has a membership of 70.

White completed his high school at Lynwood academy, Lynwood. He will graduate in June with the degree of bachelor of arts and with a major in theology.

Baha'i News

Faith in Action is the subject of the talk to be given by Mrs. Florence Mayberry at the regular Sunday afternoon public meeting of the Los Angeles chapter of Baha'i World Faith at their headquarters, 331 So. New Hampshire avenue, on November 30, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Mayberry quotes from Abdul Baha: "I say unto you that any one who will rise up in the Cause of God at this time shall be filled with spirit of God, and that He will send His hosts from heaven to help you, and that nothing shall be impossible to you if you have faith.

Council Again Delays Firetrap Ordinance

So far as the city council is concerned Los Angeles, which is rated one of the nation's worst firetraps, can go without remedial legislation until after the Christmas holidays.

The council this week again postponed, until June 9, action on a fire roofing ordinance proposed by Fire Chief John Alderson for hotels and apartments. It is opposed by the hotel and apartment house association.

Friendship Chapter Installation Sunday

Friendship Chapter, No. 7, American War Mothers, invites you and your friends to their installation of oficers, Sunday, November 30, 1947, 5:30 to 8 p.m. at the Church of Christian Fellowship, 3215 West Adams blvd. Public invited. —C. Owen, president.

Rev. Troy Back From Adventist Autumn Council

Rev. Owen A. Troy returned this week from attending the General Conference Autumn Council of Seventh-day Adventists which was held November 11-19 in the Civic Auditorium of Grand Rapids, Michigan. Rev. Troy was a delegate from the Pacific Union Conference comprising California, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and the Hawaiian Islands.

Representatives from North and Central America were in attendance, as well as officials from sections of Europe, to formulate and adopt the 1948 budget for the world-wide mission program of the Seventh-day Adventists.

Just back from West Africa and in attendance at the Grand Rapids' Council was Rev. W. E. Read of Washington, D. C. In his report he commended highly the splendid work being done by Rev. G. N. Banks and his associates in Liberia. Rev. Banks, formerly of Pasadena, is superintendent of the Liberian Mission. Another colored American family added to the missionaries of Africa is that of Rev. and Mrs. Donald Simons of Tennessee who recently flew to Nigeria for mission work there.

At the annual constituency of the Riverside Sanitarium and Hospital which was held this year at Grand Rapids, the president of the board reported that this institution located on the banks of the Cumberland river just outside the city limits of Nashvill, Tennessee, has just completed the erection of the new hospital building at a cost of $400,000.00. This ultra-modern building will care for 75 bed patients. A school of nursing will be conducted next fall.

At this constituency meeting, Rev. Troy was added as a member of the board of trustees of the Riverside Sanitarium by vote of the constituency. At this same meeting he was voted to become a member of the Oakwood College board. Rev. F. L. Peterson, former Los Angeles' pastor, is president of Oakwood college.

Nat. Red Cross Blood Program Head In L.A.

"Whole blood, plasma and blood derivatives will be available to everyone in the United States without charge by 1952."

Dr. Ross T. McIntire, wartime surgeon general of the United States navy and White House physician from 1933 to 1945, now serving as director of the national blood program of the American Red Cross, so informed local chapter officials this week.

In Los Angeles as part of a nationwide tour, Dr. McIntire emphasized that "Red Cross expects to spend $5,000,000 in starting the program and $20,000,000 annually to keep it operating on a full-scale national basis.

"So great is the need for whole blood and its derivatives in hospitals—veterans' and civilian—across the country," Dr. McIntire declared, "that Red Cross must obtain 3,700,000 pints of blood within the next year—one pint for every 35 Americans."

Conferring with Los Angeles Red Cross Chapter Chairman William T. Sesnon Jr., Dr. McIernti explained that medical science is positive in its claim that the use of whole blood" will improve the general health level of every man, woman and child inthe country." He stressed the part that blood and its derivatives can play in combatting and modifying childhood diseases—measles, whooping cough, mumps, kidney and liver disorders, and others.

The national director was deeply impressed with the operation of the Los Angeles Chapter's downtown headquarters unit in Pershing Square.

JOHN F. BROWN JR., will play the great Tschaikowsky piano concerto Sunday afternoon, Nov. 30 at the Metropolitan C.M.E. church, East 29th at Main sts. Program at 4 o'clock promptly.

Indian Wars Vet Gets Welcome on Return to Center

A hale and hearty veteran of the Indian Wars, Samuel Bush, 95, was welcomed this week by his many friends in company 8, Domiciliary, Los Angeles Veterans Administration Center, Sawtelle, following an extended furlough.

Bush is the oldest of all veterans, either white or Negro, who are now receiving domiciliary care at the VA Center. Despite his advanced age, he, is able to travel about without an attendant and makes his way to and from the mess halls. He takes an active part in recreational events which are planned for veterans by service and welfare organizations.

A native of Pennsylvania, Bush served as a private with the ninth calvary from May, 1873 to July 1878 and again from from August, 1878 to August 1883. Much of his war service was in Indian Territory in what is now New Mexico and Arizona.

There are now more than 150 Negro veterans receiving care in Domiciliary status at the West Los Angeles VA Center. These are in addition to patients in the hospitals.

Arts, Crafts Gain as Creative Hobbies

Arts and crafts as creative hobbies are gaining in popularity among adults as well as children, and there is a steady demand for admission to the classes conducted at the playgrounds and community centers of the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department.

The Barnsdall Arts and Crafts Center in Barnsdall Park and Playground has classes in ceramics, sculpture, costume jewelry, weaving, metal craft, leather and copper tooling, and still life and portrait painting. Classes for adults are held weekdays and evenings, with children's classes on Saturday.

Says Shell Hikes Wages $1, Prices $20

For every $1 given to its employes in wage increases, the Shell Oil Co. has increased the price of its products $20, according to a brief prepared by the United Office and Professional Workers of America to support demands for a $42 a month salary increase for its members employed by Shell Oil at Martinez and Shell Developemtn Co. at Emeryville.

The union's figures how wage increases granted by Shell since V-J Day cost the company $80,000,000. In the same period price increases of Shell products have cost consumers $1,593,000,000, or 20 times the amount ofthe increased wages.

Legion Bowl Game Attracts Interest

One reason why the advance sale for the American Legion Bowl football game is progressing rapidly is the fact that grid fans know that a substantial portion of the proceeds will go to the Los Angeles County Council's rehabilitation fund.

That was the statement today from Lloyd Woods, Commander of the Legion's County Council. Woods pointed out that several thousand dollars had already come into Legion headquarters at Patriotic Hall for the game set for the Coliseum, Saturday, December 20.

Truman, Solons Assailed at CIO State Meet

SANTA CRUZ—The Third party question will be "dealt with fairly and honestly during the convention," Harry Bridges, president of the CIO International Longshoremen's Union, declared at the opening session of the four-day California State CIO convention here.

The maritime union leader sharply criticized the Truman Administration as "weak and vacillating," said the government today was controlled by "members of banks and large trusts who are not working for the good of the people." He described Washington, D. C., as a "police city" where people are afraid to talk for fear of being investigated.

"Powerful government agencies are investigating all the little people in government," he said, "and once in a while by accident they hook a big fish as they did General Bennett E. Myers."

Brdiges urged all members of organized labor to fight the Taft-Hartley labor law now, instead of waiting until the 1948 elections.

Earlier, Morris Zusman, president of the State CIO Council, bitterly blasted the Republican-dominated congress and called for an all-out fight against the "infamous Taft-Hartley law."

"That law, which was written and backed by the National Association of Manufacturers, is the key measure in the strategy of the forces of reaction," Zusman declared. "It deprives working men and women of the rights which they fought for more than 50 years to obtain. It attempts to deny organized labor effective means for expression of its political opinions."

Zusman said the record of the 80th congress displayed "a contemptuous disregard for the needs and desires of the people," was subservient to "big business, the monopolies and trusts" and failed to pass legislation for housing, improved social security, medical care and greater aid to education.

He termed the 57th session of the California legislature "a carbon copy of the 80th congress."

The Date Is Jan. 24!

"Fun for a Buick 21" is the unique theme set by the Federation Chapter of the UOPWA's local 9 for its Gala Surprise Affair of the New Year, slated for Saturday evening, January 24 at the conveniently located Parkview Manor. Save the date, and watch for future announcements in this paper.

ESTHER COLLECTS KEYS

So far, Esther Williams on a personal appearance tour with "This Time For Keeps," has collected keys from the Mayor of eight eastern cities. She even has a key from the Mayor of Tufts College, Eddie Meehan, recently featured in Life Magazine. Meehan also joined her as "straight man" during her stage stint.

ARNOLD RAISES ORANGES

When Edward Arnold isn't scanning reports on the current Permanent Charities Committee drive for funds, he is reading the daily paper reports from the produce market. His 48 acre orange ranch in the East Highlands section, which has been called the "orange capitol of the world," has the largest crop in its history.

British Laborite Urges Europe Reject U. S. Marshall Plan

NEW YORK.—Harold J. Laski, former chairman of the British Labor party, charges in the current issue of the Nation magazine that the Marshall Plan will be geared to save European capitalism at the expense of Europe's peoples and urges European political leaders to reject it.

In his article, Laski says that U. S. political leaders will refuse to give aid in the same manner as lend-lease, and will refuse to extend it to Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union.

"It looks as if American aid was likely to be conditioned by an agreement to halt the process of transforming capitalist societies into socialist societies," Laski wrote.

"American aid, in a word, will be geared into that market economy which is the central principle of capitalism."

Laski added that these political strings to the Marshall Plan were not necessarily the "intention of the American government" but were imposed by the determination "to preserve the American way of life," which is, after all, no more than a pseudonym for American captialism."

Under these conditions, European leaders must refuse U. S. aid, Laski continued, even though "it is a terrible thing to ask."

The alternative, however, Laski stressed, was a "capitalist revival" in Europe, which would lead to counter-revolutions and civil wars and a possible third world war.

SACRAMENTO—More than half of the "negligent operators" of motor vehicles in California are between 17 and 26, the State Division of Drivers' Licenses reported this week.

Sports Pay Fines To State

SACRAMENTO—Violations of fish and game regulations by 546 California hunters and fishermen last month cost them a total of $25,092., it was announced this week by E. L. Macaulay, chief of the Division of Fish and Game's Bureau of Patrol.

The errant sportsmen also spent an aggregate of 794 days in jail as a result of arrests by fish and game wardens, with four deer hunters receiving the maximum $500 fine as well as jail penalties.

DISPLACED PERSONS CAMPS

Educational supplies including 150,000 writing tablets, 2100 gross pencils and 50 gross crayons were sent to displaced persons camps by the American Junior Red Cross during a recent 12-month period, according to John H. Martin, service director for the Los Angeles Chapter.

The production of Angora wool is estimated at about 24 million pounds annually.

Congress Asked To Hike Minimum Pay

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach this week urged congress to raise the national minimum wage to 75 cents an hour, but to permit reductions to 65 cents in some industries in case of a business depression.

The present minimum wage is 40 cents an hour. Schwellenbach recalled he had recommended a 65 cents figure two years ago but said that was no longer satisfactory in light of the intervening rise in living costs.

He also recommended:

- Including within the scope of the act merchant seamen and workers processing farm products or fish.
- Tightening child labor provisions.

overty, Illiteracy of Navajo dians Laid to Failure of U.S. Respect Treaty Obligations

PHILADELPHIA—It is imperative that congress appriate sufficient sums of money to keep its treaty dges with the Navaho Indians, Howard G. Taylor Jr., nber of the board of directors of the American Friends vice Committee, said yesterday.

n answer to a growing con- n expressed by agencies and ividuals over the shocking ditions prevalent among Navahos, the American ends Service Committee t Taylor to visit the reservtion in New Mexico and izona to see conditions first nd and to make recommentions for action by the Comttee.

The basic need is for educa-," Taylor said. "According he terms of the 1868 treaty, ed by the United States and Navaho tribe, the U. S. govnment promised to provide a her for every 30 pupils. rly 80 years later, less than third of those facilities have n provided.

Out of 25,000 children on reservation, only 8000 are school. There are not nearly ough school buildings, and ne have been closed because water supply gave out, or re closed during the war for k of teachers."

aylor said the need for roads transportation facilities goes t along with the need for ools and teachers. "There very few roads," he said. order to get anywhere you e to beat your way through d, sagebrush and gullies. In esert region about two-thirds size of Pensylvania, 60,000 ple live in almost complete ation, without enough roads, nsportation, or any kind of n or village."

t present, he said, most Naos are living as semi-nomasheep herders. "But since arid land has been over zed and eroded," he went on, s becoming more and more icult to make a living at ep raising. Over a long period time, the land on the reserion may be built up so that sheep herding can be once more profitable, but it will never again support the whole tribe," he said.

There is a sawmill on the reservation, and a few other industries based on natural resources, according to Taylor. He said these activities could be expanded to furnish employment to more people.

"Women do some weaving and other craft work, but the price that is paid them by wholesale traders amounts to only three to seven cents an hour for their labor," Taylor said.

He pointed out that off reservation employment is becoming more important in the economy of the Navahos. However, because of their limited education and skills, most men are forced to work as migrant farmers, or as laborers on the railroads—an arrangement which is temporary and keeps the men away from their families for the period of employment.

Poor diet, overexposure, and lack of medical care have combined to give the Navahos a terrifically high disease and death rate. Taylor said the tuberculosis rate is more than eight times higher than that for the entire country, and more than 50 percent of the children die before they reach six years of age. Only one-fourth of the young men who were examined for Selective Service passed.

Taylor pointed out that in addition to the extreme poverty in which they live, the Navahos are also denied the right to vote in New Mexico and Arizona.

About three-fourths of the world's supply of coffee is produced in Brazil.

Max Yergan Resigns As NNC President

Dr. Max Yergan, who has been president of the National Negro Congress for the past seven years, resigned the presidency effective November 7. The reason given was the need for him to give more of his energies to the work of the Council on African Affairs, of which he is the executive director.

"The increasing volume and importance of the Council on African Affairs requires all the time that I can give to it," said Yergan. "This, I am sure, you will understand in the light of the new level of the struggle for African freedom as reflected, for example, in the United Nations organization — a struggle in which we Negroes have a real stake."

To Secure These Rights

more and more Americans of the gulf between our civil rights principles and our practices. Only a free people can continually question and appraise the adequacy of its institutions.

Over the past years, leaders of opinion—in public life, in our press, radio, and motion pictures, in the churches, in the schools and colleges, in business, in trade unions, and in the professions — have recognized their responsibility to act effectively in their own lives and to work to strengthen civil rights. The Committee has been much impressed by the number and work of private organizations whose chief aim is the furtherance of freedom. They have accomplished much and are entitled to a great deal of credit for their work. The existence of several groups in the South which are working for the advancement of civil rights is particularly heartening. Their courageous, unceasing efforts have already produced impressive results which surely foreshadow still further progress. We are also encouraged by the number of communities which have established official bodies to better the relations among their people and to protect the rights of their minorities.

The existence of these private agencies is a sign of the fundamental vigor of our democracy, and of our recourcefulness in devising techniques for self-help. These private agencies have rendered invaluable service to this Committee.

Almost without exception, however, all of these groups have indicated to us a belief that their own educational efforts are not enough, and that increased federal protection of civil rights is needed. They see no conflict between leadership by the national government and private local enterprise in the safeguarding of civil rights. (Emphasis ours, Editor.)

The past decade—particularly the war years—gives us much reason for confidence in the ability of our nation to better its civil rights even in the midst of crisis. Equality of opportunity came closed to reality for many members of minority groups during this recent period. A few forward-looking state and local governments have acted to conserve these gains and even move ahead. New York State, in particular, has an impressive variety of civil rights laws on its statute books. A few other states and cities have followed suit, especially in the fair employment practice field. The voluntary elimination of racial bans or differentials in employment practices by many business concerns, and the employmetn of Negro baseball players by teams in both major leagues, deserve high praise.

Similarly, one recent survey of Negro progress, made by Charles S. Johnson, and appropriately entitled Into the Main Stream, reports that" . . . the biggest forward surge of Negroes into the main stream of American life in the past ten years has been their movement into the ranks of organized labor." Mention should also be made of the ending of segregated schools in cities like Trenton and Gary; the lifting of restrictions against Negro doctors by hospitals in St. Louis and Gary; the establishment of interracial churches in many communities; and the employment of more than threescore Negro teachers by 25 white or predominanty white colleges.

A dramatic, and far from unimimportant recent incident was the handling of a threatened rebellion against the presence of a Negro player on the Brooklyn Dodgers by members of another team. It is reported that the president of the National League dealt with the recalcitrant players firmly and with dispatch. He

"If you do this you will be suspended from the league. You will find that the friends you think you have in the press box will not support you, that you will be outcasts. I do not care if half the league strikes. Those who do it will encounter quick retribution. All will be suspended and I don't care if it wrecks the National League for 5 years. This is the United States of America and one citizen has as much right to play as another."

Some officers high in the ranks of the armed forces have shown a heartening recognition to the need to make the army, navy, air forces, and the coast guard more representative of the democracy whose defense they are. We must not lose sight of the fact that compared with the situation in previous wars, this one reflected sharp improvement in the utilization of minority groups.

The freedom of most of our people to seek the truth and express themselves freely is a vigorous, healthy reality. No press has ever been freer of government control than ours. Freedom of religion, aside from discrimination against the members of one or two sects, is today remarkably secure.

With respect to freedom of expression, it is particularly noteworthy that we were able to pass through four years of total warfare without serious inroads on this right. This was done in spite of the prediction of many that our free society would not be able to stand the strain of another war.

In the political arena, members of minority groups are increasingly taking advantage of the protection of their right to the ballot by the courts and the national government. Particularly encouraging are reports of increased voting by Negroes in many southern states, both in primary and general elections.

Profits At All Time High But Prices Still Soaring

NEW YORK—Profits of American industry are at their highest point in history, without a sign on the horizon that big business will let any of its wealth trickle down to consumers in the form of lower prices, according to a Wall Street Journal survey.

The newspaper's check of 149 major companies in 15 industries, showed their profits for the third quarter of 1947 at $446,147,392, a spanking 42 percent above last year's third quarter.

Earnings for all 1947 up to the end of September unquestionably added up to the highest ever recorded for such a period, the Journal said, adding that its reporters had been told by top corporate executives in many cities that the profit outlook for the last three months of this year was still rosier.

Asked why industry was not lowering prices in view of such huge profits, a leading textile producer gave this apparently typical reply.

"Demand is so high we'd probably be alone if we were to pioneer a price-cutting drive. And the public wouldn't benefit, anyway. Intermediate processors and retailers would grab the profit; they'd mark up our goods to the level of our competitors."

Reported profits by corporations does not give the whole picture of industry's unprecedented wealth. Labor Research Assn. pointed out in its November Economic Notes. LRA cited a recent article in Barron's financial weekly which reported that "hundreds of American industrial corporations have set aside a part of their earnings for protection against the rainy day of price reclines or other unpleasant events which the future may hold."

The most common place to put company profits, LRA said, "has been in the inventory reserve account' just as during the war companies held down their reported profits by setting up so-called 'postwar reserves,' many of which were never used."

Sears-Roebuck, for example, set aside $28.5 million for postwar contingencies and, Barron's reports, "hasn't touched it yet."

Dottye Brown, Monogram's discovery, will remain in Louisiana for a two-month visit following the world premiere of "Louisiana" in Shreveport, La., on October 7.

Sideline Trucking Business Helps Farmer Double Income

BALTIMORE—How Clyde Jones, Maryland Negro tobacco farmer, expanded his operations from a horse, a cow, and 25 acres to a $30,000-a-year farming and trucking business in 18 years is a story of sound planning, thrift, and hard work, says District Extension Agent Martin G. Bailey.

In 1926 Jones was married and sharecropping 20 acres in southern Maryland with his father, says Bailey, but he wasn't getting ahead. So, he decided to move to Washington, D.C., and try to find a job—and kind of job—and save up money to start buying a farm of his own. In the capital, he first took a job as a hotel porter and later as a truck driver for a hauling firm.

Bailey says that by 1929 Mr. and Mrs. Jones had saved enough for the down payment on 25 acres they had had their eyes on near Prince Frederick, Md. With a horse, a cow, and a little operating capital, the Joneses began raising tobacco and corn on part of their acres, while they built up the others for increased yields.

In addition to helping her husband with the tobacco crop, Mrs. Jones also helped milk the cow, tend their garden, and raise a few chickens. This home-grown food supply kept them out of the grocery store, except on rare occasions. As a result, the $900 they received for their tobacco was all theirs. With part of it they finishing paying for their farm and made a few repairs on their home; the rest they put aside in a modest savings account.

By following sound soil conservation and farm management practices, the Joneses inched ahead year by year, but their pace was a little slower by 1935, because now they had four youngsters—none of them old enough to help; and what's more, Mrs. Jones had to spend more time about the house with them. Farmer Jones was up against it for help; he wanted to hire some help, but how would he make it up?

He began thinking of that trucking job he used to have in the city. If he had a truck of his own, he kept telling himself, he could make some extra money on the side hauling for his neighbors — perhaps enough to hire workers to do some of the back-bending tobacco chores and still have something for himself.

So, in 1936 Farmer Jones bought a small truck and began hauling tobacco to Baltimore at $18 a load. Three years later he had two trucks on the road and the nest-egg he and his wife had been saving was large enough for a new $7,000 home with electric lights and running water supplied by a gasoline motor they installed in a shed near the house.

The next year Jones bought a bus and put in his bid for a school route. His bid was accepted and ever since either he or one of his sons has been carrying school children from outlying areas to the Prince Frederick school. During the summer months they carry picknickers to the beaches.

Four years ago the Joneses added 150 acres to their 25 and got two tenant families to help them with their 40 acres of tobacco. By cleaning and testing his tobacco seed, sterilizing his seedbed against diseases, spraying his plants against blue mold, and following other practices recommended by his county agent, J. R. Jennings, Farmer Jones has increased his tobacco yield to nearly 800 pounds per acre. He was one of the first colored farmers in his county to follow the agent's advice on spraying tobacco plants against blue mold.

Today, his tobacco yield averages over 30,000 pounds annually. This grosses him and his tenants about $12,000. From his school bus and two trucks—one of them a five-ton $2,500 trailer truck — he grosses almost $20,000 a year. The Joneses finance their farming operations and the purchase of farming equipment through their Production Credit Association.

In order to secure lumber for additional curing barns for his larger tobacco crop, Jones went in with a neighbor last year and bought a small sawmill with which they saw up timber grown on their own farms. The Joneses have not only used some of their timber to build new tobacco barns which the county agent helped them plan, but also have used some of it to repair their tenant houses and for tobacco sticks. "You'd be surprised to know how much this little mill saves us," says Jones. "Later, we plan to do some custom sawing for our neighbors."

Mrs. Jones still helps with the tobacco, and with the garden, chickens, and the milking. Each week she receives a $7 milk and cream check, and sometimes she sells chickens and eggs in town. Two of the Jones children are married and living in town; the other two are helping on the farm. Clyde Jr. does most of the tractor work and the daughter, Pearl, does most of the home chores. "I'll be 44 my next birthday," says Jones, "and my family and I are aiming to take more time out for living."

New Yorker Heads Anti-Defamaiton Body

Election of Benjamin R. Epstein of New York as national director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and his predecessor for 15 years, Richard E. Gutstadt of Chicago, to the post of executive vice-chairman, was announced yesterday by L. B. Benjamin of Los Angeles, a member of the League's National Commission and chairman of its Southern California regional office board.

Gutstadt's new duties will be of a consultative and advisory nature. He relinquished active direction of the League last May, when he was granted a leave of absence because of ill health. Epstein served as acting national director during the interim period.

A product of San Francisco, Gutstadt had a long and varied professional career with Jewish agencies on the West Coast before assuming duties as national director and secretary of the League in 1932.

THANKFULNESS

In our relation to God, the spirit of thankfulness is not dependent on conditions of material prosperity or of freedom from trial. His goodness is visible in many ways, too numerous to mention. You and I experience his many blessings daily.

While we should always give thanks, this season of the year seems to indicate a definite time to take stock of ourselves and do something about it.

As we grow in faith, love and knowledge, so we should grow in thankfulness and gratitude.

E. R.—Dear Prof. Herman: After reading your column in the paper for the past few weeks, I have decided to bring my problem to you. Perhaps it is a little too long to be answered in the column, if so, can I write to you privately or talk with you?

Ans.—Due to the limited amount of space in the column and the numerous questions always coming in, it is hard to try and place all of them in the column; that is why it is suggested that you write me for a private reply, which will also include your new 1948 Horoscope.

M. E. S.—Will I marry the boy?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your question indicates that your mother disapproves of this young man and until such time as you have her consent to associate with him, it would be wise to obey her. Evidently she feels that you are much too young to think of marriage and would rather you concentrate upon some course of study to aid you in the future.

I. F.—Would you be so kind as to send in your complete address. Your letter failed to give all information needed. Your birthdate is February 1. I will be glad to answer your letter at once if you will send the information requested.

Mrs. E. M. R.—Dear Sir: I am sending a clipping of the California EAGLE . . and would like this question answered in the column, free of charge. What does the future hold for me?

Ans.—Probing into the matter I find that many changes will take place within the next 3 months and these changes will bring happiness into your life. For a more complete reading and details which will prove quite beneficial, I suggest you send for your 1948 Horoscope at your earliest opportunity and learn all you can to aid you in making the proper decisions.

B. G.—Will I get to see the man I love?

Ans.—Concentrating upon your question I find that you are under the impression you are very much in love with this young man, but you really know nothing about him. Before you set your heart on him, it would be wise to become better acquainted.

Mrs. X. X. X.—Why did they take the bankbook?

Ans.—It seems to me that the bank book was only taken to find out just what you had in the bank. If you reported this loss at once you had nothing to fear. However, it would be wise to see to it that this particular person does not enter your home again unless you are with them.

Many Groups Backing Attack on Covenants

NEW YORK—Interest throughout the nation continues to mount in the restrictive covenant cases which will be heard by the supreme court on December 8 and 9.

A number of widely diverse organizations have already filed briefs supporting the position of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's case and two other cases that court enforcement of race restrictive covenants is a violation of the 14th amendment. Briefs amicus curiae have been filed by the American Jewish Congress, the Anti-Nazi League, the Congregational Church, the C.I.O. and the National Lawyers Guild. Many other organizations have indicated that their briefs will be filed in the next week.

Building Up, But Not For Minorities

SACRAMENTO — Minority groups won't notice it for quite some time to come, but housing construction in California is on the upswing.

In a report to Gov. Warren, the State Dept. of Industrial Relations this week said that in September, 1947, 21,885 building permits were issued in principal California cities for structures with $98,031,579 valuation, compared with 18,092 permits in Sept., 1946, for buildings valued at $59,819,462.

However, Negro firms engaged in one phase or another of the building industry, report that most of the homes included in the new construction are in restricted areas, open to whites only.

Herbert Marshall, in his first two years on the English stage, portrayed a count, a butler, a soldier, the fore-legs of a horse, a sailor and even a coat rack!

NOTICE

Before making your investment of any kind see the "STAR-GAZER," who will guide you right in all your troubles, personal and love affairs and ventures; who locates lost or misplaced articles and that which suddenly wasn't. If time will not permit, place two questions in a letter stating time of question (first thought in a.m. or p.m.) with self-addressed, stamped envelope and donation. Now don't sit down and squawk and fuss. Call the "STAR-GAZER" and you won't bust, because after all in God we trust. Astrology is really right. We set natals, and one year personal forecasts.

's MORAL VICTORY

UCLA may have lost the Rose Bowl deciding game against but they certainly won a moral victory. After fairing bad eason, the Westwooders met their across town rivals in a r die" spirit and checked the Troymen, losing by 6-0. In if Bruin quarterback Benton would have called a couple of plunges when the Uclans were on the Trojans' four-yard line two minutes before the final gun, they might be meeting gan in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, 1948, instead of USC. UCLA nly earned the touchdown they came so close to getting, n my opinion their moral victory is just as good as USC's y.

NKSGIVING DAY AT THE COLISEUM

hanksgiving Day this year sets the date for a wonderful for football fans. It will be the Cleveland Browns and the ngeles Dons who will pack thousands of pro ball fans into . A. Memorial Coliseum. Negro attendance should be high rcentage with one of the largest collection of major league football stars to have ever assembled on the Coliseum showing real ball talent. 235-pound Marion Motley, the fullback for the Browns, will prove to any doubters that one of the best in pro ball today. Local folks who have Motley play will agree that he is a human cannonball th the center of any line. Brown end, Horace Gillom, and Bill Willus should also thrill those present Thursday. ood fighting spirit and playing ability on the Don squad, Red DeGroot can boast Ez Anderson, 6' 4" tall, and 215- Donman who will most likely be the Negro star on the -town team. John Brown should also grab some glory.

YOUR EYE ON HIM

the last 10 months, I have been keeping my eye on one s player who I believe has the making of a champion. The that I speak of is now attending Jefferson High and is a er of the Angel City Racket Club. He is only about 17 of age and is about 5' 10" tall, a fine age to start develop- icely for a tennis player and a good height for a tennis r's reach. The only fault that I have with this fellow is he is not taking the sport quite as serious as he should, ugh most of his time is consumed practicing and enjoying sport. I'm hoping this little write-up will open Erthanna et's eyes to his possibilities.

ABOUT THAT ANGEL BOWL GAME

ince the Angel Bowl Association, Inc., changed its plans having two outstanding Negro football teams in the United s play against each other in the game scheduled for Dec. 28, ow have made arrangements for a Negro and White teams eet, something fine has been added. In sports, as in any field, lovers of friendship and a feeling of understanding g all people regardless of race, creed or color, are con- lating the members of the Angel Bowl Association, Inc., for ng to make democracy in the U. S. live.

George Tolson To Take Champs To Honolulu

George Tolson, one of the top fight trainers of the United States, who has successfully turned out such boxers as John Thomas, Bobby Yeager and others, was selected after a meeting of the Coaches Association to accompany the Diamond Belt Champions of a recent tournament here to Honolulu where the team will meet the amateur champs of the islands on Dec. 5. He will serve as coach and trainer.

The team which includes Clarence Henry, heavyweight; George Mendoza, featherweight; George Jacquet, Long Beach flyweight; and Chuck Wilkerson, bantamweight, leave Saturday by Clipper plane, returning about Dec. 8.

Red Devils Set For 2nd Season

The Los Angeles Red Devils, sparkling basketball exhibitionists, who will open their second season of play Dec. 3 in Santa Barbara, are currently going through stiff preparatory workouts in the Pasadena YMCA.

Jackie Robinson, who paced the Red Devils to their sensational Freshman record of 30 wins against 2 losses, in which such nationally-known quintets as the Sheboygan Redskins, Harlem's Rens, the Broadway Clowns, and the Chicago Bears with George Mikan were numbered among their victims, won't be able to see much action with the club this year due to stage and screen committments.

However Negro candidates, veteran Red Devils guard Ziggy Marcell, Kenny Lipscomb and Frances Garland have been causing quite a stir in recent practice sessions. Marcell and Lipscomb are former Trotter mainstays while Garland saw service with L.A.C.C.

Owner-coach Jack Duddy has a schedule of 50 games lined up, 20 of these before local fans.

Turkey Day Midget Races Thurs. Night

The one race that night speedway drivers have been preparing for all season and that thousands of fans are waiting to see, the Eleventh Grand Prix, concludes the 1947 midget car season Thanksgiving night at Gilmore Stadium. One hundred and fifty spectacular laps will be the distance, and record under fire is the time of 39:52.50s, set by the late Roy Russing in winning the 1940 race.

SAN PEDRO MENTORS are priming their squad for its tilt in the second annual Angel Bowl Football Classic, December 28, 1947, at Wrigley Field. Standing, head Coach Nick Trani, assistant coach John Kerdich; kneeling, Harry Aiken and Matt Kostrencich, trainers.

Texas State Meets Langston In Homecoming Tilt Friday

HOUSTON—The Texas State University Tigers will be out to keep up their winning streak when they meet the Langston University Lions in their first annual homecoming tilt Friday night, November 28, at Buff Stadium. Game time is 8:00 o'clock.

From all indications, the Lions will be the underdogs as the Tigers boast more successive wins; but despite this fact, both teams are expected to put on a fine show.

Coach "Zip" Gayles will count heavily upon a number of freshman stars which he will unwrap to meet the competition that he faces in the scheduled classic. Big Ivory Moore, tackle, and Bill Shannon, guard, will lead a surging forward wall for Langston.

For offensive performance, the Tigers will depend on John W. "Tub" Jones, smart quarterback; Floyd Hall, pass-snatching end; William McDonald, dependable blocking back; and Alexander Holt, line smashing fullback.

BOXING BRIEFS

LONDON—Jackie Paterson has been placed back on the throne as the world's flyweight titleholder by the British Board of Control, it was announced late last week. Paterson had been deprived of his title July 30 for failure to defend his crown against Dado Marino of Honolulu July 16.

BILLY McCLURE, 190, scored a one-round technical kayo over James (Tiger) Sheppard, 180, in the scheduled 10-round main event at Wilmington Bowl last Wednesday night.

OAKLAND — Allen Faulkner, 158, Buffalo, N. Y., won a unanimous 10-round decision over George Smith, 155½, Oakland, last Wednesday night.

GENE BURTON, N. Y. lightweight, knocked out Leon Haire, St. Louis, in the tenth round at Chicago last Wednesday night.

NEW YORK—Gino Buonyino, 195¼, Bari Italy, outpointed Henry Jones, 217, Philadelphia, in eight rounds last Wednesday night.

Dons Prep For Cleveland Tilt

A steady drill on offense continued today as the Dons prepared for their Thanksgiving Day clash with the Cleveland Browns in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Ways and means of stopping the passing of Otto Graham, and the power of fullback Marion Motley, and at the same time getting the Dons' offense into high gear, are items that take up considerable time.

Generals Win Sou. League Hi Grid Title

Hugh McElhenny and Bob Cameron paced Washington High's unbeaten and untied Generals to a 25-0 victory over Manual Arts and their fifth success in a row and the Southern League title. The Toilers finished in the cellar.

The sensational McElhenny of the Generals scored twice, once on a 27-yard run and again on a seven-yard pass from Cameron.

Fremont finished second in the league when they beat Los Angeles High, 7-0, and Roosevelt provided a mild upset by defeating the favored Jefferson High Democrats, 34-14, on the latter's field.

Suspension Is Handed LaMotta

NEW YORK—The New York State Athletic Commission slapped an indefinite suspension on Jake LaMotta, New York middleweight, for concealing vital facts about his physical condition before his fight with Billy Fox of Philadelphia recently.

The decision was announced last Thursday by Commission Chairman Eddie Eagan after LaMotta had been subjected to a long session of questioning about his fourth-round knockout by Fox.

Affair Dec. 21 at Jordan Hi School

Jackie Robinson, famed athlete, named organized baseball's "rookie of the year," will, according to Frank T. Clarke supervise a gigantis youth program slated for Jordan high school auditorium, the afternoon and evening of Sunday, December 21. He will head a star-studded cast of entertainers. The affair, which will benefit youth members of the 77th Street police division, deputy auxiliary police, jointly with the Jordan high school youth, is being jointly sponsored by the Watts Community League and the Youth Activities Committee of Jordan High School.

An incomplete list of artists who will appear on the stellar program includes Leonard Reed as master of ceremonies, Louise Beavers, screen actress; Roy Milton and his Solid Senders orch.; Betty Martina, Spanish-Moroccan dancer; Laird Bell and his 20th Century All-Stars; Monte Hawley, John Taylor, Helen (Miss 5x5) Andrews, Art Duncan, McVoot & McVout and scores of others who will be announced next week. The shows will be in two sessions. A matinee starting at 2 p.m. will last until 5 p.m., and an evening show starting at 7 and ending at 9 p.m.

CUBS MEET TARTERS FOR BOWL BID

This Friday night on Gilmore Field, the Los Angeles City college Cubs, winners of 10 straight junior college games, run head-on into their bitter arch rivals, the Compton college Tarters, winners of last year's "Little Rose Bowl Game," and a team that has only been beaten twice in two years of the strongest competition found anywhere among two-year colleges.

This is the game that will pit the two best two-year college teams in the country against one another, and a game that will not only decide the Western States Championship, but will send the victor on the rosy path to Pasadena's Rose Bowl, as the western representative in the second annual "Little Rose Bowl Game."

City college has a clean slate this year, excepting for an early season, 20-14, "heartbreaker" loss to a strong University of Redlands squad. Other than the loss to Redlands, the North Vermont boys have rolled over 10 straight foes to give them the best season in the school's history since Jackie Fellows led the '41 CC team to 11 straight vic-

Milk Fund Gridiron Classic Scheduled Saturday, Nov. 29

The 11th annual Los Angeles City Schools' P.T.A. Milk Fund Football Carnival will be held at the Los Angeles Coliseum on Saturday afternoon, November 29, at 1:45 p.m. A pagent of 30 high school bands, marching and drilling, will precede the opening kickoff.

Big event in the city's athletic program, the game brings together the 12 finest prep football teams in the widespread Los Angeles system. The two top clubs in each of the six leagues are chosen for the game and divided into North and South teams.

Each period of the game is 25-minutes with no time-out allowed, unless for injuries. Thus the football fan is assured a full 2½ hours of entertainment with no breaks. Play in all periods begins at the exact spot the ball rested at the conclusion of the preceding contest. Scores of the individual periods are not counted separately, but only in

Trigo Winner Over Hudson

Mario Trigo, 132, Mexican southpaw, scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Eddie Hudson, 133½, at Hollywood Legion Stadium last Friday night before a crowd of 5000 fans.

In the opinion of many of the fans and newsmen Hudson was short-changed. L. A. Times sportswriter, Cal Whorton, gave the duke to Hudson by two points and the California EAGLE scribe saw Eddie winning by three. It was an exciting fight with Hudson pressing Trigo the entire distance and getting in enough punches apparently to win.

Bill Tierney, 145, shaded Jimmy Shans, 143, in the six-round semi-windup, with Shans finishing the bout with a badly swollen left eye.

3 Victors In Turkey Shoot

Wilbur Winston, D. F. DuFord and C. Greene won first, second and third prizes, respectively, in the annual turkey shoot of the Lucky Few Rod and Gun Club held last weekend.

ALL LOS ANGELES EAGERLY WAITS TALENT SHOW CASE FRIDAY NIGHT

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

THIS IS ONE of those fast weeks so we'll have to just throw this up in the air and let the chips fall where they may. First you'd better look at your duds and pick out what you're going to wear Friday night (Nov. 28) when you drag your female out to Meadowbrook Gardens for the mammoth TALENT SHOW CASE. Believe you me if you don't attend your friends will make lifely particularly miserable for your for months to come. Okay, so you are going. Good! Now have you got any talent. I mean can you shake a mean hoof solo or can you throw your gal over your shoulder? Have you a good set of pipes? Can you make FRANK SINATRA and BING CROSBY go into hiding, or if a girl, do you say, "What has PEGGY LEE got that I haven't got in the line of singing ability?" Can you make a trumpet say "Mama"? or bang a piano in boogie-woogie style to near perfection. If you can do any of these things then your destiny hinges on your filling out the entry blank in this section, taking it to the DAY DISTRIBUTING COMPANY, 709 E. 29th street, at once and hot-rodding out to Meadowbrook Friday night. All the big stars that are big stars got that way in similar fashion. The applause of the crowd will tell you if you have it or whether or not you should forget about that latent hope of becoming an entertainer. It's worth a tryout. It will save you months of worry because what with prices as they are today you can't afford to have additional worries. If I had talent (which I haven't) I'd want to know if it passed the test or not. If it didn't I'd throw it out the window. Okay, so you will go. So, don't just stand there. Fill out the blank and get your body over to Day Distributing today . . . NOW! . . . Just a quick review on several MILTONE records that WAR PERKINS kindly laid upon my doorstep. LITTLE MISS CORNSHUCKS, currently setting the town afire, is heard with the BLENDERS doing a fine version of "He's Funny That Way" and "Keep Your Hand On Your Heart," with MAXWELL DAVIS arranging the former and CALVIN JACKSON the latter. Both are worth your time and money. Also the Blenders form the background for JIMMIE GRISSOM while he does "Whispering Grass" and "Ice Cold Love." The yuletide moves in as Jimmie sings "Christmas Brings Me Down" with "I'm Having Trouble With My Dreams" the flipover. Next THOMAS PRICE is heard on two sides titled "De-Double-Love You" and "Enough of That Stuff." MORRIS SILVER in four sides (Jewish) sings with MAX MENDELOFF's Quintet in "Mein Shtetel Yass," "Shabes Tzu Nacht," "Tzvei Chaverim-lach" and "Shiker Is A Goi."

DID YA KNOW? — Old LOUIS (SATCHMO) ARMSTRONG was again acclaimed as the greatest figure in jazz now living after taking over Carnegie Hall in one of the most exciting jazz concerts ever held in that staid retreat of music several days ago. Jammed to the rafters with avid swing fans the hall rocked with the Louis aggregation putting down solid jive. In the lineup were; BARNEY BIGARD, clarinet, JACK TEAGARDEN, trombone, BIG SID CATLETT, drums, DICK CARY, piano, and ORVAL SHAW, bass. VELMA MIDDLETON did the warbling and LOUIS the Mighty did a bit himself in addition to playing the trumpet as only "Old Satchmo" can do it . . . The DOWN BEAT announced this week that JOE LIGGINS and His famous HONEYDRIPPERS were back for a limited engagement due to popular demand. Liggins calls the Down Beat his home stamping grounds, having played to large crowds there many times in the past. His many followers will welcome Joe's return to the popular Central avenue playspot and capacity houses are expected to prevail. ESVAN MOSBY is manager of the club . . . LIONEL HAMPTON now in his final week at Meadowbrook has written two songs in honor of SAMUEL GOLDWYN and HOWARD HAWKS. They are "The Goldwyn Stomp" and "Hawk's Nest" . . . MARTHA J. LEVY now has a telephone . . . PEGGY THOMAS is the sweet vocalist with LOUIS JORDAN, who is solid at Billy Berg's Hollywood Supper Club. His new song "Zeke" is a natural killer . . . The LOUMEL MORGAN Trio also caught Sunday night doing a great job at the same spot . . . Observed in the audience was MRS. GLADYS HAMPTON, wife of the great Hamp . . . Also seen were MR. and MRS. HOUSTON (PAT) FARRELL . . . SARAH VAUGHAN last week recorded "Sometimes I Feel Like A Motherless Child" and "The Lord's Prayer." She was backed by the concert orchestra of NATHANIEL SKILKRET . . . ELLA FITZGERALD into the Merry-Go-Round Dec. 1 at Youngstown, Ohio . . . COOTIE WILLIAMS is no longer under the Gale Agency banner . . . BUDDY JOHNSON, pianist-maestro, has gone into the music publishing biz as a sideline . . . Don't forget that swanky pre-Thanksgiving cocktail party to be given by the Nomads Association at the home of Henry Armstrong, 713 E. 55th street, Wednesday night from 8 p.m. until midnight. Donations will be accepted by this bright new club which will in turn make a sizeable donation to a charitable organization. I'm a member and I'd like to meet you. Come on out!

La Churchill Hit Postponed Her Retirement

NEW YORK—Savannah Churchill, beauteous new darling of the juke boxes, who scored another sensational personal triumph at the Onyx Club on Swing Street, here Friday night, had planned retirement almost a year ago she revealed when interviewed by the press following her opening at the famous 52nd Street bistro.

Only the impassioned pleas of Irving Berman, head of Manor Recording Company, were able to win from her a promise to delay the date until the ensuing month. It was during the interim that her recording of "I Want To Be Loved" was leased and she found herself once again on the high road of fame and fortune.

A.V.C. Benefit Show Dec. 5th

There will be a gala midnight show Friday, Dec. 5, at the Lincoln theatre sponsored by the Wendell L. Willkie Chapter of the American Veterans Committee.

Many Hollywood stars of stage, screen and radio will be guests of honor. The following stars have promised to assist: Hadda Brooks, Eddie Green, Edith Wilson, Janet Collins, Francois Andre, Bettye Quincey, Bob Parrish, Herb Jeffries, Martha Davis, Eddie Dudley, Mantan Moreland, Suzette Harbin, Mabel Scott, Nicodemus Stewart, Ralph Weaver and Louis Jordan. Donations will be accepted.

"Thirty-four years ago I made my first picture here, and Bill Beaudine directed it," Wesley Barry said, referring to Monogram studio, where he now is an assistant director.

Cecil (Count) Carter Fully Recovered; Writes New Song

It was a tough road to travel but Cecil (Count) Carter, well-known young song writer, finally won a tough battle to regain his health after a lengthy illness. Following several weeks of recuperation after an operation, Carter was pronounced as completely cured by his physicians this week.

Dr. Frank S. Dalley performed the operation at Good Samaritan hospital and the results were very gratifying for the tunesmith, who has been exceedingly cheerful and optimistic throughout his illness.

During the time he has been recuperating, Carter, who wrote the King Cole Trio disc success "I Thought You Ought to Know," penned another song titled "It's So Hard to Laugh and So Easy to Cry" which the same trio recorded and music lovers will soon be hearing on juke boxes and on their own radio-phono combinations.

Carter also revealed to the press that his partner in song writing, Rich Askam, nephew of Red Ingle of the hillybilly song "Temptation" fame, had gone to New York City to work out a deal with music publishers for their songs due to the coming ban on recordings, effective January 1.

The talented tunesmith is presently regaining his full strength but will soon be released from the hospital and will head straight for his home in Los Angeles to resume his chosen profession.

PENS NEW TUNE — Cecil (Count) Carter, recently pronounced completely well by physicians after a prolonged illness, has penned a new ditty titled "It's So Hard to Laugh and So Easy to Cry," which the King Cole Trio will soon release via a recording.

Nellie Lutcher Featured in LOOK As 'New Song Stylist'

Nellie Lutcher, the singer who has taken America by storm, is featured in the current issue of LOOK magazine as a "new song stylist" with a fresh approach. Describing Miss Lutcher's rise to fame and popularity, LOOK says that she was, until last winter, an unknown piano player from Lake Charles, Louisiana. The turning point of her career came when the president of Capitol Records, Deve Dexter, heard her perform on a March of Dimes radio show. Impressed

☆ THEATRES—NIGHT SPOTS ☆

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE, Theatrical Editor

Lionel Hampton Will Wind Up L. A. Stay This Weekend

After an absence of more than 5 months, Lionel Hampton and his completely reorganized sweet and hot orchestra will soon work eastward again.

Detained on the West Coast by the filming of the Samuel Goldwyn production, "A Song Is Born," featuring Danny Kaye, other movie commitments, extensive Decca recordings, popular demand engagements at Culver City's Meadowbrook, which he reopened as an interracial spot on a six-day schedule, pace-setting stints in theatres and dance halls up and down the coast, Hampton is full of vim for those massive face to face audiences which he loves. He closes at Meadowbrook Sunday night.

Hamp's records, whose latest Decca release include, "Hamp's Got A Duke" and "Gone Again" are the most consistent asked-for juke box favorites throughout the nation. Also, reports from overseas indicate that the "Rebop King" who incidentally is doing a "Bebop" Album for Decca, is all the rage. Hamp's own original composition "Flying Home," now one of the immortals, is the pacemaker for all jazz enthusiasts.

This cock full of activity tour culminating in Chicago and the midwest during the latter part of December include the Orpheum theatre in Omaha, Nebraska, Thursday, December 4; the Riverside theatre, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, December 11; and the Regal theatre, Chicago, December 26. Leaving Chicago, the maestro will do a series of concerts for the benefit of his National Teen-age program.

While in Chicago, the maestro will discuss with several Radio Network officials a new Hampton radio show

Leaders Sponsor Hit Play

Ray Spencer announced over the week-end that his West Coast production of "Deep Are the Roots," will open at the Belasco Theatre on January 15 for a run of eight weeks.

This highly provocative, hit Broadway and London play on racial discrimination is being sponsored locally by many civic and cultural leaders, among whom are H. A. Howard, Katherine Dunham, Earl Grant, Dave Raksin, Dr. Arthur Mitchell, Hugo Butler, Dr. W. W. Davis, Bob Tobey, Dr. Griffin, Frank Tarloff, Dr. Mahlon C. Cooley and Dr. Claude Hudson.

Widespread interest has been shown in this interracially sponsored project, and quite a few organizations are arranging to sell theatre parties to their memberships, for which tickets will be obtainable six weeks in advance. Inquiries concerning such theatre parties should be made to the Deep Are the Roots Company at GLadstone 9050.

Billy Eckstine Hits L.A. Soon

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Following a record-breaking three-week stint at the Club Silhouette in Chicago, Billy Eckstine, the "Bronze Balladier With The Golden Voice", moves into this city for a week's engagement at the new Play-Dium nitery, starting Thoursday, November 20.

Upon the completion of his local ntery debut, the MGM singing star will take to the Motor City of Detroit to headline on stage of the Paradise theatre the week of November 28.

Billy is scheduled to do several recording sessions for MGM records next month, just before he reports to the MGM film studios in Hollywood to take tests for his first screen assignment. The new singing idol of Young America is also slated to open at a Hollywood night spot late in December.

'Emperor Jones' To Open On Las Palmas Stage Dec. 2nd

Eugene O'Neill's immortal drama, "The Emperor Jones," which started playwright O'Neill on the road to fame and fortune, will open a limited three week run at the Las Palmas theatre in Hollywood on Tuesday night, December 2.

In the starring role of Brutus Jones, the pullman porter who became absolute ruler of an island kingdom, will be seen young Morris Buchanan, 24-year-old Los Angeles City College drama student, who has been attracting considerable attention in local theatrical circles recently. A son of the Reverend and Mrs. J. E. Buchannan of Pasadena, Morris is a graduate of Washington Junior High in Pasadena and has appeared with the Pasadena Playhouse and with the Wendy players over radio station KFAC.

Buchanan follows in the footsteps of two great colored actors, Charles Gilpin, who created the role of Brutus Jones in the Provincetown Playhouse in New York, and Paul Robeson, who did the part in the screen version and on the London stage. His supporting cast will be composed of experineced actors, both white and colored.

Popular prices will be the order of the day at the Las Palmas, with seats selling nightly at $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00, plus tax and on Sunday bargain matinees, at $1.00 and 1.50, plus tax. Sam Selby is credited with being director, while producer is Edith Jackson.

Meadowbrook Dance and Show To Benefit Showfolk Nov. 26

A proposal that a special fund be created to assist needy entertainers who worked before the troops overseas during the war is the suggestion of the Beverly Hills Chapter of the American Veterans Committee.

The plan will be announced publicly on Thanksgiving Eve at the second annual dance and show to be held at the Meadowbrook Gardens, Culver City.

Jack Carson was scheduled today as master of ceremonies with a headline cast of radio and screen stars including Ida Lupino, Dennis Morgan, Robert Alda, Bob McGuire, Constance Moore, Abe Burroughs, Derry Falligant, Stein & Kahn, and others.

Several hundred prominent motion picture stars and other members of the entertainment profession have been invited as special guests. They were informed by letter that the affair is being held in honor of the industry. It is hoped that many of them will be on hand to witness the "Barrel of Dough March" by the veterans present.

BACK STAGE IN N. Y.

By Carrie Miller

The Amsterdam Tabloid in N. Y. is a year old this wk, and now that the youngester is walking so well by himself, "Auntie" Backstage is bidding him good luck and Ta-Ta! It's been a pleasure to respond to the Editor's request for my services a yr. ago, and real enjoyment folks in writing for ya, hearing from ya; comments and criticisms alike! To entertainers, musicians, newcomers to showbiz, and ALL the gang who has been so swell and giving me news "firsts" and exclusives, many thanks, and remember wherever you see "Backstage" in print, KNOW that I'm in your corner. To me, the truth is always the best means of relaying the news!

From New York, at the 5th Ave. Playhse, Yours Truly can say that the French film, "Tam Tam," starring Josephine Baker, is cute and interesting!! Agnes Morehead, formerly associated with Orson Welles, and considered a friend of this columnist, will play a 100 yr. old woman in the new film, "The Lost Moment" with Robert Cummings.

Carmen Jones, presented on NBC, Sun. before last, was terrif, and Muriel Smith great as ever, plus all in the cast! Howard Lindsay is a delightful announcer host, and the studio audience enjoyed every moment! Dick Richards, manager of Harris & Lillette, will have a super announcement soon, regarding the young lady's piano playing! Dick is one of those guys who keeps me in with CBS, and bigwigs in Billy Rose's office plus a lot of personal interview privileges!!

Mrs. Nannie West, leading Long Island matron, is busy planning entertainment events for the Lt. Mikell Aux. Post. Stars please note this worthy group!

traditional grid rivals. Supporters of both teams are predicting a victory for their team and the game is sure to provide thrills and excitement. The Dragons have proved a rejuvenated team during the last few weeks of the season, and the Eagles, a non-conference team, have a record that is far from bad.

Half-time activities will include the crowning of Miss Samuel Huston together with appropriate demonstrations by the 50-piece college band and pep club. The date of the Homecoming is Dec. 5 and 6.

PLANS HOLIDAY

Van Heflin is headed for his first real vacation since he returned to films following his service in the Army. The actor, having completed his role in M-G-M's "B.F.'s Daughter," leaves for New York to pass at least three weeks seeing the shows and visiting friends in the metropolis.

Merit Award Dance Slated Here Dec. 7

The Los Angeles League of Good Government, representing a cross section of eastside residents, will present it's first annual Certificate Award of Merit Presentation dance, Sunday nite, December 7 at Meadowbrook Gardens, Culver City.

Award recipients will go to ten persons for outstanding services to the community during 1947 and will include such names as Attorney Loren Miller, Miss Laura Slayton and Jackie Robinson. Miller will be honored for his constructive work on restrictive covenants; Miss Slayton for her oustanding social work and Robinson for his baseball prowess.

by her talent, he sent for her to make some test recordings, which resluted in theatre and night club engagements, culminating in the overwhelming reception given her by the public this fall at New York's Cafe Society.

Although Miss Lutcher is a new name among singers, her first tow records, released last summer, have both passed the half-million mark and are outselling most of the old regulars according to LOOK. These songs, "He's a Real Gone Guy" and "Hurry on Down," are both composed by Miss Lutcher herself, as is her latest "Watch Yourself Bub."

Is describing Miss Lutchers' style, LOOK says that she sings with a combination of scat, innuendo and abandon. "The customers have a rollicking time. And so does Nellie," LOOK concludes.

Jesse Owens Attracting Big Audiences At Savoy Theatre

Few heroes, if any, realize more fully the grave responsibilities to be faced ay anyone—especially a Negro citizen — who gains fame and success than does Jesse Owen's 'the world's fastest human'. Aside from the love and respect from his wife, and their three charming daughters, Jesse holds next dearest to his heart, the pride and confidence his fellow-men have in him.

Mild-mannered, gifted with good-looks, an athletic physique, personality-plus and financial success, Owens does not ever attempt to crystalize his gains. Instead, he is the same likable, quiet, soft-spoken, deep-thinking and unusually studious person which endeared him to the entire world during his active athletic career from 1929 through 1936.

Sexual delinquency and venereal diseases are the two greatest problems facing youth and adults alike, in this world of today, Owens believes. That's why a few months ago, when he chanced to see a new Hollywood hygiene picture, "Mom and Dad," which deals expertly with these subjects, Owens was so completely impressed by its importance, he made application to take a colored unit of this famed show on a world tour and appear with it personally, making brief lectures on health and hygiene. He feels this "crusade for cleaner living" is the finest thing he can do to show the "right road" to today's-youth. His theatre engagements enable him to meet and speak to millions whom he could not reach in any other way. Jesse Owens is attracting large crowds in person, with "Mom and Dad," now at the Savoy theatre. He opened Monday for a 13-day engagement.

THE DISC

band through North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

NEW YORK—Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing", who has been setting new records with the sale of his platters for RCA Victor, has come forth with a new release that is expected to top the sales figures of all his previous efforts on that label.

The new Basie disc pairs two distinctive jump specials by the "Jimp King", the top side highlighting the return to wax of Jimmy Rushing with a typical Rushing blues vocal on "Brand New Wagon", while the flipover presents the incomparable Basie band in an instrumental offering that bears the unique title of "Futile Frustration".

That the Count is hot on wax is evidenced by the fact that he has four RCA Victor's current best-selling records with his platters of "House Rent Boogie", "Take A Little Off the Top", "I'm Drowning In Your Deep Blue Eyes" and "South".

GETS NEW ROLE — Nine Lunn, who made her screen debut in "The Senator Was Indiscreet," with William Powell, now has been assigned to a feature role in Deanna Durbin's "Up In Central Park."

Binnie Barnes has been signed by the King Bros. to portray the second feminine lead in their next Allied Artists film, "The Tenderfoot."

'Sport' Has Story On Buddy Young

The December issue of "Sport," now on sale, has a top-flight story on Buddy Young, titled, "Buddy's Even Better as a Pro."

This story praises Buddy for his splendid team work on the New York Yankees professional football team, and tells why he had to quit college and sacrifice his chances to become an Olympic champ. Written by Joe King, the story points out that although Buddy sizzled while he was racking up touchdowns for Illinois, readers should get a load of him with those AAC Yankees. He never stops.

'TEAM' REVIVED

Joseph Ruttenberg, A.S.C., will photograph the forthcoming M-G-M production, "Julia Misbehaves," starring Greer Garson. The assignment again "teams" the star and cinematographer who has lensed many of her hits. Jack Conway directs.

FINE PERFORMANCE — Canada Lee is credited by critics as giving a fine performance in the picture "Body and Soul" now playing the four Music Hall theatres here. John Garfield and Lilli Palmer have the starring roles.

BIG SID CATLETT is the drummer man in the all-star band of Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, also pictured, currently turning away crowds at the Rag Doll in Chicago. In the combo are: Jack Teagarden, trombone; Barney Bigard, clarinet, and Dick Carey, pianist. They are exclusive RCA-Victor artists.

ent to Zion Hill Baptist Church Sunday afternoon and eard Dr. J. H. Jackson speak. In my opinion, as a pulpit or, Dr. Jackson is without a peer. Aside from oratory philosophical religious thinking appeals to the Com- Man. And I mean in pointing the way he is down to h, not in the sky.

Dr. Jackson is a minister, and his prime duty is to h religion. But Dr. Jackson, like many of our younger sters of this day and time, does not spend two or three s telling the congregation how to prepare to put on white robes and dance all over God's Heaven.

His theme was unity among men—that sort of unity binds rather than divides men in the establishment better world and a better life.

I was impressed not so much with the words spoken Dr. Jackson as by the truth they conveyed. Standing re a great concourse of people tempered for a heaven-light, this polished Black Man, the acme of culture refinement, delivered a message sufficient for the ls of the intellectual, but also with enough spiritual eal to satisfy those who thirst after a sort of spiritual le rousing.

HESE separate and distinct missions accomplished, Dr. Jackson succeeded in driving home the message he e to deliver. Said he, "The trouble with the world is to man's will to worship the symbol and not the real —the truth. From the beginning of time man has n divided in his idea of the truth, of God. The Greeks shiped a Greek god, while the Romans held fast to the an concept of God.

"In this country the northern portion believed in a of freedom for all human beings. The Southerners be-ed that their god upheld their right to hold slaves. The th and the South divided on the question of slavery, a civil war had to be fought to settle the question.

"The agonizing problem in the church, the nation, the world today is the question of unity.

"We are living in an era of confusion, stimulated by . Consider what is happening about us. Division in our ks. We divided our publishing house. We allow our tical enemies to keep us divided on issues that hold conomic slaves.

"We are more afraid of our friends than we are of enemies. With our eyes half-closed we stumble along a tical path prescribed by two political parties identical determination to gain and control the power and lth of the world.

"How do these forces keep us, the people, divided weak?

"They encourage such organizations as the Klux Klan to frighten and terrorize Negroes. They nt a Federal Un-American Committee to deprive cer- people of their freedom of thought if they dare to e such plays as 'Crossfire' they tell Negroes we are hiring any more of you. They say the same to the s, the Japanese, the Mexicans, and the Chinese for tical reasons. . . . . .

"They hire pseudo-political leaders in all the so-ed minority groups to bum-steer them in political cam-gns to vote against their own best interests."

WHILE Dr. Jackson did not wade out into the deep on these issues, he closed his remarks Sunday after-n with these words: "I did not see God as the realiza- of man's hope and ideal of a better life until 1937, n one day at Oxford in England I saw a man who was bound by race, creed, language, nor nationality—not symbol, but the image of God."

NLY such a concept of God will drive out the darkness and bring in the light to a world struggling for free-. And unless we ourselves are willing to see and ept that concept, the world will be plunged into even per darkness and confusion than it is today.

Decision Ends One Year of Litigation

CHICAGO DEFENDER WILL CONTINUE AS IN PAST

CHICAGO — The Chicago Defender, one of America's largest and oldest newspapers, which has often been called the "Voice of the Negro in America," will continue under the management of John H. Sengstacke and of the Robert S. Abbott Publishing Company as heretofore. This was decided by Judge Robert E.

Order Negroes To Quit Neighborhood

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King, 1359 East 60th street, were visited at their home in the early evening of November 10, by a group of white persons who told them to leave the neighborhood.

"We don't want n—— here," they were told by the spokesman.

The Kings bought their home on August 1, 1947. It was formerly owned by Mrs. Amy S. Gaither, a Negro woman, but was occupied by Mrs. S. J. Dargel and family, white people. Mr. King bought the property through Mr. Reed, of the Main Realty Co., and was told that although it had been restricted, those restrictions had been removed.

An eviction notice had been sent to Mrs. Dargel, but the family moved out November 6, and the Kings moved into their new home on November 10. They

For the past two weeks the Sears Santa Monica store has been picketed because of its discriminatory hiring practices. The pickets are demanding equal job opportunities for Negroes and is under the auspices of the NAACP.

The National Negro Congress has given support not only in suppling pickets but has worked to develop broad support in the community and from all organi-

Negro Churches, Schools Burned

LOGANVILLE, Ga.—Two Negro churches and one Negro schoolhouse—all the Negro churches and schoolhouses in the community—were destroyed by fire within the past month, and although the city through Mayor C. H. Byrd offered the munificent sum of $100 for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the fire, no progress has been made in apprehending the culprits.

Loganville is situated 20 miles east of Atlanta, near where four Negroes were brutally lynched on July 25, 1946. Two Negro men and their wives were taken from the automobile of a white man by an armed, masked band and were riddled with gunfire. The case has never been solved.

Mayor Byrd says there is no doubt that the fires which destroyed the Negro churches and the school house were of incendiary origin. He believes there was a feud between sections of the Negro population, and that this was the cause of the fire. Another theory advanced by the mayor is that the "Negroes were attempting to attract nation-wide sympathy by putting the torch to their own churches and schools."

Meanwhile, nothing is being done, any more than there was in the case of the lynching—except to offer an award of $100 which it is almost certain no one will claim.

Politics Kept Him From Getting a Job

Mild-mannered Allen Anderson got a shock from which he will not soon recover, Tuesday, December 2, when he applied for a job at the Transworld Employment Agency at 10th street and Olympic blvd.

Anderson said that as he entered the room, pretty well filled with what appeared to be white applicants, a man apparently in charge of the office rushed forward, and almost without giving him a chance to speak, broke out with, "We are not hiring colored, Jews, Mexicans, Chinese or Japanese."

"Why?" asked Anderson, when he had recovered from the shock.

"For political reasons," was the answer.

MOB VIOLENCE VISITS SOUTHEAST LOS ANGELES—The family of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King, 1359 East 60th street, was visited recently by a crowd of white persons who told them that no Negroes were wanted in that neighborhood. The Home Protective Association has pledged itself to fight to the finish to assure the Kings of justice. Above are Mr. and Mrs. King, their three sons, Sidney Jr., Therrell, Maynard, and a friend, Mrs. Estella Thomas. (See story on this page.)

Ministers Condemn Police Brutality At Alliance Meet

Condemnation of police brutality as practiced against certain citizens, notably Negroes, Mexicans, and members of other minority groups, was voted at a meeting of the International Ministers Alliance this week.

The motion stated: "That it be the consensus of this body that the action of the police constitute an infraction of police rules and of the law itself, and that the act should be dealth with according to law. A motion was also adopted that a committee be appointed to cooperate with other committees in bringing the matter before the proper authorities."

The Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell pastor of the Cosmopolitan Christian church, presented the report. Others on the committee are: Bishop W. C. Brown, Rev. W. A. Venerable, Rev. C. B. Spears, Rev. P. M. Marshall, Rev. K L. Buford, Rev. G. W. Reed, Rev. James A. Bell, and Rev. B. J. Franklin. Rev. C. W. Reed is secretary of the Association, and Rev. Dewitt Turpeau, vice-president.

Russell to Speak On Civil Rights Com. Report Sun.

A city-wide mass meeting will be held in the Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma streets, Sunday evening, December 7, at 6 o'clock, when President Truman's Civil Rights Committee's report will be discussed by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Clayton D. Russell.

Dr. Russel recently attended a conference of the Negro and white Independent and Community Churches in Chicago, where it was voted unanimously to merge these two great church groups. Dr. Russell and Dr. Burkhart were co-chairmen of the conference.

Following the conference Dr. Russell went to Washington, D. C. to attend the opening session of the special Congress, and to discuss with California Congressmen the question of how to put the report of the President's Civil Rights Committee into action.

The report, which will be dis-

HPA Stages Hop Chest Party Fri.

The Hope Chest Party of the Home Protective Association will be held Friday evening, December 4, at 8 o'clock in the Assembly Room of The California Eagle, upstairs, at 4073 S. Central avenue.

The Hope Chest is on display in the windows of the EAGLE office. It contains dozens of valuable and beautiful gifts. You will win one, if you hold the lucky ticket. Any present in the Hope Chest will surely be appreciated by anyone as a Christmas gift.

The HPA is fighting the nefarious restrictive covenants which seem to be sprouting everywhere in Los Angeles. The particular case is that of the Lewa family, ordered out of their home on East 32nd street because they are Negroes. They want to jail rather than leave their own home. Their case is now being taken through court by the HPA.

All interested are urged to come and enjoy pre-Christmas festivities. There will be refreshments in keeping with the season.

Sidney Jones to Speak at Progressive Party Meeting

Sidney A. Jones, Jr., representing the Chicago Progressive Party, under whose sponsorship he recently polled 200,000 votes in the judicial elections, will speak at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the Independent Progressive Party in the Shrine auditorium Wednesday, December 17, at 8 p.m.

Jones is one of the nation's outstanding younger Negro leaders. For seven years he was Senior Attorney of the U. S. Department of Labor. He is vice-president of the Chicago Chapter of the National Lawyers Guild, secretary of Cook County Bar Association, vice-president of the Chicago Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a member of the Board of Directors of the Chicago Urban League, and a practicing attorney.

A second guest speaker will be New York City Councilman Eugene P. Connolly, County Secretary of the American Labor Party, and a member of the State Planning Board of the ALP, the nation's first successful third party. He is now serving his third year as a member of the City Council of New York, and is a distinguished fighter in the defense of civil liberties. He was

Citizens Committee To Hold Pension Rally Fri. Evening

The Citizens Committee for Old Age Pensions will hold a Pension Rally Friday, Dec. 5, at 1:30 p.m., at Masonic Hall, 1050 E. 50th St.

Pensioners will hear a message from Geo. H. McLain, who will tell of the work he has done in Sacramento in having the State Legislative Council prepare the $75 initiative measure which the committee proposes to place on the ballot at the next General Election.

Pensioners will also learn how the measure will increase Blind Aid to $85, eliminate children from being forced to contribute, low age to 63 and provide medical and health services if needed.

This meeting is free and open to the public.

50,000 Settlers for Liberia? Two Ships Needed to Carry Them There

By H. A. PHILLIPS

At least two ocean going ships are needed to put the flag of the Republic of Liberia on the seas, and Afro-Americans are requested to contribute in the spirit of the Jewish contributors who purchased the President Arthur, which set the flag of Zion on the high seas. This writer hereby pledge the first $40 toward initiating a merchant marine for Liberia, and hope that others will follow suit. Liberia needs at least 50,000 settlers of Africa descent, but there are few transportation means of getting them there. The concession snatchers monopolize the present means of entry to Liberia, while denying such entry to Afro-Americans and West Indians, who are anxious to "go over into Mecedonia" and help to make Liberia the Republic which she was destined to be.

Recently, while this writer was down in the Caribbean, hundreds of would be settlers voiced their enthusiasm to emigrate to Liberia, once transportation became available. At meetings in Barbados, Trinidad, St. Thomas, St. Lucia, Panama and other countries surveyed, there was official as well as private satisfaction that Liberia could be made into a greater asset to people of African descent once the problem of transportation was met.

President Truman, with whom this writer spent more than one pleasant occasion, has voiced his approval of immigration.

Along the lower reaches of the Cestos River at Grand Cess in Grand Bassa County, there are thousands of acres set aside for Afro-Americans and West Indians who wsih to take up the task of nation building in a land wide open to Afro-American skill andd ring in an orderly and progressive way.

The Afro-American, formerly ambushed into jeering and sneering at the efforts of Liebria to perfect her national state, is now afforded a chance to put his skills to work in Africa. The challenge of Liberia is here. Already former Secretary of State Stettinus, Admiral Halsley and others have dipped their fingers in "hot pursuit" of the riches of fabulous Liberia. The "big grab" is on. The wise Afro-American will do well to investigate the wheres and whys of Liberia. Let get at least two ships purchased and explore what this Liberia concession hunting is all about. I am putting up the first $40 on a ship purchase. This is a small contribution stacked up against the $600,000,000 contributed by American Jews to the upbuilding of disputed Palestine, although only a few expect to ever live there.

Early Xmas Mailing Urged

"All Christmas packages and greeting cards should be mailed before December 10 in order to insure their delivery before Christmas Day," Postmaster Michael D. Fanning warned today.

Zone numbers should be used on all packages and cards, and all bundles should be securely wrapped to help speed their delivery. Packages mailed within the United States must not exceed 70 pounds in weight.

Medical Center Opens Drive Here for Funds

The Mount Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center opened its drive for capital funds amounting to $2,100,000 last Monday. The Center is an amalgamation of the Los Angeles Sanatorium and the Mount Sinai Hospital and Clinic, two well-known medical institutions offering services free to the public without regard to race, color, or creed.

The campaign will extend to February 22, 1948. The more than $2,000,000 figure is Los Angeles' share of the $7,215,000 to be raised nationally. The program of expansion calls for 700 hospital beds to be available by the nd of 1948 for the treatment of tuberculosis, cancer, heart disease, and other long-term illnesses.

Ben Solnit, local community leader and a member of the Board of Directors of the Medical Center, is chairman of the campaign.

Delegates from 28 States Attending National Confab

CHICAGO, Ill.—Delagates from 23 states attending the national conference of the Civil Rights Congress at Hull House, Chicago, dedicated themselves to an all-out campaign for abolition of the Un-American Activities Committee, declaring that the committee "as the most potent weapon now being used by reaction" represents the "greatest single menace to the exercise of civil liberties in the United States."

The conference also made plans for a mass delegation to Washington in January to press for the enactment of the Wagner-Case anti-lynching bill and instructed the national organization to work out the steps necessary to bring about the realization of the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights regarding racial, religious and national minority groups.

The conference welcomed the decision of the executive committee of the National Negro Congress to consolidate its forces with that of the Civil Rights Congress. A committee was set up to work out the details of the merger so that as to insure the fullest development of the program so long associated with the National Negro Congress.

Professor Edward Weaver, Kentucky State College, hit the mounting attacks upon Negroes, adding that "lynchings are increasing and taking the form of legalized police brutality."

Introduced as a "representative of the most persucuted party," Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, national board member of the Communist party, denounced the attacks upon her party. Answering charges that Communists do not openly admit their affiliations, she said that there are "very few members who are not proud and anxious to announce their membership when and if they are guaranteed security on their jobs and from being driven out of their homes and the communities in which they live."

Negro Congress Asks End to Race Covenants

The Executive Board of the Los Angeles Chapter, National Negro Congress, went on record this week recommending that an ordinance, calling for an end to restrictive covenants, be introduced to the City Council and Board of Supervisors.

Realizing that restrictive covenants affects not only the Negro people, but also the Chinese, Koreans, Filipinos, Mexicans, and in some areas the Jewish people, a number of organizations, along with the NNC, have agreed to draw up a document which will be presented for legal action in the very near future.

The NNC also feels legal action must be taken immediately to alleviate the difficult housing situation which is threatening the safety, health and general welfare of the inhabitants of Los Angeles.

Housing Body Meets Saturday

The Citizens' Housing Council of Los Angeles will hold its fall meeting Saturday, Dec. 6, from 1 to 5 p.m., in Channing Hall of the First Unitarian church, 2936 W. Eighth st.

"Shall We Promote a State Housing Initiative and Referendum?" will be the subject of discussion. Robert Alexander, vice-chairman, Los Angeles City Planning Commission, will speak on "Good Neighborhoods"; Frank Wilkinson, special assistant L. A. City Housing Authority, will discuss the "Housing Need"; and Vernon Kilpatrick, assemblyman, will tell of the prospects of action in inaction in Sacramento.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer will also speak on the need of an initiative.

N.J. Governor Urged To Fight Segregation

NEWARK, N. J.—Gov. Alfred Driscoll, of New Jersey, has been urged by the NAACP vigorously to oppose the humored attempts to establish segregated National Guard units in Newark and Jersey City. In reply to a protest from the Elizabeth branch of the NAACP, Governor Driscoll wired: "New Jersey National Guard program for complete integration making excellent progress. Complying with new constitution."

Boys, don't drive your power cycle more than 35 miles per hour. That's the maximum for such a vehicle on any highway in the state. And don't forget to register it. It will cost you $3.00 plus the vehicle license fee. In 1948 the registration fee goes up $3.00.

Reports On Liberian Visit

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Benjamin Gibbons, president general of the Universal African Nationalist Movement, Inc., who returned recently from a six months visit to Liberia, reported on the conditions of that republic at a meeting held in his honor in New York City.

"Although Liberia is destined to remain an agricultural country for a long time to come," he said, "yet there are unlimited avenues for small businesses and light industries." Among these, he said, are: "transport service, baking, shoe manufacture and repair, cold storage, the manufacture of artificial mineral waters, dairying and the establishment of creameries."

STOMACH

ULCERS, CONSTIPATION, GAS PAINS

Don't be discouraged. Read what this famous doctor says:

"Gallstones are alkaline concretions which form in the gall ducts or gall bladder, from the stagnation of thickened bile. It frequently takes years for their formation, during which time the alkaline accumulations pack harder and harder together, allowing the softer part of the bile to flow out, and leaving behind these hardened, calcareous substances. The blocking of the gall ducts leading to the intestines will produce symptoms often mistaken for other diseases.

"Fully one-half of the patients who come to me believing they have stomach ulcers or gastritis, are really affected with some form of gall bladder disorder. I have found a very large number of cases, improperly diagnosed as stomach ulcer by other physicians, which have responded so rapidly to treatment as gall bladder derangements, as to lose all symptoms in a day or two.

"Where there is a stoppage of bile in the gall bladder, either by thickened bile or by gallstone formation, there will always be a tender spot halfway between the navel and the ribs on the right side of the abdomen. The color of the skin usually changes every few days, becoming a yellow, sallow hue at irregular intervals. The tongue will be coated, there will be loss of appetite and there may or may not be sharp, colliclky pains felt on the right side.

"I have had many cases where large gallstones have been removed by my treatment, where not typical gallstone colic had been experienced at all. If the sharp pains and contractions of the gallstone colic are present in their worst form, the patient will be unable to stand or even sit up straight, but will be forced to lie down with knees drawn up to the chest. Even this position does not relieve the pain. I am convinced that these colicky symptoms are not present in most cases, and that a serious stoppage of bile or a blocking up of the bile ducts with a gallstone may be present without any of such symptoms being in evidence at all."

Daniel C. Munro, M. D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says: "If the colon is clogged, the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum will have to seek other outlets.

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out.

"With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea.

"A coated tongue, a sallow complexion, dark circle around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so-called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration . . . a thin, inelastic parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart—these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. Get relief from constipation. Go to the New Yorker for a thorough cleansing of the large intestine or colon. Trial treatment, $3.00. Treatments at office only. No medicines or drugs. Noreen Forney Will Head Xmas Seal Campaign

Mrs. Noreen S. Forney, assistant secretary of the Los Angeles branch NAACP, was placed in charge of the association's Christmas seal campaign, which began last week. The local branch was given an initial allotment of 10,000 seals as its quota this year.

Mrs. Forney successfully led the campaign in 1946 and was responsible for disposing of over 15,000 seals. The Christmas seals are available at the association's office, 4272 S. Central ave., or the Forney School of Stenographic Instruction, 4363 S. Wall street.

N.Y. Businessman Is New Life Member of NAACP Organization

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Sidney Kessler, prominent New York businessman, is the latest life member of the NAACP. In becoming a life member Mr. Kessler expressed his gratitude to the Association's 600,000 members for their tremendous job in "fighting for and safeguarding the civil rights of Americans of all races, creeds, and colors."

Kessler is planning a hotel in the Virgin Islands, expected to be the most beautiful in the Caribbean, where there will never be any racial or religious discrimination. "The only people not welcome in our hotel," says Mr. Kessler, "are those people who would be unhappy in a completely democratic hotel."

Batteries B & C In Artillery Win General's Praise

FORT SILL, Okla. — Batteries "B" and "C" of the 969th Field Artillery Battalion recently won high praise from Maj. Gen. Clift Andrus, commanding general of the artillery center. They were commended for an excellent firing demonstration for high-ranking officers of the Argentine army.

The 969th Field Artillery Battalion has been awarded the Presidential Unit Citation. It participated in the invasion of Normandy, and was noted for its prowess during the Belgium break-through.

Commodore Wynn Elected To Chair New Community Coun.

Commodore Wynn, of the firm of Evans and Wynn Advertising and Publicity Agents unanimously elected chairman of the newly formed Central Avenue Community Council, at their last meeting held in the Blue Room of the beautiful Clark Hotel at Washington and Central avenue.

Wynn stated, "That it was the earnest desire of the council to establish community pride in every resident of the Central avenue area, and this could best be done by giving the people of the area a clean community. "Central avenue," said Wynn "in its present condition is an eyesore both to those who live in the community and those who come here to do business," continuing he said, "if the merchants are to secure for themselves the business that the people of the area have to offer then they must take it upon themselves to give the people and area equal to the finest the city has to offer.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1—Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2—Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Fire Destroys Life Work of Carver on Tuskegee Grounds

TUSKEGEE Institute, Ala.—Fire of an undetermined origin which originated in the ground floor laboratory of the George Washington Carver Museum and spread rapidly to the second floor early last week, practically destroyed the life's work of the distinguished scientist which occupied the main floor and Dr. Carver's priceless paintings and exhibits of his handiwork.

The modernly equipped laboratory housed the extensive research and experiments conducted by six graduate students of the 15 enrolled in chemistry in the Carver Research Laroratory under the direction of Dr. Russell W. Brown and Dr. Clarence T. Mason, director and associate director of the Carver Foundation. The equipment in the laboratory was a total loss, with probably serious damage to the records.

The Fire was discovered about 4:30 this morning which, probably, accounts for the fact that no personal injuries were sustained by members of the staff. Fire fighting equipment from the town of Tuskegee and the Veterans Hospital responded and rendered valuable assistance to the Institutes fire department, bringing the fire under control after three hours of heroic and difficult work.

President F. D. Patterson, who was on the campus at the time, described the fire as a tragic loss to Tuskegee Institute and to humanity. He further stated that every effort will be made to salvage and restore the few remaining items representing the personal creative work of Dr. Carver.

The Carver Museum was first housed in the Agricultural Building in 1898 and was transferred to its present location six years ago. The present museum was dedicated by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, March 11, 1941.

Exhibits in the Carver Museum included ceramic products, paints, stains, and varnishes made from the Alabama clay; artificial marble made from wood shavings and sawdust; a replica of the first laboratory used by him and articles used in the first laboratory experiment station; beautiful wall hangings, table runners and the like made from feed sacks and strings; rugs and mats, rags, okra and other fibers; varieties of dyes made from native plants, paving blocks from cotton; a variety of products made from the peanut and the sweet potato.

Rochester Citizens Demand Probe in Police Killing

ROCEHESTER, N. Y.—Citizens of Rochster, aroused at the killing of Roland T. Price, Negro war veteran, by the Rochester police force on November 7, have organized a Citizens Committee for Justice in the Price Case and are demanding that there be a thorough investigation of the case.

The Rochester Industrial Union Council, CIO, has also gone on record calling for a complete investigation of the shooting, and has asked that the six patrolmen involved in the case be suspended immediately.

The 19-year old Price was taken out of a restaurant and down the street some 300 feet on the night in question, where five other members of the Rochester police force joined the first policeman, backed the young vet up against a wall, and fired 30 bullets into him.

The Committee in a letter to Governor Dewey, asking him to appoint a Special Prosecutor to investigate the case, charges that the inquest was a "travesty of justice" and that the coroner "was obviously protecting the police." The coroner decided that Price "met his death from gun wounds inflicted by members of the Police Department in line of duty."

The Committee maintains that aside from criminal action which has evidently taken place, a "serious infringement of civil liberties has occurred" in that "a citizen was deprived of life without even having been accused of a rimce; that he was killed by a firing squad of six officers of the law merely because he threatened to shoot with a gun he did not possesss; and that he was thus denied the fundamental civil right of protection through due process of law."

Fall activities for children and youth will include games and sports, tournaments, music, dramatics, dancing, handicraft, clubs, outings, and other traditional recreational attractions. Adult and family activities will include sports, women's recreation classes, evening social events, dancing, picnics, and community night entertainment.

Navajo Indians To Get Clothes

PHILADELPHIA—The American Friends Service Committee has shipped 1½ tons of used clothing to the Navajo Indians in New Mexico and Arizona. Several bales of new clothing for children and about 1000 pairs of shoes will be shipped later.

The terrible plight of the Navajo Indians has been brought to the attention of the committee by many concerned individuals and agencies, and while the committee is working on immediate relief, plans are also being considered for a more basic rehabilitation project in the area.

It has been reported that 3800 Navajos are completely destitute, and 54,000 are in need of some type of aid. More than 50 per cent of the children die before six years of age, and on death certificates of 100 children in 1946, the cause of death was given as "starvation."

Mrs. Curtis Bok is the chairman of the race relations of the Quaker organization which is sending the aid.

EAGLE Editor Speaks Dec. 14

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, and Averill Berman, well-known radio commentator, will speak at the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly blvd., on Sunday, December 14, at 8:15 p.m. Their subject for discussion will be "Thought Control in Radio and Press." The chairman of the evening will be David Weissman, editor of the B'nai B'rith Messenger.

Watts USO Will Stage Full Xmas Programs To Dec. 26

The U.S.O. at Watts has planned a full Christmas program extending from Sunday, December 7, to the day after Christmas, December 26. Christmas vesper music will be heard daily from 6:00 to 6:30 p.m. over the public address system. The Y.W.C.A. sponsoring committee will hold a party for their new members on December 8.

Recognition Day, considered the grand affair of the month, will be held December 14, when tribute will be paid to the hundreds of volunteers who have made the USO a home away from home for thousands of men and women in uniform. The main part of the day will begin at 4:30 p.m. with Mr. Jester Hairston in charge of the program, to be followed by an informal social hour.

December 15 the USO will entertain former junior hostesses and their husbands. Friday of the same week there will be a Christmas party for the "small fry," and for servicemen from 4:00 to 6:30 p.m. A Hosts Smoker Monday evening, December 22, will honor the men who have volunteered their services for the USO.

There will be a mammoth Christmas Eve party with a tree and gifts for all servicemen, December 24.

Open House is scheduled for Christmas Day from 12 noon to midnight. A turkey buffet supper will be served to servicemen in the late afternoon, followed by a formal dance which will end Watts USO's four and a third years of service as a wartime agency.

Central Avenue Community Council Advocates Cleanup

The last meeting of the Central Avenue Community Council, under the guidance of the newly elected chairman, Commodore Wynn, brought forth a six point plan of recommendations.

The recommendations by the committee included a demonstration of the clean up to be started by the merchants of the Central avenue area, laying stress on Central avenue, between Slauson and Washington blvds., as well as those arteries that cross Central avenue, such as Adams blvd., Jefferson and Vernon avenue. It was urged, that an educational program be set in motion through the churches, schools and residental areas for a general clean up of the total area, after the demonstration by the merchants.

In order to follow through on the entire project and not to impair its efficiency it was suggested that a time ban on parking be established, to concur with the time set by the street maintenance department in cleaning the streets. Cooperation of the police department is sought to see that such a ban would be strictly enforced.

The election of permenant officers was held and Commodore Wynn, was unanimously selected as chairman of the Council. The office of secretary and Treasurer were combined and Joseph W. Walker, selected to fill that position. Chairman Wynn, appointed nine (9) members to various committees; Community Protection Committee; Nat Diamond, chairman, James Roseborough and R. S. Woodard; the Development Committee, includes George Byrant, chairman; Mary Lou Roberson, C. L. Spaulding; Harold Scott, heads the Research Committee being ably assisted by R. L. Jones and Orid Wynn.

Civil Service To Hold Exams

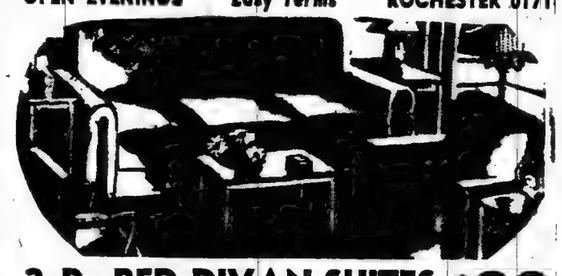
The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration, Los Angeles area, announces examinations for Cook, Baker, Meat Cutter with salaries ranging from $1822 to $3271 per year. Applications must be filed not later than December 23, 1947.

The majority of permanent appointments, as a result of these examinations, will be made to fill positions at Veterans Administration Hospitals at West Los Angeles (Sawtelle), Van Nuys (Birmingham), and San Fernando. Positions at McCornack General Hospital, War Department, Pasadena, and the Naval Hospital, Long Beach, and other Government agencies in this area, will also be filled from registers established as a result of these examinations.

Applications may be secured from the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration, Wilshire and Sawtelle boulevards, Los Angeles 25, California, or from Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at any First and Second-Class Post Office where the announcement is posted.

War Assets To Offer Blankets

The War Assets Administration will offer 1836 blankets, via fishbowl, to any who register for the event on Tuesday, December 9. Registration for the drawing begins at 8:00 a.m., and the drawing begins at 9:00 a.m. The WAA is located at 155 West Washington blvd.



MORRIS BUCHANAN has the title role in "Emperor Jones", Eugene O'Neill's drama of power, lust, and superstition, which opened for a run of three weeks at the Las Palmas theatre Tuesday night.

With the completion of "Angels Alley," latest in the Bowery Boys series, Steve Broidy, president of Monogram, revealed that 40 percent of the 1947-48 product has been completed and is awaiting release.

And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life? He said unto him, What is written in the law? how readest thou?

Outdoor Life Benefits From Sunday Musical

A very beautifully arranged musical program was given by the Allen Musical Stars and the Quarter Notes at Sojourner Truth Home, Sunday afternoon for the benefit of the Outdoor Life and Health Association. Real talent and artistry was displayed by the group. Outstanding in their selections were Gwendolyn Daniels, Evan Watson, and Myrna Watson who also sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Keen competition was displayed among the young participants in the raising of money for the benefit. Miss Gloria Glass won first prize, having raised $28.50; Miss Myrna Watson was second, with $15.25, and Miss Anita Briton was third with $5.00. A total of nearly $80.00 was donated to the association, for a very worthy cause.

The Allen Musical Stars have been very active, in that they prepared holiday plates for the 36 patients.

Mrs. Alberta Joyce was the capable sponsor of the successful affair. She was ably assisted by Mr. Joyce, Mrs. Jordan Sr. and Mrs. L. Spurlock and Miss Evangeline Woodfolk, Executive Secretary, of the Sojourner Truth Home.

Dr. Stoval gave a resume of the organization and the work it is doing. He praised the efforts of the young group and the very fine showing it made.

VAN NAMES STARLET

Janet Leigh, 19, now seen in her screen debut opposite Van Johnson in "The Romance of Rosy Ridge," owes her screen name to Van. He suggested it soon after M-G-M discovered her. Her real name is Jeannette Morrison Reames. Her next role is in "If Winter Comes," starring Walter Pidgeon, Deborah Kerr and Angela Lansbury.

Casa Rafael Setting For James-Jackson Double Ring Wedding Ceremony

The Casa Rafael, 453 E. Adams blvd., was the setting for the very beautiful wedding ceremony which united Lizzie Mae Jackson and Clarence James in marriage, Sunday, Nov. 23, at 4 p.m.

Early winter decorations were artistically arranged by Ralph Porter forming a perfect background for the bride, who was lovely in an ivory white satin gown with a flowing three-foot train. The gown, made on a princess line, featured a sweetheart neckline. She carried a cascade of gardenias and orchids. Her three-quarter length veil was held in place by a coronet of white orange blossoms. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Nathaniel Miles.

Rev. W. J. Taylor of Grace Memorial church officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Thelma L. Gipson, maid of honor; Misses Teresa Ewing, Helen Juniel and Jennell Andrews, bridesmaids. Serving as best man was Marshall Scott, and ushers were Robert Jackson, Cornelius Brown and Adolphus Donnegan.

Miss Erma Jean Juniel played the wedding march and Mrs. Priscilla Simmons sang "I Love You Truly.' The reception was held immediately after the ceremony, with 200 guests attending.

The bride attended Metropoliton Business school and Los Anggeles City college. Her husband attended Frank Wiggins Trade school, and hails from Chicago, Ill.

The young couple will be at home to friends at 2957 Fourth ave.

Beta Pi Sigma Joins Spirit Of Giving With Check for West View Hospital

The Beta Pi Sigma sorority held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ameera Clark, Monday evening, December 1, with the president, Thelma Wallace presiding. Much was accomplished toward the completion of the sorority's yearly agenda.

Highlighting the meeting was the presentation of a check to Mr. Woodard and Dr. Thomas Griffin, Treasurer of the Board of Directors of the Westview Hospital. The check was presented by Jane Nealy, General Chairman of the Premiere of Fashions, whose diligent efforts and wise steering, along with the untiring cooperation of the members of the Beta Pi Sigma Sorority, made this gesture possible.

The officers and members of the sorority are as follows: Thelma Lee Wallace, President; Juanita Lucien Jones, Vice President and Dean of Pledgees; Ruth Martin, Treasurer; Mary Caldwell, Corresponding Secretary; Lucille Ailstock, Recording Secretary; Dorothy Landry, Parliamentarian; Jane Nealy, Business Manager; Helen Lamb Crozier, Historian; Fannie Thomas, Betty Munford, Bernice Nance, Luella Dent, Susie Flynn, Margaret Weaver, Althea Polk, Gwendolyn Valentine and Ameera Clark.

The first meeting of the New Year will be held January 5th with Soror Helen Lamb Crozier, hostess.

LANNA SMACKS HOME RUN

Director George Sidney's gift to Lana Turner when she completed her co-starring role with Spencer Tracy in M-G-M's "Cass Timberlane" was a gold lapel pin in the form of a baseball bat, with a miniature baseball attached. Engraved on the bat is "Slugger Turner"—a reminder that, rehearsing a sandlot baseball game for the picture, Lana "accidentally" hit a home run!

zations. The results of the work was evident last Friday and Saturday in a larger picket line. The P.C.A., Jewish Labor Council, I.W.O., J.P.F.O., A.V.C., and the Communist Party joined the National Negro Congress in swelling the ranks on the picket line. The pep and the enthusiasm that was generated by the addition of new forces renewed the determination of the NAACP to fight to the finish.

The National Negro Congress is doubling its efforts to gain broader support from the community. We urge every interested person to come out on the line next Friday and Saturday. Picketing from 5 to 9 p.m.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

A Great Cry for Relief

From Indonesia, France, China, Africa, Italy and now from Chile, the laboring people have sent up a great cry for relief from starvation and other forms of persecution that deprive them of their happiness and security in the way of life.

There came to Los Angeles this week the story of the striking miners of Chile, as told by Hon. Salvador Ocampo, senator from Chile. The gravity of the situation is heightened by the fact that Chile in under the rule of a dictator, the President, Gonzales Bidela. He has established a censorship over all liberal newspapers. No one may condemn the Administration policies, say anything detrimental against the Truman administration, or make any unfriendly comment about Franco. (It is enlightening that our president is placed in the same category with that of Franco.)

The miners in Chile receive the equivalent of less than $1.00 for ten hours' work. The workers, peasants, and sharecroppers in the mining regions receive even less. Their monthly wage averages is less than $2.50 per month.

"While Chile has developed some industries," says Senator Ocampo, "most of them, including the mines are under the control of United States firms." These firms are drastically intervening inthe political and economic life of my country. While the Chilean people are generally progressive in their thinking, the alliance between United States imperialism and the native oligarchy is forcing our government to bow to reaction on every issue."

That statement seems to be an atom bomb in significance. It seems that wherever a people is struggling for greater freedom, for a better way of life, there you will find American imperialists, thwarting that movement in the name of "freedom," of "free enterprise," of a benevolent attitude of "giving to help the poor."

Why are we, the people of America, so utterly blind as to what our government and our imperialists are doing? Fortunately we can still speak out. And The California Eagle and other liberal newspapers have spoken out, loud and long.

There has been no uncertain sound in their trumpet call. But the American people, the citizens of a country which boasts of being the most powerful in the world, are simply asleep at the switch. They have turned off the alarm clock, and are indulging in one more cat-nap before the atom bomb bursts.

The working people of other nations desperately need our help. They need help to fight the very forces which are slowly taking over our country while we doze away. In these other countries the evil is rampant. The wayfaring man, though a fool, can see it. Must we wait in America until it bursts forth into virtual war before we'll be able to recognize it?

We can still fight our battles in America at the ballot box. But you cannot vote, you cannot fight, unless you are registered. All over America citizens are being urged to register to fight the battle of the ballots in 1948. Come into the office of The California Eagle, 4071 South Central avenue, and register NOW.

We want to elect a president for our government who will not be classed with Franco.

Eastern Columbia Outfitting Co., No Discrimination

In an editorial dated November 13, The California Eagle told the story of little 8-year old Ronnie H. Jordan who won a $3.00 money order for merchandise at the Eastern Columbia Outfitting Co., in the "Better Babies and Juvenile Talent Contest" sponsored by the Herald-Express.

Neither the Eastern Columbia nor the Herald Express have anything to do with the policy making of the Child's Acting Guild.

Having known the owner and management of the Eastern-Columbia Outfitting Company for many years, the management of the EAGLE investigated the report, and is convinced that any discrepancy made by Eastern - Columbia, was made without the knowledge of the management of either Eastern-Columbia or the Herald-Express.

The Herald-Express has promoted the Better Babies contest for 14 years, and during that time there has never been any sign of discrimination either in the performance or in the policy of awarding the prizes.

According to the story told the EAGLE, Ronnie also received a membership card in a child motion picture club. But he was refused admission here again because he was a Negro. This refusal was also given without the knowledge of the management, the EAGLE is assured.

The California Eagle welcomes these explanations and hastens to inform its readers that very often discrimination is shown without the knowledge or consent of the heads of the various departments, and that usually these misunderstandings can be adjusted.

Prices Up? Wages Must Follow

CIO President Philip Murray has taken time by the forelock, and feeling certain that the reactionary 80th Congress will do nothing to check inflation and the high cost of living, has told all CIO labor unions to go ahead and ask for another increase in wages.

The statement was approved unanimously by the CIO Executive Board consisting of nine vice-presidents. It pointed out that increased wages were necessary to "restore the loss in real income suffered through inflation and to assure sustained purchasing power as the foundation for continued maximum employment and production."

"Greedy profiteering and monopolistically controlled processes are giving industry fantastic profits," he said. At the same time, the working people whose labor makes those profits possible are having their pay reduced week after week by the exorbitant prices charged for food and other necessities by other profiteers.

It all seems like a drab and miserable merry-go-round. Of course, if prices are so high the workingman cannot stretch his pay check long enough to reach them, his pay will have to be increased. That logic is simple enough for a child to understand.

But the reactionary forces who are profiting from the high prices, instead of trying to solve the problem logically, are putting pressure upon Congress and hoodwinking the people with the same strong arm methods they employed to get rid of the OPA.

"They offer as their solution," said Murray, "a speed-up in production for the wage earners, a lengthening of the work week, and the elimination of overtime payments. All such vicious proposals are designed to increase the present extortionate profits and degrade even further the living standards of American wage and salary workers."

It is the old cry against labor unions, the cry that high wages cause high prices. Will the American people swallow this nonsense as they swallowed the lies that removing price control would reduce prices?

We should have learned by this time who are our friends. Who are our enemies. Who tell the truth. And who try to pull the wool over our eyes.

The 80th Congress is watching the ballot box as a merchant watches the cash register. Congressmen react to "what the people want" as those people evidence their wishes by the way they vote.

If we made the grievous mistake of voting for members of Congress in 1946, who are today doing all they can to boost prices and lower wages, we shall have to remember in 1948 to correct that mistake. We shall have to vote, next year, for candidates who will think of the workingman first. Who will place human rights above property rights, not the huge profits that pile up sky-high on the desks of the Big Business moguls.

. . . The performance of modern man proves beyond doubt that it is knowledge, not faith, which moves actual mountains.—Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

It has been argued that enforcement of covenants which exclude a race from a neighborhood does not involve discrimination because it permits reciprocity. This amounts to saying that if Negroes are excluded from decent housing they may retaliate by excluding whites from slums. —Justice Henry W. Edgerton Jr.

I believe that peace and cooperation between Russia and the United States are possible. I believe that even while we must always keep in mind that, because of the state of world affairs and the backgrounds of beliefs of both Russia and ourselves, war might happen, it definitely is not inevitable.—Harold Stassen.

Soeiology would be much more of a science if there not the embarrassing necessity of playing down the effect of economics on social behavior. While axes are being ground, science cannot speak.—Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

HOME BUILDISG IN THE SOVIET UNION

By PAUL FRENCH

The housing problem remains a problem for millions of Americans, a problem without satisfactory solution, especially for certain categories of people, the whole working class finding the general problem of high rents eating up too much of the income, the colored people with restrictions of jim crow adding its special burden to the general problem, and ex-servicemen who come out of service to find no place at all to live—all perplexed with the question of how to get "a home" under capitalism.

The GIs, millions of them, have been disillusioned with nice "plans" that don't work out. By going through a long stretch of red tape, some of them can get loans. But too often, the loans they can get from the government are not large enough to cover the cost of houses fit to live in. So the "nice plans" don't work. They have no homes. Or, if they do, the loans they get are really made by private banks, who charge high interest on money these same banks get from the government for a very low interest.

Thus, the housing problem, in so far as it is "solved" at all, is "solved" for the benefit of the bankers, the real estate sharks, and building contractors who know how to build houses that sell, but which come apart at the joints at the first storm. They learn the sad lesson that capitalism doesn't build houses because people need houses, but only for profit.

It is interesting, therefore, to observe how homes are built under socialism, in the Soviet Union. And it must be remembered that, whereas America lost no houses by war's destruction, the German fascists which over-ran large areas of the Soviet Union destroyed no less than $25,000,000 buildings, most of them the simple homes of the common people. Hence, compared to the Soviet Union, America's housing problem was and is very litle indeed. Socialism had to meet, and under great difficulties, a gigantic problem.

And it met the problems with more than one way. In the larger cities, of course, the government builds great apartment buildings. This it does directly. These are collectively build and owned. But, in the smaller towns, and around the huge factories (which builds big apartment houses), there is need for great numbers of individual, private homes, and it is about these that we are writing.

Firstly, it must be emphasized that millions of families in the U.S.S.R. not only live in, but own, as private property, the homes they live in. They cannot rent houses as landlords; but the right of private property in their own homes is guaranteed under Soviet law. Therefore, for these millions the Soviet Union, already in 1944, while the war was still at its fiercest stage, with the Germans being driven back, provision was made for building new private homes for the people, millions of whom were homeless.

The Municipal Banks, which exist all over the U.S.S.R., but which have a central national organization, were authorized to grant loans, without interest, to individuals wanting to build private homes, in all parts of the country. Local Soviets were instructed to help by setting aside timber supplies, alloting land for houses, and providing transportation of materials. Government architects provided plans for houses, different for differing climates and areas having different building materials.

Ex-servicemen, the families of men killed in the war, disabled veterans, and families of men still in service, were given priority in this system of home building. These people make up about 40 per cent of those receiving home building loans from the Municipal Bank system. And such home-building is proceeding in ever increasing tempo.

A great many homes were built, even in war time, as the Germans were driven back during 1944 and 1945. But with the end of the war, the number rapidly increased. In the first six months of 1946, 91,000 private homes were built under loans financed by the Municipal Banks. In the first six months of 194, the number built was 140,000. During the last five months of 1947, over 100,000 private homes were built under this Municipal Bank system. Thus it can be seen that socialism is solving the housing problem by actually building houses, private homes by the hundreds of thousands, as well as by erecting directly, under state ownership, huge numbers of vast apartment buildings in the cities and industrial centers.

And these are not dreary "barracks" such as we Americans see in our "war housing projects." and colonies of Nansen huts. These privately owned homes of the Soviet people are cheerful, spacious and well-built houses equal to the kind of homes the ordinary well-paid American worker lives in; but usually with more yard and garden space, more light and air than is usual in American cities, where private ownership of land tends to restrict space to the minimum allowed by law.

These private homes are being built, not only in war-ravaged western Russia, and in the smaller cities, but also in the outskirts of the big cities, and around the new factories. Indeed, such factories, through their national industrial organizations, are given government funds, wherewith not only big apartment houses are built, but also great numbers of the kind of one-family private homes of which we speak here. And such families own their own houses.

Thus there is a diversity of the kind of homes in which the workers under socialism may live. Some choose to live in the big apartment houses, with central heating, with private kitchens, but still having a central dining room for those who do not wish to cook some, or any, of their meals, with collective laundries and nurseries for the little ones, swimming pools, sun baths and so on.

But, for those who wish "their own home" there is always the chance to built one, with government help, without profit to banker or real estate shark or building contractor. And it is their own private property. However, they cannot build a number of such homes and then collect rent from other people. Nobody can exploit other people. Thus the housing problem is solved under socialism.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Isn't it refreshing and soul-satisfying to read the reports Henry Wallace has been sending from the Holy Land? This in spite of all the scare headlines we are seeing just now.

He writes: "I have traveled the length and breadth of Palestine, living on its farms, working in its fields and talking to its workers, its businessmen, its political leaders, both Jew and Arab. From the vivid experience of these crowded days I've learned a new and powerful argument for the support of Jewish efforts in Palestine. It is that here in Palestine Jewish pioneers are building a new society."

"In two generations," he says, "if present trends continue, Palestine may be one of the loveliest garden spots of the world."

But today? Today it is anything but a garden spot. During the centuries in which the Jewish people have been wandering in foreign countries, their old home has deteriorated from a land once flowing with milk and honey into a desert waste. Those who have gone back to Palestine are building it anew with a vision of the day when it shall once more blossom as the rose.

Henry Wallace tells how they drove through the stifling heat of the valley of the Dead Sea, 1200 feet below sea level, "yet here were men working in the noonday sun and waving to us as we passed." They visited settlements where they couldn't see each other because of the dust raised by their car, "yet out of the dust came smiling young men and women to shake our hand and bid us 'Shalom'."

This section of Palestine is called the Negev. Some of it has been redeemed. "In once barren sand dunes we bent under the branches of orange trees laden with fruit." All of Palestine—sand dunes, deserts, swamps, barren hills—is to be converted into a place of fruit orchards and waving grain fields. Money does not count in this ambitious project. "We measure costs," the head of the Jewish labor movement's largest building cooperative told Henry Wallace, "not in dollars but in lives saved."

The Jews in Palestine are not attacking these problems individually. Such Herculean tasks call for united action. And so they have organized communal settlements of great social and economic significance.

There are several kinds of these settlements. The first kind is the Kibbutz. Here all things literally are held in common. There is a large communal dining hall, but there are individual rooms for the members, and there are nurseries and other special facilities for children. Money, the root of all evil, is little known here. The only cash anyone handles is the pocket money each one receives for a vacation or for a trip to the city.

The second type is the Moshav Shitufi. It is a modification of the Kibbutz. Here the work is done collectively the same as in the Kibbutz, but each member of this type of settlement has his own home.

The third type is called the Moshav Ovdim. Here the members own individual farm plots, but do all their purchasing collectively and all the equipment is owned in common.

Henry Wallace visited all three kinds of communal settlements. The great fact he noticed in all of them was the spirit of sacrifice. And the spirit of cooperation. All are motivated by the principle that the welfare of all should be the supreme goal, not of a few individuals at the top. The welfare of all in the long run, they feel, provides the only protection for the individual.

The Jews in these communal settlements, too, are vitally interested in the fate of their brothers in Europe. Those who are still pining away in concentration camps, prevented by some idiotic fool rules of going to their land of promise. They want them to come home. They are doing everything they can, sacrificing in every way they know how, to bring them home.

And the Jews in Europe with the vision ever before their eyes of what could so easily come to pass, if those who pass by cared just a little bit, are straining anxiously at the cords that are barring them, pleading, despairing, yet hoping that some day they, too, may go back to their old home.

We "who pass by" here in the United States of America can help that dream come true by electing an administration next year that will be sympathetic to the aspirations of those Jews in Palestine and in Europe. And not only to the Jewish people, but to all people everywhere, struggling for a new world where each can live secure under his own vine and fig tree.

But you can't vote for Henry Wallace, nor for anyone else in 1948, if you aren't registered to vote. So register NOW. There is a deputy registrar of voters in The California EAGLE office, 4071 South Central avenue, anxious to have you come in and register. Do it today.

As the best Christmas gift ever give STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK by Marian Inglewood. For sale at the office of The California EAGLE, 4071 South Central avenue. Proceeds from the sale are used to fight restrictive covenants, notably that of the Laws family ordered out of their home on East 92nd street because they are Negroes.

The "Stories" are taken from the Bible, the Workingman's Book, and interpreted from the point of view of the worker.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Lawsie, Lawsie! Exclaimed Mary Ann as we greeted her a few days after Thanksgiving. We were a bit frustrated as we tried to solve the meaning of the exclamation, but we discovered that it was a term used in the vernacular to express joy, and was said to be an expression; or a word that gave praise to the Lord. Whatever the word meant; Mary Anns eyes betold the happiness she felt. "I sure am thankful to the Lord that He has been good to me,' she said. "The friends I've made and all, is certainly something to be thankful for, and I'll praise Him every hour in the day for His mercyful goodness." When the folks for whom I cook dinners for said they was going out, and I was to stay with my family I kinder felt pretty good, but when they give me a bundle with a turkey and all the fixings, Lawsie! I certainly was happy.

There's an old lady that lives above, she's got a gal; an orphan, they say: You know people talk sometimes and throw out hints; any way she's mostly alone. So's I says to myself, Mary Ann the Lord certainly has been good to you, share the goodness!' So I tells her to come on down and have dinner with Mary Ann and me. Mary Ann, had asked if she could ask her classmate friend, and Honey I sure did cook a scrumptous dinner. Wish you coul dhave been here; but I 'spose you had plenty. "Tankful! I'se just bustin' with the Lords goodness. I thought of my poor folk down home and my heart ached.

Then I wondered if we were thankfful enough to 'preciate the things given us in our new homes. Are we takingg full advantage of the blessings we have; are we giving our young ones the right kind of advice, and preparing them to take the advantage of the chance to get a schooling that will fit them for the struggle of making an honest living, and be a credit to our people, and the place where they live? All those things come to me, and I wonder when I see so many of our youngsters out of school. My, little Mary Ann, wants to be a school-teacher when she grows up, and I'se going to see htat she makes a top-notcher; that is if my health and money hold out. "Say Honey! What 'bout this cost of livin? When one goes to the store with a dollar . . . practically speaking . . . you comes back with a loaf of bread, and no change. Does the 'publicans and what-u-call-ems? Democrats; have any thing do with buying meat and bread? If so, why cum?

We told her that was a question causing furrows in the foreheads of our lawmakers, and the Republican party was trying to place the blame on the Democrat part and vice-versa. "Who's Vice-Versa? We told her that it meant an exchange of terms. Huh, huh! She snorted, and we let it go at that. Well, she said somebodys got to do sumthin pretty soon. They say folks is starving in Europe and them places, and if they don't do sumthin' pretty soon they'll be starvin here, cause folks wont have money to buy things to eat. We began to think, what if all this political maneuvering to gain possession of the White House will be at the expense of Mr. and Mrs. J. Public? If political selfness is to become so rampant that the people are caught between the upper and neither mill-stones, then it is time that Mr. and Mrs. J. Public was thinkingg of a political party that was a bit more concerned about the welfare of the people at large.

When the necessities of life become the Foot-Ball of selfish politicians it is time to call a halt and take a resume of what is the cause, or what is causing this rapid spiral in the cost of bare necessities. Of course, interested party's have their versions of matter, but when the answers are analyzed it sums up to the same thing: Selfish politics. There is sufficient power in the hands of the Chief Executive to reverse the spiral, but a majority in Congress places a stumbling block in the path. If the executive and legislative branches of the government don't get together on some plan to halt the price of necessities, there is going to be a surprise in the political arena that will cause one to gasp. There is a way, and the way can be found, if the powers that be will subordinate selfish politics to the welfare of the public and the betterment of conditions on the whole.

With the advent of the political change in San Francisco's municipal government, which will take place near the first month in the coming year, there are rumors, can be trusted, the incoming administration will make a sweep so clean, that one will have to search diligently to find a, now, familiar face. If the purported changes will be for the better remains to be seen. For one thing; a change in the police system can be made with good results.

For one thing. There should be a school to teach the enforcement officers that unnecessary brutality is no part of their duty. Intelligence, combined with muscular efficiency, is an equipment of a good police officer. We have learned recently of a case where lack of intelligence led to the manhandling of a prominent doctor because he resented an epithet of an arresting officer. That officer, or officers, did not have the intelligence to differentiate. Like all racially biased people they believed that color was a crime and housed a criminal.

The case has had percussions that savors of interest, not only to minority groups, but to the public at large. There are many officers who are gentlemanly and conduct themselves as such. There are others who are just the reverse and make themselves obnoxious and are a detriment to the service. There is no doubt that there will be a change in the personnel of the Police Commission: Let us hope for the better.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

David Ewen, well-known writer of biographies of musicians, has now edited Songs of America. — a Cavalcade of Popular Songs, which gives words and music of songs which have been popular during different periods of our history and tells something of their stories. He starts out with the very beginning from the time the Pilgrims landed with their psalter and "The Liberty Song" and "Yankee Doodle" and carries it on through to the 1930's with "In the Evening by the Moonlight," "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen," "The Band Played On" and many other popular ones.

Francis Parkinson Keyes, well-known novelist, travel writer and public speaker, wife of a New Hampshire governor and United States senator, and mother of three sons, is the author of Once on an Esplanada, her first book for younger readers. Here is Marie Louise Villers, a delightful young girl whose family played a prominent part in the history of Louisiana and who herself lived on the Esplanade when this was the most fashionable avenue in New Orleans. From the time her sister is married in 1883 until her own marriage nine years later we see many different phases of Creole family life and learn how they live, what they eat and wear and how they amuse themselves. Through Marie's eyes we see her school life, a hunting party, carnival parade, a duel and a horse race. It is a delightful story of youth, of an enchanting city and of a gracious way of living.

Florence Horn Bryan has a new biography, Susan B. Anthony, Champion of Women's Rights, with illustrations by Ericka Weihs. It is a dramatic account of her life, full of warmth and humor and gives an exciting picture of a dynamic personality and remarkable achievement of one who blazed the trail for all American women and made possible the privileges enjoyed by them today—personal freedom, co-education and active participation in business, politicc and the professions.

Mrs. Bryan is one of six children born of an Illinois minister, is a graduate of the University of California, has taught in Los Angeles, and after retiring to write she obtained her B.S. degree from Columbia and her M.A. from the University of Southern California during intervals. She has also managed to travel extensively, becoming fluent in several languages.

Mrs. Weihs, the illustrator, was born in Vienna and studied art there and in London and New York, where she lives with her artist husband. She has illustrated many children's books and she and her husband paint and travel whenever they can get away.

were thrilled when we ed of another who was winrecognition by the great oras of the east despite the icap of poverty and prejuwhich every Negro artist overcome before they are ted in such a big way. We also pleased to learn that this same young singer would be the soloist on the NAACP broadcast for which President Truman spoke last summer on the occasion of their national convention. That is the only time we have heard her lovely voice but it was enough to inspire our personal interest in this concert.

The first time we recall having word of Miss Brice was when the papers reported her winning the famous Naumberg Foundation award during the spring of 1944. There followed news of her appearance at Carnegie, Town and Orchestra Halls and as soloist with the Boston Symphony, Serge Koussevitzky conducting; Pittsburgh Symphony, Fritz Reiner conducting with Kansas City Symphony with Efram Kurtz conducting, and with symphony orchestras at New Haven and Madison, Wis.

The sorority has gone to the trouble to explain that any money which they may derive from this recital will go to one or more of their splendid national projects such as the Mississippi Health Project, Foreign Scholarship Fund and Non-Partisan Council on Public Affairs—any one of which is worthy of every dollar we spend on concerts next year. Nevertheless we feel that Carol Brice's record to date demands the attendance of every person with any sincere interest in the advancement of the Negro, and the concert which we are confident she will render is more than enough to induce any music lover to pay the price and be present Sunday night at the Philharmonic Auditorium when Miss Brice sings.

Three seasons at the Philharmonic have taught us that we Negroes do not like something about that place unless one of our own is appearing there. Well, this is one of those occasions when we are expected to be present to be counted among those who care enough about such a program. Miss Brice is truly one of our own. And if thousands of other music lovers attend this recital we are confident that it will not be long before Miss Brice will be singing for Mr. Behimer at this historic old concetr house. Then she will be—as far as Los Angeles is concerned—one of its own.

Later that summer, in Minden, Louisiana, a young Negro named John Jones was arrested on suspicion of housebreaking. Another Negro youth, Albert Harris, was arrested at about the same time, and beaten in an effort to implicate Jones. He was then released, only to be rearrested after a few days. On August 6, early in the evening, and before there had been any trial of the charges against them, Jones and Harris were released by a deputy sheriff. Waiting in the jail yard was a group of white men. There was evidence that, with the aid of the deputy sheriff, the young men were put into a car. They were then driven into the country. Jones was beaten to death. Harris, left for dead, revived and escaped. Five persons, including two deputy sheriffs, were indicted and brought to trial in a federal court for this crime. All were acquitted.

These are two of the less brutal lynchings of the past years. The victims in these cases were not mutilated or burned.

The record for 1947 is incomplete. There has been one lynching, one case in which the victim escaped, and other instances where mobs have been unable to accomplish their purpose. On February 17, 1947, a Negro youth named Willie Earle, accused of fatally stabbing a taxi driver in the small city of Greenville, South Carolina, was removed from jail by a mob, viciously beaten and finally shot to death. In an unusual and impressive instance of state prosecution, 31 men were tried for this crime. All were acquitted on the evening of May 21, 1947.

Early the next morning, in Jackson, North Carolina, another Negro youth, Godwin Bush, arrested on a charge of approaching a white woman, was removed from a local jail by a mob, after having been exhibited through the town by the sheriff. Bush succeeded in escaping from his abductors, and, after hiding for two days in nearby woods, was able to surrender himself safely into the custody of FBI agents and officers of the state. The Committee finds it encourging to note that the governor of North Carolina had made vigorous efforts to bring to justice those responsible for this attempted lynching.

While available statistics show that, decade after decade, lynchings have decreased, this Committee has found that in the year 1947 lynching remains one of the most serious threats to the civil rights of Americans. It is still possible for a mob to abduct and murder a person in some sections of the country with almost certain assurance of escaping punishment for the crime. The decade from 1936 through 1946 saw at least 43 lynchings. No person received the death penalty, and the majority of the guilty persons were not even prosecuted. (Emphasis ours—Editor).

The communities in which lynchings occur tend to condone the crime. Punishment of lynchers is not accepted as the responsibility of state or local governments in these communities. Frequently, state officials participate in the crime, actively or passively. Federal efforts to punish the crime are resisted. Condonation of lynching is indicated by the failure of some law enforcement officials to make adequate efforts to break up a mob. It is further shown by failure in most cases to make any real effort to apprehend or try those guilty. If the federal government enters a case, local officials sometimes actively resist the federal investigation. Local citizens often combine to impede the efforts to apprehend the criminals by convenient "loss of memory, grand juries refuse to indict; trial juries acquit in the face of overwhelming proof of guilt. (Emphasis ours — Editor.)

The large number of attempted lynchings highlight, even more than those which have succeeded, the widespread readiness of many communities to resort to mob violence. Thus, for seven of the years from 1937 to 1946 for which statistics are reported, the conservative estimates of the Tuskegee institute show that 226 persons were rescued from threatened lynching. Over 200 of these were Negroes.

LEGAL LYNCHINGS

Most rescuesfrom lynchings are made by local officials. There is heartening evidence that an ever-increasing number of these officers have the will and the courage to defend their prisoners against mob action. But this reflects only partial progress toward adequate law enforcement. In some instances lynchers are dissuaded by promises that the desired result will be accomplished "legally" and the machinery of justice is sometimes sensitive to the demands of such implied bargains. In some communities there is more official zeal to avoid mob violence which will injure the reputation of the community than there is to protect innocent persons.

The devastating consequences of lynchings go far beyond what is shown by counting the victims. When a person is lynched and the lynchers go unpunished, thousands wonder where the evil will appear again and what mischance may produce another victim. And every time lynchers go unpunished, Negroes have learned to expect other forms of violence at the hands of private citizens or public officials. In describing the thwarted efforts of the Department of Justice to identify those responsible for one lynching, J. Edgar Hoover stated to the Committee: "The arrogance of most of the white population of that county was unbelievable, and the fear of the Negroes was almost unbelievable."

The almost complete immunity from punishment enjoyed by lynchers is merely a striking form of the broad and general immunity from punishment enjoyed by whites in many communities for less extreme offenses against Negroes. Moreover, lynching is the ultimate threat by which his inferior status is driven home to the Negro. As a terrorist device, it reinforces all the other disabilities placed upon him. The threat of lynching always hangs over the head of the southern Negro; the knowledge that a misinterpreted word or action can lead to his death is a dreadful burden. (Emphasis ours—Editor.)

POLICE BRUTALITY

We have reported the failure of some public officials to fulfill their most elementary duty—the protection of persons against mob violence. We must also report more widespread and varied forms of official misconduct. These include violent physical attacks by police officers on members of minority groups, the use of third degree methods to extort confessions, and brutality against prisoners. Civil rights violations of this kind are by no means universal and many law enforcement agencies have gone far in recent

A LOOK AT BOOKS

"How to Run a One-Man Poultry Farm" by Hayden S. Pearson explains fully how to make a success of this business in his comprehensive handbook. The author is a nationally known authority, an experienced farmer and an expert consultant. The book is an ideal guide for the beginner and an invaluable reference tool for the experienced poultry raiser as it is concise, easy to understand and is fully illustrated. It has practical, commonsense advice on personal, financial and technical ingredients for success which will save expensive mistakes and help one on the road to success and profit.

Anne Meredith Malleson, an English author, has a new novel "The Rich Woman"—in which she depicts the life of Elizabeth Smith, an illegitmate child of the 1880's. As a baby she is placed in a forbidding private asylum where the proprietors usually disposed of their charges by murdering them. Fortunately a country squire rescues her and raises her with the same luxury he bestows on his own children. Later on Elizabeth elopes with a brilliant but violent member of parliament and dedicates her life to his career. The story of how she amassed the richness of character, of moral purpose, and of womanly spirit that made her life notable is told against the explosive background of England's political turmoil and is charged with emotional tension.

T. H. Robsjohn-Gibbings, author of the humorous book, "Goodbye Mr. Chippendale" has now written "Mona Lisa's Mustache: A Dissection of Modern Art" in which he says "the art we call modern today is actually a revival of systems used in primitive and ancient magic." This thesis he proceeds to bear out in a witty and illuminating discussion of artists and schools of painting and architecture from Rossetti through Dali. It is stimulating and entertaining whether or not one agrees with the author's viewpoint. Ten photographic illustrations add to the interest and enjoyment.

Emilie Loring, popular fiction writer, in her newest book, "Beckoning Trails" combines murder with her usual romance and intrigue. One of three men in white dinner coats packs a revolver, but the question is which one. At a large house in a New England college town we meet some very fascinating people, among them a famous mystery-story writer and her granddaughter, sparkling, black-eyed Debby Randall and their acquaintances. Debby, who is on a vacation from overwork, becomes involved in romance and a baffling intriguing mystery. The story is full of suspense from beginning to end.

Leslie R. Smith, a former Kentucky pastor and extensive traveller and radio speaker, in his book "This Love of Ours" endeavors to help the newly married to build a mutual, intelligent, loving and enduring relationship. It is filled with practical common sense suggestions to guide them through many early trials and help them to establish those elements in their homes which will insure harmony and happiness. A few of the chapter headings are: Express your gratitude; Accept your in-laws; practice moderation; Play together; Be considerate; Seek God together. It is also valuable for ministers, teachers and leaders of youth as an aid in counseling.

"Just Between Women" by Maxine Dale is a pleasant love story in which mother-in-law trouble plays a large part. Anthony's mother, Anne, is very attractive but also very domineering and is much displeased when she learns that Jill, her son's wife, is pregnant. As Anne makes all the decisions Jill's resentment flares. The quarrel reaches beyond their own lives and bewilders Anthony's eighteen year old sister who is engaged and has looked upon her brother's marriage as ideal. When Anne finally realizes what is happening she decided to face reality before the break is final. It is a youthful life-like story.

"Costume Drawing" by Hazel R. Doten is a well-illustrated book showing first of all the correct tools and materials for the sketching and brief concise instructors for outlining and completing the drawings. There are illustrations for under and outer garments, head gear, shoes and ornaments from various countries and periods bringing the styles up to date. It is interesting for anyone to note the changes in styles as well as for the student of design.

A good story for older boys is "Secret Sea" by Robb White, author of several other adventure books. Lt.-Commander Pete Martin finds the galleon's log telling of Spanish treasure sunk in the Caribbean. Faced with the necessity of earning money to care for his injured brother, Pete and Mike, his crew of one, start off on an old schooner and face more dangers and adventures than Pete had experienced while fighting the Japanese in the Pacific. The author himself was a Lt. Commander in the Navy and fought in the Pacific war and writes from first hand experience of sailing in the Caribbean.

G. Henry Richert, specialist in Distributive Education, U. S. Office of Education, has written "Retailing, Principles and Practices" in which he gives a brief history of retailing and then goes into details of planning and organizing the store, ordering the merchandise, and pricing and handling the goods. There are sections on advertising, display, customers, service, personnel and financing. For the youth who wishes to take up retailing as a career there is a chapter showing the various jobs it encompasses and the opportunities offered. The book is well illustrated with pictures and forms and has a useful index.

A Travelog

By VAUGHN G. PROCTOR

(Last of a Series)

Vaughn and Christie and I left El Paso, Texas, on Tuesday morning, January 20, seven days after we began our hitch-hiking odyssey in Los Angeles. Seven days and nights remained before we finally reached our destination—Cleveland, Ohio.

Winter had set in when we arrived. We went directly to the housing project and fairly collapsed in its arms. The security and warmth—the first we knew in a long while—made us suddenly weary and very dependent.

Late that night, after Vaughn and Christie were asleep, I sat at the kitchen table with my sister and her two older boys and recounted the exploits of our journey.

Ronnie and Dickie sat close by in wide-eyed amazement. They were quick to insist upon hearing every detail.

Even now I can hear my own voice as it rumbled on and on through the night.

By the time I reached El Paso in my tale, Dickie had fallen asleep on his arms and Ronnie was becoming drowsy. However, the mention of Texas put new life into him and he followed every word.

"Leaving El Paso that morning," I said, "and going to Dallas instead of to Houston and New Orleans, as we had planned, was a momentous decision. It meant entering central Texas and coming to grips with a cold wave which only days before had buried the Lone Star State beneath a foot of snow. But we were desperate and the prolonged trip was beginning to exhaust us. I was determined to make a dash for Cleveland—knowing full well that sooner or later we would have to push north and that each day's delay meant greater hardship when we did leave the illusory warmth of the Gulf of Mexico.

"Out of Ysleta, Texas, we were picked up by a man bound for Dallas. He had been living in Seattle with his wife and when she became pregnant decided to return to their old home. However, the car was not doing well and the wife stopped off in Bakersfield, California, to await the birth of their child. Undaunted, the husband was going on alone to pick up furniture and clothes in Dallas, hoping he would be able to get back to Bakersfield in a day or two.

"Shortly after we joined him," I continued my narrative, "we stopped at a service station to fill a quart jar with water. The driver said we were to go through one of the most desolate regions in all Texas. He was right.

Ghost Town

"In the middle of the afternoon we reached Pecos, where we saw a house with the motto 'Law West of the Pecos' over the door. The by-gone gent who presided there (according to our information) was a self-appointed emissary of the law. His dealings have become legend.

"Later we passed a village which may rightly be termed a ghost-town. Years ago a firm set up a coal mining operation, but was wiped out by the advent of cheap gas. Today this strange, broken memory of a city sits quietly under the sun—the weeds and dust slowly overcoming the fine brick buildings."

My sister listened patiently. Every few minutes she poured more coffee into our cups.

"Going on from the ghost-town," I said, "we encountered numerous industrial plants, each giving off columns of black smoke which belched and spumed upward in a great blossom of ebony—and then floated out over the ground, blackening everything it touched.

"Toward nightfall we approached Odessa. The city was a sprawling collection of clapboard houses, saloons, flashy jewelry stores and here and there a church or school. Most of the streets were unpaved. Odessa was another of those towns caught in the rush and clamor of the war years—it had grown over night in size and excitement with none of the stability necessary to support such a population on a permanent basis. The entire southern section of the city seemed composed of a clanking and snorting railroad yard. There was a transitory look and feel and smell in the streets and buildings. People traveling, people about to leave, people newly arrived. Feeling runs high in such places.

"At first we decided to sleep in the bus depot, but we shifted to the lobby of the Griffin Hotel, at the suggestion of two hitch-hikers from Hermosa Beach.

"The next morning we were on the road before dawn. The weather was severe. That's the way it was all the way.

"In Abilene a salesman for a salt company picked us up and carried us to Cisco. On the way he pointed out a Brahma bull. Vaughn and Christie spent the balance of the ride searching the hills and ravines for the animals.

"At seven p.m. we reached Dallas. The weather was surprisingly clear. After a careful study of the road maps and of the state of my pocket I decided we should push on through the night toward Texarkana. In the eastern city limits we set out along the dark highway. We were hungry and cold but it seemed necessary that we continue without delay.

Friendly Outlaw

"The sky was moonless; the stars were closer than they had ever been. A man and woman in a pick-up truck stopped for us. I'll always remember the expression on the man's face as we sat in a restaurant eating our first warm food in 18 hours—how he leaned across the small table and said:

'I thought you ought to know that I'm an outlaw—been one all my life!

'I dougt it,' I said, 'you're much too generous to be an outlaw.'

'Well,' he said, 'I'm from Oklahoma, and you know the reputation Okies have.'

Before we got back into the truck the driver offered me a drink from his bottle of whiskey. I was glad later on that I accepted, because riding alone in the open back of the truck, I was chilled to the bone by the shrill winds which swept across the top of the cab.

"These people became real friends to us, and instead of leaving them in Paris, Texas, as planned, we went with them to their home across the Red River into Oklahoma, where we stayed for two days.

"The final leg of our jaunt to Texarkana was without incident. Most of the small farming communities were drab and paintless. There was a drift and an emptiness about life which settled on the land and drew people into the hills and away from the rest of the world and its problems.

"We reached Texarkana in mid-afternoon. There was a letter at the post office from Mom and Dad.

'You didn't tell us,' wrote Dad, 'whether it was Texarkana, Texas, or Texarkana, Arkansaw.'

'Dear Mom and Dad,' I wrote back. 'Thanks for the five dollars. The Texarkana Post Office is right on the state line—but to be correct I must say the General Delivery window is on the Texas side.'

"We spent time at the library, ate a good meal, and at dusk headed toward Little Rock. Thirty miles out we were standing in a dripping fog outside a small town when a bus pulled up to discharge passengers. The driver climbed down and came toward us.

'If you're hitchhiking,' he said, 'get into the bus; I'll carry you to Little Rock.'

"That night we slept in a hotel and the next morning we left for St. Louis.

"A one-armed Negro gave us a lift and brought us all the way. He told us he was a university graduate and a veteran of a naval flying corps. He said he was a cajon, which was unfamiliar to me. Our conversation was more stimulating than any I had on the entire trip.

"We passed through St. Louis, stayed overnight in an East St. Louis hotel and the next day came on to Indianapolis. From there we came to Cleveland in a last 'do or die' effort. We arrived with 47 cents left."

Ronnie was asleep and my sister was beginning to look exhausted at this point.

"I guess we'd better go to bed," I said. Below the housing project the engines of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad hammered and shuddered through the darkness.

Before I dropped off to sleep beside Vaughn and Christie, I went over the long trip swiftly. The edges of pain and suffering and privation were already beginning to blur. Scene followed scene till the whole merged into a vast and explosive picture of want and loneliness. People seemed to be pulling wildly in all directions. What would it take, I thought, to bring everyone in the world to an awareness of basic human needs? Once some great unifying force was born to weld the hearts and bodies of men together there would be no need for war, for suicide, for the frustration of an empty life, for hate. At last mankind would operate on an intelligent level—but first must come action for some real basic changes. I thought once more as I had a thousand times of the talk I had with an old, kindly Negro on the streets of Reno.

"Sure something can be done," he said, "but sometimes, some of us gets afraid. Some of our fellow men likes their warm beds and full stomachs too much to go out and do what's right."

Slowly I fell asleep. I should have dreamed of endless miles of shacks and shanties and cold hunger, but I was exhausted. The world dropped away and I slept.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 22—One of the nation's oldest citizens, "Aunt Martha" Payne, died here yesterday. Her age was estimated at between 125 and 127.

Trail Blazers: Paul V. Campbell

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

It was a brisk, wintry day in Chicago. Women's skirts swished in the wind as men tightly held their hats and youngsters skipped along the street to keep warm. It was Chicago on Michigan avenue, 63rd and South Park. And the feeling was good.

Down on 51st street near Prairie avenue Dr. Paul V. Campbell, old resident dentist, greeted me warmly in his office. Warm, friendly, and philosophical, he's a man who loves people and people love him. Campbell, a native Chicagoan, is a graduate of Storer college in West Virginia and McHarry Dental college. He credits a prominent Englishman, for whom he worked, with encouraging him to the field of dentistry. For Campbell, like most struggling students, had to work hard to earn his way through school.

He entered the practice of dentistry in July, 1927, as the assistant to Dr. Charles Tarkington in Evanston, wealthy suburb of Chicago. Later he became associated with Dr. A. R. Brown in Chicago. And in the early 30's he did extensive work with the Shilo Clinic of the Seventh Day Adventist church. However, some of his best work has been done in his own office, where he served many people with slim purses. Even at a personal sacrifice he does things for others. Many know him as the people's friend.

Although he's a registered Republican his interest lays with the problems of the people . . . for whose benefit he works. He believes that "there is a niche in life for everyone to fill."

His civic and fraternal organizations include a charter membership of the Olive Branch 94 Free and Accepted Masons, charter member and past Exalted Ruler of Greater Chicago Lodge of Elks 954, and Xi Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. He's a supporter and contributor to the NAACP, YMCA, YWCA, and the Boys Club. Professionally he is affiliated with the Chicago, Illinois, American, and National Dental Societies.

A much-looked-forward-to-speaker, he fills numerous travelling engagements and is a prominent member of the Bureau of Speakers. He speaks persuasively and effectively on many civic and educational problems. But the personality known as Paul Vincent Campbell is a terrific social success. It's Baby-Face Campbell, the lady's man, as he is known in social circles. Affable, generous, and responsible, he's naturally gregarious.

With the utmost charm and dignity, his wife, Alberta Campbell, graciously receives his friends and guests. He is the father of one married daughter and another, Paula, now attending Fiske University.

Campbell frequently gets away from the office in late summer and mid-fall on hunting and motoring trips. At home he finds relaxation in detective stories.

"We are gradually and definitely coming into the period of specialization," the doctor recognizes. He advises that those who would not become parasites, must avail themselves of the opportunities to develop a talent and acquire an independence.

THE LIVING SOUTH

By Harold Preece

Copyright, 1947, by New South Features

SIX YEARS SINCE PEARL HARBOR

When you read this, it will be six years, lacking a few days, since the Japanese bombs fell on Pearl Harbor.

And the column, this week, is not only a song of requiem for Dixie's boys—white and black—who went forth to battle and fell.

They fought and died for that freedom still to be realized down here where the muddy rivers wash up the body of many a man slain by our own Hitler-brained buzzards who, for three centuries, have kept up a perpetual Pearl Harbor from within.

Many of our sons, when the truth shall be known, died together in the same outfits and the same foxholes—tall young Scotch-Irish mountaineers from the Blue Ridge fighting side by side with tall dark sharecroppers from the Delta and coming to realize, before they died, that their common fight in France or Germany was also their common fight in Tennessee or Texas.

To all of you, Negro or white, Christian or Jew, who gave your sons that the word of freedom might become the living flesh of democracy, my wife and I send our deep sympathy and our pledge that we shall continue to carry our share of the fight waged yesterday in Germany but today in Tennessee and Texas.

As we remember the white men from the Blue Ridge and the dark men from the Delta, we dedicate this column as a song of celebration for what our people of both colors won in Dixie during those fevered days of struggle and victory after Pearl Harbor. And it is also a song of determination that, from these slain, shall sprout something else besides the bitter, poisoned fruit of the lynch tree and the kernels of hate nurtured in the soil of hate.

OUR BEGINNING

Our people kept faith with their sons of both colors during those war years in Dixie. For Pearl Harbor was our beginning but Monroe, Ga., shall not be our ending.

The long fight for a modest Negro dentist in Houston bore fruit in that memorable supreme court decision of April 13, 1944, forever outlawing the puking "white primary" of the Southern ballot Buzzards. During the primary elections in Dixie, last year, Negroes even voted in Bilbo's precinct and, so it is said, on Bilbo's premises in Mississippi.

Four Negroes now sit on Southern town councils — in Winston-Salem, N. C., in Oak Ridge and Sewanee, Tenn., and in Watonga, Okla. It is a small beginning but it is the start of a great beginning. Negro councilmen might today be sitting on the city councils of Houston in Texas and Raleigh in North Carolina if a few old Judas billygoat reverends and one old Judas billygoat published hadn't borrowed John Rankin's knife and stabbed the colored candidates with Red-baiting.

The war years saw the birth of organizations like the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the Southern Regional Council—organizations of Negroes and whites working together with the NAACP and other forward-looking groups to make that word of freedom become flesh, dwelling among us.

The war years saw thousands of our people drawing paychecks in industry for the first time in their lives and trading for cash at the grocery stores instead of trading on tick at the plantation commissaries. The war years left us with powerful CIO and AFL unions of Negro and white workmen.

The end of those war years saw more Negroes and whites organized together and working together to wipe the stain of blood off Dixie than at any other time in our long history.

Today, the buzzards and the Judases would take away from us this fruit of those years. But we have known the taste of life, and we'll keep on, this Pearl Harbor Day, demanding more than just a taste.

Another Driver Charges Bias To Yellow Cab Co.

Cab Driver Samuel B. Wilcox's charges of racial discrimination by the Yellow Cab Co., published in last week's EAGLE were supported this week by another cab driver, J. O. Hendrick of 744 East 33rd st.

Hendrick criticised both the racial policies of the Yellow Cab Co., and Local 640 of the AFL Teamsters union, for its flagrant failure to protect the rights of its Negro members. The union, Hendrick asserted, does not want Negro membership but at the same time seeks to prevent other unions from organizing the cab drivers.

Wilcox, he said, was fired for "telling the truth" at a union meeting about Yellow Cab Co. discrimination. Hendrick, who was at the union meeting himself, deplored the fact that most of the colored drivers present failed to talk up.

He told the EAGLE that the Yellow Cab Co. "is 100 percent jimcrow," cited many discriminatory practices of the company, including forcing Negro drivers to stay in the background at Union Station, on call only for colored passengers. Negro drivers, he said, can pick up a north-bound passenger at the Dunbar hotel, but cannot pick up that same passenger, or any other passenger, on a downtown street.

Hendrick who currently works for the Veteran Cab Co., said he was fired by the Yellow Cab for protesting its jimcrow practices.

Commenting on the fact that Wilcox was turned in by company road man Ferguson, Hendrick asserted that Ferguson was "out of bounds" when he accused Wilcox of passing through a red light on 23rd and Naomi, that Ferguson had no business in that section of the city, since the company has a Negro roadman, Smitty, covering that section.

Teach Police Jiu-Jitsu at Bahia, Brazil

BAHIA, Brazil — Police in Bahia, Brazil, are being taught the African version of jui-jitsu by Negro Meste Bimbi, who is credited in the January Ebony with developing the system called "capoeira" now being proved as the best weapon against Brazilian muggers.

Neste Bimbi developed his form of self-defense from a dance, Ebony says, and he has worked out an astounding set of breath-taking headsprings, somersaults, cart-wheels, high kicks, aerial leaps, and hurdles designed to annihilate an attacker as speedily and efficiently as possible.

EVE WHITNEY RETURNS

After "playing" the real-life role of housewife for three years, Eve Whitney is back on the screen as the glamorous secretary to Adolphe Menjou in "State of the Union," with Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert, Van Johnson and Angela Lansbury. The new role is that of a sophisticated young Washington, D. C., business beauty with flip tongue and fast brain, who plays an important part in the lives of the story's stars. "State of the Union," directed and produced by Frank Capra for Liberty Films, is to be released by MGM.

Cost of Long Skirts Cause Of protest

If skirts had been lengthened gradually instead of precipitously, there would have been no protest from Americans, in the opinion of Mrs. Louise Pinkney Sooy, associate professor of Fine Arts on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

"Most of the objections to the new dress lengths are economic rather than esthetic," Mrs. Sooy says. "The hems on wartime clothing were so skimp that they can't be let out to conform with the new lengths. This means that to be in style one has to get everything new."

Mrs. Sooy predicts that in spite of objections, skirts will be longer. "Some women may change their fashions an hour or so after reading the fashion magazines; others may take a couple of years. But they all change," she says.

The clothing expert has her doubts about hip paddings, however, and she doesn't believe that women will go back to corsets, even in the interests of being fashionable. "I don't think many American women will suffer for their clothes," she explains.

TIME, the weekly news magazine, gave "Rookie of the Year" Jackie Robinson quite a spread in their Sept. 22, issue. In addition to the significant front cover, the article runs 8 pages with one of the best coverages given thus far.

British Royalty Pick Africa for War Hide-Out

CHICAGO — Great Britain has picked a spot in Central Africa where the king and queen of England will go "in the event of trouble with Russia," according to Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star and the Phoenix (Arizona) Republic and Gazette.

Pulliam, who recently returned from a tour of 22 countries of Europe and the Mideast, said he did not think there was a "chance of war between the United States and Russia during the immediate future."

The publisher reported that "the anti-American sentiment in England is unbelievable, but I believe it is due to unconscious jealousy.

"There is no question," he continued, "where Britain would be in the case of a showdown with Russia, but at the present time . . . they do not believe America would be able to stand up against the Russians, and therefore have decided not to send their king and queen to Canada."

Mixing Convenience

Enough counter space for efficient work is essential for a convenient kitchen. To aid the many families, now planning to build or remodel homes, who ask for convenient kitchen dimensions, studies of kitchen work are in progress at the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The specialists there are trying out different kitchen jobs at counters of varying lengths.

These studies show that the making of bread and cookies requires more counter space than any other food preparation job—a finding of importance especially to farm housewives and others who do considerable home baking. For convenience in making bread or cookies, the minimum counter space is 24 inches wide by 36 inches long. A more comfortable length is 42 inches. A mixing counter of these dimensions will take care of all mixing jobs comfortably.

Previous studies have shown that mixing jobs are done most easily at a level below the usual height of other work counters. The standard height of working counters now used by equipment manufacturers is 36 inches from the floor. This is the usual height of counters on either side of the sink. But the housewife who does much baking will find it convenient to have her mixing surface 32 or 34 inches from the floor, depending on her height and the length of her arms.

Baking pans are most convenient if kept near the mixing counter rather than near the range, as is done in most kitchens. Bowls, beaters and other utensils used in mixing are kept at this counter, too, as well as food supplies like flour, sugar and seasonings.

5000 Cheer Wallace, Canada Lee Attack On Rankin Committee

PITTSBURGH — Approximately 5000 enthusiastic Pittsburghers cheered as former vice-President Henry A. Wallace lashed out at the statesmen who "cloak our foreign policy in the language of freedom, justice and democracy," but tolerate polltax, jim-crow and lynchings at home, at a meeting sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America in Pittsburgh's largest public auditorium, the Syria Mosque, last Monday night.

"Some of the most eloquent spokesmen for American foreign policy," Wallace declared, "are the same people who insist that advocating abolition of the polltax or a permanent FEPC or housing or health program is positive proof of subversive tendencies."

"If such things are subversive, they are subversive of reaction, and I plead guilty. I advocate them. I believe in them. I shall fight for them," he promised the cheering audience.

CANADA LEE SPEAKS

Actor Canada Lee, starred on the program, threw his support behind Henry A. Wallace and the Progressive Citizens of America by calling upon the American people to fight the danger of fascism now.

Enthralling the crowd with his famous spellbinding voice, the star described his visit to the Hollywood Hearings of the House Un-American Committee:

"I smelled fascism, I smelled Hitler . . . Mussolini—I can still smell fascism."

Wallace accused the Truman administration of being under the power of Wall street and military men.

"A foreign policy based primarily on preserving the profits of private American interests abroad means conflict," he warned. "The American people covet nothing but peace, but American bankers and oil companies do covet special privilege abroad and demand and get the support of our government."

Thunderous applause burst forth when he continued, "I do not think the preservation of monopolistic profits for oil companies is worth risking the peace of the world."

Wallace condemned the House Un-American Committee as a smoke screen for those who would destroy all civil liberties and our democracy. He called for a "Practical Policy" instead of our "get tough policy" with our former ally, the Soviet Union. He advocated international administration of relief to needy people, which would dispel the suspicion of our motives abroad.

Ask Venice Pier Owners to Entirely Remove Property

The office of the City Attorney has filed a suit in superior court to require the Abbott Kinney Co., owners of the Venice pier, to remove it entirely. The pier has already been partly destroyed, and the court action seeks a mandatory injunction which would require the company to remove the entire remaining structure together with the debris left on the beach. It is classed as a public nuisance.

Discrimination Denied In M.D.'s Arena Seating

The management of the Olympic boxing arena has emphatically denied any attempt at discrimination as regards the recent mix-up in which Dr. W. Burlin Humphrey, 144 West 45th street, complained that seats he had held for over 12 years were not given him at a recent bout.

Cliff Bernard of the Olympic said that as a result of a mistake in printing, the entire row where Dr. Humphrey's regular seats are located was mixed up. When the physician arrived at the arena his seats were taken and the persons that held them refused to give them up. Bernard said that other persons that were affected by the mix-up accepted the change but when other seats were offered Dr. Humphrey he refused to take them.

Dr. Humphrey stated that on that particular night the employees of Safeway Stores were being honored as special guests and that he believes that sections of the arena were sold in blocks which took in his seats among others. He says that he demanded his money back when he could not get the seats which he had held as a regular patron for many years.

Bernard said that the mix-up was "one of those things" and probably would not happen again in years. He said that the physician's seats were again available and that the management was still holding them for him.

GLAMOUR KITTEN IN FILM

The glamour kitten that romps throughout "Cass Timberlane" with Spencer Tracy and Lana Turner, isn't the only one of her feline family to hit pay-dirt in Hollywood. WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE CAROL BRICE CONCERT has all Los Angeles eagerly aiting curtain call Sunday at Philharmonic Auditorium. All, es in many a personality, but after glimpsing the patrons list, looking over the many names including column after column of names that sparkle in the social lineup of the metro and weekly publications, it left ye scribe with the general impression that Miss Brice will be well received by an appreciative audience and a full house. Behind the scene of it all is Ursula P. Murrell, general chairman of the Alpha Kappa Alpha benefit venture. At her side constantly and doing all the little necessary things to make the affair exactly what we all expect it to be, are such sorority members as Jessie McDaniel, who is vacationing from public health nursing at the present time, Lucille Bonnett, who teaches during the day and uses her leisure to get the concert reservations straight: Carol Boswell, Dorothea Fearonce, who have been mixing Carol Brice with teaching; e Hampton, Zenobia Allen, Naida McCullough, Ethel Branham, cille Robertson, and a host of others who have taken time out m their respective fields to see that the Carol Brice Concert goes r in the usual AKA manner.

What to wear seems to be the general chatter among the ladies o plan to be much in evidence on Sunday afternoon. Am quite e the new length dress topped by a luxurious fur will be the er of the day. In fact, all the wonderful preliminary talk, in ich most women (and men) engage leans toward a very interest- afternoon for those who love music, those who love to dress utifully and for those who love to be noted. By the way, the A's are hoping against hope that fashionable late entrances l be cancelled. They are urging that all arrive for the concert ore curtain call. If you happen to be late, please remain outside til ushers give you the proper que. By the way, Exie Hampton d Carol Boswell are co-chairing the reception that will be given the young singer's honor following the concert.

LE PRELIMINARY

The Mike Taylor's smart playhouse proved a perfect rendezvous the Playtimers first affair last Saturday night. So happens that , Taylor Russell, Playtimer president, is the Mike Taylor's pride d joy, so the old warm friendly feeling prevailed throughout the ole of the evening. Believe me when I say, the party was just e old home week, for those in attendance were a group of inger setters who hadn't really been together since everybody the set started getting married or leaving the city. During my ef stay on the scene, had a grand time talking with Ruth Scott, t time since her return from New York, Phyllis Allen (Hoxie) o is working on her masters degree now at USC and has little no time to get out with the gang. Orchid Oliver was there with nard Beavers and they enjoyed a bit of tripping the light fantics as did the Loupes, Stanley and Lucille. The Johnnie Alstons ried on a regular gab fest with Cecil and Tommy Mills, while ulette Coleman served punch to her new interest, Dr. Frank erson, and other thirsty guests. Puffy Hill and Marilyn Hudson t the table filled with delicious little sandwiches assisted by by Lambert and Jean Brown. Dolores Bell, looking very chic in oyal blue "cut away" suit stole the fashion scene when she ped her outfit with a winter white coat bidding all farewell the close of the gathering. Norma and Eddie Green climaxed ir evening that had been spent at several other affairs, with the ytimers. Wini Allen only had time for her Dr. Tony, while rgan Moten, Burt Kenner and Harold Faulkner, went over old es when they were Hi-Y members at L. A. Harriet Johnson and better half were congratulating Herbie Boswell on the new ival of his son, while Gloria Vaughn whispered secrets in the of several guests about something important that the public

Designer Expounds Theories On New Trends In Fashion

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

"California women on a whole are beautiful, regardless to race, creed or color," said Julian Dempsy, young designer of repute when he had his initial showing at Dr. Veda Somerville's Sunday afternoon. The mode of dress for California women has been on the casual line, due to the climate and the fact that manufacturers have found the casual manner very profitable.

At the present time, the mode of dress is undergoing a definite change, from casual boyish type to the more feminine dressier garments. Reason for this change is due to the fact that manufacturers and wide awake designers are thinking in terms of the new opera house that will soon be built in Los Angeles, lifting the cultural pattern and bringing about an elegance in dress and activities.

Julian is deeply in love with the new look, and carries it out in all of his sketches. He feels that it presents an abstraction in fashion, as is displayed in Modern Art. To date he has done clothes for well known persons including Ricc Stevens, Mae West, Catherine Dunham, Ethel Waters, Mrs. Elinore Roosevelt, and many distinguished personalities in Beverly Hills. Since 1940 he has worked in exclusive shops in the Beverly Hills and Wilshire districts.

Julian explained that one of the main reasons for the Sunday display was to acquaint fashion conscious Negro women with his work. He plans to go out for himself and create for all women.

In answer to the question "which is the seat of fashion, Hollywood or Paris" the young designer explained that Paris would always lead in fashions, as long as she continues designing with the creative approach, that displays a love for her work and beauty. He feels that Parisians do more creative work, seldom letting the commercial angle enter. Americans, on the other hand, design with the hope that many garments will be sold from the design. The American designers with the Perisian approach may be counted on ten fingers.

Julian hopes that the day will come, when more American designers will show the Parisian outlook, of pouring his actual love into the garment he is making.

The young designer recently completed research work in designing on a Rosenwald Scholarship.

12 Big Sisters Plan Yule Party For Juvenile Hall

The somewhat newly organized 12 Big Sisters took another step forward last Saturday evening when they entertained kiddies and parents with their Harvest Festival. The Alpha Bowling club was artistically decorated and the warm spirit of the holiday season prevailed.

Mrs. Faustina Johnson, organizer of the charitable organization brought to the public eye, the fact that all money collected by the 12 Big Sisters will be used to make the holiday season cheerful for the little children in mental institutions and Juvenile Hall.

To date, these two institutions have been sorely neglected through oversight. Most club's in the community center their attention on making the holiday season bright for children of the neighborhood who in most cases are taken care of through school agencies or the church.

Because of the bleakness of the Juvenile Hall during the Christmas season, Mrs. Mart T. Hogan, a member of the probation committee, 10 years ago inaugurated the first Christmas Doll party. Some 300 little girls will be made happy by the gift of a doll. It need not be expensive. The dolls may be taken to the hall, 1367 Henry street, 2 until 4 p.m.

Solteras Y Donnas To Aid South

On the third Sunday of November, the same being their regular meeting date of each month, the Club De Solteras y Donnas met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Cooper, 1237 S. Wilton Place.

Previous business was discussed, dues collected and plans made for Xmas activities. The club voted several gifts to various charities, one being a Catholic institution in the South that seems to take special interest in the welfare of needy Negroes of that section.

At 7 p.m. the husbands and escorts of the members and other guests invited by Mrs. Cooper began arriving. Later, a very interesting program was presented

To Observe 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Lampkin, prominent Pasadena couple will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on Monday, Dec. 22.

A renewal of vows will take place at eight o'clock in the evening at Friendship Baptist church. A reception will follow in the social hall of the church.

BETROTHAL—The engagement of Elizabeth Francois Kennard of Monrovia to Carl Leonard King of this city is revealed. The bride elect is the daughter of Mrs. Marie L. Kennard and Mr. James Kennard. She is a graduate of Pasadena City College nd ais employed in the State Accounting office of the Depatment of Motor Vehicles. Mr. King is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. King of Tulare and is a graduate accountant of the University of California at Berkeley. He is secretary of Beta Psi Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity and is a member of the King Bros. Realty Company. An early spring wedding has been planned.

Mrs. Jewell Franklin Takes Marital Vows With Local Business Leader

Uniting a nationally known and highly successful business figure with the daughter of one of Kansas' most prominent pioneer families, J. C. Nelson, proprietor of the Dunbar Hotel, and Mrs. Jewell Franklin, were quietly married Monday, Nov. 24.

The ceremony which was performed in a wedding chapel, was a private one, the only guests present being the bride's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Young, screen and stage celebrities. The couple was engaged for over a year, but the final consummation comes as a pleasant surprise to their close associates and relatives.

Mr. Nelson, who prides himself in being a self-made man, with a record of 25 years in railroad service while building up into one of Chicago's leading business figures, moved here and developed the Dunbar Hotel into one of the best operated and widely known in the country.

Mrs. Franklin, whose native home is Wichita, Kas., is the daughter of the late Wellington Starnes, head of the Starnes & Son building contracting company. A graduate of Wichita High school, she was a postal clerk there for a number of years. The Starnes family played an important role in the early settling of the important Kansas community, the Starnes firm having erected a number of the finest buildings there, including the Chelapo Indian Institute. The new Mrs. Nelson aids in religious and charitable work, as doe Mr. Nelson.

Pressure of business will prevent the newlyweds taking a honeymoon, but they plan a belated one in the spring or summer.

TO STUDY HERE—Miss Dorothy Faye Coleman, R.N.A. graduate of Kansas City General Hospital School of Nursing, plans to study Anaesthesiology in the near future at USC. Prior to entering the field of nursing, Miss Coleman studied at the P. D. Smith's Art School, Samuel Houston College, Kirling Commercial College and L.A.C.C. She is the sister of Mr. and Mrs. James Felder of Cherring Cross Road, L.A.

Selective Twelve Benefit Cabaret

A cabaret party proved to be a very outstanding pre-Thanksgiving event, when the members of the Selective Twelve Club played hostess to more than 300 of their friends at Club Shangri-La on Sunday, Nov. 23. The co-operative management had the regular floor show and presented the club treasury with a sizeable donation.

The fund has been put aside by the club for its charitable activities during the holiday season for the fight against cancer, juvenile delinquency and other philanthropic gestures.

Officers of the Selective Twelve include: Georgianna Wylie, president; Dorothy Harris, vice president; Marie Lewis, secretary; Florence Duncan, treasurer; Rose Brown, business manager; Marie Lindsay, sergeant-at-arms; Helen Hayman, Nettie Naul, Johnnie Beard and Essie Mae Seabron, members.

Mary McLeod Berthune Urges Mobilization of NCNW in Annual Financial Drive

In football parlance, the kick-off signifies the beginning of play—the start of the game.

The National Council of Negro Women has kicked off its first ball in the grassroots action game which was sponsored by its Twelfth Annual Convention, November 9-15. This week, Mrs. Ailene Ewell, president of the Washington Metropolitan Council called a meeting at Council House, 1318 Vermont Ave., N. W., to initiate a D. C. drive for both funds and community support of the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights.

"We must mobilize every single person interested in implementing this new charter of American freedom," said Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Founder-President of the National Council of Negro Women, as opposition to its recommendations becomes more vociferous.

"With this in mind," continued Mrs. Bethune, "the Council has inaugurated a state album plan details of which are already on the way to local communities."

In the plan, it is suggested that each community hold a large meeting on December 14, at which time as many signatures as possible should be affixed to the pages at the back of the album. Every person who signs is to be asked to give one dollar toward the National Program.

The album contains highlights of teh Convention, including the 10-point action program, headlines from the press, quotes from famous people, as well as delegates, the President's statement upon issurance of the Civil Rights Report, and a letter to the President.

When Congress reconvenes in January, the National Council of Negro Women plans to have a representative from each state come to Washington with her state's album and the money her community has raised to implement the Report of the President's Committee. Then all of the state representatives will take their albums to the White House where they will be formally presented to President Truman to show him how many people in each state are behind him in the struggle to make America a working democracy.

THE HAIR STYLIST GUILD played hostess to a very elaborate formal dance on last Saturday evening. More than 500 couples attended the annual holiday affair and enjoyed dancing until the wee hours. With the many charming members and officers of the group standing in respective places on either side, Sadie Louise Davidson, serving her third term of office as president, may be seen at top center. See story for details of introduction and names of Guild members. —Vera Jackson photo.

Hair Stylist Set Holiday Pace At Elaborate Holiday Formal

A score of pre-formal cocktail parties accompanied the annual Hair Stylist Guild's formal dance on Saturday evening. Each year, this party tops all preliminary holiday events. This year's affair, attended by more than five hundred couples, was a hilarious affair, with dancing lasting well into the wee hours.

Outstanding were the decorations that depicted a phase of the Guild's everyday work, making milady beautiful. On either side of the stage in the beautiful Elks Ballroom, a huge floral comb flanked a set of huge mirrors. The ideal setting played an important part in the manner in which the club officers and members were introduced, by the very charming M.C. of the evening, Mrs. Faustina Johnson. Each member modeled before the mirrors, as her name was called, then joined her husband who was waiting in the stag line and together they danced in the Guild Circle. The president of the group, Mrs. Sadie Louise Davidson, now serving her third term of office, was outstanding in a scintillating creation of silver lame and Chinese red, featuring a floor length cape and side drape, an Eva Gordon creation. When she was introduced, she took her stand before the center mirror. Other officers included: Kathryn Jones, vice-president; Florence Evans, secretary; Carrie Bowie, treasurer; Katherine Teague, corresponding secretary; Catherine Kerr, business manager; Georgia Russell, reporter; Nola Hynes, chaplain; Annie Mae Miller, sergeant-at-arms; Willa Smallwood, chairman board of directors.

So beautiful were the hair styles and dress of the entire membership it left the impression of a fashion review in the minds of the many guests attending. Among the members presented were: Mamie D. Angrum, Gladys W. Anderson, Octavia Bailey, Safina Booker, Vallie J. Bryant, Harriet H. Branshaw, Willie H. Chambers, Lotiye R. Crawford, Bernice Davis, Anna Mae Davidson, Ruth Anna Hines, Ethel Hughley, Annie Mae Lacefield, Minnie Langston, Ann Martin, Arlena McZeal, Edith Mack, Charleese Marbury, Thelma Mitchell, Mary Martin, Hattie Nichols, Queenie Pace, Mildred Pickett, Velma Rodgers, Lillie Sterling, Estelle Sherwood, Maxine Sayles, Mattie Thompson, Luvina Wallace and Elnora Wilson.

The Hair Stylist Guild, one of the busiest and most important organizations in the community, has already started plans for its annual Fashion Review. This year the showing will be held in a setting that will accommodate some 5000 people or more. The setting has not been announced as yet, but the group plans to keep its reputation as being "First Nighters."

Zeta Phi Beta Sorors Honor New Members at Dinner

Beta Eta Zeta graduate chapter of Zeta Phi Beta sorority held a Thanksgiving dinner party honoring new Zetas at the home of Verda Donalds, Saturday, Nov. 22.

The appointed table was beautifully decorated in autumn colors, and the traditional Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings was served the cheerful group of sorority members. Basileus of the chapter, Alpha Arnold, introduced the guests of honor, Hattie Johnson, Alma Jackson, Claudia Leake, Ruth Wilson, Evelyn Stone, of Langston, Okla.; Marie Barber, Vivina Middleton of Orangebury, S. C.; and Vera Jones.

Following the closed dinner party that was highlighted by several musical selections from Capitol Recording artist, Katie Miller, the group of woman were joined by their husbands and escorts and dancing and bridge lasted well into the night.

Due to the season of the year, and because the Zeta Phi Beta sorority is always ready to do its part for charity, Beta Eta Zeta chapter has completed very interesting plans for entertaining a large group of blind citizens at a Xmas dinner party.

While some actors will accept only such parts in films that they think are "tailored" to suit their talents, Andy Devine regards one role much the same as another.

Young Minister New Bride Honored At Shower

Rev. and Mrs. Don C. Stephenson, well known in Watts religious circles, were honored guests at a gala shower Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Georgia A. L. Glover, 9554 Graham avenue.

Hosts for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Younger. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Cora Johnson, Frances Bragg, Irma Morris and Thelma Morris.

The home was beautifully decorated with poinsettias and chrysanthemums. A red, white and green color scheme predominated.

Numerous household gifts and other donations were tendered the popular young couple by members and friends of the Church of Deliverance, of which the Rev. Mr. Stephenson is founder and pastor.

Mrs. Stephenson is the former Miss Viola Reed, of New Orleans.

Among guests at Sunday's affair were: Versie Hornbeak, of Kansas City, Kan.; Mesdames Willie Zachary, Lovie Austin, Mollie Jeffrey, Georgia A. L. Glover, Ella Buckner, Marie Embry, Mattie Beard, Maxine Jackson, Jennie McCoy, Dora Hayes, Anna Bryant, Mother Woods, and W. Shamburger.

Also Miss Ardell Durrell, of Azusa, Calif.; Misses Dora Andre, Joan Morris, Joyce Johnson, Patricia Morris; and Messrs. Arthur Johnson, Leon H. Hardwick, Christopher Lewis, Ralph Goodpasteur, Monroe Buckner and Mr. and Mrs. W. Ary.

Kappa Undergrads Elect Officers

Norma Houston Jr., of UCLA, and Julius Brown of USC, were elected Polemarchs of their respective under-graduate Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity last Sunday. Other officers elected were Sherrill Luke and Roul Reynolds, Vice Polemarchs for UCLA, and USC; Wilbur Ashford, Keeper of Records; Cairo Collins, Assistant Keeper of Records; Prosper Bullen, Keeper of Exchequer; Price Cobbs, Straegus; Vernon Dancy, Lieutenant Strategue; James White, Historian; and Bill Jones, Reporter. Also serving on the board of director will be William Johnson and Joe LeCour.

Since Upsilon, the UCLA, Chapter, and Beta Omega, Kappa's newly chartered USC chapter, meet jointly all offices except the Polemarchs and Vice-Polemarchs were elected by the combined undergrad membership. Formal initiation date has not yet been set, but it will undoubtedly be announced soon.

The meeting was held at the home of Wilbur Ashford, and was attended by a great majority of the under-graduate members of Kappa Alpha Psi.

Luncheon Given Texas Matron

Mrs. Ethel Myart entertained with a luncheon honoring Mrs. Florence Criss of Dallas, Texas.

Guests at the affair were Mrs. Corinne Bell, sister to the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Colma and Mrs. Thompson.

Over from Los Angeles were Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, uncle and aunt of the groom with Tycene and Melvin Webb and their two darling daughters Melva and Susan. It was truly one of the events of the season.

Thanksgiving Day found all taking a little time out from the hustle and bustle of the world and giving thanks. My immediate family has a lot to be thankful for, for a year a little bundle of joy came to live at our house and bring us many happy days. Yes, Lisa is a year old. Also celebrating birthdays were Antionette Peters, daughter of Pete and Grace Peters, Master Bucky Buchanan, son of Mrs. B. Buchanan, Larry Brown, son of Barbara and Bob Brown, Billy Jackson, son of Thelma and Horace Jackson, and the twin sons of Beatrice and Charles Johnson. A very Happy Birthday to all.

The other week-end the Ebony Earls finally found a game at which they could beat their opponents. In passing I might say that, it's about time. They played the Young Men's Progressive League a game of volley ball, and they won. The crowd was very poor, due to the very cold weather. Among the spectators were Mary and Billy Edson, and Alice and Bernard Harris who were celebrating one and four years of marital bliss respectively. Congratulations and may you see many many more.

I didn't get there but they tell me that the Origineaux formal was the affair of its kind of the years.

Well that's all for now.

Hasta Luego.

Newly Organized Texas Club To sponsor Benefit Dance

The Texas College club of Los Angeles is sponsoring a benefit dance at Alpha Bowling Club on Dec. 12, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. This event is the first on the club program to set up a fund for scholarship for deserving students who are outstanding in studies and leaders in student body activities.

Though recently organized, the Texas College club of L. A., under the leadership of its president, Mr. B. T. Hendricks, along with fellow officers and members has been formed into a diligent working unit.

Mr. Hendricks is a graduate of Texas College, majoring in chemistry. He is employed as a chemist by the chemical department of the Southern California Gas Company, and holds the distinction of being the first member of our race to hold such a position with the company in a supervising capacity. In four years with the company, he has set a remarkable record of efficiency. The achievement attained by Mr. Hendricks has been exemplified by other members of the club. Mr. H. M. Jones, a graduate of Texas College, is also an honor graduate of the School of Pharmacy at the University of Southern California. He is continuing his studies there toward a doctor of medicine degree and has the honor of being vice president of the chemical research club and has been placed as an assistant in charge of the chemical equipment at USC.

Mr. Heyburn Price, chairman of the program committee, holds a top position with the Rent Contral division of the O.P.A. and was one of the few to be held under the transfer of controls over to Federal Housing Expediting division.

A good time is in store for all attending the Texas College party for there will be a meeting of friends from Wiley College, Prairie View and Bishop College.

Other officers of the club are: Vice president, Mr. Julius Madkins; secretary, Mrs. Fay Mattox; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lorme Patterson; treasurer, Mrs. Tyras; business manager, Mr. Warren; Mr. Mark Allen, chairman of social committee, and Mr. H. W. Johnson, chairman of publicity.

COUTURSTAT

By Grace Fisher Atkins

Not infrequently have individuals arrived at a "bright idea" to achieve an easy road to fame and fortune. In the majority of cases it ends in despair and disappointment. Good advertising is valuable but unless it is founded upon a good commodity it dies out and reverts to oblivion.

Seekers of "bright ideas" which will lead to an easy road to fame and fortune must study the psychology of fad, align themselves with good contact and financial backing.

One of the numerous fields that may afford such activity is clothing. Examples are in clothing accessories such as costume jewelry, scarfs, buttons, "swagger sticks," purses, shoes and the like. In fact, a limited degree of fame for a short period of time can result from a simple scarf, provided that the public is ready for it.

The one phase of clothing that requires the fullest talent, ability, training and experience is that of garment styling and construction. No advertising or swank publicity stunt can substitute actual skill and knowledge. A study of the best products in quality and durability have the least advertising. Even the renowned "pseudo" psychologist, Dale Carnegie, admits that the satisfied customer is the best propaganda obtainable.

An example of this in the field of music is Duke Ellington's band. Through 20 years of popularity, the Duke's band is greater today than ever. Masterful musicianship and continuous study and development has kept this unit alive. Study never ceases, therefore success is in direct relationship and progresses with study.

Clothing construction and design must stand the test of fitting and comfort. They must also bare the psychological test of attractiveness. Workmanship and design are indispensible to the successful garment. History is full of the sacrificial lives of the tailors and dress designers. Milliners have a similar existence.

Requirements for acceptable clothing must achieve style, design and fit. The performer must have not only talent and much training and experience, but also freedom from nervous strain and financial pressure.

Social Courtesies Extended N. Yorker

Mrs. Corinne McCloney Moore of New York City is in Los Angeles visiting her mother and sister, Mrs. N. Harris and Jewel Travis Brown, at 691 E. Vernon ave., and other relatives.

While here she has been the happy recipient of many social courtesies from some of her gracious friends, namely: A lovely dinner party at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. Cochran, Paloma street. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Howard (her cousins) entertained with a swanky luncheon in their cozy home, 3819 Paloma street. A delightful motor party to Knott's Berry Farm, co-hostess Mrs. Eleanor Bolden and her sister, Miss Jewel Travis Brown. Mrs. Billie Bishop honored her with a week-end trip to Bakersfield. Breakfast daintily served by her girlhood friend, Mrs. Ophelia Danforth. An elaborate dinner party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen, 900 block E. 28th street. A baked ham dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Topsil and sister, Miss Bell Patton, at 223 E. Ave. 23. At the beautiful home of her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Travis in Blogett Tract.

Mrs. Moore shared honors with Mrs. Corine Dyson of Houston, Texas, to a delightful dinner party. Mr. Milton Livingston at 9203 Hickory proved himself as Chef of the Pantry when he prepared an elaborate chicken dinner in his home for this lovely day and other invited guests. A turkey dinner at the home of her sister, Jewel Travis Brown, who joined in the other festivities.

A motor trip is being planned to Fresno for Miss New Yorker by Mr. L. M. Payne.

'Miss T.S.U. Feted During H.-coming

HOUSTON, Tex.—Miss Peggy Jean Watson, attractive sophomore co-ed, was crowned "Miss Texas State University" during elaborate ceremonies in the university gymnasium, Thursday night, November 27.

One of five contestants, the lovely campus queen was also honored at the half of the T.S.U.-Langston football game. Runner-up to Miss Watson was Miss Doris Louise Calloway, freshman. Other contestants were Miss Ledessa Banks, Miss Olga Robinson and Miss Sadie Hamilton.

Miss Watson, a native of Shreveport, La., is the daughter of Mrs. Cora Watson of that city. She was graduated from Central High School in 1944.

Miss Watson was escorted on the football field by Eugene Harrison, recently elected president of the T.S.U. Student Council.

Dr. J. T. Walton Mrs. Belle Leonard On Local Visit know about in due time, I could go on and on, because the gang was on hand, every one of them, and we "sho had a lerful time."

The Saturday night spotlight of activities was shared in a big by Iota Phi Lambda. First of all, Ruth Mars was the very last in a black cocktail outfit, topped by a pair of black satin ers that any Cinderella would love to have. Doris Weary was the glamorous thing in a black print drape, while Mary ces Peterson chose a black sheer ballerina cocktail dress and garet Goode chose ice blue satin drape. By the way, Edith , wearing brown taffeta complete with bustle effect, was ng farewell to quite a few of her friends, for on Thursday she will entrain for points east, to spend the holidays with parents. The affair was quite delightful and the many guests ding had a grand time of it.

While speaking of pre-Yule events, must touch on the very vable affair given for the fashion conscious, at Dr. Somerville's ay. Julian Dempsy and his mother were very charming and display of gowns was heavenly. Looking as if she stepped the latest edition of Vogue magazine was Angelique Bratton, was her color scheme, satin was her material and silver fox her fur. American Missionary Ass'n Presents Letters To Fisk U.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—A magnificent gift of 150,000 letters from the American Missionary Association Archives has been granted to the Fish University library. They cover one of the most crucial periods in American history, from 1839 to 1879, and they include correspondence with James A. Garfield, Salmon P. Chase, William H. Seward, Henry Ward Beecher, William Lloyd Garrison, and dozens of other prominent Americans.

Forty-eight chests are filled with the letters, which are now being organized and processed by the librarian, Arna Bontemps. The years of the Underground Railroad, of the burning crusade against slavery, of the Civil War, of the Reconstruction Period—all fall within the years covered by these letters.

There are letters from soldiers, teachers and missionaries, threatening letters from the KKK, and valuable matter relating to the establishment and early struggles of leading colleges for Negroes.

Only after 1876 are any of the letters typed, but most of the material is perfectly legible and is well preserved. The chests include, in addition to the letters, a number of rare pamphlets, photographs, petitions, and other items of vital interest. There is a nearly complete run of the American Missionary, the magazine which the Association has been publishing since 1846.

Founded in 1866, Fish University is an appropriate depository for these valuable letters.

Pilgrim House Notes

Pilgrim House was the host last week to two birthday parties for pre-school children; Akimi Tani, now in elementary school, who returned to entertain her old playmates on her sixth birthday, and Kathy Shiral, the baby of the school, celebrated her third.

The Pilgrim House basketball team won its fourth game out of five. Arthur J. Bacon, boys' worker, rewarded the team last Friday night with a fried chicken dinner.

For Thanksgiving, three boys and an old lady were guests for dinner of a Westside friend of Pilgrim House.

The Cosmopolitan Christian Church Announces Services

The spiritual tide ran high last Sunday at Cosmopolitan Christian Church. The pastor brought a masterly message on the subject, "If the Pulpit was united it would be an answer to all our human problems."

Next Sunday's topic will be "Scriptural Meaning of a United Church." Come and enjoy with us these great messages. Strangers are made to feel at home. The church which is located at 33rd Street and Hooper avenue and pastored by Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell.

City Far Short On Chest Goal

Community Chest campaigners on the Eastside were warned this week by Edward R. Valentine, general campaign chairman, that despite the two-week extension of the 1947 campaign the city was still far short of its $7,322,240 goal.

On the East Side, Adams-Central is still above the average among the 10 best city districts, but South Park remains below the average among the poorest 10.

Bernard F. Jefferson, chairman of the Adams-Central district, announced the following new candidates to the Community Chest Honor Roll of successful campaigners. Mr. Aaron Williams, 4164 Zamora street; Mrs. Dorothy Murch, 1535 Essex street; Mr. B. Thomas, 5019 South San Pedro; Mrs. Addie Derricks, 1420 East 41st street; and Mrs. Nettie Reese, 439 East Adams blvd.

NEW DOCTOR—Dr. W. A. Gray, D.C., N.D. announces that he is now located at 4215½ So. Central avenue. The physician comes to the eastside after two years of research work on respiratory diseases. (See story).

New Physician Now Located On Central Avenue

Dr. W. A. Gray, D.C., N.D., is now located at 4215½ S. Central avenue. Dr. Gray comes to the Central avenue office after having spent two years of research work on respiratory diseases more particularly asthma and bronchitis. Formerly owner and director of the Gray X-Ray and Clinical Laboratory of Toledo, Ohio, he also maintained a private general practice. For over a year Dr. Gray maintained a free children's clinic for underprivileged children. He is also active in several fraternal and professional organizations.

Complete health service for the entire family, including maternal care, X-ray and laboratory service, basal metabolism rate, electrocardiography, etc., will be featured.

An invitation is extended to everyone to visit Dr. Gray at his office at any time. It is Dr. Gray's desire to serve the enttire community and their families in a most sincere and efficient manner.

Install Dr. Chas. Johnson As 6th President of Fisk

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Dr. Charles Spurgeon Johnson, the first Negro ever to hold this position, was recently installed sixth president of Fisk University, in Nashville, Tenn., in the presence of a distinguished gathering from all parts of the country. Among the guests were Governor Jim Nance McCord, of Tennessee; Mayor Cummings, of Nashville; college presidents, educators, and clergymen.

Dr. Johnson is a graduate of Virginia Union University, a Negro college in Richmond, Va. He served in World War I as regimental sergeant major of infantry. Since the war he had a notable career as author, writer, and social investigator and-educator. He was one of the ten United States delegates to the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization.

In his acceptance address, Dr. Johnson spoke of his philosophy as one "of work, justice, freedom, and moral power." He said that Fisk University is not interested solely in the welfare and education of the Negro, as a member of the Negro race, but "in the education of Negro youth, because they are a part of the nation and deserve as much but no more than any other element of the population."

Fisk University was founded in 1866 by General Erasmus Milo Cravath under the auspices of the American Missionary Association and the Western Freedmen's Association. In commenting on the installation of Dr. Johnson as president of Fisk, a Nashville paper says: "The University seems to have passed to sound leadership. Such work as Dr. Johnson has performed in the cultural field and the sound philosophy he follows, will inevitably go far toward razing the walls of segregration in education. Nothing is quite so forceful as good example, by men who do rather than ask that it be done for them."

Urges Farmers to Grow Better Crop of Children

RICHMOND, Va.—"In addition to raising top grade tobacco and fine healthy livestock and poultry, we must also grow a better crop of children," declared T. M. Campbell, federal extension field agent, in an address last Thursday before the two-day annual session of the State Negro advisory Board of Virginia, meeting near Richmond.

Campbell's address followed a series of reports made by farm and home delegates from 39 counties. Unlike many previous annual achievement records which emphasized production and dollar-income, this year's reports stressed such end results as farm ownership, soil improvement, home improvement, community welfare, and better rural living.

Other speakers on the program were Edmund T. DeLarnette, state representative, Miss Maude E. Wallace, assistant state director of Virginia Extension Service, John W. Mitchell, federal extension field agent, and Ross W. Newsome, state extension agent.

In his address, Campbell stressed the conference theme: "The farm and home as a unit for better living." The veteran field agent told the board delegates and county agents that Booker T. Washington had aimed at the same goal nearly 60 years ago when he called the first farmers conference at Tuskegee. "But," said Campbell, "attainment of that goal is still afar off."

Pointing to Selective Service records of rejections of rural youths, Campbell asserted, "We still have a long way to go in learning how to prepare and serve balanced meals and in maintaining a home that is conducive to good health. More than half of the rural homes in the South are beyond repair . . . And it would take about 15 million gallons of paint to paint all the home in the rural South needing it."

D. C. Urban League Gives Employment

More than 565 people have secured employment through the Washington Urban League, an interracially directed organization working in Washington, D. C., since last April. The league was established in 1938, and operates with the benefit of the best leadership of both races. The improvement of welfare, health, and housing services is also part of its program.

Spastic Children's Foundation Meets

Miss Dixie Sturgis gave the last of her series of lectures on Tuesday, when The Spastic Children's Foundation met at 1528 N. Wilton place.

This lecture was entitled, "The Greatest Gift to You—Your Personality." These lectures have been of great interest to parents whose problem is different from most others.

Mr. N. A. Jensen, president; L. N. Block, publicity chairman.

Additional applications for oil drilling districts in Los Angeles will not be considered by the City Planning commission until it has been demonstrated beyond doubt that drilling in the Boyle Heights area can be conducted without detrimental effect to the city, the commission said yesterday.

'Urban League Reports' Over KRKD Praised By Listeners

The Urban League radio program, "Urban League Reports," presented every Tuesday at 2 p.m. as a public service of radio station KRKD, has been the subject of much favorable comment in the last few weeks, judging from the letters received from its listeners.

The idea behind the show is the belief of the Urban League that a clearer understanding and a greater mutual recognition of the present and potential abilities of all individuals will help to make our community a better one. Many individuals each day are doing things that would bring about that clearer understanding, but whose efforts are virtually unknown to the community in general and to the city as a whole. Realizing this fact, the league has tried to those individuals, the lesser dramatize the life stories of knowns, that are contributing to make our community a better one.

The path to success isn't always a smooth one, sometimes there are many hills and detours, and those who have started up this path know that it takes a strong determination and plenty of hard work. In presenting the stories of these individuals, the league has kept this in mind, hoping that those who are listening and anticipate stopping into some venture of their own, should realize that it isn't always color of race that presents the bigger barrier, but oftimes it is lack of preparedness, and by the same token, those who labor under the illusion that Negroes aren't prepared can hear for themselves that the Negro will go to great lengths to prepare himself for his chosen field.

The dramatizations are taken from real life, either from the files of the Urban League, or from some factual letter written in by a listener. The stories are adapted for radio by Roy J. Evans. Don Selten and Bob Wolfe, students in radio production at Los Angeles City college, act as announcer and narrator, respectively. Edith Daniels, Lorene Fields, Chase Edmonds, Horace Alexander and Urban Pollard are the cast. William M. Jones, industrial relations secretary, is in charge of the entire production.

The program slated for Tuesday, Dec. 9, is being dedicated to the "Bill of Rights," in an effort to educate the people as to what the "Bill" stands for and what it means to them. We urge each and every one to turn their dial to 1150, station KRKD, and listen when "Urban League Reports," the "Bill of Rights."

NAACP Annual Membership Drive Closes

Tuesday was the official closing day of the 1947 Annual Membership drive of the Los Angeles Branch of the NAACP. Thomas L. Griffiths Jr., president of the local branch, in announcing the official termination of the drive, stated that he urged all volunteer workers who helped make the drive a success to turn in any unreported memberships to the Association's office at 4272 S. Central ave. The place, date and program of the public meeting, which usually serves as a wind-up to the drive, will be released later.

Membership in the Association is always opened to the public and can be obtained by applying to the branch office.

Annual Father and Son Banquet To Be Held at Jefferson High Friday

INTER-RACIAL CLINIC IN DRIVE—An estimated 3000 treatments monthly, regardless of race, color or creed, are given children at Mt. Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center, which opened a $2,100,000 solicitation campaign this week. Mrs. Leo Phillips, president of Cheerful Helpers for Handicapped Children, is shown with nurse Bess Potter, innoculating William Thomas Madison, 8, and Hymie Cohen, 12.

Over 150 Y.M.C.A. boys and their fathers will gather on Friday evening December 5 at Jefferson High School for fun and fellowship at the forty-first annual Father and Son Banquet. A big array of stunts, music and speakers have been arranged for entertaining the group.

Headlining the program are Jackie Robinson, Bill Robinson, Dr. Paul Fisher, Leon Washington, Floyd Covington Sr., Floyd Covington Jr., Marjorie Day, the Lightsy brothers, Mrs. Dixon and son, Royal Sutton, Henderson Pratt and others.

The affair is sponsored for the second straight year by the Dining Car Employes Local 582. This organization will furnish and prepare 100 pounds of turkey and trimmings for the banquet, along with their top chefs to do the cooking.

Much credit should be given to Claude McGuinn for his untiring efforts on behalf of Local 582 in making the banquet possible.

One of the outstanding features of the get-together will be the broadcast of the Louis-Wolcott championship fight over the "Y" public address system.

FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE—A new insignia—a Red Feather Badge—will be awarded to Boy and Girl Scouts in the metropolitan area for community service. Pictured above is Dean Smidderks, Troop 335, getting his badge from Mrs. Maynard J. Toll, member of the Community Chest's Campaign Advisory Committee. Looking on is Georgetta McClure, Troop 563.

The SCOUTING TRAIL

A SCOUT IS: TRUSTWORTHY, LOYAL, HELPFUL, FRIENDLY, COURTEOUS, KIND, OBEDIENT, CHEERFUL, THRIFTY, BRAVE, CLEAN, REVERENT.

Troop 748 sponsored by the Masonic Lodge elected their new officers for the year. Roland Exum, Junior Assistant Scoutmaster; Paul Murray, Senior Patrol Leader; James Hardaway, Scribe; Richard Drew, Quartermaster; Ernest Hall, Bugler. The Scoutmaster of this fine Troop is Frank Jones.

Cub Pack 388-c had an enjoyable hike at Griffith Park. Twenty-four Cubs participated on the hike. Miss Tommie Sparks, Den Mother, and Mr. Charles Corley, Cub Master, accompanied the Cubs.

The Bimini Swim Gym is now opened to all Scouts regardless of race, color and creed on Monday evenings. Scouts may participate at a reduced price, 25c admission plus 13c federal tax. Suits and towels will be available for rental, for anyone not bringing their own. Scouts may pass Merit Badge tests under Red Cross certified instructors. They may receive instructions in swimming, water safety, canoeing, and boating, and if found advisable swim meets will be conducted. Scouts can come as individuals or as a group. Scout Leaders accompanying their Units may swim for the same admission fee. The pool is open each Monday evening for Scouts only from 6:00 p.m. to 9:45 p.m.

RIDING INSTRUCTIONS SPECIAL

DuBrock's Riding Academy Inc. will endeavor to carry out a program of horsemanship and classes for the Scout Troops and Senior Units of the Los Angeles Area Council. To become a horseman entails more than the ability to ride a horse. A true horseman knows how to care for his horse and equipment, how to saddle and bridle his horse, has a general knowledge of horses (such as types and breeds, colors and markings), and knows the rules of horsemanship. Anyone can be a passenger on a horse, but we will endeavor to teach the Boy Scouts to become horsemen. At various times arrangements will be made to have a large animal specialist deliver lectures on animal husbandry. Class lessons will be given in the closed ring until our instructors feel that you are sufficiently capable to take to the bridle trails—then continue to follow his instructions and become a real rider. It is a pleasure that is well worthwhile, to say nothing of the benefit derived from this healthy outdoor sport. The Scoutmasters accompanying these groups will be given homes gratis. Remember, our Boy Scouts today have a big task ahead of them as adults, tomorrow. Let's help them to meet this task with strong bodies, clear minds, good morale, courage, efficiency and true sportsmanship. Riding will help develop all these qualities.

To take advantage of this instruction the Scoutmasters or Senior Leaders will enroll a Unit or part of a Unit which will be accompanied at each lesson by a registered Scouter. The registered Scouter will receive his horse and instructions free. Units may register for any of the following lessons: Week-day classes start at 3:30 p.m., and 5:00 p.m. Thursday and Friday classes start at 3:30 p.m., and 5:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. Saturday classes start at 8:00 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. Sunday classes start at 7:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. The riding academy will make arrangements to loan horses to qualified troops for parade purposes at no charge provided these troops have participated in the course and the Scouts are competent horsemen.

Pack 129's Open House was held at Wadsworth st. school. The Opening Ceremonies were conducted by Bobby Lee who led the Cub Law, the Cub Promise, and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Den 2 put on a skit and song interpretation of Wagon Wheels. Den 3 dramatized Home on the Range. Several piano solos were presented by the girls from Mrs. B. Albrittion's School of Music. The Cubs then participated in a number of games. At this point the Boy Scouts of Troop 129 took over and gave their interpretation of Feudin' and Fighting. The meeting was closed by the Scouts giving their Scout Oath and singing Taps. Joseph A. Hines acted as Ranger, the Top Hands were Mrs. Gravely, Mrs. Chavez, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. B. Nance, assisted by a number of Boy Scouts who acted as Top Hands.

All Cub Masters and Den Mothers from McKinley District will meet Monday, December 8, 1947, 7:30 p.m. at the Wadsworth st. school.

The McKinley district meeting will be held at Wadsworth st. school on Thursday, December 11, 1947 at 7:30 p.m.

All Scouts planning to go to Winter Camp must have their reservations in to the Scout office by January 16, 1948. The total cost for Winter Snow Camp is $6.00.

"Tall, Dark Stranger" has been selected by RKO Radio as the final release title for the production filmed as "Rachel."

Avalon Center Will Present Jackie Robinson On Dec. 12

In celebration of its Tenth Anniversary of service to the community, the Avalon Center is bringing to its membership and friends Jackie Robinson, the "rookie of the year," as guest speaker. Madi Norman, dramatic actress, will appear in song. The event is the Annual Dinner of the Avalon Center to be held Friday, December 12 in the Recreation Hall of the Center.

Avalon Center, since its inception ten years ago, has played a major role in the prevention of juvenile delinquency in the Avalon Central Area.

The Center is a "red feather agency" specializing in group work for youth and adults. Those who would join in this 10th Anniversary celebration must take reservation early . . . before December 10.

Student Meet Closes Friday

Forty foreign-born students attending universities and colleges in and about Los Angeles will wind up a week-long "International Student Program Experiment" this Friday, December 5, at the Los Angeles chapter of the Red Cross headquarters, 1200 S. Vermont ave.

The program, sponsored by the local Red Cross chapter, was organized to provide a means of exchanging student ideas and to learn more about America. It was the first project of its kind i nthe United States. Twenty-six countries wer erepresented.

The 1948 Red Cross fund drive will be staged during March. Edwin L. Harbach, prominent banker, will head the campaign.

Cadets May Resume Flight Instruction

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Wartime qualified aviation cadets whose training ended by the curtailment of the flight training program in 1944, may now resume their flying instructions with the United States Air Force. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Christian Fellowship. Lesson Text and Outline 3 John. Motto Text 3 John 11.

Introduction

In the third epistle of John, which urges hospitality to the gospel and its messengers, we have a picture of Christian fellowship in the churches near the close of the apostolic era.

Comments

1. The salutation or greeting, containing a prayer, introduced by an affectionate compellation. Beloved, thou beloved one in Christ. The minister who would gain love must show it himself. The apostle's good opinion of his friend, that his soul prosperity, the greatest blessing on this side of heaven. This supposes regeneration, and an inward fund of spiritual life; this stock is increasing, and, while spiritual treasures are advancing, the soul is in a fair way to the kingdom of glory. The testimony or thing testified concerning Gaius, the truth that was in him, the reality of his faith, the sincerity of his religion, and his devotedness to God; and this evinced by his charity, which includes his love to the brethren, kindness to the poor, hospitality to Christian strangers, and readiness to accommodate them for the service of the gospel. Faith should work by love; it gives a lustre in and by the offices of love, and induces others to commend its integrity. A good report is due from those who have received good; though a good name is but a small reward for costly service, yet it is better than precious ointment, and will not be refused by the ingenuous and religious. Such faithful souls can hear their own praises without being puffed up; the commendation of what is good in us is designed, not for our pride, but for our encouragement to continue therein, and should be accordingly improved. The best evidence of our having the truth is our walking in the truth. Good men will greatly rejoice in the soul-prosperity of others; and they are glad to hear of the grace and goodness of others. They glorified God in me. Love envieth not, but rejoiceth in the good name of other folks. As it is joy to good parents, it will be joy to good ministers, to see their children evidence their sincerity in religion, and adorn their profession.

2. There are those who are not called to preach the gospel themselves who may yet contribute to the progress of it. The gospel should be made without charge to those to whom it is first preached. Those who know it not cannot be expected to value it; churches and Christian patriots ought to concur to support the propagation of holy religion in the pagan countries; public spirits should concur according to their several capacities; those who are freely communicative of Christ's gospel should be assisted by those who are communicative of their purses. Ministers may sometimes be out-shone, out-done. In reference to this minister, we see, His name—a Gentile: Diotrephes, attended with an unchristian spirit. His temper and spirit-full of pride and ambition: He loves to have the pre-eminence. This ferment sprang and wrought betimes. It is an ill unbeseeming character of Christ's ministers to love pre-eminence, to affect presidency and precedency in the church of God. A gospel church seems to be such a society as to which a letter may be written and communicated. Gospel churches may well expect and be allowed credentials with strangers who desire to be admitted among them. The apostle seems to write by and with these brethren. To an ambitious aspiring spirit apostolcal authority or epistle signifies but little. The pastor is not at absolute liberty, nor lord over God's heritage. It is bad to do no good ourselves; but it is worse to hinder those who would. Church-power and church-censures are often abused. Many are cast out of the church who should be received there with satisfaction and welcome. But woe to those who cast out the brethren whom the Lord Christ will take into his own communion and kingdom!

3. Few are well spoken of by all; and sometimes it is ill to be so. But universal integrity and goodness are the way to (and some obtain) universal applause. Some have a good report, but not of the truth itself. Happy are those whose spirit and conduct commend them before God and men. Confirmed by the apostle's and his friend's testimony: Yea, and we also bear recors; and that with an appeal to Gaius's own knowledge: And you (you and your friends) know that our record is true. Probably this Demetrius was known to the church where the apostle now resided, and to that where Gaius was. It is good to be well known, or known for good. We must be ready to bear our testimony to those who are good: it is a debt to virtue and goodness. It is well for those who are commended when those who commend them con appeal to the consciences of those who know them most. Many things may be more proper for immediate communication than for letter. A little conference may spare the time, trouble, and charge, of many letters; and good Christians may well be glad to see one another. The benediction: Peace be to you; all felicity attend you. Those that are good and happy themselves wish others so too. The public salutation sent to Gaius: Our friends salute thee. Friend to the propagation of religion deserves a common remembrance. And these pious persons show their friendship to religion as well as to Gaius. The apostle's particular salutation of the Christians in Gauis's church or vicinity: Greet the friends by name. I doubt they were not very many who must be so personally saluted. But we must learn humility as well as love. The lowest in the church of Christ should be greeted. And these may well salute and greet one another on earth who hope to live together in heaven. And the apostle who had lain in Christ's bosom lays Christ's friends in his heart.

Imitate not such unchristian pernicious evil; but pursue the contrary good, in wisdom, purity, peace, and love. Caution and counsel are not needless to those who are good already. Those cautions and counsels are most likely to be accepted that are seasoned with love. Beloved, follow not that which is evil. To this caution and counsel a reason is respectively subjoined. To the counsel: Follow that which is good; for he that doeth good (naturally and genuinely doeth good, as delighting therein) is of God, is born of God. The practice of goodness is the evidence of our filial happy relation to God. To the caution: Follow not that which is evil, for he that doeth evil (with bent of mind pursues it) hath not seen God, is not duly sensible of his holy nature and will. Evil-workers vainly pretend or boast an acquaintance with God.

Ind. Missionary Baptist Ass'n. Holds Meeting

The Independent Missionary Baptist Association of Southern California held its first quarterly board meeting at Union Baptist church Nov. 18 through Nov. 21. Rev. H. C. Charity is minister. The meeting was well attended.

One church joined the association through its pastor, Rev. L. Johnson. Vacant offices were filled and Dr. L. B. Moss, president of the California State Baptist Convention, who resides in Riverside, California, brought the message Friday night. Rev. A. J. Johnson joined as a minister.

Pre-Xmas Services Begin At Carver Memorial Sun.

The Rev. Dr. Marshall, minister of the Carver Memorial Community A.M.E. Zion church, 21st at Griffith, will begin a pre-Christmas series of sermons on Sunday at 11 a.m.

These sermons will be upon the general subject: "What Christians Believe." The first sermon of the series, on Sunday, will be "A Voice in the Wilderness." Dr. Marshal is one of Los Angeles', outstanding Christian leaders, and is certain to give much religious insight as to the basis for our Christian beliefs and concepts. Holy communion will be administered at both the 11 a.m. and the 7:30 p.m. services.

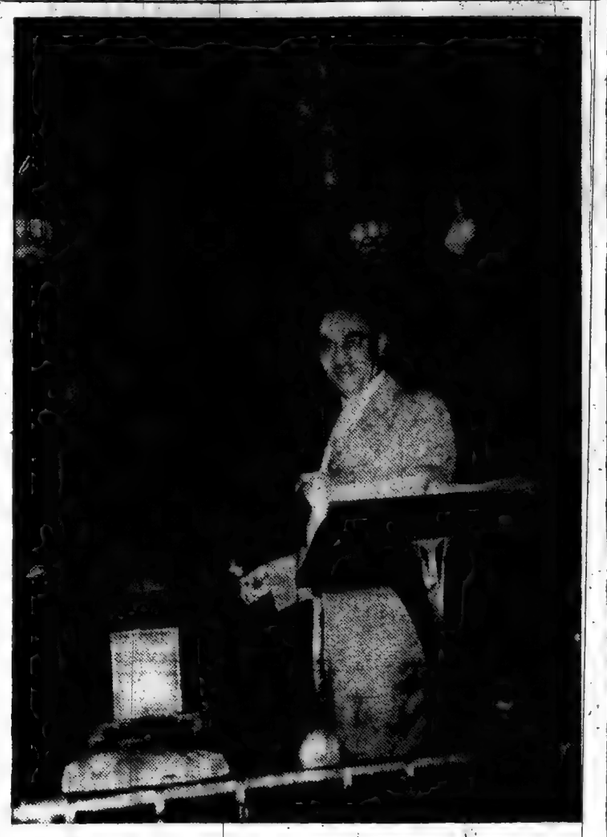
Special music leading up to its annual Christmas cantata will be given by the choir under the direction of Mrs. I. Prince.

You are invited to worship at Carver Memorial A.M.E. church. Newcomers are always welcomed by the minister and the members.

The Hatter-Williams Community Chorus—that fine group of singers, with their varied type program, their unique styling, inspiring and soul-filling interpretation of spiritual and gospel songs—will be heard in Masonic Hall, 1050 East 50th street at 8 p.m. Wednesday, December 17.

The "Acapello Female Octette," "Mount Moriah's Male Ensemble," Rev. Earl A. Pleasant, tenor; Mrs. Myrtle Chatman, dramatic reader; and other special talent will take part in the program.

An added attraction and as a high-lighting feature of the evening will be a one-act play entitled "Are We Dressing?" It is being presented under the direction of Miss Marietta Canty, popular and well-known movie celebrity. Miss Canty is a veteran of the stage and screen. One of the pictures in which she has played recently is "Dear Ruth." She has worked untiringly to make this play a masterpiece.



Patron tickets are on sale at $1.00 each. General admission, $.75. For further information call R. Lemuel Hatter, EDams 34410.

The committee sponsoring Retarded Children's programs will meet Friday, December 5, 7 p.m., at 2633 Ellendale avenue, 2 blocks east of Vermont at Adams blvd. The speaker will be an eminent psychiatrist. There will be a general discussion of the need for an accredited non-segregated school. The public is invited. For further information call AD. 18307.

Goodwill Panel Slated Sunday

An interracial goodwill panel discussion on "Stereotyping of Minority Groups" will be held in the main auditorium of Phillips Temple, 971 East 43rd street, at 5:00 p.m. Sunday, December 7. The problems discussed will deal with stereotyped radio, stage and screen programs featuring Jews, Mexicans, Negroes, Oakies, etc.

Speakers will be: Joe Golden, executive of the Southland Jewish Organization; R. Carmona, of the Los Angeles Times Boy's Club; C. Hargroves, of the stage and screen; and E. Chamberlain, erecutive of the Clifton Cafeterias. The Epworth League of Rev. Lane C. Cleaves' church will be in charge of the program.

RECORDS SINGING SERMONS—Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux, famous preacher and radio evangelist, is shown making phonograph records of his singing sermons for the first time in his long career at Washington, D.C. (See story).

All-States Tea Is Termed Success

The most outstanding highlight of the activities of the Second Baptist church for the year 1947, was the All States Tea sponsored by its orginator, Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, for the past nine or ten years as a church benefit. It is held each year on the evening of Thanksgiving. Mrs. Wright adds new features each year and it seemed to have reached its peak this year. Each Governor and state vied with each other to enhance and depict the beauty of their states as well as add color and attraction to the ebautifully decorated social hall of the church. Hundreds of pamphlets and booklets of the various states were given away to the visitors. Mrs. Wright, as president of those states united, and Rev. G. Wm. Hubert, as vice president, with their cabinet, need commendation for the largest financial report in the history of this effort, generaled by President Wright. Hostesses in the White House where the reception was held, were Mesdames Ida Mae Robertson, Hassie Pierce, S. P. Johnson, Nettie Harries, Lena Hopkins being the First Lady in charge.

Calling representatives of states in review were, Mrs. Velva Henderson, Messrs. Wonderful Smith, William Elkins and Rev. G. Wm. Hubert. Supreme Judge Mrs. H. H. Chiles; judges of the appellate court, Mrs. Florance Carter, Mr. Jones, Mr. Beverly.

A very interesting program with Mrs. Anna G. Morrow in charge was rendered, and moving pictures of the gala affair were made. State Secretary Wilma Burnett was kept busy.

The largest amount of finance was contributed by the following states: First, Texas, Mr. Seth Toney, Governor, reported $667.13; second, Louisiana, Mr. Joseph Sanders, Governor, $344.00; third, Mississippi, Mrs. Anna Mae Jakes, Governor, $138.85; fourth, Mrs. Lucretia Tucker, Governor of Illinois, $128.50; fifth, Mrs. Gertrude Booze, Governor of Alabama, $128.30; sixth, Mrs. V. L. Dunlap, Governor of Arkansas, $103.00. All governors are to be complimented for their financial effort which helped to make the total sum raised $2,109.00.

Prizes for the two best replicas of states were awarded to Alabama, first, and Puerto Rico, second, and honorable mention to Mississippi.

Jernagin Asks Churches Aid In Conservation

William H. Jernagin, director of the National Fraternal Council of Negro churches, in a letter to denominational leaders last week, asked the Negro churches in America to dedicate one Sunday in the near future to urging their congregations to support the conservation program of the President's Citizens Food Committee. He asked the ministers to set aside a "Conserve Food Sunday," to preach a sermon on that subject, to distribute leaflets, to bring the strength of the church in the drive.

Consecration Services Sun. At Tabernacle

The Soul Winning Tabernacle, 1741 E. 108th street, will hold its Consecration Service, Sunday, Dec. 7, at 3 p.m. Dr. J. D. Gordon, the "prince of preachers," will deliver the message in his own inimitable style. His personality is a source of inspiration to all. He has convinced us that he rightly handles the key to divine truth.

We religiously invite you to come and worship with us and enjoy the message from this friend and brother. Our motto: "He that winneth souls is wise." Hattie M. Crooms is the pastor of Soul Winning Tabernacle.

Bishop Wm. Brown To Preach Communion Sermon Sunday

Bishop William C. Brown, presiding bishop of the Seventh Episcopal District of the AME Zion church, will preach the Communion Sermon at the First AME Zion Church, Los Angeles, on the Corner of Pico and Paloma streets, Sunday morning, December 7.

This will be Bishop Brown's first official visit to the First Church since the disastrous explosion of February 20, and the subsequent renewal of the church. Although a resident of Los Angeles, the Bishop also has the California, Missouri and Kentucky conferences in addition to the Southwest Rocky Mountain conference, which covers Southern California. For this reason he has to be out of the city a great deal. However, he and Mrs. Brown have been intensely interested in the repairing of the First Church and have lent their aid and advice. Bishop Brown is one of the foremost speakers in the AME Zion Connection. His sermons show profound thought and a keen insight into world affairs.

Rev. Shepard H. Marion, the pastor, has been recuperating from his strenuous labors in connection with the rebuilding of the church. Through his efforts alone $5000.00 was raised toward the funds necessary for complete repair of the church and he was especially commended at the recent conference for completing this work and leaving the church free of debt.

Church services will begin at 11 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the Senior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Jean Willis Holmes.

Baha'i Services

"Spiritual Laws For This Age" will be the subject of the lecture to be given by Mrs. Robert W. Kenny at Los Angeles headquarters of the Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, December 7, at three o'clock. These teachings were given by Baha'u'llah over seventy years ago and are to be found in his published writings of that time.

McCOY MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH — 802 EAST 46th STREET

Friends: I wonder if you were at Mc-Coy on last Sunday? Well, if you weren't, then you did miss another treat of a lifetime. For the Missionary Society, under the leadership of their great president, Mrs. Marie Anderson, presented one of the most phenomenon programs that has ever been brought to the public by women.

Yes, I can say without a doubt, that this church under its present leadership has a gigantic program to offer to you. For the church is filled with fine talented men and women who know what to do and how to do it.

Here are those who gave their best to help make last Sunday morning's Worship more than a success. Mrs. Ella Louise Moore, Cleona Wartell, Ernest Hill, Roberta Sims, Leola Douglas, Elberto Bruno, and many other fine members and friends. The evening worship was also very inspiring. Now friends, I must remind you about the services for Sunday, Dec. 7th. For it will be a day that you will long remember. Therefore, we are inviting you to come and spend the entire day with us.

Our Sunday School begins at 9:30 and the morning services at 11:00 o'clock sharp, and we are to have one of America's most outstanding ministers to bring the message. The Dr. J. H. Jackson, pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Chicago, Ill.

Then at 7:00 P.M. the B.T.U. is sponsoring an extraordinary fellowship meeting. You are requested to please be present. And I am sure you will want to remain through the evening worship after this meeting has adjourned. This is your invitation, and we are expecting you as our guest.

5000 People Attend Baptist Congress In City

Five thousand young people of the Baptist denomination on the Pacific Coast were present last Friday morning for the opening of the 13th annual Young People's Congress of the Western Baptist State Convention of California.

The Zion Hill Baptist church, at 53rd and McKinley avenue, was the setting for the three-day Congress.

GENERAL CHAIRMAN—Mrs. Vassie D. Wright was general chairman of the annual All-States Tea which was successfully staged at Second Baptist church on Thanksgiving Day. One of the organizers of the tea, Mrs. Wright is highly regarded in church and civic circles.

Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock the doors of the great church auditorium were thrown open for registration. At 11 o'clock this greatest of Youth Congresses is the history of California, swung into action with a stirring message by the Rev. L. A. Felix. The afternoon session consisted of the coordination of nine conference groups led by the Rev. Frank H. James, who set in motion a program for the establishment of a better life for the youth of the nation in the field of Christianity.

The slogan for the convention was: "Youth Adventuring for Christ through Worship."

Turning from the more serious side of the Congress in the evening, the great galaxy of youth, their pastors, Sunday school teachers, parents, and friends were ushered into the banquet hall of Zion Hill, where flag waving, yells, and laughter in quality vied with the food served for supremacy.

It was one jolly occasion, in which Second Baptist Church Superintendent S. P. Johnson was once more in the flaming youth category. His face beamed and his eyes flashed his emotion over the spirit of youth demonstrated by the school he had guided nearly a half century.

Saturday and Sunday in succession the regular conference program consisting of speeches, addresses, songs, and panel discussions, was the order.

It is easy to say the climax was achieved Sunday afternoon in a powerful address delivered by Dr. J. H. Jackson, pastor of Olivet Baptist Church, Chicago. Dr. Jackson is a pulpit orator not easily classified.

The success of this Congress which was certainly a departure from the old routine, and an approach to a new regime in religious affairs, was due to the earnest efforts of Rev. Horace N. Mays, head of Religious Education in the Baptist Churches of California.

Rev. Mays while yet young, is well trained and qualified for the work he is so successfully carrying on.

The young people who are under the guidance of Rev. Mays are learning to live in a better world, instead of merely preparing to die.

Elder Lightfoot Michaux Is Called Real Asset To Race

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Elder Michaux, known simultaneously as the "Happy Am I" Preacher, The Radio Evangelist of America and the Sage Of The Potomac, has a following that numbers in the hundreds of thousands in this country and abroad, and which is steadily increasing.

The elder has become one of America's favorite evangelists through his reputation as a genuine asset to his race and to his followers. Throughout his career, Elder Michaux has maintained homes for the destitute, given free food and clothing to the needy his huge following, maintained a free employment agency responsible for the employment o fthousands, and operated free apartment housesfor evicted families of all races during the depression.

Under the Elder's direction, his congregation purchased and now own the Glebe Farm of 1000 acres at Williamsburg, Virginia that was given to support the first church ever established in America at Jamestown, Va. This is where the first Negro slaves landed in 619. The Elder has turned this farm, located on the historic James River, into a Memorial Park to immortalize Negro leadership that blazed the trail of the Negro race up from slavery in America. The colored people of America now own and play upon the land where they once were slaves, and under the Elder's leadership they sing, "Happy Am I with my Redeemer."

This kindly and genial preacher is one of the world's best loved religious leaders. His sermons present his religion in spectacular and impressive manner, and his epigrams are famous the world over . . . a typical example: "Dont trouble Trouble 'til Trouble troubles you."

Father Caution Preaches Sun. At St. Philip

Father Moore, rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church, announced recently that the Rev. Tollie L. Caution of New York, will be a guest at St. Philip on Sunday, December 14. The church is located at 801 E. 28th st.

Father Caution, executive secretary at Episcopal headquarters, is making a tour of the Pacific Coast. A graduate of Lincoln University of Pennsylvania (which also conferred upon him the honorary degree Doctor of Divinity), the University of Pennsylvania, and the Philadelphia Episcopal Divinity School, he was appointed to his present position in 1945 to succeed Dr. Bravid Harris, who had been elected Bishop of Liberia.

Arriving by plane Thursday, Father Caution will preach at the a.m. services Sunday.

2nd Anniversary Of Fellowship Church Scheduled Dec. 8

The second anniversary dinner of the Church of Christian Fellowship will be held at the First Methodist church, 8th and Hope sts., 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 8.

Features of the program: service for the dinner provided by a group of young married people of First Methodist; Mrs. Josephine Cooper presenting a group of Negro art songs; Dr. Dunning association pastor at First Methodist, giving the address of welcome; Dr. Margery Freeman, professor of religion at Occidental College, main address, and Jackie Robinson, guest of honor.

Another part of the anniversary celebration is the Community Day Saturday afternoon and opening the ceramics exhibit at the church, 3125 W. Adams blvd.

Rev. S. A. Kelly Will Open New Church Sunday

The opening of the Gethsemane Baptist church under the Rev. Slyvester A. Kelly, will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday, December 7, at La Veda Hall, 249 E. Vernon avenue.

Rev. Kelly was the former pastor of the Second Baptist church, Redlands, Calif. He received his training at U.S.C., U.C.L.A., and the University of Redlands, where he majored in philosophy. He is now attending the California Baptist Theological seminary.

The Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, minister of the Second Baptist church, and his congregation will attend the opening services.

All are invited at worship with the Gethsemane Baptist church on this memorable occasion.

Councilman Hahn Men's Day Speaker

Councilman Kenneth Hahn will be the principal speaker at the Men's Day program at the Avalon Christian church, 43rd and Avalon blvd., on next Sunday, December 7, at 11:00 a.m. Councilman Hahn is one of the newer members of our city council and from many reports received it appears that he is open-minded and is a supporter of progressive legislation that will promote the welfare of our community and city. There will be special music by Emile Williams at the organ. The Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke is the minister of the church.

The public is cordially invited to attend this program.

Reading serves for delight, for ornament, for ability. The crafty condemn it; the simple admire it; the wise use it.

Ministers Wives Council In Fellowship Meet Last Week

The Interdenominational Ministers Wives council held their Interracial Fellowship meeting with an open house last Wednesday afternoon at the Los Angeles Friendship Home, 812 East 28th st.

The program committee with Mrs. Luvoile Williams as chairman, presented a very outstanding and interesting program. The members and guests were filled with "Thanks to God" as they sang "Count Your Blessings," short takls on various topics were discussed by the following: Rev. Seido Ogawa, Fellowsrip," Mrs. Edward Tanos "Syrian Customes," and Mrs. H. Dozier "Racial Friendship." Beautiful vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Irma Allen, Willie Bell Patton, and Codye Peters.

Delicious refreshments were served by the social committee.

The next meeting which will be the Installation of the newly elected officers, will be in the home of Mrs. Gertrude Brown, 527 East Jefferson, blvd., Wednesday, December 10.

Mrs. Roberts Walkins is president and Mrs. Leola Douglas, acting reporter.

Olivet Baptist Honors Pastor

Commemorating five years of Progressive Christian Leadership, the members of Olivet Baptist church are honoring their pastor, Rev. W. R. Hutchinson, with 21 days of special services and up to Dec. 14.

Rev. Hutchinson was awarded an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity by the Providence Baptist Seminary as being one of the community's outstanding ministers in 1946. Many prominent clergymen and civic figures are among those paying homage to the minister.

The beginning of the anniversary services marked the close of a banner year for Olivet. On Sunday, Nov. 22, a total of $2400 was turned over to the building committee to augment the present funds and further the plans for the building of a church and community center in the early Spring of 1948.

Mrs. Whittaker was elected queen for the coming year, having raised $421.83. A coronation service and banquet is being planned by the Olivet matrons for January 9.

Rev. L. Graves Is Chosen Delegate To Conference

HOUSTON, Texas—Rev. Leonard C. Graves, pastor of Brown Chapel, was elected unanimously as delegate to the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church, at the 81st session of the Texas annual conference of the A.M.E. church held here recently.

Rev. Graves has served in the ministry for 30 years. He assumed the pastorate of Brown Chapel 10 years ago.

Rev. Morris On Speaking Tour

The Rev. Dr. Charles Satchell Morris left this week for a transcontinental preaching and speaking tour, the sixth during the eight years he has resided in California. He will speak in San Diego, Phoenix, Tucson, Houston, Texas; at the Florida A. and M. college; Miami, Tampa, Jacksonville, and then return via Georgia, South Carolina, Washington, New Ybrk, Minneapolis, Denver and Cheyenne.

PEOPLE'S FUNERAL HOME BUYS NEW CHRYSLER FLEET

CONTINUING ITS ESTABLISHED POLICY of providing its patrons with the most modern conveniences in every department of the business, People's Funeral Home, "your friendly institution," located at 4250 South Central Avenue, has purchased the complete fleet of eight new passenger Chrysler sedans seen above. This makes the transportation service of People's the most complete in every detail of funeral arrangement. Operated by skillful drivers, the service includes a luxurious car at the family's disposal from the first call throughout the period of bereavement. A car is furnished to pick up the family for the first plans; to take them to the cemetery to select the grave; to bring them to the chapel to view the remains and to look after insurance matters or any other business connected with the final service. If the remains are to be shipped, transportation is furnished to the station or airport; or, if a body is shipped into Los Angeles, the People's Funeral Home will provide the family with a car to meet the remains at the station and escort it to the Home. Relatives arriving from out of town will also be met by one of the People's cars and taken to their destination. With this new addition to the friendly service of People's Funeral Home, every transportation problem of the family is solved during the time of bereavement.

urvey Reveals Minor Gains Field of Race Relations

NEW YORK—Although state legislatures this past r were presented with numerous bills to correct abuses the field of race relations and to assure equality for all ople without discrimination, very few laws were in- ed, a Commission on Law and Social Action of the erican Jewish Congress sur- reported yesterday. Rural fination of state ligislatures in handicapped the achieve- t of ends which seemed re- e to main legislators and of immediate concern to their stituents.

"The result has been that roughout the nation less w tax laws in this field ve been enacted to date," clared Will Maslow, Com- ission director.

he survey shows that in ansas the legislature un- nously repealed a 1945 law viding state and federal pri- ties for whites and Negroes. mpensating for the gain, how- r, Georgia by a vote 133 to repealed its primary laws in effort to continue the dis- nchisement of Negro citizens to circumvent the supreme rt's decision outlawing the hite primary."

A similar intent led the Mis- sippi legislature to enact a ovision whereby a person ay be required to subscribe a statement of principles a political party before per- itted to vote in a primary. he Mississippi Democratic rty has already adopted a atement which includes op- sition to a Fair Employ- nt Practices Commission, d anti-poll tax legislation.

n employment, the survey re- ls, that some forward steps e taken. Connecticut enacted Fair Employment Practices nmission law, similar to that New York, New Jersey and ssachusetts. In Massachusetts effort to repeal the State PC law was defeated by a e of 113 to 17. Illinois enacted aw to establish a Governor's rracial Commission to in- tigate opportunities in em- ployment and to cooperate with organizations in the promotion of tolerance and goodwill.

In Indiana, a law was passed making it unlawful to "conspire, organize or associate for the purpose of spreading malicious hatred by reason of race, color or religion against any person not alien enemies of the United States." Penalties included disfranchisement, barring from public office, fine and imprisonment.

In the field of housing and accommodation, the survey points out that Minnesota repealed its redevelopment law passed in 194 and enacted a new one which contained prohibition against discrimination in the selection of tenants.

In Utah the alien land law directed agair-t ownership of land by Japanese-Americans was repealed.

In California a law permitting segregation of Orientals in public schools was repealed.

"On the whole the results achieved in state legislatures have been meager. Not until early in 1949, when the bulk of the legislature will again convene, will an opportunity be presented for an intensive drive for state laws," Maslow said.

Navy Chapel Contract Given

A Navy chapel building on Terminal Island was awarded to Temple Sholom, which is planning to build as soon as possible at Hoover street and Manchester blvd. The award was made by Rear Adm. W. N. Thomas, navy chief of chaplains. There were more than 20 applications for the building, priced at $540.

To Secure These Rights

years toward stamping out these evils.

In various localities, scattered throughout the country, unprofessional or undisciplined police, while avoiding brutality, fail to recognize and to safeguard the civil rights of the citizenry. Insensitive to the necessary limits of police authority, untrained officers frequently overstep the bounds of their proper duties. At times this appears in unwarranted arrests, unduly prolonged detention before arraignment, and abuse of the search and seizure power. Cases involving these breaches of civil rights constantly come before the courts. The frequency with which such cases arise is proof that improper police conduct is still widespread, for it must be assumed that there are many instances of the abuse of police power which do not reach the courts. Most of the victims of such abuses are ignorant, friendless persons, unaware of their rights, and without the means of challenging those who have violated those rights.

Where lawless police forces exist, their activities may impair the civil rights of any citizen. In one place the brunt of illegal police activity may fall on suspected vagrants, in another on union organizers, and in another on unpopular racial or religious minorities, such as Negroes, Mexicans, or Jehovah's Witnesses. But wherever unfettered police lawlessness exists, civil rights may be vulnerable to the prejudices of the region or of dominant local groups, and to the caprice of individual policemen. Unpopular, weak, or defenseless groups are most apt to suffer. (Emphasis ours —Editor).

Considerable evidence in the files of the Department of Justice supports this assertion. For example, in one case in 1945 a group of white juvenile offenders made an abortive effort to escape from a midwestern prison. The attempt was quickly and fairly easily subdued. In the course of the attempt a trusty was injured. The prison officials, after rounding up the boys, allowed other trustees to vent their anger at the injury to their comrade by physically attacking the defenseless prisoners. After this had occurred the boys were then severely beaten, one by one, by the prison officials.

Much of the illegal official action which has been brought to the attention of the Committee is centered in the South. There is evidence of lawless police action against whites and Negroes alike, but the dominant pattern is that of race prejudice. J. Edgar Hoover referred, in his testimony before the Committee, to a particular jail where "it was seldom that a Negro man or woman was incarcerated who was not given a severe beating, which started off with a pistol whipping and ended with a rubber hose."

The files of the Department abound with evidence of illegal official action in southern states. In one case, the victim was arrested on a charge of stealing a tire, taken to the courthouse, beaten by three officers with a blackjack until his head was a bloody pulp, and then dragged unconscious through the streets to the jail where he was thrown, dying, onto the floor.

In another case, a constable arrested a Negro, against whom he bore a personal grudge, beat him brutally with a bullwhip and then forced his victim, in spite of his protestations of being unable to swim, to jump into a river where he was drowned.

In a third case, there was evidence that officers arrested a Negro maid on a charge of stealing jewelry from her employer, took her to jail and whipped her in an unsuccessful effort to extort a confession. All of these cases occurred within the last five years.

There are other cases in the files of the Department of Justice of officers who seem to be "trigger-happy" when weak or poor persons are concerned. In a number of instances, Negroes have been shot, supposedly in self-defense, under circumstances indicating, at best, unsatisfactory police work in the handling of criminals, and, at worst, a callous willingness to kill.

PRISON MASSACRE

Toward the end of the work of this Committee a particularly shocking instance of this occurred. On July 11, 1947, eight Negro prisoners in the State highway prison camp in Glynn county, Georgia, were killed by their white guards as they allegedly attempted to escape. The Glynn county grand jury exonerated the warden of the camp and four guards of all charges. At later hearings on the highway prison camp system held by the State Board of Corrections, conflicting evidence was presented. But one witness testified that there was no evidence that the prisoners were trying to escape. In any case, he said it was not necessary to use guns on them in the circumstances. "There was no justification for the killing. I saw the Negroes where they fell. Two were killed where they crawled under the bunkhouse and two others as they ran under their cells. The only thing they were trying to escape was death. Only one tried to get over the fence." The warden and four guards were indicted by a federal grand jury on October 1, 1947. (All five were exonerated by a local all-white jury—Editor).

It is difficult to accept at face value police claims in cases of this type that action has been taken against prisoners in "self-defense" or to "prevent escape." Even if these protestations are accepted, the incidence of shooting in the ordinary course of law enforcement in some sections of the country is a serious reflection on these police forces. Other officers in other places seem able to enforce the law and to guard prisoners without resort to violent means.

The total picture—adding the connivance of some police officials in lynchings to their record of brutality against Negroes in other situations—is, in the opinion of this Committee, a serious reflection on American justice. We know that Americans everywhere deplored this violence. We recognize further that there are many law enforcement officers in the South and North who do not commit violent acts against Negroes or other friendless culprits. We are convinced, however, that the incidence of police brutality against Negroes is disturbingly high.

Acting on motion of Supervisor Leonard J. Roach the Board of Supervisors this week adopted a reduced tax rate for the County of $1.4937 for the fiscal year 1947-1948. Roach says this represents a decrease of $.3904 from last year's $1.8841 per $100 assessed valuation.

above-mentioned items. I am speaking, though, of a form of pleasure and joy that has been very evident and very prominent among the younger, and older, generation of Negroes when they attend a big affair. I, of course, am speaking of the drinking of alcoholic beverages.

Gamma XI chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity is not a group of men interested in the return of prohibition. Nothing of the sort. But they are a group of men interested in the betterment of the Negro people in America.

When the formal was scheduled to be held at the Westwood campus, loud cries of "no! not here again," "never will we permit a Negro organization to hold another dance on the campus," came from the administrative officials of UCLA. The trouble seems to have arisen out of the fact that scores and scores of "alcoholic containers" have been found strewn all over the campus and floating in the swimming pool, after Negro organizations have given affairs out in Bruinville.

It was with much talk and much promising and signing of petitions that the administration finally approved the coming Alpha affair. It was approved on one condition, though; that condition was that if ONE SINGLE "bottle" was found on the campus grounds following the affair, NO NEGRO ORGANIZATION WOULD EVER BE ABLE TO HOLD AN AFFAIR OF ANY KIND ON THE UCLA CAMPUS. And they mean just that, too! Please don't get the idea that the university is just being "prejudiced" against Negroes alone. It is a very long roster that hangs in the office of the Organization Control Board that lists the names of the WHITE organizations that have been barred from the campus just because of just such drinking. You must also realize that it is against the state law to have intoxicating beverages on a state university campus. I think that's enough said. Watch those bottles. This means the Lush Chapter of Liquor Phi Psi too!

ALL ALONE WITH MY MEMORIES OF FINNEY

Well, instead of Saturday night being the lonliest night of all, for the students of LACC, Friday night turned out to be quite lonesome too. Of course, I'm talking about that little "play" that was given out at Gilmore Field Friday night; the one called FINNEY'S FOLLIES, or I DID HAVE ONE HAND ON HIM, written and produced and under the direction of that great Hollywoodite, Woodly Lewis. However, seen in the stands trying to forget their loneliness were Evelyn Strickland and Pasadena's Robert "the House of" Morgan, Jimmy Daugherty and Beverly Winston. Oh! Jimmy! Bob Logan and Everett Beize, walking around taking a collection for something. Maybe the Community Chest, White, I mean, Red feather? Berniece "don't you know" Rigard, and her little sister Jackie "I've been going with Wally Miles for one year" Rigard. How long does some guy's luck keep up? Or is it luck?

After the game, as the sad-hearted CC students picked up the broken pieces and staggered back to a place where John Finney wasn't, I noted G. W. "left turn" Washington, the two Romeos Scott Gilbert and Hayward Taylor, "playing it cool," and Sally Jones and Betty Linly with a kitchen knife, trying to do what someone had told them, cut the fog.

Numerous parties that were supposed to be victory celebrations went on after the "big game." Although the boys from out North Vermont way lost, the parties still, as they say in France, "jumped like mad."

Caught glimpses of Connie Maney and "Bobo" Thompson, Wildena Hefflin and that Smith boy Milton, Phyron "gee, compared to him I'm handsome" Taylor, and Faye "I hope she becomes a nurse" Hill, Hayward Thompson and Alesta Carey.

There was also a Turkey Trot given by the Ivy Leafs at which I understand no turkeys were trotting but Carl Wills "Butch" Randall, Shirley Spencer, Phyllis Williams and the rest of the SC and UCLA girls and guys made up for no trotting by friend turkey.

SO PROUDLY I HAIL

In this world of today when many people think only of the frivolous side of life, there are a group of girls out on the City College campus who are really doing a lot for the betterment of mankind. I'm speaking of the Red Cross girls out on the Vermont campus. Eleanor Finlayson and Shirley Janet Williams hold key offices in this organization which is really doing a lot of hard work, and it's time that someone set up and take notice of it. More about this fine organization next week.

THINGS TO COME

Making deadline but reminding you not to forget the following things coming up over the weekend: The Lampado's (Omega Psi Phi pledge club) tea that's coming up this Sunday at 1918 S. Harvard. Things begin to happen around six o'clock, according to the Lampado's. All members of Pilgrim Fellowship who would like to attend the Snow conference that begins Friday night are urged to contact Horace. So long until next week when I'll have more time and space to tell you really WHAT'S HAPPENIN', while Johnny Luciatio Delgardo Jr. wrestles with Uncle Sam's mail trucks.

SHOP BY TRANSITLINER

DRIVING in heavy Christmas traffic is hard on nerves and temper; what's more, it can take all the fun out of Christmas shopping.

But there's really no need to buck the traffic because this year, as in the past, the Los Angeles Transit Lines is offering additional service to accommodate the holiday shopping throngs.

Wherever possible more cars and coaches will be added. On many lines vehicles which ordinarily operate only during normal rush hours will remain in service throughout the day. This means more trips to benefit wise shoppers who travel during the off-peak hours between 10 and 4.

Whether you shop downtown or in your neighborhood you'll find that the Transit Lines offers a convenient, economical means of transportation.

New Dining Car Workers Union Accuses Pennsylvania R.R. of Violating Railway Labor Act

CHICAGO — The Dining Car and Railroad Food Workers Union, a newly-formed organization most of whose membership and all of whose officers are Negroes, this week asked the United States attorney general to "conduct an immediate investigation of the Pennsylvania Railroad, its officers and agents, for wilful and repeated violations of the Railway Labor Act," the enforcement of which rests with the office of the attorney general.

Said the letter to Asistant Attorney General F. X. McGohey: "The Pennsylvania Railroad, in violation of the Railway Labor Act, has attempted to interfere with and deny the right of its dining car employes to organize and bargain collectively through this Union . . . and by collaborating with a rival . . . union, has attempted to . . . coerce its employes in the effort to induce them to join or to remain members of this rival organization, and to discourage and prevent their employes from designating this Union as their representative."

The Union charges that the Pennsylvania Railroad has refused to enter into negotiations regarding the adjustments of employe grievance.

If these violations of the Railway Labor Act are sustained, the guilty officers and agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad are liable to fines from $1000 to 20,000, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both, for each such offense.

The Dining Car Railroad Food Workers Union was organized in an organizing conference in Chicago August 24, 25, 26 of this year. Founders of the Union, which numbers over 3000 members, broke with the Hotel and Restaurant Employes International Alliance, because of the deliberate failure of the Alliance to provide job security, adequate working agreements, protection of seniority, and to recognize Negro railroad workers as an equal and integral part of the labor movement.

Researchers Helped CIO Win $30,000,000 In Pay Gains

The California CIO Council research department helped get CIO workers in this area an increase of $30,000,000 in wages during 1947, the department declared in its annual report, laid before the state CIO executive board at Santa Cruz this week.

Although the bargaining assistance represents only one facet of the department's manydided services to the CIO and to sided services to the CIO and to ted a sum nearly 1000 times as great as the department's total coast of operation for the year.

From counter-propaganda against the NAM's inflationary and union-busting line, through tax and legislative studies to the preparation of data for CIO testimony against public utility rate raises and for housing and rent price control, the research department beckstopped the CIO, Council, its local councils and individual unions in every phase of their operations, the report submitted by director Paul Pinsky and assistant director Sanford Goldner shows

Witch Hunt Aimed at Thought Control Maritime Union Says: In Blast at Congress, Truman

NEW YORK—The red-baiting, witch-hunting policies "initiated and pursued by congress and the Truman Administration" with the aim of establishing "fascist thought-control" in America were sharply criticized in a resolution adopted by the National Council of the National Maritime Union and made public yesterday.

The resolution charged that "under the smokescreen of protecting the nation against so-called red plots to overthrow the government, one basic democratic principle after another is being undermined, in violation of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights." It asserted that "behind the persecution of individuals and minority parties, a large scale attack on the democratic rights of all the American people is already under way."

Four points were cited as proof that it is not the Communist party but "the establishment of fascist though-control over all Americans" that is the "objective" of the current red-baiting hysteria. They are:

"1. The Taft-Hartley Slave Labor Law which interferes with the rights of unions to make their laws, write their constitutions, choose their officers and leaders, protect their gains, and which is aimed at eventual destruction of all trade unions.

"2. The star-chamber proceedings of the House Un-American Committee, which seek to intimidate and gag all democratic forces who oppose the present foreign and domestic policies of our trust-controlled government.

"3. Truman's Executive Order which provides for gestapo investigation and purge of all government employees who at one time or another favored the Roosevelt New Deal policies.

"4. Persecution and arrest of union leaders by the Department of Justice to strip the unions of their fighting strength during crucial battles."

It asserted that "our country is not suffering from any threat of Communism. Communism is not an issue in the United States, nor are our economy, political democracy or civil liberties threatened by agents of the Soviet Union."

"The real threat," it declared, "stems directly from the greed and desire for imperialist world control of American trusts and monopolies. They are determined to depress American living standards, to smash all forms of workers' organizations, and curtail the liberties of the people so that no effective voice can be raised against them.

HOME

The home should be a cheerful atmosphere . . . especially if there are children. Sometimes it is necessary for the parents to draw the children out, let them know they are free to discuss the happenings of the day, and their work at school or play.

Children do not always respond however, therefore it is necessary to set an example. The parents should cultivate the ability to remember exciting events which have occurred during the day, and tell them that evening when the family is gathered together, either at the dinner table or in front of the fireplace. This will encourage the youngsters to do likewise. It will aid their self-expression and help the family to know their friends and innermost thoughts.

Every member of the family should contribute to a happy home life.

R.T.—Dear Prof. Herman: Just a short note to inform you that I am having trouble with my boy friend and would like to have some advice concerning the matter.

Ans. A careful analysis of your question and problem reveals the fact that your friend resents the other boy friends you have and is very jealous. If you had a nice talk with him, and explained that you have many friends, but they are ONLY friends and that he should not resent their attention because no harm is meant, it may help. I would like to help you further, if you will write in for a private reply, I shall be more than glad to do so.

W.L.J.—Does this man love me?

Ans. Probing into the matter I find that this man is living in Chicago, and you are living in Birmingham, Ala., and wondering if he is sincere in his attitude toward you. His letters are very convincing but you still have your doubts. It would be wise to have a talk with him personally before you make any further plans for the future. However, I do vision his being quite fond of you.

E.B.—Will I receive the money I am expecting?

Ans. A careful analysis of your financial condition reveals your having passed thru a cycle of bad luck, but a change is indicated in the near future. You will no doubt get the money you are expecting soon.

O.J.H.—Dear Prof. Herman: Would you please publish my problem in your paper, in hopes that my husband who is missing may read it and answer. I am very ill, cannot move my arms and feel that I shall end it all if I don't get some word from him. His name is "Walter," and was last seen at 4159 Cottage Grove, Chicago Ill. Any information that can be given regarding his present whereabouts would be appreciated.

L.J.—Will we get married soon?

Ans. Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate marriage in the very near future. The young lady will make you a good wife, and happiness shall be yours, look forward to your future.

J.J.—Will I be able to go home for Xmas?

parents are planning to send you the money so that you may go home for the holidays. They realize that you would rather come home than stay at school during this particular time of year.

L.S.—Should I drop some the subjects I am taking college?

Ans. Going to night school a working too makes it a lit difficult to study, perhaps would be wise to not try to ta so many subjects at one tim thus giving yourself time study and rest, for you mu keep good health in order profit by these sacrifices.

ALCOTT AND LOUIS MIX
TITLE FIGHT: WHO THIS GUY CALLED RSEY JOE?
UIS DEFENDS HIS TITLE
R 24TH TIME IN 10
ARS: WHAT MAKES

ell, tomorrow night will be ey Joe Wolcott's big night. It be the night that he has ked, prayed, sweated, and ght for every since he first ped into a boxing ring 19 years ago. Tomorrow night bout 10:15 (EST) Jersey Joe cott, who's real name is old Raymond Cream, will b into the ring at New 's Madison Square Garden ace Joe Louis for the Heavyght championship of the d.

hen he steps into the ring orrow night, Joe Wolcott will obably be about a 20-1 under- to restle the crown that s has so securily worn for ong years. But around New and throughout the East, nervous and foreboding cry upset" can be heard on every etcorner and in every nook crany that the "big fight" is ussed. Oldtimer's are remem- ng that back in 1927, Gene ney was a decided underdog n he came fighting out of rain at Chicago to put the s on the Massau Mauler, Dempsey. The boys along Boulevard too are remem- ng that James J. Braddock also an underdog when he e out of the relief lines and the ropes to send Max Bear he long road to dreamland.

D IS THIS GUY CALLED SEY JOE?"

hen Wolcott steps into the to face Louis, probably the test heavyweight that ever d, he will be without a ot, the least known fighter has ever fought for the yweight crown. Besides the around New Jersey, and the ern seaboard, Wolcott is ually unknown.

olcott, began fighting at the of 17 in his hometown of chanville, New Jersey, a erb of Camden. He was so essful around his hometown he decided to go to Philahia and fight in the "big ." In "Philly," Jack Blackn, later the trainer of Joe is, saw prospects in the ng, bull necked Jersey lad, took him into his boxing le. When he first saw the Blackburn said of him neday he'll be heavyweight mpion."

nder Blackburn, Wolcott be- to show promise. About this e, from out Chicago way, two had discovered a big, like- e, hard punching kid from oit name Joe Louis Barrow. mediately they sent word to kburn to come and train is. Blackburn expected on the dition that young Wolcott be le Louis' stablemate. The men, Julian Black and John borough excepted immedite, but on the day that he was eave with Blackburn to Chio, young Wolcott became sperately ill and couldn't the trip.

or two long months, Jersey was bedridden. When he was lly able to get up and about, ckburn had become so enssed in the training of Louis had forgotten about the kid n Jersey, that he never sent Wolcott to come to Chicago. fter his long illness, came g years of fighting for "coffee cakes" and knocking about eastern seaboard as "just ther Negro fighter" for Joe lcott.

When Joe Louis was training for his fight with Max Schemeling, the call for a good sparring mate was sent out. Wolcott landed the job, and it is here his backers point with pride in the long history of Joe Wolcott. According to reliable newsmen on the scent, Jersey Joe knocked Louis down three or four times, before he was dismissed on the grounds that "he wasnt the type of fighter that Schemeling was."

After fighting "off and on" from 1938 to 1941, Wolcott decided to hang up his gloves to secure a job in a nearby Jersey shipyard where he could earn enough money to support his ever encreasing family (at the present time he has six children.

In 1944, Wolcott decided to return to the ring for a comeback. From that time on, the bolsting man from Jersey has had a very enviable record. He has scored victories over Joe Baksi Curtis (hatchet man) Sheppard, Jimmy Bivins, Lee Oma, Tommy Gomez, and lately over Joey Maxium.

Thats the story of this guy called Jersey Joe, who'll get his Big Break tomorrow night against the Brown Bomber from Detroit.

JOE LOUIS THE GREATEST HEAVYWEIGHT OF ALL TIMES

What can be said about Joe Louis that has not already been said? He is without a doubt, the greatest fighting machine that man has ever produced. He is not only a credit to his profession, but above all and at all times, a credit to the race he represents.

WHAT MAKES JOE LOUIS CLICK?

Every since he came off the streets of Detroit to set the fighting world on fire, the question of "what makes this guy Louis great?" has been asked by millions of fight fans everywhere. Now first of all, to understand Joe Louis you must realize that he's a natural born fighter! He's had to be a fighter to survive. Born in one of the poorest sections of the already poor state of Alabama, and raised in the "Paradise Valley" section of Detroit, which is far from being anywhere near Paradise, Joe Louis had to fight for everything he has wanted. And then, you must realize that Joe Louis is a killer! He's a killer just as sure as if he had a spear and roamed the jungles of Africa as his ancestors did hundreds of years ago. Above all, Louis has everything a fighter should have. He has a Sunday punch in either hand, he can take it as well as dish it out, and he is probably the greatest counter puncher that ever lived.

LOUIS IN THE 5th

This is the man that eJrsey Joe Wolcott wil try to dethrone, and from here, although he has been highly touted and the reports from his training camp say that he is in the best possible physicial form, it looks as though Louis will catch up with the Jersey one along about number five, and send him on the woozy road to queer street; the street lined with 23 other guys who thought they could take the measure of Louis.

"Major, The Dog With The Human Mind", will lead the wolf pack which has been assembled at Kanab, Utah, for scenes in 20th Century-Fox's motion picture, "Green Grass Of Wyoming."

George Murphy, starring in M-G-M's "Cynthia" with Elizabeth Taylor, S. Z. Sackall and Mary Astor, once danced without pay in a Chinese restaurant just for practice.

Van Heflin, starring with Lana Turner, Donna Reed and Richard Hart in "Green Dolphin Street," was once a free lance radio artist, appeared in 1200 odd programs. He once played the lead in the favorite of the 1930's, "Betty and Bob."

William Powell and Myrna Loy celebrated their thirteenth film together in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Song of the Thin Man."

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Last Sunday jockey Johnny Longden flew down from Bay Meadows to accept several mounts and took the lead for the American riding honors of the season, passing jockey Steve Brooks by two wins. Longden scored on three of his mounts at the border course last Sunday.

In the feature attraction, "The Dia De La Revolucion," "Beepoo" staged an upset in winning over the hot favorite "Cadmiun," who finished out of the money. "Justic H." was second while "Saltese Strom" finished third. The winner paid $14.40 for two. The two-year-old feature was won by "Moon Eyes." She paid $11.20.

Only three favored horses were able to reach Judge eGorge Shilling's charmed circle. The daily-double combination of "Shasta Eddy," winner of the second, and "Larry S.," victor of the third, paid $99, while the Quiniela with "Likefather" who finished first and "Pima Chieftain," second rewarded $11. Shasta Eddy was the longest price winner of the day, paying in the mutuels $26. The shortest price winner was "Certie," victor in the first race, paying $3 for two.

ANOTHER BOWL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Another "bowl" was added to the ever increasing list of post season football games today, when it was announced that the Green Wave of Wilberforce University of Ohio, and the Panthers of Prairie View College of Texas would meet in the first annual Fruit Bowl game at Kezar Stadium on December 14th.

Prairie View has won 5 and lost 2 games this season, while Wilberforce is unbeaten.

PREP STAR TO U.C.L.A.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Ollie Mattson, 18 year old 170 pound All-City halfback from Polytechnic High school here, announced today that he would probably enter the University of California at Los Angeles after his graduation in June.

FRESHMAN FIND

WESTWOOD, Dec. 4. — Hugho Hill, prep basketball sensation at Manual Arts high school in the early 40's and wartime ace on San Diego Navy's basketball team, was being heralded today for his fine play in the Bruin Frosh's series over the week end with the Loyola university yearling club. Hill was especially effective on "stealing" the ball away from the opposition.

SUNNYBOYS GRAB TITLE

With little Charlie Johnson pouring "T," Al Jolson's Sunnyboys clinched the Kid Football Championship of Los Angeles, when they turned "the heat on" Bob Hope's Junior Dons, 7-0, before 45,000 fans Thursday afternoon between halves of the Los Angeles Dons-Cleveland Browns game at the Coliseum.

Motley Too Much; Browns Down Rams, 27-17

Although they out downed, out gained, and out played the Cleveland Browns, the Los Angeles Dons just didn't have enough savior Faire to cope with the Wild Bull of Cleveland, Marion Motley, or could they defend against the rifle like passes of Otto Graham, nor could they generate enough steam to keep their attack running inside the Brown 10 yard line, so consequently the local All American pros it on the chin from the Brownies 27-10, before 45,000 turkey day spectators at the Coliseum.

Up until the final quarter, in fact the last three minutes of play, it looked as if the Dons might again best the Browns, reputed to be the best team in all of professional football. The Brown have been beaten only 3 times in 28 games, and two of those defeats were suffered at the hands of the Dons, but fate didn't entend for it to be that way Thursday. End Max Speedie entercepted Chuck Fenenbock's atempted lateral and raced across the goal line with the TD that put the game "on ice."

The highlight of the game was Marion Motely's sensational 43 yard gallop for a touchdown in the second period. On that run, Motley looked like the City of Los Angeles on the way to Chicago going across the Great Plains.

Los Angeles touchdowns: Clarke, Fennenbock. Point after touchdown. Arajanian. 2 field goal.

Cleveland touchdowns: Motley, Colellia, Speedie, point after touchdown. Saban.

COMPTON SIGNS TO PLAY IN TEXAS ROSE BOWL GAME

COMPTON, Calif., Dec. 4—Athletic Director Earl M. "Goldie" Holmes of Compton college, today announced that the Tartars, co-Western State Conference champions with Los Angeles City college, had signed to meet Tyler Junior college of Tyler, Texas on December 13th in the Texas Little Rose Bowl.

The announcement came less than 48 hours after the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Helms Athletic Foundation had announced that Chaffey Junior college of Ontario, Calif., would be the western representative to face Cameron college of Kansas in the Little Rose Bowl at Pasadena on the 13th of December.

In making the announcement concerning the scheduling of the Texas game, Holmes assured the Compton fans that John Finney, star Negro back on the Tartar eleven would make the trip and perform in the game.

THE L. A. DONS PULL ANOTHER BONER

The Los Angeles Dons, who are supposed to be a team that does not discriminate between white and Negro players, again showed their "true colors" Thanksgiving afternoon in the L. A. Coliseum, when they were taken for turkey by the Cleveland Browns, who, by the way, beat them by using a few guys named Marion Motley, Horace Gillum and Bill Willis, who happen to be Negroes.

The Dons, who have just shorn themselves of Dudly DeGroot, and who are now directed by Mel Hein, Ted Shipkey, and Marjorie Lindhimer, lost according to the local press, by being just plain "outlucked" by the Cleveland boys. But the real story of the L. A. loss can be sumed up in a few short sentences. All year, the L. A. gang have been boasting of the athletic prowess of Exerett "sugarfoot" Anderson, Bert Piggott, and John Brown, but last Thanksgiving afternoon, two of these above mentioned gentleman, played exactly 11 minutes and 56 seconds combined. True, the Dons played Brown, probably the best defensive center that the All-American Conference can boast, but Anderson and Piggott were left sitting on the bench for the majority of the game.

Anderson played 11 minutes and 50 seconds of the final quarter, and Piggott played exactly 6 seconds.

When the Dons finally allowed the sugarfooted one to enter the game, his play, and just his appearance, bought from the crowd assembled, the loudest cheer of the day. Anderson repeatedly broke through the rugged Cleveland defense to smear men for loses, and his pass catching was something to behold. Poor Bert Piggott, only got in long enough to run on the field and then run off.

I'm asking Mr. Harry Thayer and Ben Lindhimer, and all the other "boys" about town who have a finger in the Don Pie, just what happened Thursday afternoon on the green of the Coliseum? Was Anderson hurt? was Piggott at death's door? Or was Mel Heim and Ted Shipkey just saving their "best players" for this Sunday's game against the lowly Rockets of Chicago?

If the Los Angeles Dons had never entended to use Negro players to the best of their abilities, it would have been better for them never to sign one to a contract. I think it a very poor way to get larger crowds. Don't you?

RUMOR

It is rumored arouund the middle west that Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame enterview this week an unidentified Indiana Negro High school footballer, who the Irish mentor is seeking to enter N. D. If accepted, this unidentified youth will be the first Negro to ever play football at the South Bend school.

Texas State university defeated a fighting Xavier university eleven by the score of 25-0 at Houston, Texas, Friday night, November 14.

CUB COACH KEEPS LEWIS ON BENCH

By Stanley Robertson, Sports Editor

The much-heralded "duel" between Woodly Lewis of Los Angeles City college and John Finney of Compton college didn't materialize Friday night, when the rough and ready Tartar's from way out in the tall grass country, came to town to thoroughly and convincingly knock all the smell of roses from the nostrils of a bewildered and bedraggled City college Cub, 21-0, before 18,500 wildly screaming and disappointed fans at Gilmore Field.

The game that was supposed to decide the western representative in the second annual Little Rose Bowl at Pasadena on December 13 didn't decide anything but to divide the championship of the Western States Conference between the Tartars (beaten by Pasadena) and the previously unbeaten Cubs. Monday night (Dec. 1) the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and the Helms Athletic Foundation announced that neither Compton nor Los Angeles would represent the west. Chaffey J. C. of Ontario, Calif., was given the nod to meet the eastern representative, Cameron college of Kansas.

John Finney of Compton performed up to snuff all right, for it was his beautiful runs in the second half that broke the backs of the already wilting Cubs, but Lewis was very noticeably absent from the majority of the fracas. In fact, Coach Mike Cirino kept Lewis, the team's top ground gainer and high scorer, on the bench for about 51 minutes of the entire 60 minutes of the game.

In the final analysis of the game, it was the Tartar's hard-chinging line, combined with Finney's running and Don Rogers' passing, and the total lack of fire that the City college team showed that proved to be the difference between the two clubs. Coach Mike Cirino's keeping Woodly Lewis on the bench didn't help the Crimson and Blue cause any too much, either. The scoring went like this:

After a seesaw first period in which the ball changed hands 10 times by way of the fumble and pass interception route, Compton shifted into high gear in the second quarter and never let up on the gas. Midway in the second frame Tartar halfback Rogers recovered a miscued Stieger to Lewis Handoff on the CC 41. Four plays later, Rogers went over his own right tackle from the four-yard line to score. The extra point was good, and as the half ended, Compton led 7-0.

The Tartar's second tally came in the third period on the niftiest play of the game. Rogers faded bac kto about his own 35 and threw a diagonal pass across the field to Johnny Finney who had loped behind the City college secondary. Finney caught the ball on the Cub 30 and rambled all the way to the 13-yard line before he was dragged down from behind on a last-minute desperation tackle. Two plays later, "Jarrin' John," easily the most outstanding man on the field, circled his own right end to score standing up from seven yards out. The try for extra point was again good, and as the third quarter went into history Compton held a commanding 14-0 lead.

The final score for Tay Brown's well-coached outfit came in the waning moments of the game when Rogers climaxed a 54-yard sustained drive with a four-yard pass to sub end Ray Garcia for a TD. The try for the extra point was again good, and Compton led, 21-0, as the final gun sounded.

The Cubs only had two scoring opportunities, and blew both of them. In the early stages of the first quarter, halfback Jack Dyer intercepted a Compton pass and raced 32 yards to score, but the offiical ruled he had stepped out on the Tartar 12. With their backs to the will, Compton's fine line stiffened, and the Cub opportunity went for naught. In the third period, the Cubs threw away another scoring chance. After having pass interference called on the Compton 15 for "roughing" end LeRoy Criss, the CC attack again stalled as it neared the promised land. Four tries at breaking through the rugged defense Coach Brown had set up, netted the North Vermoont boys nothing.

The outstanding men on the field for Compton were end Nordyke, halfback Rogers, and, of course, John Finney, without a doubt the junior college's outstanding player of 1947. The only men the Los Angeles supporters could point with pride to were fullback Dave DePorte, whose play was nothing short of brilliant, and Leroy Criss, who played a fine game for the few minutes that Coach Cirino left him in.

Jeff. Pulls Upset

Jefferson's Democrat cagers pulled the "upset" of the prep basketball season Tuesday, when, led by arold McGinnis' 17 points, they rudely ended the seven-game Roughrider winning streak, 48-29.

EXPECT AVC MIDNIGHT FROLIC TO JAM-PACK LINCOLN FRIDAY NIGHT

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

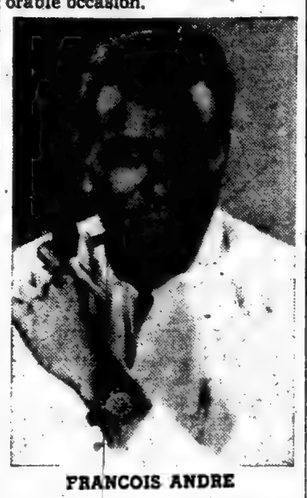
GOSSIPING—Sweet, petite, from 92nd street, is ELLA MAE JONES . . . A secretary to my good friend LEONARD McCLAIN is the personality-plus YVONNE SHELTON, moulded like Venus . . . AL EVANS SR. would like his many friends to know that his new address is 4159½ Woodlawn avenue, where he shares an apartment with a certain newspaperman. . . . According to J. UNIS PRESSLEY, promotion manager of EBONY, there will be a new high in radio and newspaper coverage of the awards the magazine will make early in December. But in spite of this national publicity, keep tab on this column for an exclusive on the awards.

CHARLES GENTRY tells me that his club, "The Guardsmen," are getting set for their big dance at the Shangri-La on Dec. 14. . . . That Thanksgiving Breakfast dance and floor show staged by a new dance association at the Elks last Thursday morning was a great success, according to WALLY HUNTER, one of the officals. Dishing out the music were the bands of SUNNY BRIDGES and HOWARD GORY under the direction of ROY HAYES. Noted in the crowd attending were: Gladys Bently, Joe Harris, Bill Hefflin, Mr. and Mrs. McNeil of Pasadena, Betty Wilson, Barbara Valasco, Marion Walker, Mel Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Percy C. Carter Sr., James McCoy, Creme Dell, Claude Durham, Dave Washington, Cliff Thomas and many others.

The show which featured MABEL FAIRBANKS was excellent. . . . The TALENT SHOWCASE which was staged at Meadowbrook last Friday was a distinct success except for the fact that there were more contestants than the time allotted for their appearance. One hundred forty-eight persons failed to get a chance to display their talent and the trophies, for that reason, had to be held up until a follow-up affair will be given at a local theatre, where all contestants will get a chance to appear. Watch for the announcement of the date by WAR PERKINS, official of the Day Distributing Company, sponsors of the affair.

FREITA SHAW, director of the South Central Adult chorus, said this week that additional voices are urgently needed. The chorus specializes in a variety of choral works and provides an opportunity for singers to gain pro training in fine music. Membership is free and rehearsals are held at the Woodlawn Y.W.C.A. every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The chorus is one of 12 similar groups sponsored by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music. . . . You shouldn't miss that great midnight frolic the AVC will put on at the Lincoln theatre Friday night. You'll see and hear practically all the show people that you've been reading about. Don't forget that's a Friday night date for you.

WE'RE SORRY that our Managing Ed, CYRIL V. BRIGGS, is on the sick list, suffering from a bad cold. He hopes to be back at his desk by next week. Meanwhile he's battling cold germs daily and seems to be on the winning side of the ledger. . . . JOE LUTCHER, Nellie's little brother, will bring his Capitol Recording band into the C.I.O. Hall, Slauson and Avalon, Saturday night, to play for the "Rockin' Boogie" dance to be held there. Prizes will be given to the best Rockin' Boogie couple. Joe says don't forget to be on hand, because he's going to play "Strato Cruiser," his latest Capitol hit. Five Rockin' Boogie records will be given away to five lucky people. The dance starts at 9 p.m.



COUNT BASIE is great at Meadowbrook and drawing nice houses. . . . CAB CALLOWAY in "Hi-De-Ho," a new flicker, wowing people at the Bill Robinson theatre currently, says our friend Manager Jones. . . . Announcement was made this week that stage shows have been taken out of the Million Dollar theatre. "WINGS OVER JORDAN" was to have been presented there during Xmas week. Instead it has been moved up to the week of Dec. 18 at the Lincoln theatre, EARL ADAMS, publicity and advertising man, said.

TASK FINISHED

Deborah Kerr, who co-stars with Walter Pidgeon in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "If Winter Comes," has the satisfied look of a woman who wrapped and addressed all her Christmas parcels and gifts. Already en route to her family in England are several bundles.

Top Stars of the Theatre on Stage

Tomorrow night (Friday) marks the time for an entertainment fiesta deluxe when the American Veterans Committee, Wendell Willkie Chapter, stage their gigantic midnight frolic at the popular Lincoln theatre, 2300 So. Central avenue, featuring the tops in stage, screen and radio stars. Jimmy Henry and his eight-piece band will provide the music for the memorable occasion.

FRANCOIS ANDRE

Here is some of the talent you will watch parade across the stage: Hadda Brooks, fresh from a triumphant eastern tour which found her playing the piano and singing to thousands; Eddie Green, the funny waiter in the radio skit "Duffy's Tavern"; Ida Lupino, a top movie star; Francois Andre, director of the Glass Box Guild; Bettye Quincey, interpretative dancer; Bob Parrish, solid songster of stage, radio and screen; Mantan Moreland, Monogram film comedian; Herb Jeffries, whose voice makes the ladies swoon; Mabel Scott, sultry singer; Nicodemus Stewart, comedian just back from a USO tour; Ralph Weaver, tap dancer; Louis Jordan, juke-box favorite; Louise Beavers, motion picture actress; Eddie Dudley, Chicago pianist; Suzette Harbin, great dancer; Janet Collins, exponent of the dance; "Talk in Darkness," a play by the Actors Lab players; Edith Wilson, New York vocalist; The Ebonaires with Jack Carrington; Volunteer Quartet; Joel Fluellen, Frankie Darro, Roland Winters, the new Charlie Chan, and Evelyn Pope Burrell, who received an orchid from Tom Breneman for her Red Cross service to veterans in hospitals, doing songs from Bach to Boogie.

Donations of one dollar will be accepted at 4255½ So. Avalon. For further information you should call the AVC at ADams 5797.

Don't miss this stellar affair which will benefit your war veterans. The time is midnight at the Lincoln theatre, 2300 So. Central avenue. See you there!

Tobias Gives Views On New Youth Picture

NEW YORK, N. Y. — "It is only when children of all races, cultures, and faiths, play and work normally and naturally together that the ideal of democracy in American life can be realized," said Dr. Channing Tobias, noted educator and member of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, at the premiere of the motion picture, "Make Way for Youth."

Famed Organist Delights Crowd

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Theodore C. Mayo, famous organist, was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience in Fisk Memorial Chapel last week when he rendered a program extending from Purcell to the contemporary Sowerby. His remarkable manual and pedal skill delighted the audience especially.

Mayo played his entire program from memory. He is the university organist at St. Augustine college. His concert was the second of two recitals sponsored by the Nashville Organ club.

'Ballet Americana' Presented Here

An all-Negro troupe presented "Ballet Americana" for the veterans at the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Center, Tuesday night, November 25. Among the stars who took part in the program were Bernice Harrison and James Truitte, the latter well known for his outstanding work in "Carmen Jones" and other productions. Joseph Rickard, choreographer, has plans for a national tour. The dances show little of the modern trend, but are more along the lines of "Pure Russian Ballet."

SCHEDULED TO APPEAR ON AVC MIDNIGHT SHOW—Curvacious Marie Bryant is one of the many stage, screen and radio stars slated to appear on the gigantic Midnight Frolic being sponsored by the American Veterans Committee, Wendell Willkie Chapter, Friday night, Dec. 5, at the Lincoln theatre. A capacity crowd is expected to turn out for the affair. (See story in this section).

ACTRESS SELLS XMAS SEALS—Pretty Penny Edwards, Warner Bros. actress, offers a pleasant reminder that the 1947 Christmas Seal Sale is now on. Christmas Seal dollars, she points out, support the tuberculosis, rheumatic fever and heart disease programs of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

AN ANNIVERSARY

Irving Berlin had reason to be proud. He was on the set at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as Fred Astaire and Judy Garland launched the filming of "Easter Parade" by singing one of his eight new songs for the Technicolor musical. And it marked his fortieth anniversary, to the month, as a songwriter.

KAPER TO COMPOSE

Bronislau Kaper has been assigned to compose the musical score for M-G-M's "Homecoming," new Clark Gable-Lana Turner-Anne Baxter-John Hodiak film. Mervyn LeRoy directed. Sidney Franklin produced.

HEAD EAST

It'll be a white Christmas for Robert Preston this year, for the first time in twenty years. The actor will complete his role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Big City" early next month and, with his wife, immediately head for New York.

CELEBRATES

Deborah Kerr celebrated Thanksgiving Day for many reasons. Not only did she arrive in the United States last year on Thanksgiving, but it was also her third wedding anniversary. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star's husband is Tony Bartley.

"Perilous Waters" has been set as the final title for Jack Wrather's latest production, "In Self Defense."

Actors' Lab Will Present 4 One-Act Plays Fri. & Sat.

The Actors' Lab Workshop announces four one-act plays to be shown December 5 and 6.

The program includes: "Twenty Seven Wagons Full of Cotton" by Tennessee Williams, "Aria da Capo" by Edna St. Vincent Millay, "The Rising of the Moon" by Lady Gregory, and "Summer Comes to the Diamond O" by Robert Finch and Betty Smith. The plays were directed, respectively, by Sam Gary, Ralph Norman, Arthur Spencer and David Alexander, who recently came to Hollywood from Groadway in association with Dale Wasserman.

They will be shown at the Lab's little theatre, 1455 North Laurel avenue.

Marvin Johnson Is Back at Ringside

Marvin Johnson and his Blue Rhythm boys opened last night (Wednesday) at the popular Ringside club, Western and Washington, with a large enthusiastic crowd in attendance. Madeline Green, pretty singing star, was her usual vivacious self and the boogie and blues men Sylvester Scott and George Vann were tops.

Jam sessions will be held every Monday night and to get the program off to a flying start Bumps Myers and Marshall Royal will head an all-star group in the first session scheduled for Monday night, December 8. Talent night on Tuesdays continues to pack them in.

Cab Calloway In 'Hi-De-Ho, Motion Picture Playing The Bill Robinson

The jive-studded story of the rise of Cab Calloway from singer in a lowly night club to America's king of tap dancing rhythm and bandoliers on Broadway in the the theme of All American's latest film hit, "Hi De Ho." An all-Negro cast, starring famed Ida James, stage and screen beauty, supports Cab Calloway and his famous band in their rollicking, musical extravagnaza is now at the Bill Robinson theatre.

Directed by the noted Josh Binney, the musical drama features such well known lyrics and musical compositions as "Hi De Ho Man," "I Got a Gal Named Nettie," "We the Cats Shall Hep Ya" and "Hey Now! Hey Now!," all of which were composed and written in part by Cab Calloway himself.

Also featured in the Cab Calloway story is that latest newcomer to undying fame, Dusty Fletcher, in his act, "Open the Door, Richard.'

All American's latest all-Negro film, "Hi De Ho," is the story of Cab's nearly meteoric rise to the pinnacles of fame once the public gets a "load" of his novel and tantalizing style of music making.

Specialty acts include, in addition to Dusty Fletcher and his famous hit, "Open the Door, Richard," the celebrated Peters Sisters, and the Miller Brothers and Lois.

The cast supporting Cab Calloway and his brilliant band is headed by Ida James, the "Shoo Shoo Baby."

To Be Staged In Theatre; Will Announce Date Soon

Due to the large number of contestants entered in the mammoth Talent Show Case sponsored by the Day Distributing Company last Friday night at Meadowbrook Gardens a followup on the affair will be staged at a local theatre in the near future to enable about 148 contestants who failed to get a chance to perform their numbers, an opportunity. War Perkins, speaking for the company, said that he asked the judges to withhold awarding any prizes until the show could be continued. He hopes to announce the date in the next issue of the local weeklies.

WAR PERKINS

Perkins further stated that the talent show held last Friday has more than encouraged the many persons entered to practice hard in order to win one of the leading prizes in the next show. Termed a fine success by all that attended, the affair last Friday night was well applauded by the throng. Leonard Reed, who emceed the show, was his usual witty self and drew plenty laughs from the crowd, while the music of Lionel Hampton was thoroughly enjoyed by both the dancers and listeners.

Benny Goodman, top clarinet player, did several numbers with the Hampton band, which was a surprise attraction for the entire gathering. Many other guest stars appeared and received a good hand.

The persons who entered the contest and failed to get a chance to appear are urged to keep an eye on the various weeklies for a new date.

3 Join 'Tap Roots' Cast

Frank White, William Challee and Keith Richards have been set for feature roles in Walter Wanger's "Tap Roots," which co-stars Van Heflin and Susan Hayward at Universal-International.

PLANES TO PREVIEW

Frank Sinatra, in New York for personal appearances, paid a flying visit to Hollywood to view his latest film, M-G-M's "The Kissing Bandit." The singing star, who will remain east until the middle of December, stayed in the film capital just long enough to visit his family and see the new musical film.

Marshall Thompson celebrated his birthday by giving his first lecture on good citizenship to a group of high school students at Hamilton High School.

'Freaks' Is Movie Offering Playing On Lincoln Screen

Tod Browning's bizarre drama of the humans and half-humans of the circus sideshows, "Freaks,' now playing at the Lincoln theatre relates the love triangle of a midget, a circus queen and a giant.

Browning, whose famous picture "Dracula" struck a new high in horror films, brought together such colorful characters as the "bird girl," living skeleton," midgets, sword swallowers, and other side show folks for one of the most unusutl mystery tales to be screened. Wallace Ford and Leila Hyams play the romantic leads. Olga Baclanova portrays the circus queen and Roscoe Ates as the "bearded lady"supplies the laughs. Companion feature is "The White, Gorilla," a jungle tale.

The Lincoln is also presenting a colorful stage show in conjunction with the showing of "Freaks." John Calvert's Bastille and His Merry Maids of Magic in an hour's footlight entertainment. Comprising elaborate sets, pretty girls and gorgeous costumes such intriguing productions as "The Atomic Bomb," "Secrets of Satin" and other illusions are presented.

Count Basie Is Acclaimed at Meadowbrook

Count Basie and his sensational band opened Tuesday night at Meadowbrook Ballroom and gave his thousands of followers a chance to jump listening to his terrific brand of music.

The County, who was taught to play the piano when a tot by the late great "Fats" Waller, demonstrated again that he is tops in his field. A showman along with being a great musician, Count Basie shifts from blues to boogie to swing with the greatest rhythm section in the country behind him.

James "Mr. Five by Five" Rushing as usual is proof that real individuality of singing style can't be beat.

COUNT BASIE

The great Basie aggregation will remain at Culver City's Meadowbrook six nights weekly until December 21.

Hattie Noel Opens On 'Avenue' Dec. 12

Hattie Noel, buxom star of stage, radio and screen, will bring her wit and novelty songs to Last Word Cafe patrons, opening at the club December 12.

Little Miss Cornshucks heads the bill with Emily Foster, Charlie Owens and Gene Phillips orchestra supplying the music.

MARJORIE MAIN IN STOCK

Both Greenwich, Conn., and Fairhaven, Mass., have paged Marjorie Main for summer stock. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress has accepted the latter's offer and will leave Hollywood the middle of August for the East. She'll open in Massachusetts, August 28, but the play has not as yet been decided upon.

Mickey Rooney is making a personal appearance in Honolulu.

Linda Lou Appears Before Mixed Crowd

MACON, Ga.—Linda Lou, "One Woman" theatre actress, appearing throughout Georgia under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star, played to a mixed audience of whites and Negroes recently. In Atlanta she was preceded by Henry Wallace who spoke in the Wheat Street Baptist church to a mixed audience. Linda Lou entertained in the same church to the same kind of audience November 21.

At Columbus, three young officers from Fort Benning assisted in ushering the mixed audience to their seats. During the intermission Linda Lou introduced them, and the captain in the group extended an invitation to all to visit the fort.

FROM "EXERCISE SEMINOLE"—(1) The brute strength of a Diesel-powered bulldozer operated by men of the 73rd Combat Engineer Battalion from Camp Hood, Texas, is applied to "aggressor" beach defense to clear the way for Task Force Choctaw, heavy armored landing force of the Second Armored Division which later stormed the beach near Panama City, Florida to eject a hypothetical enemy. The activity took place early in November during the joint Army-Navy Air Force amphibious maneuvers, "Exercise Seminole." The combat engineers "go in" first with a shore party to remove obstacles which would hinder the flow of troops and equipment from naval craft to the shore. (2) Troops from the 73rd hurry ashore from a naval LST (landing ship, tank) to help make ready the beach that will receive the Task Force. (3) On the white sands of the Florida Gulf beach Negro troops set up a beach marker to help the skipper of light naval craft engaging in the maneuvers to direct his ship to the right point on the beach. The Exercise was observed by Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall.

Making Labor-Management History

George Cannie, president of Local 299, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, accepts new retirement pay contract from W. J. Alford, III, vice president, Continental Paper Company, Ridgefield Park, N.J. Under this agreement, workers create unlimited retirement pay for themselves through first share-of-production plan ever adopted in U. S. by union-labor. Union and company executives form background. Left to right: Ervin C. Jones (insurance), John Hayden (labor), Joseph B[illegible]on (labor), C. P. Taylor (management), and A. J. Woodfield (management).

Sleeping Car Porters Meet

The organization of Colored Locomotive Firemen will be launched at a meeting of the National Annual Conference of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters Provisional Committee in Jacksonville, December 2 and 3.

A. Philip Randolph, international president of the brotherhood, will give the keynote address. Henry Epstein, general counselor for the organization and chairman of the Commission on Community Interrelations of the American Jewish Congress, will be the guest of honor.

This conference was one of the most important held in a long time. In spite of the intense program on the part of the brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers to deny Negroes the opportunity of applying their skill in the higher brackets of the railroad industry, there was no relenting until the victory was won, declared the Sleeping Car Porters.

Diphtheria Fight Being Waged By Health Dept.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, is staging a determined fight against diptheria, and urges the cooperation of all parents in having their children immunized.

"There is no excuse for even one case of diptheria," said Dr. Uhl, "since the disease is preventable with simple immunization. Our 1947 record of 202 cases, which resulted in 23 deaths, is a needless tragedy caused by parental apathy."

World War II set Los Angeles' fight against diptheria back about 8 years. "Carriers and some actual cases came into the city during the turbulent migrations of the war period, boosting our diptheria reports to such an extent that today our progress against the disease is at the point it was in 1939."

Anti-Cholera Supplies Flown to Egypt

Four-and-one-half tons of anti-cholera vaccines, bound for Egypt where a cholera epidemic has killed more than 5000 persons, are loaded aboard a fast plane in New York. The supplies were collected in the United States by the Interim Commission of the World Health Organization (WHO) for the Egyptian Ministry of Health.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Your generous contribution of effort in the "Action for Palestine" rally helped determine the inevitable success of that historic meeting.

The joint sponsoring committees of the Los Angeles Zionist Emergency Council and the Justice for Palestine organizations can think of no better way to thank you who participated in the program than to assure you that they will continue their militant activity in this cause until a just solution is reached in the Palestine situation.

Very truly yours,
JACOB M. ALKOW,

Dear Editor:

We wish to express our appreciation to you for your cooperation in having served as a sponsor for the National Conference for Protection of Foreign Born, which was held in Cleveland, Ohio, October 25 and 26.

This conference was attended by representatives of 325 organizations in 12 states. It was greeted by Henry A. Wallace, William Green, Lee Pressman, and many others. The Conference adopted an effective program of action for the defense of the rights of non-citizens and naturalized American citizens.

Your cooperation helped to make it a successful conference.

Sincerely yours,
Hon. Stanley Nowak, National Chairman

GOOD BOOKS TO READ

Buckskin Brigade. Jim Kjelgaard. Ten short, exciting and authentic stories which vividly picture little known turning points in our country's history from 1506 to 1844, by the author of Big Red.

Fools and Funny Fellows. Phyllis Fenner. A wonderful collection of more "Time to Laugh" tales including "How Old Stormalong Captured Mocha Dick". Fun to read and tell.

Cortez the Conqueror. Covelle Newcomb. A dramatic account of the conquest of Mexico centering on the person of Cortez, a beautiful book lavishly illustrated by Rojankovsky.

Hawk the White Indian. Phillips Carleton. The absorbing experiences of David Aiken, an Indian captive, give a true picture of Alonquin life in Colonial times.

Plan Addition To Hospital In N.Y. City

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Plans for a Sydenham Institution combining the present Sydenham Hospital, the first interracial hospital in the country, with a new research Institute of Medical and Related Sciences, were announced recently at a luncheon meeting held in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

A new structure will be erected on the site adjoining the existing hospital, and medical, social, and psychiatric activities will be combined in a single hospital service. A sum of $7,500,000 will be sought for the building and administration fund.

Dr. ePter Murray, noted Negro physician, is co-chairman of the Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics at Sydeham hospital.

Ship 4,000,000 Atabrine Pills

Atabrine pills to the number of 4,000,000 were shipped from Los Angeles harbor recently, bound for Hong Kong, China. They had been sold by the War Assets Administration to an export broker who expects to sell them at a fat profit in mosquito and malaria-infested regions. The pills are a cure for malaria.

The Moody Institute, a non-profit organization, also purchased 1,000,000 of the pills at a very small cost, and will ship them to missionary stations of all denominations in lands where malaria is a peril.

Santa Monica Notes

By LOWELL EVANS

Thanksgiving for 1947 is history now. After pausing for this occasion I am sure there is a lot to be thankful for. As this celebration goes by time ushers in the greatest season for celebrations. That is Christmas.

Yes, there were parades, special street decorations honoring the occasion-to-be, merchants making attractive displays of merchandise for the occasion, with Santa Claus' picture prominently displayed on all advertisements. Naturally you will be interested in these advertisements that stress the better side of colored people, in The California EAGLE, your paper. They give you your outstanding men and women in science, art, and literature, as well as in sports—all of which is a source of inspiration for you and me and the youth of today.

Our newspaper champions the Negro's cause. It is our guiding light in a political storm. To be sure the Negro newspapers have undertaken a great task and they are equal to that task. Little wonder our newspaper is a "must" in every thinking Negro's home, because the facts of different matters, whether political or economical, are given to him in our newspaper.

One cannot but be grateful to advertisers, and our advertisers cannot help but profit from the investment they make in advertising in our paper. It is a display of democracy in the highest type of advertisement.

VENICE

The Sunday school department of the First Baptist Church, under the supervision of C. E. A. Brunson and Paster L. D. Revola, was well represented at the Young People's Annual Congress which convened in the Zion Hill Baptist Church, Los Angeles, last week. George Price, Annie V. Credille, James McClendon, Dolores Wilson, and Jessie Walker were the delegates. Marian Harp represented the B.T.U. Department.

The famous Gilbert Gospel singers and preachers will be at the church, Seventh and Westminster, Wednesday, December 10, at 8 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Flag-Rising for the World

The new official flag of the United Nations, approved by the General Assembly, is raised by three U.N. guards over the world organization's headquarters at Lake Success, New York. The banner is light blue with the United Nations' emblem in white emblazoned on it.

Negro Detective Probing Threats Against Kings

Detective-Sergeant R. C. Robinson of the sheriff's office today was investigating threats made against Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King, 1359 E. 60th st., by white property owners.

So Capt. A. C. Jewell, Los Angeles county under-sheriff, informed William R. Bidner, executive director of the Civil Rights Congress, who had written the sheriff requesting that action be taken.

The Kings were told to move out of their house immediately by leaders of a mob of some 50 white persons who surorunded their home Nov. 22.

In a letter to Bidner, Under-

N.Y. Councilman, Townsend to Address Meet

Sharing the platform with Dr. Francis Townsend at the Shrine Auditorium third aprty rally Dec. 1, will be two leaders of independent political movements from New York and Chicago.

Dr. Samuel Jones, prominent attorney and vice president of the Chicago NAACP, and Eugene Connolly, New York City councilman and American Labor party leader, will tell the rally their experiences in organizing an independent party.

Ocone of : slate of progressive candidates for Cook county superior court judgeships, Dr. Jones polled 200,000 votes after only a two-weeks' campaign.

At the time of the election, in which the independent party's slate polled 25 percent of the entire vote, the first organizing steps of the party were only two months old.

Councilman Connolly was one of the founders of the American Labo r party more than 11 years ago and was elected to the New York Citl council with the endorsement of both the ALP and the Democratic party. He had the support of the late Fiorella LaGuardia, and the present mayor, William O'Dwyer.

Hugh Bryson, who heads the CIO's National Union of Marine Cooks and tSewards, will chair the meeting. He is chairman of the organizing committee of the for California, under whose auspices the rally will be held.

Condemned Boy Wins Reprieve

WASHINGTON—The death sentence imposed on Eddie (Buster) Patton, a Mississippi youth, was set aside yesterday by the U. S. supreme court which upheld the defendant's contention that Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury which convicted him.

Justice Hugo L. Black, who wrote the court's unanimous opinion, said all the jurists agreed that Mississippi failed to disprove "the very strong evidence of purposeful discrimination" against young Patton, including the fact that no Negro juror has served on a Lauderdale county jury in more than 30 years.

Veterans Group Blasts Clark's 'Communist' Tag

CHICAGO—The United Negro and Allied Veterans today had denounced as "a lie out the whole cloth" and giving "official sanction to those who would stifle the voices of Negro veterans," Atty. Gen. Clark's characterization of the organization as an "affiliate of the Commu. ist party."

In a statement signed by George B. Murphy Jr., national commander of the veterans group, the UNAVA declared it was affiliated with no political party. Murphy characterized Clark's inclusion of UNAVA in his recently released black list as "a cynical and callous attempt on the part of our country's highest law enforcement official to intimidate Negro veterans in their fight for justice, freedom and security."

"Can it be," he asked, "that UNAVA, one of the very few veteran organizations not to sucumb to Red-baiting, is thus pilloried because we refuse to

UN Votes Down Plea for Probe Of U. S. Jim Crow

GENEVA, Switzerland—A sub-committee of the United Nations commission on human rights last week voted down 11 to 1 a Russian proposal to consider an NAACP request for UN investigation of jimcrow oppression in the United States. Opposition to the NAACP resolution was led by the United States delegation, with only the Russian delegation voting for it.

The NAACP resolution pointed out that "disfranchisement of the American Negro makes the function of all democracy in the nation (U. S.) difficult," stressed the impact of the failure of American democracy on the rest of the world.

It pointed to some advances made towa-d democratic progress under the impact of the anti-fascist war.

"But today the paradox again looms after the second world war. We have a recrudescence of race hate and caste restrictions in he U. S."

"It is not Russia," the resolution declared, "that threatens the U. S. as much as Mississippi; not Stalin and Molotov but Bilbo and Rankin."

The resolution also cited vari-

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

HE present situation is more or less a crossword puzzle —and one feels like asking this question right out : "Are the people too dumb to understand?"

Now listen to this. In the film industry purge the first to be fired was the producer and director of "Cross-" a film that spoke, not too harshly against anti- Sem-.

The K.K.K. without its robes entered a Negro family's e on East 60th street and announced: "We don't want roes living on this street. This time we tell you peace-. Next time we come, it may not be so peaceful."

COLORED man applied for work at what appeared to be a government agency for those who have had seas duty, and is told that for "political reasons we not hiring colored, Mexican, Jews, Chinese, nor Japse."

A respectable Negro preacher of the area known as Central Avenue district, is given a taste of police bruty.

Massachusetts, the cradle of freedom, sees one of her orite sons, Joseph Martin, speaker of the House of Repntatives, with his political arms around John Rankin, Mississippi, in his anti-Semite, anti-Negro, and antirything that is democratic fighting with him in what once the House of Representatives, but today might ly be called the "House of Un-American Activities."

AST week Martin announced that he would ask that the Civil Service Commission make public the names 311 government workers dropped (without trial) for urity reasons. According to Martin the Bill of Rights eing used as a cloak for disloyalty to the United States.

I have heard something about politics making strange fellows. The idea of Massachusetts joining with Mississi is more than I can swallow in one gulp. Is it because sident Truman said last week, in a lecture to the Loy- Review Board, that "rumor, gossip, or suspicion, will be sufficient to lead to the dismissal of an employee disloyalties.' that leads Martin to Rankin today? It urther stated that the President generally counselled play for all accused persons.

Is it posible for Speaker Martin to allow his political nt of view, as it differs from that of the President, to d his sense of justice to the people he serves as their resentative?

S I glance down the record of the present Congress on this night, away past working hours, I am standing in on the brink of that old cemetery across from Boston mmon, where rests the bodies of Attucks, Paul Revere, rles Sumner, William Lloyd Garrison and others who ght and died for freedom. I am wondering what they ld say or even think about the present behavior of r friend and brother, Joseph Martin.

By what stretch of the imagination could I or any er sane American Negro consider Republican Joseph rtin, our friend, the man who sides with Democratic n Rankin in classifying Negroes and their friends who k against restrictive covenants and discrimination, as g subversive?

OW can any worker living in a country rich in production, look out on the rising tide of inflation, starvation, labor shortage, support for office a Mr. Taft who is ponsible in a large measure for the Taft-Hartley bill, was conceived in prejudice ,and designed to deny the t of freedom in labor?

As The EAGLE went to press last night word was received from Washington that oral arguments in the four restrictive covenant cases has been postponed to Jan. 5, on account of the sudden illness of one of the Supreme Court Justices

Supreme Court Opens Hearings On Four Appeals

The eyes of the nation and the world were focused this week on the United States supreme court as it opened hearings on four restrictive covenant cases, the determination of which may decide whether Americas' minorities will be confined to ghettos based on race, color, religion, or national origin. The four cases will be argued by attorneys from various sections of the country.

The high court on Monday heard the solicitor general of the United States who has intervened on behalf of those challenging restrictive covenants.

He will be followed by the argument of the case of Shelley vs. Kraemer, in which the petitioners will be represented by George Vaughn, attorney of private St. Louis organizations and the St. Louis branch of the NAACP.

The court will then her the Michigan case of McGhee vs. Sipes, which has been handled at all stages by the NAACP. This case will be argued by Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the NAACP, and Loren Miller, Los Angeles attorney. The last cases to be heard will Hurd vs. Hodge and Urcioli vs. Hodge, arising from the District of Columbia. Among the attorneys who will argue these cases will be Charles H. Racist Devices Unconstitutional High Court Told WASHINGTON—In a brief filed with the U. S. Supreme court, the federal government yesterday denounced as unconstitutional private agreements which ban the sale of homes to Negroes and other minority groups. The brief was filed in four covenant cases now being heard by the court.

Furthermore, it said, such agreements breed contempt for civil rights at home and impair U. S. prestige abroad.

The brief argued that while the Justice Department has no legal right to prosecute anyone for entering into such agreements, the courts have no

Memphis Bans Film Featuring Louis Armstrong

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The movie "New Orleans," which features trumpeter and band leader Louis Armstrong, was banned from Memphis showings this week.

"New Orleans" was the second United Artists production outlawed in recent months. The film "Curley" was banned because it showed Negro and white children in the same schoolroom.

Lloyd T. Binford, 80 year old chairman of the city's motion censor board, said "New Orleans" was banned by unanimous vote of the three-member board. Reason given was that "it is a gambling picture made in the red light district of New Orleans."

Colorful E'side Figure Fatally Hurt by Taxi

Known to his many friends on the Eastside as "Tijuana", Matthew Jones, 50, who resided at 710 E. 42nd place, was instantly killed by a taxicab last Saturday night at 28th and So. San Pedro streets as he crossed the street to his automobile.

A colorful figure, Jones, a native of Oklahoma, figured prominently in night life of the city. He owned considerable property and was considered well off by his associates. Jones also was a former actor and appeared in many pictures. He had no relatives here but his father resides in New York City.

The driver of the cab which struck Jones was not held.

County, City Workers Vote Wage Demands

At a general membership meeting of the United Public Workers of America, Local 246 held last Friday night, at the California State Building, city, county and Board of Education employes voted unanimously that the Union demand immediate wage increases for the low paid Civil Service employes in this area.

Department of Public Works employes in the skilled and semi-skilled trades and crafts. The demands of the Union are being placed before the county, Board of Education and city.

The Union is also asking for special hearings to be arranged on the salary matter. A petition campaign is already under way among school employes. These petitions are being signed by hundreds of teachers, principals, as well as custodial and cafeteria employes. County Hospital employes are also undertaking a wide-spread petition campaign to bolster their demand.

John E. Hargrove, Former OPA Executive, Returns to L.A.

Southern California this week welcomed home a favorite son with the return to Los Angeles of John E. Hargrove. Hargrove, a well-known civic leader and labor relations expert, has been warmly welcomed home by union members and others since his return a few days ago.

Hargrove left the Pacific Coast for Washington during the early days of World War II. He held one of the top policy-making positions as labor relations adviser for the Office of Price Administration (OPA) during the critical days of the war. His work carried him into practically every state and large city throughout the country, giving him contact with the CIO, the AFL, Railroad Brotherhoods, independent labor organizations and low-income groups.

A former director of athletics and mathematics at Shorter college and the public schools of Fort Worth, Texas, Hargrove came to California and helped organize the Dining Car Employes on the Union Pacific (Local 465, AFL) and the Pacific Coast. He is also one of the founders of the Joint Council of Dining Car Employes, AFL. He still holds active membership in both groups.

For three consecutive years, he was chairman of the Eastside War Chest Fund. He was a member of the Volunteer Appeals Committee of the War Manpower Commission, War Finance Committee, president of the local branch of the Urban League, chairman of the Labor committee, member of the boards of directors of the local NAACP and the YMCA, and one of the organizers and directors of the Avalon Branch of the USO.

A graduate of Wilberforce university, Hargrove did graduate work at Kansas State college, in 1941 received a scholarship to the Pacific Coast Labor school at Berkeley. He is a member of the Los Angeles-Washington (D.C.) alumni chapters of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, St. John's Masonic Loge No. 5, and the National Committee for the Extension of Labor Education.

He is perhaps best known for his forthright opposition and fight during the early days of World War II for better housing, more health and recreational facilities, and for the integration, promotion and upgrading of Negro workers in all defense industries.

Jackie Robinson Highlights 'Y' Dad-Son Banquet

Over 200 boys and their dads gathered for fun, fellowship and a big turkey dinner at Jefferson High school last Friday evening at the 41st Annual Y.M.C.A. Father and Son Banquet.

Headlining the program were Jackie Robinson, Jesse Owens, Rev. Hugh Beaumont, Leon Washington, Rev. M. F. Mitchell and Floyd Covington.

The affair was sponsored by the Dining Car Employes Local 582 — with Claude McQuinn, secretary-treasurer getting much credit for the success of the banquet.

A fine job was done by the girl members of the "Y" Co-ed club under the guidance and leadership of Mrs. Edna Collins, advisor to the group.

Everyone had a swell time and plenty to eat, and the kids got a great thrill from seeing and hearing Jackie and Jesse.

Negro Congress, NAACP Protest VA Bias Friday

The local branches of the National Negro Congress and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will jointly head a delegation tomorrow (Friday) to Colonel Beringgam of Sawtelle Veteran's Administration investigating charges of racial discrimination made by employes.

John Forrester, executive secretary of NNC, who interviewed five of the complaining Sawtelle employes, stated that they reported instances of outright discrimination.

"Whites have been asked not to sit beside Negroes in the general mess," he was told. When one white challenged the request, made by a waitress, he was haled before Supervisor Johnny Vernicker, who reportedly asked the white not to associate with "'N——rs' because we are trying to keep them in their place."

They charged that Negro women employes are segregated into a jimcrow dressing room, which is overcrowded and some are forced to dress outside in the public hallway. The white dressing room is not overcrowded, they added.

Other charges made were that there is no advancement for Negroes, nor seniority considerations.

The general mess' head waitress, Mrs. Mary Robertson, was charged with asking a white woman employ not to talk to 'n——r men."

Have a Date With A Ghost—Saturday

"A Night of Horror for All Hams" is the theme of the party given by the Peoples Educational Center's Theater Workshop on Saturday, December 13, at 1457 N. Fairfax in Hollywood. The Workshop students have lined up a program which includes the Midnight Menace, a real surprise; an authentic African drummer; a Javanese dancer and a genuine seance, where tables will be lifted and ghosts will appear.

The party is being thrown for the benefit of the PEC Bulding Fund and also launches the Peoples Theater school which is sponsored by the PEC. All are welcome from 8:30 on; there will be dancing and refreshments and many novelty features.

Radio Program Quotes Editor On Third Party

The Independent Political party last Monday evening broadcast a dramatization of its campaign to get on the California state ballot. The broadcast was carried by ABC stations throughout California.

The program cited endorsement of the party by many leading citizens and carried the following statement by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, publisher-editor of The California EAGLE:

"The little people who make up the overwhelming majority and whose lives and destiny are at stake need their own political voice. They have tried to get it through both of the old parties and in most cases they have failed. That goes especially for my people. They pet us, patronize us and appeal to our emotions every election time and then ignore our needs and our rights.

"The Negro people, I believe, are ready to go forward with any new force that will give them their rightful place.

Problem Child Film To Be Shown Tonite

If you are parents of a child whose everyday behaviour is extremely difficult to cope with and causes you considerable worry, don't fail to see the next documentary film program at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park at 8 p.m. Friday, December 12.

The title of the film is "This Is Robert," produced by the department of child study, Vassar College, in cooperation with the Sarah Lawrence College Nursery school. The picture traces the development of an aggressive, difficult, yet appealing child, from his early nursery school days to his first year in a public school. No admission is charged.

The Negro people are tired of being second-class citizens, tired of living in slums, going to cast-off schools, being the last hired and the first fired. We are first-class Americans and we want the chances that any other Americans have."

Shortening of daylight hours, as winter approaches, calls for extra care on the part of pedestrians, the Automobile Club of Southern California warns. When walking after dark, wear or show something white.

Auto - Toxemia — Biliousness

Don't be discouraged: Read what this famous doctor says: "This condition is very common, and is present in nearly every disease. Often when a complete physical examination will not disclose any organic disease, and where the diagnosing physician is baffled as to the cause of the patient's depression, it will be found that he is simply suffering from a form of self-poisoning from the products of perverted metabolism, the poisons thus engendered not being sufficiently eliminated through the usual channels for the purpose.

"In my office experience I have had many patients present themselves to me for examination, who had been put through most exhaustive examinations by other physicians who had told them to go home and forget about their troubles; that there was really nothing wrong with them; that they only imagined they were sick; or that they must be nervous. If these patients do not suffer from pain, and I cannot discover any organic disease, I always assume that they are suffering form some form of toxemia, which is, in almost every case, produced by poisons manufactured within their own bodies, but which have not been eliminated. The toxins produced in the organism alter the chemistry of the blood and other fluids in which the tissues of the body live.

"Perfect health depends upon the proper chemistry of the fluids of the body.

"This self-poisoning is produced mainly by the following factors:

"When the body is enervated by a waste of mental or physical energy there will often not be enough nerve force to operate the eliminative functions properly, and the normal wastes of the body will not be thrown out rapidly enough, but will remain in the tissues and interfere with the normal functioning of the organs and glands. Constipation exists in nearly every case of auto-toxemia, and is responsible for providing much toxic material which over-burdens the blood with waste products. If more food is used and digested than the tissues can assimilate there will be an excess of unabsorbed food material in the blood stream with a consequent state of self-poisoning. If food material in the blod cannot be used by the body for repairing tissues, it will in very case act as a poison until it is eliminated.

"Another cause worth mentioning is too free a use of those foods which make an excess of ble. The bile is used as a digestive fluid, and also as a method of excreting poisons. Certain foods must pass through the liver in the changes necessary before they can be used by the cells of the body.

"If the liver is over-worked with these food materials, it will not have sufficient time or energy to perform its regular function of excreting the normal wastes of the body.

"Anyone suffering from auto-toxemia will feel very depressed, will be tired at all times, and sleep will not refresh him. He will have a coated tongue, a poor circulation, bad color of the skin, and will have "the blues" without any good and sufficient reason."

Jimcrow Bars Smashed On Wallace's Dixie Tour

NEW YORK—"Segregation is the very heart of the tem of exploiting the Negro," Henry A. Wallace, editor the New Republic declares in an article "Violence and pe in the South" in the current issue of the magazine. rther on in the same article, the former Vice President tes:

"More and more I am con- ced that the real purpose of intaining Jim Crow and cial segregation in public etings is not hatred of the gro so much as it is the sire to prevent the expres- n of progressive sentiment the underprivileged" of th races.

UTHERN TOUR

Vallace's recent tour of the th is regarded in political les here and in Washington an impressive demonstration his personal popularity and growing support to his pro- m.

verywhere he went his audi- es jammed the available itoriums and cheered his d-hitting attacks on universal itary training, jimcrowism, the warlike foreign policy of Administration.

CROW BARS DOWN

At Atlanta, traditional head- arters of the Klan, over 3000 hites and Negroes crowded to the city's largest Negro ptist church to hear Wallace. e meeting was a victory for e non-segregation policy of e Southern Conference for man Welfare.

n an earlier speech to stu- ts at Atlanta's Morehouse ege, Wallace warned of the nger of a "backswing which y perhaps again make the te of Georgia a hissing by- rd in liberal circles in the ted States."

e said further that "the pres- Democratic Administration lost the desired to help the ple."

Wallace recalled that he had first come to Georgia 15 years ago to confer with the late President Roosevelt at Warm Springs on Southern farm problems. He noted that FDR had gotten many of his New Deal ideas from his visits to the South—ideas which, he said, have been successfully opposed by "those Republicans in the South who masquerade under the name of Democrats."

At Norfolk, Va., neither a two-day rain nor the presence of a large number of police and navy shore patrolmen could stop 3000 persons from hearing Wallace denounce the growth of fascist tendencies in the U. S.

In Louisiana, Wallace spoke five times in two days before 12,000 persons, pounding away for peace, for cooperative relations with the Soviet Union, for price controls and rationing, for a better deal for labor, for civil liberties and against red-baiting, against segregation and jimcrowism in the South throughout and in the field of education in particular.

The first meeting held in the gymnasium of Southern university, a Negro land grant institution and one of the best in the state, saw more than 2000 students, faculty members and visitors, many white, crowd the place to capacity.

Wallace's major address was on Monday, Nov. 17, when 1500 New Orleanians, Negro and White, jammed Colonial Auditorium and cheered, shouted and applauded as Wallace drove home point after point in his expose of "Wall street and the military" who are today running the government.

The meeting was held in a small auditorium because of the difficulty in obtaining a larger place which would not demand a jimcrow seating policy.

Big Show Slated Dec. 14 for Watts USO Closing Bill

Jester Hairstrom, chairman of the Formal Closing Program of Watts USO on December 14, stated that the committee has been very successful in securing an array of musical talent for this affair and promises a most enjoyable program.

Among those appearing will be the well known Frieta Shaw and her combined chrouses, the Bilbrew Twins, Robert Williams, Sonny Woods, Mansfield Collins Jr., Nicodemus Stewart, Margaret Hairstrom, J. Alvin Brantley, Ablyne Winge, Norman Randell, Florence Brantley, accompanist, and the chairman himself. Mrs. Curtis Albro, an outstanding civic leader of Los Angeles will deliver the principal talk on "USO Comes to Los Angeles."

Awards will be made to volunteers for their many hours of service by the chairman of the operating committee, Dennis Matthews.

Mrs. Odeal Johnson, chairman of the Watts Senior Hostesses and her group of loyal ladies are planning a beautiful reception to follow the closing program.

The USO staff is quite anxious for the public to know that although USO has its formal closing on December 14, the club will not close its program work until after December 26, along with USO clubs all over the country.

The popular couple will return by the middle of January—so, if you have them on your Xmas present list, you had better hold their presents until January.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Flying Squadrons to Canvass Eastside Districts in Chest Financial Campaign Wind-up

Entering the final phase of the 1947 campaign, the Community Chest districts on the East Side laid plans this week for special "flying squadrons" of solicitors to recanvass areas that have so far received little or no attention.

Objective will be to boost collections to the 100 percent mark of district quotas, according to Bernard F. Jefferson, chairman of Adams-Central. Other plans, as yet tentative, pending a meeting of district chairmen next week, call for the maintenance of volunteer campaign structures to keep the campaign rolling until the "last cent of the $7,322,240 goal is reached."

District chairmen from throughout the city will meet next Wednesday noon at the Biltmore hotel for a special leadership conference. Main topic of discussion will be of ways and means of reforming the special solicitor groups and the continuation of the Red Feather Appeal. Edward R. Valentine, general campaign chairman, who called the meeting, will speak.

Again the story of progress of the two Eastside campaign sectors is a mixed one. Gains were realized in both, however, as chairmen reported the following:

Adams-Central now has 90 percent of goal with a total of $7017 collected, representing 1190 subscribers.

South Park has 44 percent of its goal, a nice gain over last week, with total collections to date of $1206. Mrs. Peach reported 546 subscribers have pledged their support of next year's welfare program by their contributions.

Bill of Rights Anniversary Obervance Mon.

Monday, December 15, will be observed as the 156th anniversary of the Bill of Rights, first 10 amendments to the Constitution of the U.S., with southland ceremonies in charge of Joe Crail, chairman of the committee for the last 7 years. Ceremonies on the Los Angeles city hall steps, and in courtrooms of municipal, county, state and federal jurists will feature the actual anniversary of the signing of the document which guarantees freedoms to all Americans.

Bill of Rights Week begins Tuesday, December 9, with groups all over Southern California devoting programs to the Bill of Rights and distributing copies to members. Col. Frank P. Doherty will address the Advertising Club of Los Angeles on this date.

Wednesday December 10, will be dedicated to Freedom of Thought and Opportunity with schools, high schools, colleges and universities conducting assemblies and classroom exercises on the Bill of Rights. The Los Angeles Breakfast Club will also observe the day with an outstanding speaker, Col. Herbert L. Herbert.

Thursday, December 11, will be devoted to "The Veteran and The Bill of Rights" with an augmented meeting of the Los Angeles Optimist Club at the Biltmore, arranged by Joe Micciche of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors.

Friday, December 12, publishers and radio executives will assemble at the Ambassador to hear Col. Rupert Hughes, eminent historian, discuss "The Bill of Rights Today."

Saturday and Sunday, December 13 and 14 will herald "Freedom of Worship" with leaders of all faiths participating in their individual churches.

Alhambra High school will stage a dramatic sketch on December 9 before the Los Angeles county board of supervisors. On the Los Angeles city hall steps December 15, Los Angeles City college will present a pageant showing the signing of the Magna Charta, ratifying of the original Bill of Rights, and approving of the G.I. Bill of Rights.

Progressive Groups Give Lie To Tom Clark's 'Subversive' Tag

National and local offices of progressive organizations named on Atty. Gen. Clark's blacklist today had branded Clark's action as "war hysteria" and "violative of the constitution and elementary democratic procedure."

The International Workers Order, an interracial fraternal insurance organization, pointed out that Clark's action was taken without giving the organizations listed a chance to defend themselves, and declared it was "initiating the necessary legal action against Mr. Clark's attempt at character assassination."

Howard Koch, last chairman of the defunct Hollywood Writers Mobilization, cited its Treasury award for selling war bonds and its postwar work for rehabilitating veterans.

"On the basis that Japan and Germany were our enemies," Koch said, "the Hollywood Writers Mobilization record is one of outstanding patriotism.

"Some people today apparently go on other assumptions and in their eyes organizations with such records are subversive."

William R. Bidner, executive director, Civil Rights Congress division, Mobilization for Democracy, said:

"This blacklist is directed not only against government employees, but it is a part of the big-lie method to discourage the organization and will of the American people to implement their civil and democratic rights."

Somewhat bewildered was Walter Schneppe, local head of the Nature Friends of America, who explained that their main activities are hiking and skiing.

"We aren't affiliated with any political organization," he explained, "but of course we do have progressive ideas in political matters."

Post Commander Harold Hoff of the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade said "we were called subversive from the moment we set foot in Spain (to fight Fascism) and we have been called subversive ever since by those who do not hide the fact that they are Fascists.

"If Mr. Clark wants to place himself in the same position as these Fascists, then we will accept his interpretation of our fight for democracy," Hoff continued.

"In view of our record and fight for democracy in Spain and since, we are learning to bear such labels, after considering their source, like a medal."

The American Youth for Democracy declared, "It appears that today any organization that has as its goal the ideals of the late President Roosevelt is to be considered 'subversive'."

Although his union was not included in Clark's blacklist, Samuel J. Berland, international representative, CIO United Public Workers, said:

"As long as there is a blacklist, which presumably can be added to, you cannot avoid the feeling of being witch-hunted.

"Actually, this just adds up to a gag rule for federal employees, who will be afraid to join anything, sign anything or belong to anything."

Uhl Again Warns of Diphtheria Menace

Warning that the diphtheria toll usually climbs in the cold months ahead, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, yesterday repeated his plea that Los Angeles parents have their children immunized immediately.

"Our death toll from this disease now stands at 22, while more than 200 have been stricken since January 1," Dr. Uhl said. He urged that family doctors be contacted for the protective immunization.

Congress Sabotaged C. Valley Project, Says Helen Douglas

WASHINGTON — There's no mystery about the work stoppage on dams, canals and power plants in California's Central Valley—the 80th congress simply failed to provide the necessary funds, Rep. Helen Douglas said yesterday.

She pointed out that the congress, in the name of economy, saw fit to reduce to $9,141,228, the 20 million dollars requested by the President.

A few of your representatives from California warned that this appropriation was wholly inadequate and that it would force a shut-down of work before the year was over," Rep. Douglas said. "We pointed out that having to stop and then start work on dams, canals, and transmission lines is no economy but will cost more to complete the same work. It is sheer insanity."

She recalled that an amendment offered to provide the necessary funds was defeated by a vote of 197 to 140, with only nine Republicans voting for it. Of 11 California congressmen voting for the funds, nine were Democrats. Ten California congressmen voted against the fund; all Republicans.

JEWISH ORGANIZATIONS

The American Jewish Committee and the Jewish organizations joined in the brief it filed, pointed out the dangers to our democratic life arising from racial residential segregation and stated that under the covenants now before the court, George Washington Carmer, former Justice Cardozo of the U. S. supreme court, and Lin Yutang, prominent Chinese author, could all be excluded from living in any area of our country by our order enforcing a restrictive covenant.

Many of the organizations filing briefs pointed out that enforcement of covenants violates fundamental moral concepts upon which our government is founded. The Congregational Christian Churches of the U. S. asserted that the pattern of segregation is "a violation of the gospel of love and human brotherhood."

The NAACP brief in the Michigan case claims that restrictive covenants are illegal under the provisions of the United Nations Charter which is a treaty and therefore the supreme law of the land. This position is supported by the briefs filed by the Anti-Nazi League and the American Association for the United Nations.

Other briefs filed include three lawyers representing minority property owners in cases pending in California, the American Jewish Congress, the Human Relations Commission of the Protestant Council of New York and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The department of justice is also expected to file a brief.

Sheriff Jewell said, "I want to assure you and your organization that the sheriff of Los Angeles county will not tolerate any mob rule or intimidation of any of the citizens of this county, irrespective of race, creed or color.

"We have assigned a colored officer to make a thorough investigation and ascertain the names of the people who threatened Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King. I feel sure we will have a report before long."

Detective Robinson said he has talked to neighbors of the Kings and surrounding property owners. He stated that all persons suspected of leading the mob would be taken to the sheriff's station and held for identification and questioning.

He also said he has ordered a 24-hour patrol of the Kings' home.

clusion of any representative at all from a large group of Negroes, or any other racial group," Black wrote, "indictments and verdicts returned against them by juries thus selected cannot stand."

The court emphasized that its unanimous ruling did not mean that a "guilty defendant must go free." It returned the case to Mississippi courts with a stern warning against "purposeful racial discrimination" in future proceedings.

The decision left the way clear for Mississippi authorities to seek a new indictment and conviction of Patton under "constitutional" jury selection system that does not discriminate against Negroes.

RUSSELL URGES ALL-OUT FIGHT FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

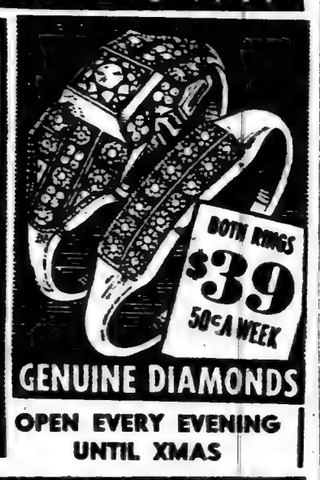
the congressional record, but Joseph Martin, Republican leader of the house, ruled his resolution was out of order.

Commenting on the Report of the President's Committee, Rev. Russell said it stressed what Negroes and other minority groups had known all along: That every minority group has the right to enjoy the same civil liberties as the majority of Americans have; that Americans belonging to minority groups are still being discriminated against today; that there are three good reasons why these recommendations should be enacted into law now. These reasons are: a moral reason, conscience; an ecomonic reason, America's own self interest; and an international reason, the survival of a world now marching to war.

"Right here in Los Angeles there are still thousands of Negroes, Mexicans, Jews, and Catholics who are still being denied jobs because of race or religion," commented Rev. Russell. "Because of restrictive covenants thousands of Negroes are without homes. Negroes are still being lynched in the South, and are denied the right to vote. In areas which are economically depressed, the rate of disease, crime, and fire is much greater than in wealthier areas. The cause of most crime and disease among minorities can be traced to such areas as these."

"The Committee has made its report," said Rev. Russell, "now it is up to us to see that this report is enacted into law. We must see that every non-registered person is registered to vote. We must circulate thousands of petitions to be sent to congress urging the enactment into law these recommendations by President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights."

The need for a new party, the Independent Progressive party, was stressed by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of the California EAGLE. This new party, said Mrs. Bass, will have as its platform the very goals set by the Presidents Committee. She urged all who had not already signed the petition for such a party, to sign at once.



"More than 275,000 valid signatures must be secured before March 1," she warned. "Sign, if you are a registered voter, and want our government really to represent you. If you are not a registered voter, register at once, first thing in the morning. There is a deputy registrar of voters in the EAGLE office, 4071 South Central avenue, every day of the week. Come in. Ask her to help you. She'll be glad to welcome you."

Liberty at Home And Abroad

George Marshall, chairman of the executive board of the Civil Rights Congress, in a letter to United States Attorney Tom C. Clark and to the Loyalty Review Board, condemns in no smooth language the recent issurance of a list of "subversive" organizations by the Attorney General.

Mr. Marshall declares this list is but a World War II version of the notorious Palmer raids which followed World War I.

"Instead of J. Edgar Hoover sweping down upon organizations," he said, "and in the dead of night dragging to jail thousands of men and women without a semblance of legality, we have in this latter-day version the United States Attorney General issuing by ukase a list of "subversive organizations from which the American people are expected to scatter in fear and revulsion."

Mr. Marshall characterized this action as a "crude and open step to one-man dictatorship. It is the natural product of the unconstitutional loyalty order of the President. The purpose of this entire move is to shut the mouths and minds of Americans to a discussion of the vital public issues involving peace or war. It is aimed at stifling the growing movement among Negro-Americans for the free and equal exercise of their democratic rights."

Making public a list of these "subversive" organizations in which ranking high are the Civil Rights Congress, the Progressive Citizens of America, every organization, in fact, fighting today to realize the liberty and freedom which our boys thought they had won when they offered their lives in World War II—is but a more refined and subtle cruelty than dragging innocent persons to jail.

The loss of jobs, the loss of home—hunger, fear, stare in the faces of every worker in the employ of our government. And not the Federal government only. The poison is seeping through all civil service employment. It will creep out into all employment eventually, if not stopped.

Then, when all America is paralyzed by the dictatorial police state, when once free Americans crawl and peep and eye their neighbors in cringing suspicion and fear, will we still have the gall to speak of democracy and liberty for other nations?

"Condemnation by hearsay, conviction without trial or the production of witnesses—these are the inquisitional tools of the Thomas-Rankin Committee which have been adopted by the Attorney General of the United States," says Mr. Marshall.

"Before the United Nations," he continues, "our country profeses firm and unyielding adherence to the rights of the individual. The UN Commission on Human Rights is America's sounding board for a world bill of human rights. Yet at home, today, the American people face perhaps the most violent attack on their simple democratic freedoms."

In other words, we are making great professions of aiding the democracy of Europe to survive. But we are slowly choking it to death at home. More than 300 years ago our forefathers left the shores of Europe to seek liberty and freedom in America. Now the case seems to be reversed. Americans must look to Europe as a place of refuge from the storm of persecution.

The complaints of other countries have been brought to the UN, showing the illegal acts of dictators. Shall America be compelled to stand before that bar of justice, too, arraigned as a nation that destroys liberty and freedom? That makes a mockery of its Constitution which it professes to revere? That makes slaves of its people, even to their very thinking, and stultifies every form of spiritual and scientific growth?

Nothing To Date

The People's Bloc of Communists and left-wing Socialists won out over Premier de Gasperi's party in a hard-fought election struggle for the control of Rome's municipal administration, last Tuesday.

Nothing to date has been said about this election being unfair. The most hard-headed reactionaries will have to give up eventually.

What is it that racism asserts? It asserts that there exist groups of human beings, identifiable by certain physical traits, who, by reason of their birth, constitute some sort of menace to the rest of mankind, and whom mankind is therefore justified in ostracising, punishing, or, indeed, destroying.—Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

After Prayer—Rankin

The Tuesday, December 2 special session of Congress was opened with this prayer offered by the Rev. Russell Wharton Lambert, minister, the First Methodist Church, De Kalb, Ill.:

"Grant to our President, our Congress, our Diplomats, and to all other representatives of our government, the power to discern Thy holy will, that every word and act may be guided by Thy Holy Spirit. Unite us in a Christlike mission to mankind so that Thy Divine purpose may be realized on earth."

A realization of their Divine purpose on this earth certainly can not come through a maze of hatred, of one American segment against another, because of color or racial differences. The enduring peace that the Rev. Lambert prayed so earnestly for will not come to this earth until equality of freedom and liberty comes to all citizens and to all mankind in all parts of the earth.

According to the latest of The New Republic, at the end of the prayer John E. Rankin (D. Miss.) with "a fistful of papers, rose in defense of his friend, J. Parnell Thomas."

Rankin had petitions sent to Congress asking that the Un-American Activities Committee be abolished.

"I am going to read some of the names of the people on that petition," he declaired.

"Rankin spoke forcefully in his harsh voice, peering over the top of his spectacles to see what effect his words were having. The crowded House listened attentively.

"The Un-American Activities Committee, he said, is trying to protect America from 'these people . . . who want to undermine and destroy American institutions and to bring to the Christian people of America' murder and plunder. On the word "Christian" he placed heavy emphasis.

"In tones of sarcasm and contempt, he drawled off a list of movie actors, inserting after each the actor's natal name. His list had been carefully culled. Only those whose born names sounded Jewish or very, very foreign were included—names like Kamisky, Iskowitz, and Goldenberg. After each he paused and peered around to see if his unspoken point was understood. It was.

"Bliedung, Baraniev, and Hesselberg, these are foreigners and Jews, he was saying. These are the only ones who object to the J. Parnell Thomas investigations. That was his unmistable implication.

"Ignored was the fact that actors have always chosen—or had chosen for them—romantic stage names. And ignored too was the more important American precept that all races, nationalities, and religions have been absorbed happily into the creation of our country.

"With mock sympathy for their plight, Rankin spoke of 'the unfortunate Christian people of Europe,' again lingering over the word 'Christian.' That was all. Contentedly, John Rankin sat down.

"The House had received his anti-Semitic speech with intense interest and silence. Perhaps the silence was shocked, perhaps only interested . . . Ponderously the House continued its business, voting to cite each of the 10 Hollywood victims for contempt."

Then, worst of all, the producers who some day, too, may have to stand before that nefarious Committee and be grilled for daring to think, abjectly followed the lead of the Committee and decided to fire those 10 victims of hate.

"The movie producers by their craven capitulation," says the article in The New Republic, "had made the weapon in J. Parnell Thomas' hands more evilly efficent. Now all he needs to do is haul victims before his committee by the hundreds and they are kaput. The producers have helped tie their own noose."

What is going on in the Un-American Activities Committee worries me primarily because little people have become frightened, and we find ourselves living in the atmosphere of a police state, where people close doors before they state what they think, or look over their shoulders apprehensively before they express an opinion.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"De Gaulle intends to establish government by one man in France. I cannot imagine a man who would inspire greater mistrust in me. His entire Free French organization swarms with police spies; he has agents who spy upon his own co-workers. For him, freedom of speech becomes his own freedom of action (without being criticized). How then can one have complete faith in the forces which support De Gaulle?"

This picture of the man who now seems to be the leader of the French people, was painted by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt at a time when De Gaulle was being hailed by almost everyone as the savior of France. He had fled to London after the Germans invaded France, and there organized a French regime in exile and rallied the French colonies to the side of the allies. He described himself as the "leader of all free Frenchmen."

General Charles De Gaulle was born in Lille, France, Nov. 20, 1890. His father was a teacher of philosophy and literature in the College des Jesuites, Paris. He had a decided influence upon the thinking of his son, who intended from his youth to embark upon a military career.

De Gaulle was wounded three times in World War I. He was captured by the Germans at Verdun in 1916, but escaped. After the war he pleaded for the mechanization of the French army, for tanks and all the other equipment which the Germans were gathering together so lavishly. His pleas went unheeded, however. The French leaders were busy building the Maginot Line, considered impregnable, but which the German army, you remember, marched right around and straight into France.

It was then that De Gaulle fled to London. He was considered a "gallant and romantic figure," and was and is described as "tall, melancholy, and handsome," a man who attracts followers and who at one time held the high ideals of patriotism and of the freedom of France as a goal for which to fight.

But, like Caesar, he sees the crown that he could wear, if he would. Or at least he believes he could wear it. And like Caesar, he puts it by each time more reluctantly than the last. He is "very loath to lay his fingers off it." And today, when there seems to be no need any longer for subterfuge, he and his followers are coming out boldly to bid for the dictatorship of France.

Many books have been written about Charles De Gaulle. One of them, "Accuse De Gaulle" by Henri De Kerillis, tells how he had once been an ardent De Gaullist. Until 1943. Then he saw De Gaulle unmasked, and became his enemy.

"While America was giving lavishly of her blood and her money for the great domecratic ideal of human liberty," writes De Kerillis, "General De Gaulle was inclining more and more toward a neo-fascism that was the very thing America had set out to destroy."

"He was dominated by a single idea, a piercing, obsessive and stormy idea, the idea of the New Power whose leader he would be. The problem of liberation became confused in his mind with the problem of setting up the New Power and little by little, slipped into the background. And the idea of the New Power itself underwent changes, constantly being altered and amplified, until at last De Gaulle suddenly uttered the words, "the Fourth Republic," and announced that he would be its president.

So he was launched definitely on the course which would lead to dictatorship. De Gaulle, too, has written books. Ine one, "The Swords Edge," somewhat like "Mein Kampf" of that other dictator, Hitler, he expresses his contempt of the common people.

"Men, at bottom," he says, "are not capable of existing without being directed, and more than without eating, drinking, and sleepig. These political animals need organization, that is to say, order and leaders. . . . And, above all, prestige cannot exist without mystery, for one worships little that which one knows too well." And again, "Evangelical perfection does not lead to empire. The man of action can hardly be imagined without a strong dose of selfishness, of pride, of toughness, of guile."

So—will the world be misled again, as it was by Hitler?

Restrictive Covenants Vs. God

As if right out of the pages of the history of Germany under the thumb of Hitler, comes news of an incident in California, U.S.A.

A Negro congregation in Richmond, Calif., obtained a building permit to construct a new church on the same site where their old church had stood for more than four years. They waited a year before the city council finally granted the permit. But they did not dream there would be any objection to their building a new place of worship. Every Sunday and many times during the week the Negro congregation had gone to worship in the old building, and nothing had been said about it.

Everything was all right at last, they thought, and they were holding meetings to plan the building. Then suddenly without any warning the storm broke. On Monday, December 1, just a week after the building permit had been granted them, a mob of white property holders decended upon the city hall, and demanded the permit be rescinded. The city clerk, who had written the permit to the Negro church, now filed letter, many highly inflammatory and threatening, against the granting of the permit.

The Rev. G. E. Carter is the pastor of the Controversial church, the St. John's Baptist church.

"If democracy means anything we should reap the benefit of it as well as anyone else," says Rev. Carter. "I am not going to give up."

Neither is his courageous wife. "Can we afford to sell our equal rights?" she asked, in response to a suggestion of Mayor Hinkley that they sell their property and locate elsewhere. "Are such rights which we have paid in blood over and over again subject to expression in terms of dollars and cents?"

The California EAGLE wants to shout "Good for you!" to Rev. and Mrs. Carter and to every member of St. John's Baptist church in Richmond, Calif. We know they will put up a stiff and a winning fight. They will have the moral support of every individual in the United States, and in the world, who believes in freedom of worship and freedom of speech.

The reactionary element in America has traveled a long, long way since that soldier of freedom, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, laid down his arms. It may go even farther. But hen it is placing restrictive covenants on a house of worship, it surely seems to be striking right in the face of God. And that sort of crazy action will never stand.

I think you will discover that men who object to abundance for all are remarkably concerned with the spiritual welfare of the underprivileged.—Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

Europe Asks About Wallace

The people of Europe are straining their eyes anxiously towards America, wondering what Americans are going to do about Henry Wallace, and what Henry Wallace is going to do about being a candidate for president.

Well, Albert Dekkar, who acted as chairman at a Democrats-for-Wallace meeting held in the home of Sidney Brown, "Hill Acres", last Monday evening, described the situation very pithily.

"For 16 years," said Mr. Dekkar, "we had been looking to 'Papa' for help and guidance, and doing nothing ourselves. It's about time we let the world, and Mr. Wallace know that we're grown up. If we want Henry Wallace for president, he'll run. But if we fiddle around, expecting him to coddle up to us, he'll do nothing of the kind."

So, again the issue is placed squarely upon the shoulders of the people of America. Do we want Henry Wallace, the man who as Secretary of Agriculture, drew American farms and farmers out of the slump and out of the dust and made them independent and productive again—as the next President of the United States?

If we do, then its about time we said so. Said so in words loug enough to be heard by the despairing peoples of Europe. Said so in actions that will convince this Second Franklin Roosevelt we want him badly because we need him so desperately.

The whole world is going into a tailspin. And like blubbering children, we are crying, "If only Roosevelt had lived." Yet an even greater than Roosevelt is here. But as usual the eyes of his contemporaries are blinded. Why are we blundering so stupidly? Why are we wandering about, stubbornly groping in the dark, when right before us is a leader who, anxiously so selflessly, so patiently that we will scarcely realize we are being led, will take us out of the morass into which we are slipping and guide us into a world that can be a world of peace and plenty, if we but make up our minds we want it so.

Yes, Henry Wallace, we the American people want you as our next president. We need you, need you more than we ourselves realize. Europe needs you. The whole world needs you. The little peoples of all the world are stretching their hands towards you, hoping, praying you will lead this great nation, and so the whole world, to a higher level where human rights shall ever prevail over money and property rights.

The only practical difference between 2,500,000 migrant farm workers in the United States today and the unhappy villeins who toiled out their miserable existence in feudal England, is that the 1947-model serf does not wear an iron collar riveted around his neck, inscribed with the name of his owner.—Harold L. Ickes.

W. J. Wheaton Says

We were suffering from an after Thanksgiving indiscretion and phoned Mary Ann of our condition and sought to cancel our visit, but after some talk she informed me that she had an infallible remedy and that if I would bundle up good and come on over she would guarantee that it would fix that cold. Suffering as we were, the thought of relief was uppermost; so bundling up, as for a trip to the Arctic, we journeyed forth.

Well, the decoction given us was drastic enough to either kill the germs of cold, or kill the patient; it brought a reminiscence of grandmother's day, when she used to dope us with the most distasteful herbs that Dame Nature ever grew. But it did the work, and after taking the remainder upon returning home as directed, the cure was permanent.

Mary Ann appeared to be in one of her philosophic moods, so we encouraged her to talk. "Well, Honey," she began, "you know one night when he talked about churches and such, you said that churches were an asset, or something like that—you said some words that I have to ask little Mary Ann to discover; well, anyhow, you said that churches should have a good influence in the community. I've told you what section of religion I prefer and seek to do my best to do as my conscience directs me. Now, Honey, there is one thing that I detest; and that is a hypocrite. I don't care if it's the preacher, the bottle-totin' deacon, or the lying, mischief-making sister, who is the shoutinest member in meetin'. You can't tell me that they's for good influence, when God and me know better. I ain't judgin,, honey, but what your own eyes see, and your own ears hear, you just got to believe it.

"What's that you said one time 'bout 'every tub on its own bottom?' I certainly believe it. 'Cause I don't believe God hears some of the prayers said by folk who daily break his law; and if the Bible is right, and I believe it is, the breaking of the commandments or committing adultery; lying about your neighbor; stealing, and killing, are breaking laws of man, but are breaking God's law. When that sister or borther prays for some one more worthy in God's sight than he; I often think that if that person is fortunate enough to enter the Pearly Gates, and walk the Streets of Gold, the angels will singe the feathers on his wings so that they will have to stay in one place, and can't fly about to see the glories of the heavens."

We pondered at that weird philosophy. There are two laws, Nature and Necessity, against which revolt is futile. There is a moral insanity, a strange philosophy which activates the thought that egotistical self praise of good deeds mean nothing, and outside of the soul there is no forgiveness in heaven or on earth for knowingly breaking God's law, or knowingly committing sin. Mary Ann brought to the surface a strange theory of life which, no doubt had lain dormant for years in my life. The conscience, the soul, are the arbiters of the future. Whether we be Christian or Infidels, conscientious Faith in what we believe will determine our future, and our destiny.

Politics, national and local, has begun to assume a determined shape. Aspirants for the presidential toga are becoming more vociferous and clarifying their programs for running the government of our "Uncle Sam." The advent of California's Governor Warren has caused no end of excitement in the ranks of the G.O.P. The many expressions of praise from many of the key political states has raised the "Favorite Son" to a national status that bids to grow as the months glide by. Should the governor enter the convention with a sizeable vote, there's no telling the outcome.

In the Gallup Poll, Dewey and Taft seem to have the edge while the "Draft Eisenhower" slogan seems to be declining to a whisper. On the Democratic side, President Harry Truman is so far out in the lead that opposition would seem futile. Yet the Henry Wallace people say that if Harry Truman doesn't be a good boy, and listen to reason, he's liable to receive a political spanking where it hurts. Whether it is from curiosity or no, Wallace has been commanding good audiences wherever and whenever he is billed to speak. "Great Oaks from little Acorns Grow," and the political parties now the major ones, had their small beginnings.

San Francisco's mayor-elect has resigned his judgeship, and is planning his cabinet. By the way, the governor has that appointment to make. We nominate Attorney Walter Gordon for the vacancy. How about it, governor?

There's a Mole burrowing under the Mountain (Board of Education) in San Francisco. If it is enlarged there is liable to be an explosion that may prove a political Vesuvius.

Nevada has a kick coming; she claims that San Francisco scares the big shot criminals to such an extent that they are seeking refuge in the sagebrush of Nevada. Well, that gives the big hat and six gun boys a chance to show their prowess. And, by the way, it might guide the Sagebrush State, which is color-biased, to the realization that all colors than white are not criminals.

The Road to Health

YOUR CHILD'S EARS

By E. P. HENRY, M. D.

"I'm afraid Johnny is going to be a backward child," Mrs. Johnson stated worriedly in answer to my polite query about her eight year old son at a chance meeting one day.

She went on to tell me about Johnny's dullness and his inattentiveness, both at home and at school. She said Johnny was a rather thin, nervous young boy addicted to wandering alone and not playing with other children. Before forming an opinion I wanted to examine him and talk with his mother.

His mother brought Johnny in to my office a few days after our meeting. At first Johnny was sullen and didn't seem to be listening to me. Upon observing him closely, however, I saw that he was straining forward in his chair, as if to hear me better. I dropped my voice to a lower key and kept on talking. Johnny's face became blank, resigned.

I put him through a hearing test and discovered that he was hard of hearing in his left ear. I knew then that the reason Johnny had seemed dull and backward at school was undoubtedly because he couldn't hear what his teacher said. He had drifted into the habit of playing alone because it embarrassed him not to be able to follow his classmates' chatter. I asked his mother if Johnny had had any recent illness.

"He had a bad head cold a few weeks ago," Mrs. Johnson answered. "He had an earache all the time, but it went away."

Johnny's left middle-ear had become infected when he had the cold. Although he had recovered from the cold, the left middle-ear infection had not cleared up and his hearing was blocked. We then treated the infection and soon Johnny could hear from his left ear again. Fortunately, the infection was detected in time to prevent serious damage.

It is extremely important for parents to remember that a simple cold may have lasting effects. A child should always be examined thoroughly for signs of hearing loss following illnesses involving the nasal passages, ears and throat. The danger signal of an earache cannot be ignored.

Any one of the childhood diseases may affect hearing. Lack of proper food and vitamins, swimming and diving under water, improper blowing of the nose, injury to the ears, all are contributing causes to deafness. Parents should watch closely for any signs of hearing trouble and immediately seek medical advice.

If a hearing defect does develop, in spite of precautions, the child should be given sympathetic help on the part of teachers and parents to help him overcome his handicap. If the hearing defect is serious enough, the child shoul dgo to special classes and learn to read lips.

Religious Magazine Backs Campaign for Amnesty for Conscies

CHICAGO—The Christian Century, undenominational religious publication, this week had joined the nationwide campaign for a general Christmas amnesty to the hundreds of conscientious objectors still imprisoned more than two years after the ending of hostilities.

The publication points out that the United States still punishes conscientious objectors, although other nations have declared a general amnesty for their conscientious objectors.

"It is not to the credit of America that conscientious objectors to war are treated with greater severity than are the most hardened criminals," the publication adds.

More than 500 leading citizens, including ministers, professors, authors and labor leaders from all parts of the country, recently petitioned President Truman to declare a general amnesty for the conscientious objectors.

Two years later we wish xtol another local champion he Bill of Rights. His name uperior Court Judge Samuel k.

JUDGE SAMUEL MOSK

It is the judgement of this column that too much cannot be sai dof men who brave whatever makes others cringe and cower in the discharge of their duties on the bench. We are not certain as to just what makes other judges afraid to defend the Bill of Rights in situations where the complainant is a white American and the defendant a black American and where the white American suffers under the delusion that the black American, who has bought and paid for a home, should be deprived of living in his home simply because he is not white. However, whatever may be the fear in the breasts of the many who have fallen down under this test, there is no fear for men of the judiciary of the character of Judges Clark and Mosk.

SHAME, SHAME!

The case in point was brought to court by Rev. W. Clarance Wright, pastor of the Wilshire Presbyterian church, against a wearer of the Purple Heart and others who were incidentally of darker skins than the minister simply who considered it "Un-Christian" of them to want to live among Americans who happen to have been born with skins of fewer pigments! What a Christian!—or is he a follower of the lowly Nazarine! Judge Mosk did not reveal whether he was a church member but he did re? veal that he was a man, an American and an impeccable jurist.

TEXT OF DECISION

"There is no allegation and no suggestion that any of these defendants would not be law abiding neighbors of the community. The only objection to them is their color and race.

"We read columns in the press each day about Un-American activities. This court feel that there is no more reprehensible Un-American activity than to attempt to deprive persons of their own homes on a "Master Race" theory.

"Our nation has just fought against the Nazi race superiority theory. One of these defendants was in the war and is a Purple Heart veteran.

"This court would indeed be callous to his constitutional rights, if it were now to permit him to be ousted from his home by using "race" as the measure of his worth as a citizen and a neighbor.

....."The alleged cause for action here is thus inconsistant with the guarantees of the 14th Amendment. The demurrer is sustained without leave to amend."

These are the words of a true American — a real man and one who squares far more nearly to our concept of a Christian than does any church leader of the stripe of Dr. W. Clarence Wright.

We know of no better way to save our Bill of Rights from oblivion or to preserve our democracy than to fill every American court of law with men such as Judge Stanley Mosk. May his tenure of service be a long and glorious one. In such are our hopes of a happy and prosperous America.

is particularly unfortunate the jury system has not al- served to protect the right e minority member to a fair All too frequently trial by ry of one's peers has no ning for these persons be- e of the complete absence of le of their own kind from lists. While the supreme and other appelate trib- s have reversed convictions by juries selected from from which whole minority ps have been excluded, techniques of exclusion continue to be employed. For example, Pauline Kibbe, in her 1946 study of Latin Americans in Texas, states:

"In an estimated 50 counties where the Latin American population ranges from 15 to 40 percent, persons of Mexican descent have never been known to be called for jury service, even in the trial of civil suits."

The use of the fee system in many communities—where court officials aer paid in whole or in part from the fines levied—also sometimes stimulates arbitrary arrests and encourages unjust convictions. It is the unpopular minorities again that suffer most from this system, since it is relatively easy for unscrupulous fee-seeking officers to "railroad" such persons to jail. The existence of the fee system and the frontier conditions in certain areas of Alaska contribute to discrimination against Indians and Eskimos in the administration of justice there. The situation is such that federal officials are seriously considering a proposal made by the governor of Alaska to appoint a public defender for those groups.

The different standards of justice which we have allowed to exist in our country have had further repercussions. In certain states, the white population can threaten and do violence to the minority members with little or no fear of legal reprisal. Minarity groups are sometimes convinced that they cannot expect fair treatment from the legal machinery. Because of this belief they may harbor and protect any of their members accused of crime. Their experience does not lead them to look upon the courts as "havens of refuge" for the victims of prejudice and public excitement.

INVOLUNTARY SERVITUDE

Slavery was abolished in this country nearly a century ago, and in its traditional form has disappeared. But the temptation to force poor and defenseless persons, by one device or another, into a condition of virtual slavery, still exists. As recently as 1944, in the case of Pollock v. Williams, the supreme court struck down as a violation of the 13th amendment to the Constitution an Alabama statute which enabled employers to force employes, in debt on account of advanced wage payments, to continue to work for them under threat of criminal punishment. This is one of the more subtle devices for securing forced labor. More direct is the practice whereby sheriffs in some areas free prisoners into the custody of of local enterpreneurs who pay fines or post bonds. The prisoners then work for their "benefactors" under threat of returning to jail. Sometimes the original charge against the prisoner is trumped up for the purpose of securing labor by this means. In still other instances persons have been held in peonage by sheer force or by threats of prosecution for debt.

Since the Civil Rights Section was established in 1939, a widespread decline in peonage and involuntary servitude has occurred. However, the threat has not entirely disappeared. In 1945, the Department of Justice prosecuted a case in which a Negro woman and her ten year old son had been held in captivity by a Mississippi farmer. Forced to work on a farm by day, they were locked in a crude, windowless cabin by night. The mother had made three unsuccessful efforts to escape before federal authorities were informed of the situation. And as recently as 1947, an involuntary servitude case was successfully prosecuted by the federal government in California.

Where large numbers of people are frightened, uneducated, and underprivileged, the dangers of involuntary servitude remain. If economic conditions deteriorate, a more general recurrence of peonage may be anticipated.

THE WARTIME EVACUATION OF JAPANESE AMERICANS

The most striking mass interference since slavery with the right to physical freedom was the mass evacuation and exclusion of persons of Japanese decent from the West Coast during the past war. The evacuation of 110,000 men, women and children, two-thirds of whom were United States citizens, was made without trial of any sort of hearing, at a time when the courts were functioning. These people were ordered out of a large section of the country and detained in "relocation centers." This evacuation program was carried out at the direction of the commanding general of the West Coast Command, who acted under an Executive Order authorizing the secretary of war and the military commander to prescribe military areas from which any person or group could be excluded.

The ground given for the evacuation was that the military security of the nation demanded the exclusion of potentially disloyal people from the West Coast. We have not felt that it would be proper or feasible for this Committee to try to review all of the facts of the evacuation program. We remember well the doubts and fears of the early months of the war and we recognize that the evacuation policy seemed a necessary precaution to many at the time. But we are disturbed by the implications of this episode so far as the future of American civil rights is concerned. Fundamental to our whole system of law is the belief that guilt is personal and not a matter of heredity or association. Yet in this instance no specific evacuees were charged with disloyalty, espionage or sedition. The evacuation, in short, was not a criminal proceeding involving individuals, but a sort of mass quarantine measure. This Committee believes that further study should be given to this problem. Admittedly in time of modern total warfare much discretion must be given to the military to act in situations where civilian rights are concerned. Yet the Committee believes that ways and means can be found of safeguarding people against mass accusations and discriminatory treatment.

Finally it should be noted that hundreds of evacuees suffered serious property and business losses because of governmental action and through no fault of their own. The War Relocation Authority, charged with the administration of the evacuation program, recommended in its final report that some provision be made in federal law that claims for evacuation—caused losses be "considered" promptly and settled with a minimum of delay and inconvenience." Over a year has passed since then.

Also disturbing, though less spectacular, was the issuance by military authority during the recent war of individuaal orders of exclusion against citizens scattered widely throughout the "defense zones" established by the army. These orders rested on the same Executive Order as did the mass evacuation of Japanese Americans. In the case of these individual orders a citizen living perhaps in Philadelphia, Boston, or San Francisco was ordered by the army to move. He He was not imprisoned, for he could go to any inland area. He was not accused of criminal or subversive conduct. He was merely held to be an "unsafe" person to have around. Fortunately these violations of civil rights were not very numerous. Moreover, the army lost confidence in the exclusion orders as effective security measures and abandoned them—but not until more than 200 citizens had moved under military compulsion.

THE LIVING SOUTH

WILL WAR COME NEXT YEAR

I am writing this as the bad old year of 1947 is dying. I grieve not for the year. I grieve for the lives that have been lost in war during these bitter, bloodstained years of the 40's—for more lives that will be lost if our national administration is not checked in its policy of war planning and of supporting ku klux style governments of landlords and bankers throughout the earth.

The national administration, from that son of a Confederate soldier, Truman, on down to the office boys in the state department, assures those who will be called to die that our government wants "peace." Does it want peace or does it want "piece?"—pieces of flesh blown sky high so that American big business can grab off a piece of Europe or a piece of Asia.

Is the national administration planning with Russia—which took the lead among modern nations in outlawing racial and color discrimination — early in 1948? And is it using the still backward, if developing South, as the ku klux base for a ku klux war to establish American "white supremacy" throughout the world?

THE PROOF

I hope not. But two items from Southern newspapers indicate that as much development is being pulled under Truman's white lamb's cloth of "peace" as is being pulled under the white peaked bonnet of Ku Klux Grand Dragon Sam Green in Atlanta, Georgia.

Item 1—Elizabeth Carpenter, Washington correspondent of the Austin (Tex.) American, published at the South's far western boundary, reported on Nov. 17, that "16 Texas plants—built by the government to produce the articles of war—are being kept intact so if an emergency occurs, they can be put into use almost overnight." Miss Carpenter wrote in the same dispatch that "This is part of an overall industrial mobilization plan being carried out by the Department of National Defense——"

Item 2—A story, which I quote from memory and published in the Baltimore (Md.) Sun, at the far eastern end of the South, stated, last spring, that a representative of the army had come to that city and set up with local industrialists an organization for quick war production.

The Sun buried the story on a back page where it would not attract too much attention. As I recall, no announcement of the meeting was made beforehand so that curious representatives of the labor-liberal Negro press might have covered it. But the set-up in Baltimore is reportedly being "coordinated" by one Richard Randall, said to be a figure in "super-patriotic" organizations there.

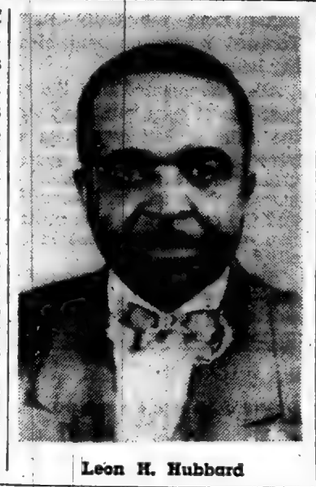
And that's not all of the grave news—it will be graveside news told by the preacher if the war plans develop into actual conflict—that I hear via the grapevine from several areas of Dixie.

I am told that in Oak Ridge, Tenn., the world's great center of atomic bomb manufacture, war sentiment is being disseminated among the white and Negro employes working in this big "company town" of the U. S. government. Curiously enough, the very active "den" of the Ku Klux Klan in nearby Knoxville is also flavoring its tar with war propaganda and boasting that "When we go out to whip the Reds, we'll clean up on the n——rs and Jews and commies in the good old U. S. A."

Miss Carpenter also reported in her story that "a survey of all the nation's industry will be undertaken early in 1948. Officers of the army, navy and air corps will confer with the management of all Texas industry—both large and small—to find out what articles of war the company could produce if necessary."

Why is this "survey" being undertaken in such haste, unless Truman and the kluxers are getting ready for a quick, sudden war that would mean quick, sudden death and quick, sudden fascism.

What's cooking in your pot, Brother Truman? Is it the same mess of blood and tar that bubbles in the cauldrons and lynch fires of the Ku Klux Klan?



Trail Blazers: Leon H. Hubbard

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Nestled among hundreds of beautiful lakes within the environs of metropolitan Detroit is located a small industrial town called Pontiac. Its namesake was the great Indian warrior. In the heart of the Negro community the business area extends an approximate two blocks.

It was in this community that a young lawyer, Leon H. Hubbard, hung his shingle more than 20 years ago. The men of his profession at that time asked, "Is the time ripe for a Negro lawyer?" One of the community leaders answered, "The time is not ripe but we'll make it ripe." However, his career and life in the city have probably answered the question better than any words spoken at that time.

His success was achieved through struggle. Born the son of a minister in Columbia, Louisiana, his mother died of childbirth. He was reared by a devout grandmother. His public school education, such as it is in a four and five month system, was meager until he entered Philander-Smith institute. When he saw the injustices that Negroes were receiving at the hands of whites he became interested in law.

Leon H. Hubbard

One of his classmates suffered an experience which made him more than ever determined. His friend was falsely arrested for gambling at the school while they were merely returning from a college lecture. The student was convicted on the testimony of one white boy over four Negroes.

'4 Myths About Jews' Subject of Lecture Series at B-F Center

The Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly blvd., will present Dr. Herbert B. Alexander in a series of four lectures which will deal with the problems and origins of anti-Semitism.

The series of four lectures entitled "Four Myths About Jews," is scheduled to begin on Monday, December 15, and will continue through Monday, January 12.

Dr. Alexander has been in charge of instruction of sociology at the Los Angeles City college since 1930 when he first introduced sociology on that campus.

The lectures will take place as follows: Monday, December 15, "The Religious Myth"; Monday, December 22, "The Moneylender Myth"; Monday, January 5, "The Radical Myth"; Monday, January 12, "The Introvert Myth."

This lecture series is open to the general public. Registration may be made at the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly Blvd., WEbster 9141.

Allen Bares Numbers Racket

Lottery operators, with an estimated daily profit of $10,000 and a traditional reluctance to pay off, are victimizing East Side residents, Councilman Don A. Allen disclosed yesterday in demanding suppression of their operations.

The 7th district councilman said many of his constituents have complained of being fleeced, one victim asserting he won $669.40 but failed to get his prize.

The theories, Allen said, are based on the numbers game, so prevalent in the East, in which players pick a number of three digits from the daily U. S. Treasury reports on bank clearing house statements.

Allen commented that the appearance of open gambling, with the sale of lottery tickets on streets and in business places, usually indicates "the spread of more serious criminal activities and the presence of a concentration of criminal element in the city."

His resolution was referred to the council's Police and Fire committee for study and report.

Xmas Cards Must Be In Mails Today

All Christmas cards and packages should be in the mail bag in order to insure their arrival before Christmas eve, according to Postmaster Fanning. He stated that the expected big flood of Christmas mail is now pouring into the Los Angeles post office and that the local office cannot possibly hope to deliver all mail on time unless Christmas mailing is completed now.

ous instances where non-white delegates to UN meetings in New York have themselves been victims of discrimination in restaurants and other public places.

The U. S. delegation gave as the reason for its opposition that the resolution was aimed at the U.S. alone and had not included a request for investigation of alleged discrimination elsewhere.

NAACP officials, however, pointed out that the UN charter does not require any such overall examination before action on any particular instance can be taken. Paragraph 3 of article one on the purpose of UN declares:

"To achieve international cooperation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural, or humanitarian character and in promoting and encouraging respect for human rights and for fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion."

The denial of such freedoms to American Negroes is amply documented in the NAACP statement, submitted to UN on Oct. 23 by a delegation led by the distinguished scholar, Dr. W.E.B. Dubois.

Hawkins Named On Scholarship Award Panel

Hon. Alfred E. Paonessa, Superior Court judge, and Hon. C. Augustus Hawkins, member of the State Legislature, have accepted invitations from Dr. Herbert Popenoe of the Administrative Services Branch of the Los Angeles city schools, to serve on the Award Panel, in the law scholarship contest set up by Retail Clerks Union, Local 770.

Five men, all prominent in the community and in diversified fields, will act as judges in arriving at a winner for the $4000 four-year law course in a college of the student's own choosing.

Dr. Popenoe, who is also a USC faculty member, will act as educational consultant to the Award Panel; the judging will be held early in June and the award will be made at term end. Candidates are limited to male high school seniors residing anywhere in Los Angeles county, and only sons of working class parents are eligible to compete.

If all the drivers were placed end to end on a curve, two thirds of them would hop up and try to pass.

How we're preparing for your holiday calls

"The Christmas rush" of long distance calls will be extremely heavy this year. Months ago we began getting ready . . . setting up operators' schedules . . . putting in special tables for extra operators to keep the flood of calls in their proper order and help complete as many of them as possible.

Behind the scenes, chattering teletypes feed information from all over the country to this huge board in our Traffic Control Bureau. In this long distance "nerve center" we help make sure each circuit is working at capacity . . . set up alternate routes to help relieve traffic jams and keep calls moving.

Your holiday calls are important . . . and we'll put through as many as we can . . . but there will be delays on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day — even though our circuits to the East are eight times their prewar number. So if you can call before or after December 24 and 25, you'll find service much faster.

Working together to provide telephone service every day in the year are more than 60,000 people who make up Pacific Telephone. Each has an important part in our mutual task: To furnish the best possible service to the greatest number of people in the shortest possible time.

1947 — WOMEN MERIT CITATION — 1947

DR. VEDA SOMERVILLE—Non Partisan Council activities claimed her efforts during 1947. Educating people to intelligent voting has been her aim as member of the League of Women Voters.

Women Prove Outstanding in Fields of Health, Education, Politics, Religion

The calendar year of 1947 is fast growing to a close. As we look back over the events that have been of vital importance to the community and in certain instances, even outside of the community e have found the names of different omen out in front, giving their all to see that the proper representation was made in governmental, educational, religious, and philanthropic realms.

The West View Hospital plan was named the project of the year in 46. Hoping to bring this dream to a reality, the board of directors organized the West View Women's Guild, Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, outstanding club woman, was elected to the presidency of this sustaining organization. To date, more than $10,000 has been raised through the effort of the guild, working as individual members and through group soleciting. From the 58 charter members who gathered on Jan. 30, 1947, the group has grown to 225 members, and is expected to produce strong leadership during the building campaign of '48. Aside from her work with West View, Mrs. Hicks was elected to the Functional Committee of Family and Adult Service Division of the Welfare Council, Metropolitan L.A. Also to the committee of "Women Released from Jail, a part of the Welfare Council. Mrs. Hicks is a charter member of the recently organized Chapman College Woman's campus club sponsored by faculty women of Chapman College. 1947 found her elected to her 5th consecutive year as chairman of the State Executive Board of Calif. State Association of Colored Women (Federated). Mrs. Hicks served as vice-chairman of the Adams, Central District of the Community Chest.

CHARLOTTA A. BASS—Led fight against Fremont High School riots. Led fight in famous Laws restrictive covenant case.

During the very early months of the year, the eyes of California and many other states were focused on Miss Ernie Mae Maxey, young Negro representative on the Panel of Americans, a group composed of representatives of different racial and religious minorities from the University of California, L. A. campus. Miss Maxey spent three months touring various states, speaking before high school, civic and religious groups. Her main object was to explain different minority problems and to create better race relations. On completing her tour of the states Miss Maxey returned to Los Angeles and immediately became a party of the Council on Inter-Cultural Relations. Under the leadership of Dr. Stewart Cole the committee, as announced by the press recently, is striving to educate teachers in the local school system to better race and inter-cultural relations. Miss Maxey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Maxey of Pasadena, and is a member of Delta Sigma Theta. . . .

The Fremont High School Riot, took front page presidence in papers all over the country. Racial tension, misunderstanding, and segregation were all a part of this menace to democracy. Answering the call of one of the parents of a Negro child attending Fremont High, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, Editor Publisher of the Eagle, was out in front fighting against the Fremont High School case with all her energies. When the case came up before the board of Education Mrs. C. A. Bass answered the call, and offered many helpful suggestions that would work out the Fremont Case in a democratic manner. The "Laws Case," restrictive covenants in general, and the many many other cases that effect the public with special emphasis on the Negro, has won the support of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, who carries the title of "First Lady" of the press.

Health of the nation will always be important. One of the pioneer doctors of the metropolitan district with the city Health Department is Dr. Ruth J. Temple. Dr. Temple serves at South East District Health office with headquarters at the city's South East Health Center, a modern structure completed in 1946. She is medical director and founder of Community Health Association, an Interracial Organization dedicated to the improvement of Health measurers.

Since 1934 she has been in continuous service with the Health department. 1947, again found her in the position of Asst. City Health officer. Dr. Temple's "Health Study Club Plan," and "Disease Prevention Week," which is proclaimed by the Mayor and County board of supervisors, definitely keeps her in the position of an outstanding woman in the community. A graduate of the college of Medical Evangelist, Dr. Temple received a masters Degree in Public Health from Yale University. She as a member of the staff at White Memorial for many years, and is active in the National Health Project of Alpha Kappa Alpha. . . .

With the deep interest of helping people to vote intelligently, knowing exactly what they are voting for, and why, Dr. Veda Sommerville has spent the year 1947 working hard and long as a member on the board of League of Women Voters. A worker in Non-partisian affairs, Dr. Sommerville has been actively interested in encouraging people to participate in their democracy. Her biggest fight throughout the year, has been one of striving to make F.E.P.C. national. Dr. Veda Somerville is local leader of the National Non Partisian Council on Public Affairs of Alpha Kappa Alpha; An Executive Board member of Pilgrim House; Secretary of Family Service of California, a community chest supported agency.

DR. RUTH TEMPLE, as City Health officer, has done great work through South East Health Center.

The name of Mrs. Marie Williams is known by many patients of General Hospital, and by the many christian workers who make up the city's great religious realm. For several years Mrs. Williams worked with the Baptist City Mission, lecturing and paying missionary visits to the many shut ins in various hospitals. Her work knows no racial bounds. Marie Williams may be found, intelligently holding her audiences spell bound, with interesting facts on the work of a missionary. 1947 found Mrs. Williams becoming one of the few paid Missionary Workers of the city.

There are many women who have done outstanding work in 1947. The Social Silhouette of the California EAGLE does not limit the field by summing up this group as the only outstanding women in the community, but it points with pride to the fine records these women have made for themselves and the community in general. In fact, we bow out by saying "Orchids to each of you," may 1948 produce more of your kind.

ERNIE MAE MAXEY—Panel of Americans and Council of Inter-Cultural Relations

WEDDING PORTRAIT—Mr. and Mrs. D. Earl Brown pose for the photographer in their wedding finery following the very elaborate double ring ceremony in which they were recently united. The bride is the former Elaine H. Folse, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Folse.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

HOLIDAY HOSTS AND HOSTESSES have just about reached stage of vying for dates. Gamma Xi chapter of Alpha Phi ernity out on UCLA's campus, is all set to let the collegiate it predominate at Friday night's formal ball. This chapter, oduced through the pages of the California EAGLE a few nths back, has already taken its place with the leading greeks of the city. Paul Weaver is acting as general chairman of the Zee gents week-end, and probably a holiday highlight formal of the season. Stanley Robertson, one of the key members, has already brought to your attention the fact that the lighting effect will be strictly 1948, the music from out of this world, and the general over-all picture, a work of the yuletide gods. In looking over the roster of the smart black and gold invitations, noted the names of Don Barksdale, Alva Taber, both out of the city with their respective athletic interests. Mr. Taber plans to depart Nevada for the incoming week-end, but to date, no hearing has come from Don Barksdale. Donning the "bib and tucker" for the evening will be Albert Jones, chapter president, who will soon bow out from the undergrad picture to take membership with Dewey Davidson, Arthur Mitchell other members of the Grad fold. Of course, Morris Hampton, eral chairman of the recent "Forgotten Student" campaign, l be much in evidence, as will Arthur Lewis, Harry Jones, k Melten, Joe Oliver, Em. Chapman and oodles more of the egiates of whom we hear and read so much.

Jessie Mae Brown

At press time, no definite plans had been formulated for a before or after party, so as per usual, guess the individual ics will hold sway. Jackie Robinson, who was pledged Alpha en he attended UCLA, is planning to make this his first formal nt. Just what his Mrs. will wear is still the fashion question. ch talk is in the air and many plans are being made for day night's first formal of the Christmas season for the colate set.

ITES IN THE MAIL

The Phi Delphians annual Xmas Eve party takes place on a ch smaller scale this year. Invites are already in the mail. l they pleasingly tell of the date, place, and time, on dainty le silver booklets featuring green ink. The affair will be an -nog, lasting from 10 p.m. Xmas Eve until 2 o'clock that special rning. Four officers penned on the invite are: Puffie Hill, sident; Nancy Balch, vice; Jennard Porter, secretary, and rilyn Hudson, treasurer. . . .

SURPRISE

Bette Alston, Johnny's better half, was surprised to tears on urday afternoon, when Gloria Vaughn gathered a group of friends together, with a stork shower, as the main theme on ich to work. Mel Blocker and Kitty Beard arrived on the scene ittle early, and with the aid of Corine Kemp, decorated (artistic- y so) the crib in pink and blue. A little later, Rachel Isum binson (Jackie's better half) arrived wearing a brown suede atcoat that took attention away from the crib a spell, and did bit by adding a gift for the expected Alston debutante. Helen ne Stewart, Josephine Birch, Elizabeth Green, Velma Yarbrough d Florence Nukes made their different entries in time to get "Surprise" que. By the time the honoree of the afternoon ived with her mother, Mrs. Pauline Yarbrough, who had cleverly nned her timing, the girls were already to give out with "Rock Bye Baby." This was too much for Bette to take, so off and throughout the perfectly wonderful luncheon, she tearfully d, "Oh, you kids shouldn't have done all this." Am quite sure of you readers know how real surprise parties effect the norees. Believe me, this one differed very little. Gloria's mother epared the very tasty food, and it was a wonderful party. . . .

While mentioning Stork doings. The Elmer Roberts daughter just about three weeks old now. By the way, Andrew Ross s been experiencing the role of proud papa for just about that g too. Congratulations are in order for both young couples. . . .

20th Century Girls Holiday Party Dec. 28

The 20th Century Girls Club met Sunday with Mrs. Irene Williams who was a very charming hostess.

We are happy to announce Mrs. Virginia Brown is at home and will continue to make handmade articles such as lovely wool sweaters, exquisitely designed sequin pin and earring sets. Any of these articles are sure to appeal to the most fastidious. If any one is interested, please contact Mrs. Mildred Johnson, president. Also beautiful Corde bags are made by Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Amanda Elliott had a rib broken in a street car accident, so is on the sick list again. Mrs. Anna Mae Dugan is in bed with a bad cold. Mrs. Eva Wyatt is much better.

After the business was taken care of, Mrs. Williams showed the way to the bar where Mr. Winsol Glenn excelled as bartender.

The food was fit for a king and was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Williams had as guest, Mrs. Emma Rains, Mrs. Ersula H. Hurschwitz, Mrs. Naomi Clennens, Mrs. Lillian Thompson, Mrs. Jenny Fortune, Mrs. Carrie Parker, Mrs. Tonie Jones, Mrs. Ruth Payne, Mrs. Katherine Raby, Mrs. Beulah Thomas, Mrs. Catherine Sinclair, and Mrs. Martha Brisco whose lovely home was used. Mrs. Brisco succeeded in making every one welcome.

Mrs. Ophelia Watson will be hostess to the Christmas party which will be on Dec. 28 at her home.

Marjorie Scott–I. Williams Speak Vows in Catholic Wedding Ceremony

The marriage of the former Marjorie Scott, daugrter of Mrs. Marguiritte Scott, to Mr. I. D. Williams was solemnized Sunday, Nov. 30, at Holy Name Catholic church at 4:00 p.m., with Father Patrick Dignan presiding the ritual. Marjorie made a beautiful bride in traditional white Duchess satin. Her gown was made and exquisitely hand beaded by her mother. The neckline was inset with a lace-net yoke, beaded in seed pearls. A dainty seed pearl coronet held the quarter length illusion veil in place. She carried a white prayer book covered with orchids, and was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Leslie Scott. Minutes before the wedding march was played, Miss Aminda Haynes sang the beautiful "Ave Maria."

In the entourage were Mrs. Marie Spears, matron of honor, wearing a rose taffeta period style gown with small bustle to the side; she carried a French bouquet matching her dress; Iola Sutton, Jacqueline Wilson, Corrine Ray and Margaret Goode were bridesmaids and wore fuschia colored period style gowns with the bustle effect in the back, with a front draped hoop skirt. They carried French bouquets and wore hats that were made by the bride's mother.

The ushers were: Charles H. Brown, Woody Spears, Collier Bolton, Agnew Scott Jr., and the best man was Rodgers Hurd. The flower girls were Paula Phillips and Adrian Armstone. They were both gowned in white net dresses and wore halo hats to match. The ring bearer was little Michael Armstone.

RECEPTION

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home on S. Arlington. Mrs. Margueritte Scott received in a beautiful blue crepe gown with pink satin hat and gloves to match. She wore a gardenia corsage. The groom's mother was quite charming in a green gown with peach colored hat and gloves to match. She wore an orchid corsage.

Assisting as hostesses were: Winifred Allen, Marion Allen, Ruth Spencer, Earline Hopkins, Mmes. Ella Louise Pruden, Arthur Scott, Victoria Allen, Leslie Scott, and Katherine Reeves.

Preceding the wedding, the bridal party was feted with a bridal breakfast at the bride's home. Mr. Archie McGrew, the groom's brother, feted the newly wed with a party following the ceremony.

The bride is a popular member of the younger social set, having graduated from Manual Arts High, Chapman College. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Her husband is now a student at Sawyer University of Commerce and is to complete his studies as a C.P.A. soon. On returning from their Northern honeymoon, they will be at home to their many friends at their S. Arlington residence.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Honors Carol Brice At Reception Following Concert

The eminent singer, Carol Brice, was received with open arms by her Los Angeles audience Sunday. She sang before an appreciative group, and the recognized critics of the city have given her the type praise that will carry her to the top as one of America's greatest singers.

Though Miss Brice has appeared in Los Angeles once before as a guest singer, Sunday's performance marked her debut as a concert singer on the West Coast. Much of the credit for the success of Sunday's concert goes to the sponsoring group of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority women who brought Miss Brice, who is a member of the sorority, to Los Angeles. Ursula P. Murrell served as general chairman of the Carol Brice Committee for Alpha Gamma Omega, hostess chapter. Other committee members included: Jessie McDaniel, secretary; Loucille Robertson, treasurer, and co-chairman of souvenir program advertising; Loucille Bonnett, ticket committee chairman; Dorothea Fearonce, publicity and souvenir program advertising; Jeane Mae Brown, souvenir program; Zenobia Allen, patrons list, assisted by Naida McCullough; patrons rtception, chaired by Carol Boswell and Exie Lee Hampton. Catherine Thompson, Ethel Branham, Dorothy LeDoux also served on the committee.

PATRON RECEPTION

Between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m. more than 500 patrons to the Brice concert and a large group of friends attended the reception given by Alpha Kappa Alpha honoring Miss Brice. In the receiving line were: Audrey B. Jones, Far Western regional director of AKA; Atty. Martha Malone Jefferson, Basileus of the hostess chapter; Ursula P. Murrell, chairman of concert; Zenobia Allen, Supreme officer of the sorority. Gwendolyn Duseau represented Alpha Gamma chapter of AKA, and Dolores Bell represented Sigma chapter. Pouring at different intervals, at the appointed table were: Dr. Veda Somerville, Mrs. Edith Jones, Mrs. Bernice Barnum and Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton. Mrs. Ann Gordon received at the door, while Essie Tucker, Catherine Graham, Dorothy Reed, Georgia Payton and the complete membership of the Alpha Gamma Omega chapter served as general hostesses. Ivy Leaf Pledge club members of USC and UCLA also assisted.

The charming Miss Brice, and her brother, Jonathon Brice, were house guests of Dr. Veda Somerville throughout their stay in Los Angeles. They left Tuesday morning for Oakland, where Miss Brice will be presented. Her next stops will include Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma City, and home in New York with her family for Christmas. After the holiday at home, she will make a return trip to the coast, to sing with the San Francisco symphony orchestra.

Toys Pour in for Doll League Children's Party

Doll League Charity club received a donation from Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman last week. The president and secretary of the Doll League Charity club dropped into Dr. Kaufman's office and explained to him that the club was staging a drive for dolls and toys which are to be given away to children of families who are in need. Mrs. Kaufman has been collecting toys for the Doll League Charity club for the past few years.

When the league representatives explained this charitable work to the eminent physician, Dr. Kaufman immediately got excited and wanted to know why this great work was not brought to his attention sooner. He said: "This is my work, this is my life, this is what I put in 24 hours a day — helping bring children into thi sgreat world. I do not understand why I have not been contacted sooner about this work. Grown people can take care of themselves, but when it comes to children, it is up to us to help. My wife explained to me that Mrs. Mary Raymo of the B'nai B'rith Women's Grand Lodge, District No. 4, has contacted her 1200 members, and also Mrs. Leo Phillips, president of the Cheerful Helpers for Handicapped Children, and Mrs. S. Horowitz, former president, whose husband is the owner of the Interstate Restaurant Supply Co., and Mrs. Joe Morris, former president of the Cheerful Helpers, is trying to get dolls and toys. So with all of these various organizations cooperating and working together, they should easily get 1000 dolls."

"Now coming back to me," says Dr. Kaufman, "I want to make my donation today."

So the physician who has brought hundreds of children into this community, took the league members to one of the big stores of the city, walked up to the counter, which was loaded with dolls, and said "I will buy every doll on this counter," and he immediately paid for them and had them packed and delivered to the Doll League Charity club, to be given away to the unfortunate children.

Since then Dr. Kaufman has ordered 5000 metal plates the sibe of a half dollar with the Lord's Prayer stamped on them. Every person reading this article today is asked to tell his friends as well as himself to come down and get one of these beautiful souvenirs to carry with them at all time. Go to 106 N. San Pedro St., Los Angeles.

Contact Mrs. Grace Ware, treasurer of the Doll League, 4451 Mottler St., CE. 2-4145, for all dolls or toys. She will come out and pick them up at any time—DAY OR NIGHT.

Reception Given Bridal Pair

On Sunday, Dec. 7, Mrs. Alice Goodlow honored her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray J. (nee Priscilla Simmons) with a wedding reception between the hours of 3 to 10 p.m.

A host of friends gathered to felicitate the recently married young couple. The bride received in a gown of pink crepe with orchid corsage. Mrs. Goodlow wore black trimmed with sequins. She was assisted by Mrs. Bernice Moten, who also wore black.

Both the bride and groom attended Los Angeles schools. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ray Sr. They will be at home to friends at 5611 Hooper ave.

Myers-Whiteside Vows Said In Lovely Home Ceremony

The home of Mrs. Virginia Whiteside was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday, Dec. 7, at 3 p.m., when her daughter, Helen Marie, became the bride of Edgar Myers, with Rev. A. J. Iverson officiating. Palms, candelabras, mums, gladiolas and pink rose buds, decorated the house.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Herman Thomas. She chose a beautiful gown of pale pink satin. Her delicate pink tulle veil was studded with pearls and she carried a prayer book covered with bovardia and gardenias.

Mrs. Margurite Samuels, sister to the bride served as attendant. Darl Williams was best man. Mr. Ozzie Robbinette sang "Because," accompanied by Mr. Andre Green, who also played the wedding march.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's mother received in a turquoise gown, trimmed in silver sequins. The bridegroom's mother was quite charming in an afternoon toupe suit. Phyllis Holder, Sheron Clemons and Leonard Clemens assisted.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple will reside at 1265 E. 41st st.

Beulah Johnson Millinery To Go National in 1948

One of Los Angeles' leading milliners, Beulah Johnson, featured a pre-Christmas showing of exclusive styles in chapeaux, Sunday, Dec. 7, between the hours of 12:00 noon to 2:00 p.m.

Pastel felts, in all the latest shapes, and sizes, were displayed by four models, who represented the average woman. Outstanding was the pastel biege tone with roses that faded into brown shades, modeled by Elenore Taylor. Mrs. Johnson has named this hat "A Toast to Brown." Feathers proved all important, and the Quill and Bill, artistically draped to the shoulder brought the approval of the guests. Other outstanding creations that will probably be copied included a pastel green, featuring pink rose buds, and a jewel trimmed maroon felt modeled with grey. The popular profile hat was adorned with the expensive plumes. All of the hats carried the Beulah Johnson touch, that by now, is well known by women particularly interested in millinery.

Mrs. Johnson has been doing exclusive millinery for five years in Los Angeles. She is a product of the Los Angeles millinery schools, and is also doing personality designing. In the new year of 1948, she plans to launch out on a national scale.

Aside from the Beulah Johnson Millinery, the fashion spotlight was shared with the exclusive fur designing of Arkin and Freeman. Ethel Boyd, presented several changes in her smart dress designing, while the new Brown Angel cosmetic firm gave a brief lecture and display of the new line of cosmetic goods.

Most of the fashion showing was done without models. Each room in the smart South Los Angeles home carried a display from each designing field represented. When commentating was necessary, Faustina Johnson, in her own manner, gave the high points. The four models used at different intervals included: Elenor Taylor, Gertrude R. Hicks, Lillian Giles, and Thelma Houston. Among the style conscious women attending the very exclusive showing were: Hazel Saunders, Katie Fillmore, Bertha Berrad, Jewell Richardson, Juanita Bell, Maude Grades, Lula Brown, Mrs. Homer Brothers, Designer, Maude Knight, Beulah Wyndon, Edna Mae Grovers, Asia Stewart, Marjorie Bruce and a host of others.

Mrs. Ruth Brown presided at the piano, and Doris Hinkerson sang the bridal hymn. Fred Scott also rendered a bridal hymn.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. M. Fortier, 2036 E. 110th street. Hostesses at the affair, that was attended by several hundred of the couple's friends, were: Doris O'Neal Bullock, Ruth E. Hardemon, Janet Stafford, Phyllis Hall, Mmes. Sammie Stokes, Lattin, Willie Finley and Ina Howard.

The entire wedding was under the direction of Mrs. M. Griffin.

The bride, a graduate of Jordan High school, is the granddaughter of the late Riley Brown, old pioneer family of Los Angeles.

Widows, Orphans Inspire New Club

A group of diligent workers of Victory Baptist church pooled their thoughts on Aug. 17 and organized the "Just Us" club, with the sole purpose of helping to support distressed widows and orphan children. The first meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pensan, 4300 Hooper ave. Mr. E. W. Williams, one of the business men on the eastside district, may be considered the key organizer of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Pensan have opened the doors of their home as headquarters and regular meeting place for the club that meets every two weeks on Saturday night at 8 p.m.

The goal of the club is to bring sunshine to the old and lonely persons. The motto is to contribute to the relief of poor, distressed widows and orphans.

SHOPPING WITH DORIS

KINLOCH'S ☆ KORNER

Dedicated to the memory of John Kinloch, who died in the struggle to destroy Fascism

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

The most dominating problem facing youth today is the pro- of compulsory military training for youth, upon their reach- 18 years of age. The plan was so introduced that it has cted the attention of some of the leading, or so-called lead- eople of our nation. And since that bill has been introduced, all over the nation have had one of their worst headaches time.

One of the men heading the fight in favor of this train- is none other than the man who heads the Hearst news- ers. They have, and are, vigorously defending their ideals opinions as to the need for the training. But I do not a grudge against anyone for fighting for his cause. This the point: compulsory military training for 18 year olds is the thing that America needs today. The training is the t setting up step that will lead to another vicious, bloody r. Hearst, and the other rich-ards, are trying to make fools the common people, the common American boy, by sticking n out on battle fronts to be killed and butchered when y bring on another war. Many of the boys don't even w what they're fighting for.

wice in a generatiin, there have been wars that stripped ommon people of their lives and happiness, the pursuit of iness. Twice in the recent past we, the common working of people in the nation, have slept while someone else put thing over on us. This time we are going to stand up and back in every way we know how, not tomorrow, but today. was even more impressed by the speed with which the t papers are going about this campaign for compulsory ng. They have been building and working on the project me time, trying to unite and influence the minds of the e in their favor. By getting ten million signatures into ington, in favor of the training, they can spur the reaction- 0th congress into action. Who can say that the 80th con- will not pass the bill? We have seen some of the things that bunch of reactionaries have done. We have seen how swept the Taft slave bill into effect, and tried as they might a lot of other things just as reactionary. They have done a few things. We must not sit back, idly, and say that bill will not be passed by the 80th congress.

notice how the very same papers are seemingly trying to Russia in the lower bracket of the American minds. It is stant topic, and almost every day there are bitter cartoons e same nature printed by the papers. Not long ago, I heard io broadcast saying that certain Americans are demanding Russia stop the publication of such articles by the Russian It all seems to me to tie in. For a war there must be se . . . that cause, as the Hearst papers seem to see it, is pread of Communism, and the fact that Russia opposes the d States on a great many issues. Now just when is it that ica has become so superior that no other nations are even ed to disagree with our opinions, and to some of the treaties the American representatives sign. The next step, if there be a war, is a ready army, a ready bunch of common man's to be thrown into the grinding, bloody mouth of the war ine as meat is thrown to the circus animals. Such suckers e obtained by pulling a quick one, such as the papers are to pull, operated under the Hearst system.

erhaps, by this time you ask why shouldn't there be com- ry training for youth. And maybe you think that it would and that we would be better protected in case a nation to pull a quick Pearl Harbor.

Vell, here are some of the reasons why there should not be ulsory training. As a 16 year oldster myself, who in two years e one of the draftees, I find that an average of 19 out of 20 oppose the training. They ask why, and so do I, should have to go out and fight and sweat out the life in training s when they haven't the right to vote, and to have some- to say about the preservation of their freedom. At the end war, the nations of the world set out to build a new world world, with peace and brotherhood for all.

he new world was to be planned and built through agree- n the halls and the rooms of the United Nations Security ization. There have been separate branches for dealing with n problems, and although there hasn't been complete suc- n all the proposals, it just goes to show that we are on the track. It goes to show that the nations are really sincere, n earnest about what they are doing this time, instead of neadlongly signing papers that are to mean nothing in the e. The UN was to establish an international army and navy, was to protect and defend together the other nations of the . There is your protection; there is the reason that we will have war, and the reason that we do not need this com- ry training in the United States. America is not big and g enough to bluff the nations of the world into peace. That t the way that peace is going to be accomplished, no matter long it takes us to realize that fact.

expect the military personnel needed for America's contri- n to the international army and navy could be composed lunteers. Along with the other nations of the world, America d perhaps be expected to enlist a million men, and not than five million. In the case that draft does become neces- it would be carried out much the same as at the begin- of the second World War. In this international army and I think that the army personnel should be made up of men nder 21 years of age, and not over 25. There would be a few volunteers between that age limit.

nstead of such an international army, we are being offered iotic plan for the induction of mere school boys, who have even had a taste of real living, and the fruits of life.

nd about that congress that the people elected; I am not g these remarks to some of the voters, as in the 14th district, n other districts, and throughout the nation . . . we had r have care from now forward in our voting. The damage this year is only a preview of what could come to pass.

Here is what you can do, and with care and hurry. Write congressman, and tell him to oppose the proposal for com- ry military training, and do so at the quickest possible date. letters may be addressed simply to "The House Office Build- Washington, D. C." Hearst is making it easy for the people vor of the training, by offering a blanket petition, all ready filled out. But I am depending upon each and every one u, since I have no petitions, to write your letters, and stop lan before it reaches congress, for there won't be time after get their hands on it.

Youth Day Program Here To Spotlight Jackie Robinson

The Jackie Robinson Youth Day program planned for Sunday afternoon and evening of December 21 in the Jordan high school auditorium, looms as one of the biggest star studded entertainment programs seen here in years. Backers of the program report that volunteer artists of outstanding merit are continuing to offer their services to aid the youth of the South Los Angeles-Watts area, in numbers far beyond their faintest expectation.

Officer Robert F. Polk, Coordinator of the 77th Division police deputy auxiliary police, and Frank T. Clarke, prominent civic worker and private investigator, the men in charge of this splendid plan to aid the youth of this area, expressed belief that this year's affair with the celebrated Brooklyn Dodgers baseball star Jackie Robinson in the role of star attraction will by far exceed returns gained from last year's Joe Louis Youth Day program.

Clarke, representing the Watts Community League, one of the sponsoring agencies, told members of the press, proceeds from the magnificent benefit affair will go jointly to the respective youth funds of the Deputy Auxiliary Police of the 77th division police and the Youth Activities League of Jordan high school.

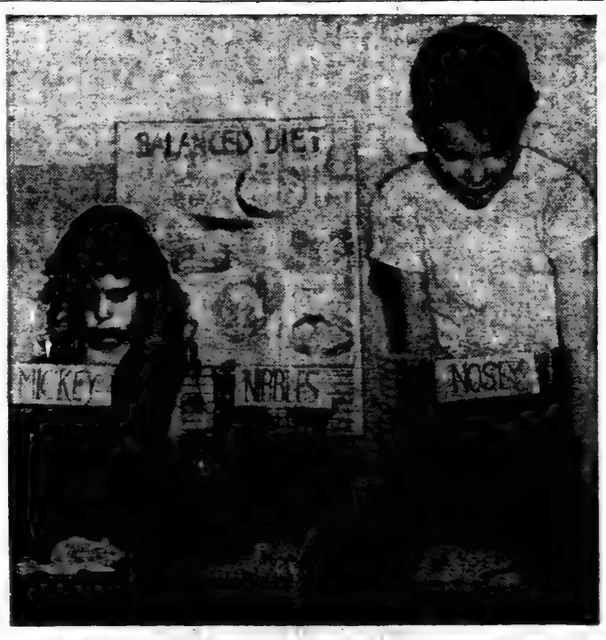
With Leonard Reed as master of ceremonies, stellarlites on the program will include stage and screen actress Louise Beavers, Pegleg Bates, Mabel Scott, Hadda Brooks, Clarence Muse, Betty Martina, Mantan Mooreland, Charles Watterfield, Maxie Thrower, Helen (Miss 5x5) Andrews, Jean Atkinson, Evan Mosby, Johnny Taylor, and other individuals.

Bands, combos and groups include McVoot and McVout, C. P. Johnson and Dexter Gordan orch, LeRoy Broomfield's Bal Taborin revue, Pete Johnson and Joe Turner, Joe Liggin's Honey Drippers orch, Elyse Blythe's All Girl Band, Billy Mitchell and the Shangrala Revue, Roy Milton and His Solid Senders and Laird Bell's 20th Century All-Stars. Musicians appearing on the program, offer their services with the approval of Local 767 Musicians Protective Assn.

Dates Announced For 28th St. 'Y' Cage Tournament

The first Annual 28th street "Y" invitational tournament basketball championship will be held December 17, 18, 19, 22 and 23. Twelve outstanding teams will compete in the inaugural including Avalon Community Center, N. G. Bombers, Griffin Whiz Kids, Pasadena Saints, Monrovia Athletic Club, Glover's Vikings Sir Debuteers, other strong teams in the vicinity and hosting "Y" five.

Following the game on December 23, awards will be picked.



All "Y" members who are interested in pocket billiards (pool) are invited to enter a Black Ball tournament to be staged at the "Y" December 23. Entry blanks may be secured at the Office of the Physical Director.

A table tennis (ping pong) tournament is scheduled for December 30, all players interested may enter this tournament.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Loyalty Under Persecution: Lesson Text and Outline; Revelation 2:8-11; 7:9-17. Motto Text Revelation 2:10.

Introduction

The Book of Revelation in its opening chapters gives first a revelation of Jesus; then a message to each of seven churches in Roman Asia; continuing with praise to God on is throne from those made perfect by the blood of the Lamb; inescapability of the wicked in the day of God's wrath; and the service of the redeemed before the throne in Heaven forever.

Comments

1. Jesus Christ is the first and the last. It is but a little scantling of time that is allowed to us in this world, but or Redeemer is the first and the last. He is the first, for by him all things were made, and he was before all things with God and God himself. He is the last, for all things are made for him, and he will be the judge of all. This surely is the title of God, from everlasting and to everlasting, and it is the title of one that is an unchangeable mediator between God and man, Jesus, the name yesterday, today, and forever. He was the first, for by him the foundation of the church was laid in the patriarchal state; and he is the last, for by him the top-sfone will be brought forth and laid in the end of time. He was dead and is alive. He was dead, and died for our sins; he is alive, for he rose again for justification, and he ever lives to make intercession for us. He was dead, and by dying purchased salvation for us; he is alive, and by his life applies this salvation to us.

2. Though the church of God is but a little flock, in comparison of the wicked world, yet it is no contemptible society, but really large, and to be still more enlarged. In acts of religious worship we come by night to God, and are to conceive ourselves as in his presence; and we must come to God by Christ. The throne of God would be inaccessible to sinners were it not for a Mediator.

Comment on the Motto Text

The people of God must look for a series and succession of troubles in this world, and their troubles usually rise higher. By being faithful the Lord will grant us a reward. He has said it that is able to do it; and he has undertaken that he will do it. They shall have the reward from his own hand, and none of their enemies shall be able to wrest it out of his hand, or to pull it from their heads.A crown, to reward the Christians for their poverty, their fidelity, and their conflict. A crown of life, to reward those who are faithful even unto death, who are faithful 'til they die, and who part with life itself in fidelity to Christ. The life so worn out in his service, or laid down in his cause, shall be rewarded with another and much better life that shall be eternal.

Final Rites Friday For Mrs. Ramsey

The sudden passing of Mrs. Ida Louise Ramsey came as a shock to her relatives and friends this week.

Mrs. Ramsey died Sunday evening at 10:30 o'clock, at her late home, 651 East Santa Barbara street. She had attended church services Sunday evening. After church in the company of Rev. Randolph, a close friend, she had dinner at a near-by barbecue cafe, and then returned to her home. Shortly thereafter she succumbed, presumably from a heart attack.

Mrs. Ida Ramsey

Mrs. Ramsey was a pioneer Los Angeleno, having lived here for forty years. She was a member of the Second Baptist church, and many church and civic organization. She is survived by a brother, Thomas Murden; an aunt, a nephew, and many other relatives, and a host of friends.

Services for Mrs. Ramsey will be held at the Second Baptist church, Friday, December 12, at 1 p.m. Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Marietta Canty to Highlight Gala Hatter-Williams Community Chorus Program at Masonic Hall, Dec. 17

A night of music and fun with the Hatter-Williams Community Chorus, much anticipated gala fall event, is slated for the Mason c Hall, 1050 East 50th street, Wednesday, December 1, at 8 p. m.

This will be a program that will be vastly different, it is promised. "Thrill to the beautifully interpreted and superb renditions of the Hatter-Williams Chrous as their voices are rasied in triumphant splendor in spiritual and gospel songs as only Prof. R. Lemuel Hatter can interpret them," says the committee.

To highlight the evening's entertainment the chorus will present the famous Marietta Canty, celebrity of stage and screen, as director of a one-act comedy, "We Are Dressing." The cast, in the orde rof their appearance: Lillyann Howze as Polly Andrews, the daughter; Evelyn Jones, the mother; James Rattler as Fred Andrews, the son; R. Lemuel Hatter as Homer Andrews, the father; Adell Smith as Felicia, the Andrews' maid; Clarence Smith as Greg Millard, son of the town's wealthiest citizen; Gertha Love as his sister, Joan; and Benjamin Porter as Ivan Konrad, a business man.

Marietta Canty was born in Hartford, Connecticut, where her mother, father, three brothers and one sister still live. She had at first chosen nursing as her professional career, but when a successful audition for the "Hall-Johnson Choir" secured her an important role with the famous production, "Run Lil' Chillun," nursing was given up and an active theatrical career was born.

In 1941 Miss Canty was brought to San Francisco for a part in a stage production, "No Time for Comedy." Her performance was so brilliant that Henry Duffy insisted that she be given a screen test in Hollywood. This led to a movie career that so far has produced more than 26 screen credits, including "The Searching Wind," "Lady in the Dark," and "Dear Ruth."

Miss Canty has also found time for considerable radio work and concert appearances (including Carnegie Hall) with the Hall-Johnson Choir. All told her work on stage and screen measures nine years, including Broadway and summer stock.

During the war Miss Canty was actively engaged in work for the Red Cross, and the War Fund Victory Chest, for which she was awarded several citations. Teaching a Sunday school class and being president of the hurch choir fill the remainder of her time. She is working currently for Columbia's studio on "The Best Man Wins."

Sololsts appearing on the Hatter-Williams program are: Miss Audrey and Mrs. Hazel Williams, sopranos; Mrs. Helen Carson, contralto; Rev. Earl A. Pleasant, tenor; and R. Lemuel Hatter, baritone.

Mrs. Myrtle Chatman, inspiring dramatic reader, will render several selections.

And if you haven't heard the "Acapella Remale Octette" and the "Mount Moriah's Male Ensemble," don't miss this treat. Proceeds will go to charity.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to extend our appreciation and thanks to our many friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the illness and death of our darling mother, Mrs. Adeline Spellmon. We especially thank Rev. I. E. Evans, and Doctors E. I. Robinson and A. J. Booker. May God bless each of you for your kind expressions, comforting words, flowers, and telegrams.

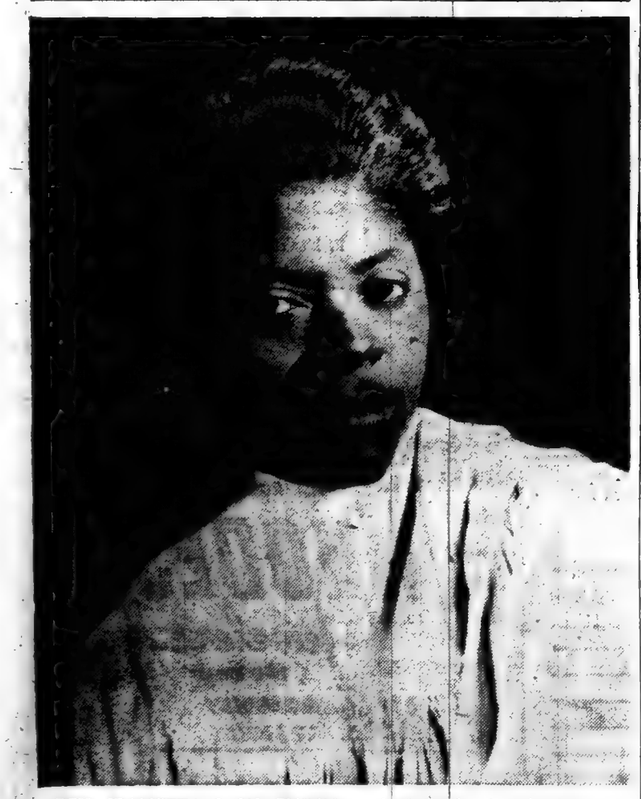
Willie Mae Smith In Concert At Opportunity Church Dec. 12

Willie Mae Ford Smith, of St. Louis, Mo., one of the greatest gospel singers will appear again by popular demand at the Opportunity Baptist church, 2308 Griffith ave. (Cor. 23 and Griffith, up-stairs) Friday night, Dec. 12, beginning at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. Smith is known from coast to coast as one of America's favorite and outstanding gospel singers.



The pastor, Bro. E. D. Smallwood, and church launched a 10 week $10,000.00 building drive, askin the members and friends to "Try God" for ten weeks in giving of tithes and offerings. We are grateful to both God and man for the many pledgers who are helping to make the drive a success, and we are praying for others. Will you "Try God" for ten weeks? We are inviting you to attend Los Angeles fastest growing church, "The Old Fashioned Church of the West." Where crodws throng Opportunity both morning and evening to hear the gospel in songs and the dynamic pastor in a series of sermons on "The Holy Spirit." Sunday morning, Dec. 14, 11 a.m. subject: "The Effects of the Baptism of the Holy Spirit"; 7:30 p.m. "The Power of the Spirit. Dec. 21, 11 a.m. "The Gifts of the Spirit"; 7:30 p.m. "The Teaching of the Spirit." Dec. 25th, Christmas morning, 5:30 a.m., "The Work of the Spirit." and Dec. 28th, "The Fruit of the Spirit. We are inviting you to worship with us. Watch meeting night, Dec. 31st, from 9:30 p.m. to 12:05 a.m. Then journey with us to the Second Baptist, one half block to an "After Service", where you will hear all of the leading Gospel singers in a battle of songs. Singing praise to God for being spared over another year. Given by the Opportunity and Mt. Moriah B. C. churches, if you go to your church, don't forget "The After Service" beginning at 12:15 a.m. until—?. Bro. E. D. Smallwood, pastor.

Seeks Whereabouts Of Negligent Father

NEW YORK—The National Desertion Bureau, Inc., 105 Nassau St., New York 7, N. Y., this week was seeking the whereabouts of Charles Cole, described as about 48 years of age, 5 ft. 5 inches tall, and last known to have been employed in the Kaiser shipyards in Richmond, California.

Cole's whereabouts is sought for the purpose "of approaching him on the question of resumption of support payments for his minor son, now three years of age," the Bureau said. The child is currently being supported by the Bureau of Public Assistance of Los Angeles.

With a baby born every 12½ minutes in Los Angeles, 1947 will be an all-time high for births here, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, reported yesterday.

REV. JEANETTA O. W. CHINN reads daily, healing by laying hands on the sick. Receive your message as you enter. Rev. Chinn may be contacted through her secretary, Mrs. Sylvester Lenwood, 1862 East 41st Place, or by telephoning AD. 1-8292 and AD. 6060.

St. James Church Seeks Financial Aid

The St. James Baptist church, 1137 East 40th place, is suffering a severe financial strait because of a judgment handed down Nov. 20.

It seems that back in 1944 there was a service rendered by an attorney to remove a former pastor from the pulpit, for which he charged the enormous fee of $2500. Because of the matriculation of some former members, some of whom have been turned out, and for the lack of efficient counsel, this judgment was the result.

The small membership of St. James church is spending some sleepless nights. They have only 10 days in which to raise this amount. They are asking the churches in the city to assist in any way to save this membership from the embarrassment threatening them. Rev. M. J. Gipson is the pastor.

Guest Speakers at Brown Temple Sun.

The Rev. T. J. Hutcheson of San Diego will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. worship services at Brown Temple A.M.E. Zion Church, 1201 East 43rd St., Sunday, December 14th.

Rev. Hutcheson is a young man who possesses exceptional qualities as a pulpiteer and singer.

The Brown Temple Choir, under the direction of Mr. Floyd E. Howard, Minister of Music, will offer the singing.

At the 7:45 p.m. Evangelistic Services, the sermon will be preached by Rev. Julia Drake.

Rev. K. L. Buford, pastor of the church, extends to all a cordial welcome to attend these services.

Baha'i News

"Divine Springtime" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Charles McAllister at the local headquarters of Baha'i World Faith, 331 New Hampshire avenue, on Sunday afternoon, December 14, at three o'clock.

In the works of Abdul Baha we read: "As the media of light and heat carry fragrance and bloom to the earth, so the Holy Spirit brings to man perfection and inspiration. The earth alone is but a senseless clod—touched by the sun it becomes life and energy. So the Holy Spirit touches the heart of man and awakens him to enternal life. It gives to man all possibilities. The cause of life widens before his eyes; eternity opens to him and becomes his, and every moment is his inviolable possession."

MACEDONIA BAPTIST

The Macedonia Baptist church, 1157 North Fair Oaks avenue, urges all whose "soul thirsts for the gospel" to come to the Macedonia Baptist and be filled. Rev. D. Demry is the pastor.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ANNIE SCOTT-NEUBOR

In memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Annie Scott-Neubor, who departed this life, December 13, 1946.

A happy home we once enjoyed.
How sweet the memory still!
But death has left a loneliness
This world can never fill.

We who love you, sadly miss you
As there dawns another year.
In the lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are very dear.

Signed,
Your Devoted Children;
Mr. E. C. Scott, Mrs. A. B. Spivey, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mr. H. H. Scott, Mrs. Curtiss Thompson, and Mrs. Roselyn Austin.

What's Happenin'

By STANLEY ROBERTSON
(While John Delgardo is on vacation)

Of course there is nothing better than friendly rivalry between fraternities, sororities, schools, or anything else, but when this so-called "friendly rivalry" becomes such an obsession with some people that they begin, to use an overworked expression, "run it in the ground," it's time for this rivalry to stop.

In Los Angeles, for the last couple of years, it has become very evident that the rivalry between the two leading fraternities, (Alpha Phi Alpha and the Kappa Alpha Psi) was coming to the point where it should be stopped, or at least, cut down. I am not speaking my own views, but the views of many men and women, some members, and some non-members of the two organizations in question. Things were coming to the point where certain people were refusing to associate with other people because they were of the "wrong" fraternity. Some people were refusing to admit members of different fraternities to their social functions. Right here, I would like to say, that I am not speaking of any one person, for it has been a general practice of not one, but too many people.

RIVALRY A GREAT THING

As I said before, rivalry is a great thing. It is the rivalry between different colleges and universities that makes collegiate football more popular than professional. It is rivalry upon which our system of American life is based, but these things all can be carried too far. Any of you who have ever been to an inter-fraternity basketball game, know that it is a very impressive and heart-warming sight to see the one fraternity on one side of the gym bedecked in their red shirts, or whatever the case may be, with their girl friends waving red and white pompoms, pulling for their team to "win just this one." And across the way, to see the other side of the gym crowded with men wearing black and gold "rooters' caps" and their girl friends waving black and gold pompoms and screaming for their team to "pull this one out of the fire." And down in front of this mass of yelling humanity you'll find the pledges, clad in either red or yellow shirts, whichever the case may be, leading cheers and arguing with one of their "big brothers," but really not arguing: only having, or exercising the right of all pledges, the right to "beef," but deep down inside, these pledges feel proud and honored to be connected with such a great organization, and can hardly wait until the day they'll be sitting up their in the stands, wearing the Diamond or the Seven Jewels, and down in front will be some other guys leading yells as pledges. If any of you have seen such a sight, you'll know what I mean by friendly rivalary.

But sometimes this rivalry has been extended to the point where it was not rivalry.

FIRST STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

The first big steps in the right direction toward better unity between the Kappas and the Alphas, and showing the way for any other Greek letter organization, strangely enough, didn't come from a member of the fraternity proper, but from the Pledge Clubs of the two organizations. It was Herbert Howard, president of the Scrollers (Kappa Pledge Club), who first conceived the idea; an idea that I'm sure everyone who knows about it will think it is an excellent idea. Herbert's plan is for the Sphinx and the Scrollers to give a combined dance, which is tentatively scheduled for middle January. Louie Robinson, Social Chairman of the Sphinx, has already said that the Alpha little brothers were in favor of the idea 100 percent. Final approval must, however, come from the two local frats, but I am very certain that such a splendid idea for better inter-fraternity cooperation as suggested by Howard, will be immediately approved by the Alphas and the Kappas.

I personally think it is a wonderful suggestion; probably the best I've heard in a long time from any member of either fraternity leading toward better cooperation. Speaking for myself, and I know I can also speak for vacationing Johnny Delgardo, WHAT'S HAPPENIN' WILL BE BEHIND THE PLAN TO THE NTH DEGREE.

Speaking of the Scrollers and the Sphinx, Saturday night the two pledge clubs gave different parties on the same street, but, you probably already guessed, before the night was over, you couldn't tell which was a Scroller party and which was a Sphinx party. The red-shirted lads were at the home of Herbie Howard, and the yellow-shirted boys were directly across the street at the home of Dave Butler. Seen sipping, I mean tipping, the light fantastic was Teddy (be a Tiger fellas) Williams and Mary Pollard, Roy (the frog) Johnson and Eleanor (well, I can dream, can't I) Cline, Tommy (it started all over again) Kyser and Gloria (forever) Crouch, Bob (how big can one guy get) Boyd and Shirley Qualls, Harry Thompson and Walter Young, oh! fellas, Jackie (I like quarterbacks) Dickerson and Elroy Lott, and the great QUARTERBACK, Al Tabor! Sherrill (what did you tell me) Luke and Ohio's gift to Los Angeles, Kathleen Mason, and so many others that it would take that great lawyer Elton Thomas to read off their names.

Sunday was the anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor, and it was also the birthday of Bob (I can rest now) Logan. In his honor, a group of the so-called big wheels of Los Angeles gathered to celebrate his birthday. Seen putting away much food was Mr. Walter Bruce Miles, and Miss Jacqueline Rigard (this is the 52nd week)! Ossie (the body) Jones and Thelma Fields, Bernice (don't you know I'm straight now) Rigard, Georgette Shores and Norman (Woody Woodpecker) Watson, Marjorie (drowning in your deep blue eyes) Garrett, Evelyn (Pasadena) Strickland and some handsome newspaper columnist, Herbert (him again) Howard and Joyce (lookout) Finney, and four guys named moe. Congratulations, Logan, I didn't think you'd live to celebrate your 23rd birthday.

LAMPADOS LIGHT THE WAY

Also Sunday night, the Lampados of Omega Psi Phi gathered with their many friends and company at a "tea" held at 1918 S. Harvard. Well, I guess they had plenty of tea, for I noted Audrey Bledsoe and "Wild Bill" McCoy having a wonderful time. Also enjoying themselves were Dorothy Culton, and her sister, Miriam, big Cliff Davis, Eleanor Finlayson, Everett John Beize Jr., James (Sphinx Club president) Jones, Marporie Stallings, and that great playboy about campus, Hayward Taylor. Saw Art Sheppard, by the way, he's a big gun on this year's CC basketball team, really making some two-handed "push" shots. Alos noted my old traveling buddy, Althea Warren, just back from the east. Well, all in all, it was a pretty crowded Sunday afternoon (I am kidding) night, for the local collegiate set.

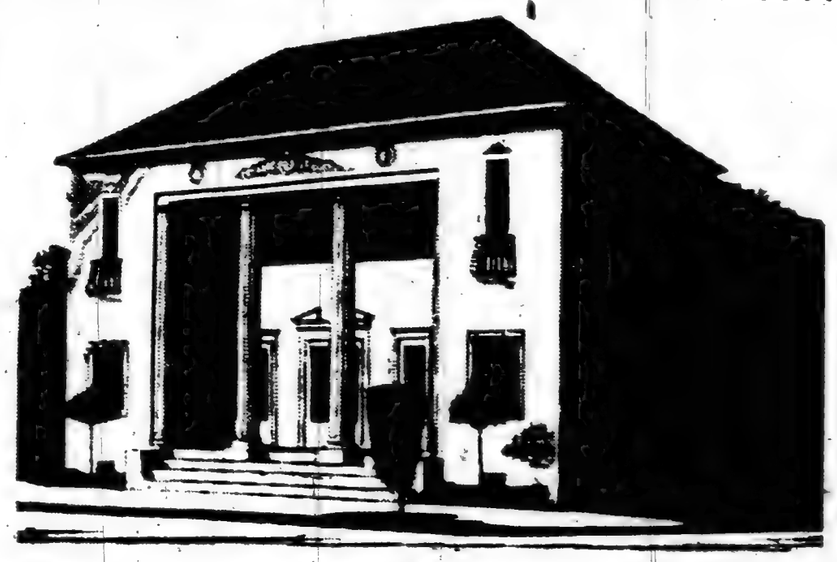
THINGS TO COME

Of course, the big social event of the week, and of the year, is the Alpha formal tomorrow night at UCLA. Don't forget the warning in last weeks' column. See you there, and have a good time.

Pre-Xmas Services at Carver A.M.E. Zion

Rev. Dr. Paul M. Marshall, minister of the Carver Memorial Community A.M.E. ZZion church, 21st at Griffith will deliver the second of a Pre-Christmas series of sermons Sunday at 11 a.m.

These sermons are the general subject "What Christians Believe." The second theme of the series is "Thou has found favor with God" Dr. Marshall is one of Los Angeles outstanding leaders, and is giving much religious insight as to the bases of our Christian habits. The beginning message was delivered in a most enthuastic and receptive congregation.



Mr. James Miller Carver's soloist will sing his beloved Xmas carols. Other special music by the choir leading up to the annual Christmas Cantala Sunday afternoon, Dec. 21. under the direction of Mrs. Irene Prince.

Haiti Youth Benefit Slated

The Friends of Haiti, who have been loyal to the youth of Haiti in their efforts to establish the manufacture of ceramics, are holding a rummage sale at Pilgrim House, 120 North San Pedro street, on Saturday, Dec. 13, beginning at 8 a.m., and lasting all day and evening.

There will be women's dresses and children's clothes. Top coats for men, several hundred pairs of shoes, and other good things. The proceeds go to assist the valiant youth of Haiti in their courageous struggle to improve health and economic conditions there.

Political Announcement

REV. SAMUEL REUBIN ALEXANDER DORSETT

Samuel Reuben Alexander Dorsett, also known as Peter-Daniel, a naturalized bonifide American citizen, evangelist at large, pulpit orator, student of American law and procedure, speaker and lecturer—a real and fearless man—will face Rankin, Ellender, and others from the South as a prospective candidate for the congressional seat in the U. S. congress from the 14th congressional district.

Says Dorsett, quoting from Henry Clay, "Government is a trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of WE THE PEOPLE."

"Now then," continues Dorsett, "these trustees whom We THE PEOPLE have elected are the servants of the people. We are the paymasters. Our taxes and assessments pay their salaries, because the trust (government) derives its money from WE THE PEOPLE. It goes without saying that We THE PEOPLE unitedly can stop pay or remove any public officer from office who is undesirable, because we have elected them to serve us and not to abuse us or to mistreat us in any way, as was the case with Bilbo. I told him that he could be removed, and it was done. Do you remember hearing Fulton Lewis Jr. in giving the news from Washington, D. C.? He said, and I quote, "In the case of Senator Bilbo something had to be done, because some one has brought the supreme court into the case."

"I am the man who did it," says Dorsett, "and henceforth by our coming together we will not only remove from office but we will also stop payment of salaries regardless of state sovereignty (rights) WE THE PEOPLE will offer resolutions and make it a law demanding it to be done by the congress, because it is our law-making body. The rulers, they have no more power than we have given them according to the law. They have been paid to make for the adherence of both themselves (rulers) and the ruled. Remember this is a government of the people, for the people, and by the people and by the Holy Eternal Immaculate—God it is!

Let us get together now, Citizens of these United States. Men do not care if they are put out of office so long as they can be paid their salaries. Many people are not living in the South, but are still paying their taxes there. The trouble of our brethern in the South is ours. The same with the other fellow and his brethren in Europe. When we learn to see ourselves as they do themselves, we will know and learn our responsibility and be responsible for ourselves as they are for themselves. —Political advertisement.

PEOPLE'S FUNERAL HOME BUYS NEW CHRYSLER FLEET

CONTINUING ITS ESTABLISHED POLICY of providing its patrons with the most modern conveniences in every department of the business, People's Funeral Home, "your friendly institution," located at 4250 South Central Avenue, has purchased the complete fleet of eight new passenger Chrysler sedans seen above. This makes the transportation service of People's the most complete in every detail of funeral arrangement. Operated by skillful drivers, the service includes a luxurious car at the family's disposal from the first call throughout the period of bereavement. A car is furnished to pick up the family for the first plans; to take them to the cemetery to select the grave; to bring them to the chapel to view the remains and to look after insurance matters or any other business connected with the final service. If the remains are to be shipped, transportation is furnished to the station or airport; or, if a body is shipped into Los Angeles, the People's Funeral Home will provide the family with a car to meet the remains at the station and escort it to the Home. Relatives arriving from out of town will also be met by one of the People's cars and taken to their destination. With this new addition to the friendly service of People's Funeral Home, every transportation problem of the family is solved during the time of bereavement.

Future Artists Concert Sun. at Bowen Memorial

The second annual Future Artists Concert will be presented at Bowen Memorial Methodist church, Sunday at 5 o'clock. Besides the musical, several youths will extra talents for the marimba, violin and piano will grace the program, it is reported by Leon W. Steward, chairman of the project.

Among the children who have been chosen for the program by their respective piano teachers are Donald Wiggins, John La Mont Bernett, Beverly Jean Hawkins, Patricia Housten, Leslie Gail Bellamy, Ruel Chester, Gloria Jean Palms, Alita Simpson, Douglas Sides, Mildred Young and Roma Vemmerman.

The children range in ages from 4 to 12 years. Their piano teachers are Miss Ruby Evelyn Lyle, and Mesdames Dovie Steward and Ethel Thompson.

Steward said that the purpose of the concert is to encourage younger children in the study of music by giving them expressional opportunity. The public is invited to attend.

Labor Group Holds Open House Sunday

Civic and labor leaders and rank and filers will get together Sunday from 3 to 9 p.m. at 2118 S. Hobart blvd. in the first public affair sponsored by the Los Angeles Negro Labor Committee, John H. Dial Jr., executive director of the committee, announced yesterday.

CIO regional director Irwin De Shetler and most of the other union regional directors of this area will be present to meet the community, Dial said.

THE HAPPIEST PEOPLE

The happiest people are those who touch life at the greatest number of points. People who suffer are those who have only one interest of which fate robs them.

With too many of us, growing up is a matter of selfish interest. Maturity usually means the adoption of new rejection habits. To concentrate on money-making and reject love, laughter and social life is the rule rather than the exception among many men.

People complain that they haven't money to see the pyramids, or time to study music or spend the winter in Florida. What they fail to realize is that one person's routine is another's high adventure. To be among the happiest people list the normal activities a dozen of your friends enjoy and you will be surprised at the number of everyday experiences you yourself have never tried.

P. T. C.—Dear Sir: I am interested in your column and the type of work you do, will you please help me regarding this problem. Will the man I love marry me?

ANS.—Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate marriage in the very near future. This young man is very fond of you, and it is his intentions to 'pop' the question very soon.

G. B.—What does the future hold for me?

ANS.—Many things are revealed to me, too numerous to mention in the column. I suggest your writing in for a private reply and obtaining your new 1948 Horoscope for complete infromation and help.

E. W. C.—Will I ever see her again?

ANS.—A careful analysis of your question indicates that you may see your wife again and reach an understanding which will bring happiness into both of your lives. Perhaps by now you both realize how silly it was to separate because of the argument you had.

J. W. S.—Who stole the money I was saving?

ANS.—It seems that the money you were saving for your baby in a small bank, was stolen by one of the other children living in the house. A little investigation will reveal the fact that this child is on the road to trouble if not corrected in time. I suggest you talk to the parents concerning the matter immediately.

Mrs. G. A. J.—Should I buy the house?

ANS.—Concentrating upon your question I find that this house is located in a good spot for a rooming house, and would actually pay for itself if you did buy it. It seems to be a good investment and I think you should take advantage of the offer.

E. G. T.—Will I graduate from school? Does my mother and father care for me? What course of study should I take in college?

ANS.—Only one question can be answered in the column due to the limited amount of space. I would be glad to help you if you will write in for a private reply.

When everything seems lost, noble souls find their opportunity.—Lacordaire.

The shortest price was "Chansian," winner of "The Atlantic," the feature attraction o fthe day. The Daily Double rewarded its backers $31.60 when "Paddock Lad" won the second race and "Bon Al" the third.

The quiniela payoff was much larger when "Allan," an outsider, finished first and "Watchelo" held at 10-to-1, finished second. The payoff was $129.60 for the $2 investment. In the second race "Sage Jumper," a field horse, broke his leg and had to be destroyed. A well planned coup barley missed when "Larry S." got up in the final strides to beat "Time O'War," a 15-to-1 shot, although he finished second to pay in the place hole $11.40 and $7.40 to show.

Red Devils Prep For Vagabonds

Fresh from a 45-41 victory over Santa Barbara's All-American Sports, the Los Angeles Red Devils, rejuvenated local pro basketball team, began practicing for their coming six-game series with the touring Vagabond Kings from Detroit, Mich.

IN ANGEL BOWL—Fred Moore, 175-pound halfback from LeMoyne College will be one of coach Mot Smitth's big reasons why he thinks his All Stars of Texas can end the 34-game winning streak of the San Pedro Athletic Club when the two clubs clash on December 28th in the Angel Bowl game at Wrigley Field.

Tartar's Leave For Texas: Finney to Play

With John Finney, Dewey Vroom, Don Rogers and company rarin' to go, Compton's once beaten Co-Western States Conference champion Tartars, departed for Tyler, Texas, for Saturday's intersectional Texas Rose Bowl game wit hthe Apaches of Tyler Junior College.

The Tartars, only beaten 14-13 by a ninspired Pasadena team, and conquerers of the widely-heralded Cubs of Los Angeles City College, 21-0, were being marked down a two touchdown favorite to defeat the classy Texas club.

Fabela Chavez Fights Friday

Fabela Chavez, up-and-coming young Mexican lightweight, will battle Buddy Jacklich, red-headed Slav from San Francisco, in the 10-round main event at Hollywood Legion Stadium Friday night, it was announced early this week.

South Seen Accepting Mixed Dodger Team

MIAMI, Fla. (CNS)—The South is giving way to acceptance of the mixed Brooklyn Dodger team, to which this week was added a third Negro, pitcher Roy Campanolla. In the Spring itinerary of the Dodgers, the deep South and Southwest are well represented and each town has specifically requested that Jackie Robinson play.

Georgia, Texas and Oklahoma have all extended invitations to the Dodgers for exhibitions. Fort Worth, Dallas and Oklahoma City are towns named specifically for the Spring trip.

Florida, on the other hand, has gone out of its way to declare that the Dodgers will not be welcome, if Jackie is along. And the Dodgers are retaliating by skipping the orange state on its trip in from training in the West Indies.

Bobby Yeager, Jackie Wilson Battle Tuesday

The popular Bobby Yeager, pride of the Bert Lewis-George Tolson fight stable, will go to the post against California Jackie Wilson Tuesday night in the 10 round feature attraction.

In facing Wilson the clever lightweight star Yeager will be meeting one of the best welterweights in the business and he will have to be sharp to put over a victory.

Excellent preliminaries are expected to precede the main event in Tuesday's bout.

SPORT NEWS BRIEFS

GREEN WAVE FAVORED

SAN FRANCISCO—The once beaten and untied Green Wave of Wilberforce university of Ohio, has been installed a 2-1 favorite over the twice beaten Panthers of Prairie View State college of Texas. The two teams meet in Sunday's intersectional first annual Fruit Bowl game at Kezar Stadium here.

JAGUARS MEET WILDCATS IN YAM BOWL

DALLAS, TEXAS — Southern university's high-flying unbeaten Jaguars of Louisiana have been selected to meet Fort Valley State Wildcats here in the annual Yam Bowl game scheduled for Christmas Day. The Wildcats, winners of seven straight games, will probably be underdogs to the high-scoring Blue and Gold machine from the bayous of Louisiana. This will mark Southern's second appearance. The Jaguars defeated Tuskegee Institute of Alabama, 63-7, in last year's Christmas Day classic.

HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS

ST. LOUIS—With Reece "Goose" Tatum, Ted Strong and "Babe" Preesley leading the way, the Harlem Globetrotters, the "Cinderella" team of professional basketball, begin their westward trek that will bring them eventually to the Pacafic Coast, Sunday night (Dec. 14) when they engage the famous St. Louis Brewers in huge Kiel Auditorium here.

BRUINS GO NORTH; MINOR-BARKSDALE MEET

Their three-game winning streak abruptly stopped Saturday night by the Bronchos of Santa Clara, Coach Wilbur Johns UCLA basketball Bruins, entrain for San Francisco where they will meet the University of Nevada's quintet on Friday night, and the Don Barksdale lead Oakland Bittner's on Saturday night.

The Westwooder's win streak was stopped Saturday night by a fancy shooting Santa Clara outfit, 55-50. During the early stages of the game, the Bruins, defending Pacific Coast, Southern Diviison, champions, lost the services of their great guard, All-Coast Davage Minor, when the former All-American from Toledo university turned his ankle and was forced to leave the game. The Johnsmen won the Friday night encounter from the Bucking Broncos, 47-42, to split the two-game series.

When the Bruins meet the Bittners Saturday night at Kezar Stadium, they will be facing their former teammate 1947 All-American center Don Barksdale, who is currently high-point man with the Oakland AAU club.

Coach Johns named a 16-man traveling squad to make the trek north. Included among the group was 6 ft. 4½ in. Gene Williams, former Jefferson High school All-City center.

N. Y.s Town Hall Honors Carver

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—A biography of the late Dr. George Washington Carver has been placed in the Book of Enduring Names regularly displayed at Town Hall of New York City, Tuskegee Institute officials revealed this week. They added that a Carver Memorial Chair will be permanently placed in the Town Hall Auditorium.

AMERICAN SPORTS LEAD WAY FOR FIGHT AGAINST RACIAL PREJUDICE

NEGROES PLAY FOR FIRST TIME IN COTTON BOWL; NEBRASKA THREATENS WITHDRAWAL

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

When Penn State's unbeaten and untied football team was first being mentioned for the possible eastern opponent in the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas, Texas on New Year's Day, some eyebrows were raised and much speculation was going the rounds, on what, if the Nittnay Lions were selected, would become of Penn's 2 Negro players. Would they be left at home, or would the Penn State eleven turn down a bid on the grounds that if it could not take its entire team, it would not care to take part?

Finally, a couple of weeks ago, when the Eastern team was selected to battle unbeaten but once tied SMU, the speculations and guessing became paramount, whot would happen?

These rumblings around the country were soon stilled. The Cotton Bowl authorities announced that the Negro players on the Penn team would be welcomed and treated like any other player. Simultaneously, Coach Martin F. "Matty" Bell of the Mustangs, who had beaten UCLA out here in the Coliseum, said that neither he, nor any member of his football team had any objections against playing against Negro players. In fact, Coach Bell said that every man on the team had voted in favor of not playing if the two Negro lads were left at home.

NOT THE ONLY INSTANCE

The action of Bell and the Cotton Bowl authorities may have been merely a stunt to gain national publicity, but I doubt it. The Cotton Bowl game has been a very much established enterprise since its inception in 1935. Also, with two teams of the caliber and with records of Penn State and SMU, no national publicity was needed. This is not the only instance of the changing attitude in athletics. Nebraska university voted to withdraw from the Big Six conference if the discriminatory practices against Negro players carried on by Kansas and Oklahoma were not stopped.

In Tampa, Florida, right in the middle of the hot bed of discrimination, Negro and white baseball teams play weekly against one another without any friction.

John Finney of Compton Junior college, probably the most outstanding Negro halfback developed in Southern California since the "boyhood" days of Kenny Washington, will accompany and play a vital part in Compton's coming Saturday clash with Tyler Junior college of Tyler, Texas, in the Texas Rose Bowl game.

It looks as though sports, pure American variety, with no regard as to race or color will have to show the way for the rest of the world.

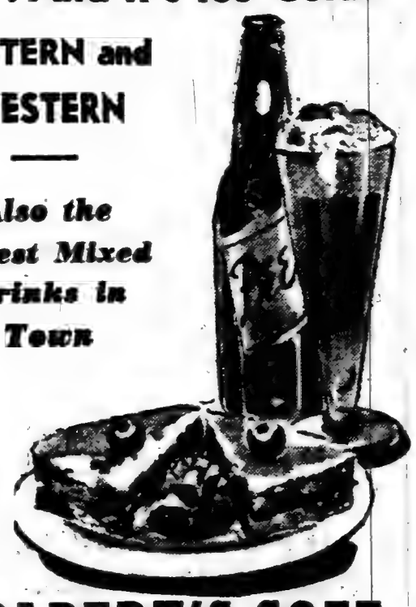
☆ SPORITORIAL ☆

OPEN LETTER TO JOE LOUIS

DEAR JOE:

When in the fight Friday night between yourself and Jersey Joe Wolcott, announcer Don Dunfy exclaimed that you had been knocked to your knees, a great lump rose in my throat; a lump that probably rose in the throats of many another American, as the great and blinding truth struck home: Joe Louis, the greatest heavyweight that ever wore the purple of a champion, was at last at the end of his rope. It was a very sickening and heart-chilling feeling, Joe. A feeling that comes when you realize that somebody you really care for or really believe in is not as wonderful as you had imagined; a feeling that comes when you realize that this is a metalic world built around the law that only the fittest and the strongest survive; a world in which the old and the weak must eventually fall by the wayside.

You see, Joe, I, like millions of other Americans, have grown up knowing only one fighter; that fighter being a guy who came up off the streets of Detroit's "Paradise Valley" and set the fistic world ablaze with his mighty doings. But Joe, it wasn't so much that you were a great fighter, but it was the feeling that finally, I, like thousands of other Negroes all over the country, had someone that we could point with pride to and say: "That's Joe Louis, he's a REAL champ in every sense of the word." You know, Joe, you did the Negro race more good than George Washington Carver did with all his inventions; you have done more than Paul Robeson with his brilliant speeches and magnificent voice; you see, Joe, you're almost a one-man National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.



You know, Joe, you were also the first Negro heavyweight champion since Jack Johnson, and you know how we feel about old Jack. He probably did more damage to the race than any other man that ever lived, so when you came along on June 19, 193, to send James J. Braddock to sleep in the eighth round in that memorable fight out in Chicago, all the world looked at you and asked the question: "Will he be another Johnson?" Time has proven these skeptics wrong, for no man ever deserved to be called Champ more than you, Joe. But don't you think that almost 11 years is long enough for any man to wear the purple? Don't you thiPnk that now would be the time to retire, retire unbeaten? You've already held the title longer than any other man in history, and probably longer than any man will ever hold it. So how about it, Joe! Why not retire now while you're in front, while none of that luster has been taken away from that crown you're wearing? I know that you couldn't be worried about finances after you leave the throne, for look around you! Look at Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, two guys that don't have to worry about where their next meal is coming from.

So Joe, come on! Think about it, retire now; don't be another Jess Willard; give Wolcott one more chance at that title and then retire!

Signed:

A GUY WHO GREW UP IDOLIZING JOE LOUIS.

'WINGS OVER JORDAN' APPEARS ON LINCOLN STAGE STARTING DEC. 18

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

THEY TELL ME . . . That millionaire BILLY ROSE closed the Diamond Horseshoe in N. Y. last week thereby throwing NOBLE SISSLE'S band and singer BILLY BANKS out of work . . . Sweet, elite and a treat to meet is PATRICIA TYUS, lovely downtown employee . . . Loews' State theatre in N. Y. will close out vaudeville shows Dec. 24. It is owned by MGM and in the future will feature movies only . . . ALICE KEY and JEWEL BOSTIC are said to have planed from Chi to the big "Apple" for the Louis-Walcott fight . . . DOROTHY DONEGAN is in New Orleans . . . MARVA LOUIS has a Mexican maid she picked up in Mexico City . . . SINCLAIR LEWIS' "Kingsblood Royal" practically backed into the EBONY interracial understanding award. The three judges who voted for it did so, not for literary reasons, but because of its influence . . . PETE JONSON, boogie king, now on the West Coast and making swing history in the Circus Room of the Ambassador Hotel. He'll be there until New Year's Day when he'll wind up an 8-week engagement . . . DOLORES CALVIN of a New York press syndicate gave TIMMIE RODGERS down in the country after a recent theatre engagement in N. Y. She says that Timmie treats his public as if they were his servants . . . JULIA LEE starts a tour of eastern theatres in February . . . NELLIE LUTCHER is currently playing the Regal theatre in the Windy City . . . She'll be in the Hotel Sherman there on Dec. 19. Her "Do or Don't You Love Me," selected by Song Hits magazine as the hit of the month, was released Monday . . . MEADOWBROOK goes back to its old policy this weekend of staging dances Friday, Saturday and Sunday. COUNT BASIE is currently holding forth out there and getting a lot of raves from swing fans . . . Saw DOTTY SEAMON at DYNAMITE JACKSON'S Paradise Cocktail Bar after the fights Tuesday night. She looked great in a new hat . . . JANE PERDUE clicked attending the fight Tuesday which found GENE BURTON getting what some people called a "gift" decision over BERNARD DOCUSEN . . . The AL EVANS JRS. have fixed up their swell home at 43rd street and So. Main and it equals any similar residence in the city.

DID YA KNOW . . .That ace of barbecue men, TOMMIE SMITH, who hangs out his shingle on San Pedro place and Vernon, plans to stage novel dances at the La Vada ballroom in the near future . . . The very fine SUPREME RECORD "Cain River Blues" is getting a mighty play on the juke boxes of the city and A. T. PATRICK, one of the officials, thinks he has a hit on his hands . . . I have it from a reliable source that friends of JOE LOUIS in N. Y. have been begging him to retire but Joe still wants moola and has turned a deaf ear. We hope he'll start listening after the return match with Walcott . . . MARIE MAYFIELD, exotic dancer, who resides in Chicago, and is here on a visit, may be featured in a new show being cooked up. If this falls through she will go to St. Louis to visit relatives there and then back to her home in the Windy City.

BOOGIE KING—Pete Johnson, noted piano stylist, who after the death of Fats Waller, won the title of the King of Boogie Woogie, is currently winning added laurels on the West Coast.

Popular Prices to Prevail

By popular demand the world famous Negro choir, "Wings over Jordan," returns to the Lincoln theatre for a week's engagement starting Thursday, Dec. 18. In line with the times this will be the first Los Angeles engagement of the noted organization at popular prices.

This choir of 20 voices, known to millions of radio listeners, has toured all but three states of the Union and has appeared in four European countries. Their travel-history would astound even a wearer of seven-league boots.

When "Wings Over Jordan" first went over CBS, the Rev. Glen T. Settle brought his group of singers from the Church where he was pastor and they have continued under his guidance and direction ever since.

☆ THEATRES—NIGHT SPOTS ☆

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE, Theatrical Editor

LOUIS JORDAN and his Band and vocalist, Peggy Thomas, furnished stellar entertainment at the West View Benefit Fashion Revue at Club Alabam recently. They played several popular numbers, climaxing with "He's Real Gone." Joe Adams, popular radio announcer, emceed the show which featured, in addition to Jordan's group, Caleb Peterson, singing "Old Man River"; Joe Turner, doing several "blues" tunes; and Hadda Brooks, charming the audience with her inimitable style. Mrs. Ruby Barbee Wilson, a member of the West View Guild and chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and herself an artist, was responsible for securing the services of these outstanding artists. Music for the affair was furnished by the "Four Queens of Swing."

Valaida Snow Adds Yiddish To Repertoire

CHICAGO, Ill. (CNS)—Surprising an almost all Jewish audience gathered for an opening night at the Latin Quarter nightclub here, one of Chicago's best known, Valaida Snow, a headliner of a few years back, sang three of her numbers in Yiddish. However, Miss Snow, it was discovered through backstage secrets, relied on those numbers to put her over, a point which stars try their best to avoid. Most depend on their talent, which penetrates in no matter what language they sing in. Out to welcome Miss Snow to the Quarter were several fabulous movie stars of radio and stage distinction.

Director Sets Brahms Cycle

The Brahms Cycle planned by music director and conductor Alfred Wallenstein as a highlight of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra's twenty-ninth season continues on Thursday evening, Dec. 18, and Friday afternoon, Dec. 19, when the second of five all-Brahms programs will be presented in Philharmonic Auditorium.

QUEEN OF BLUES, Effie Smith, will open at the Last Word Cafe Friday night. Also opening on the same bill, is Hattie Noel. Both stars will comprise the female principals in a "battle of blues" with Amos Milburn, recording artist and Gene Phillips, who wrote "Big Legs."

AVC Affair Is Termed Success

One of the best affairs of its kind held in Los Angeles in recent years was that staged by the American Veterans Committee at the Lincoln theatre last Friday night. The sponsors can well be proud of the fact that practically every theatrical figure scheduled to appear on this benefit show did show up.

Some of the stars that appeared were Mabel Scott, Toni Hrper, Suzette Harbin, Mantan Moreland, Frankie Darro, Bob Parrish, Bob Pittman, Bettye Quincey, Edith Wilson, Ginger Smock, Emile Williams, Nicodemus Stewart, "Wonderful" Smith, Floyd (Wildcat) Chatman, The Ebonaires and Derry Falligent.

The next regular meeting of the AVC will be held at the YWCA, 28th and Paloma sts., Thursday. The topic of discussion will be "Back your future by voting." All veterans are urged to visit the chapter office at 4255½ So. Avalon where they may discuss their problems, especially, regarding National Service Life Insurance. Dec. 31 is the last day for renewal so vets are particularly urged to come in before that time.

Edwards Sisters Booked For Continental Tour Of Europe

NEW YORK—That scintillating pair of sensational dancers known the world over as the Edwards Sisters announce through their new press-agent, Carrie Miller, that they soon head for Europe.

Booked exclusively for the tour by Jai Edi Edwards, father and manager of the girls, continental engagements will take the tap duo to London, Paris, Scotland, South America and Australia.

The girls have toured the world before, so the trip will be no novelty to them. No plans had been made previously for a world tour, but overwhelming demands by theatre-owners and audiences abroad, swamped the manager-father of the girls that immediate arrangements had to be made.

It is possible that after the tour is completed the girls with their parents will settle abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Jai Edi Edwards will travel with their famous daughter and Carrie Miller, theatrical columnist will handle their publicity in the U. S. and through foreign contacts.

Arnett Cobb Booked To 1950

NEW YORK—"Arnett, the wildman of the tenor saxophone, Cobb," is rapidly gaining the reputation of being the most sought after leader of the small band combinations. His band has become so popular that booking have already poured into the Gale Agency for this attraction for as late as 1950. This unprecedented demand for the band is due to Cobb's tremendous success wherever he has appeared.

Belita, the blond charmer in Allied Artists' "The Gangster," which the King Brothers produced, startled her friends recently by the announcement she was going to take up oil painting.

Ernest Whitman Is Heard On 'Beulah' In CBS Radio Show

On-mike, Ernest Whitman seems like the kind of a guy who will make the top of the ladder with the scintillating Hattie McDaniel. She is heard on CBS 7:15 p.m. Monday through Friday.

exactly lazy, he just doesn't seem to be able to apply himself to one job long enough to make "Beulah" feel secure in matrimony. (CBS, 7:00-7-15 p.m., EST. Mon.-thru-Fri. From Hollywood).

Off-mike it's a different story. Ernest Whitman is a man of many talents and an established success in the entertainment world. His air credits include "Amos 'n' Andy," "The Rudy Vallee Show," "Sherlock Holmes" aid "The Billie Burke Show." His screen credits include "Jesse James," "Third Finger, Left Hand," "My Brother Who Talks to Horses" and "Gone With the Wind," in which he played with Hattie McDaniel.

Ernest Whitman was born in Oklahoma City. He completed high school at the age of 16 and is a graduate of Tuskegee University where he excelled in his studies and in football and basketball. He is an ardained Methodist minister, a linguist with seven languages at his command, excellent concert singer and a bowling instructor.

The Whitmans have two children. The eldest, a daughter, teaches school.

'Let It Roll'- Called A Hit

NEW YORK—Lucky Millinder, the dynamaestro of swing, is again responsible for a song hit that is rapidly sweeping the nation. Lucky's latest Decca recording, "Let It Roll," is doing just that. According to the latest survey of juke box operators "Let It Roll" is currently the record most in demand throughout the mid-Western territory.

Theatre Notes

LEHMANN TO RECORD

Lotte Lehmann's first singing for motion pictures also will be made available to her large record following. The noted opera and concert star, making her film debut in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Big City," will record several of her numbers from the picture for an album to be released later. The songs will include Brahm's "Lullaby," "Traumerei" and "Kerry Dance."

MONTEREY IS LOCALE

Exterior scenes for M-G-M's "The Three Mucketeers" will be filmed along the sea-coast in the Monterey area. Company is to spend a week or more in the Northern California community while shooting sequences for the Technicolor feature. George Sidney directing and Pandro S. Bierman producing.

Dramatic Soprano Off To Palestine

NEW YORK—Mayme Richardson, dramatic soprano from New York City, sailed for Palestine last Friday. Under the auspices of W. H. Robert, impressaria of Tel-Aviv, she will be presented in concert in a number of concert halls in the Near East. She is expected to reach Tel-Aviv on December 19 and will appear in the first of her concerts there within a few days after her arrival.

Miss Richardson was chosen for this tour after consideration of a number of leading American artists. American artists appearing in Palestine must live up to the standards set by other Americans in Palestine, such as Leonard Bernstein, who recently made a highly successful tour of the same area.

As a Negro, Miss Richardson will be able to give Palestinian audiences the finest interpretations of spirituals and other American music. As a great and highly trained artist, she will be equally capable in her presentations of standard concert repertoire.

In this country, Miss Richardson is under the management of the Associated Concert Bureau, 1775 Broadway, New York City. In the past few years, she has appeared in the title role of "Aida" under the direction of Fritz Mahler and in a number of other operatic roles.

THE DISC

By I. Spinum

NEW YORK — Savannah Churchill, the throbbing thrush from Brooklyn is certain that she hit her greatest artistic jackpot when she recorded her now famous disc of "I Want To Be Loved," for this week she was declared winner of thefirst annual poll conducted by "Cash Box" magazine the bible of the juke box industry.

After a feverish campaign of twelve weeks, in which the votes of every operator of juke boxes was canvassed, Miss Churchill's recording was voted "the outstanding single record of the year." This was the first time in the histiry of the annual polls that a Negro singer has won the award so decisively. The Brooklyn beauty finished the heavy competition with a plurality in excess of 3,000 votes at the final tabulation.

Plans are moving ahead calling for plety of hoopla in connection with the formal presentation of the awards to the different winners. La Churchill will have a nationwide audience on hand when she receives her award for the presentation will be made when she appears as special guest on the immensely popular "Harlem Hospitality Club" broadcast, heard over the coast-to-coast Mutual network every Saturday night. Officials of the magazine as well as a star studded array of celebrities wil sit in on the proceedings according to present plan.

Louis Jordan Due at Lincoln

In answer to the many phone calls and letters from interested patrons, Metropolitan theatres answer positively that Louis Jordan will be at the Lincoln theatre starting Dec. 27.

The popular bandleader will bring his world famous crew of musicians in a grand and glorious stage revue.

Cesar Romero Back To Stage

Cesar Romero is the latest Hollywood star with plans to return to the footlights — and whats more, he'll reutrn in the same role and in the same play in which he made his original stage debut in 1930. The title is "This is the Moment."

Motion Picture Ass'n. Will Curb Gangster Type Movies

NEW YORK CITY—The Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America took positive steps today (3) to strengthen the industry's system of self-regulation covering picture content, titles and advertising.

On recommendation of Eric Johnston, Chairman, the board unanimously approved changes in existing codes and regulations to carry out these objectives, and at the same time the the company heads dropped from the registration list more than 25 titles considered to be objectionable and unsuitable.

The board approved a new regulation to add to twelve previous regulations adopted over the last several years relative to crime in motion pictures.

Dizzy Gillespie At Fort Knox

FORT KNOX, Ky.—Without the benefit of masks and machine guns Dizzy Gillespie will perform the unusual feat of removing some gold from the nation's well guarded gold depository in Fort Knox, Ky. The King of the be boppers does not intend to remove the gold by bopping the guards on their beeps. He is going to do it legitimately, for on that day Dizzy and his band invade the Fort to play for the soldiers stationed at that famous army camp.

Screen rights to the famous adventure stories of Roy Rockwood's "Bomba, the Jungle Boy," including 20 published books based on his experiences, have been obtained by Monogram, it was revealed by president Steve Broidy.

Meadowbrook to Hold Dances Only On Friday, Saturday, Sunday Nights

The management of Meadowbrook Gardens, 8781 W. Washington blvd., announced early this week that they are back to their old policy of only holding dances on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Currently attracting large crowds to the beautiful ballroom is Count Basie and his crew of swing-masters.

Another announcement of importance to dance lovers is the news that the Count has been held over and will play the Christmas week at Meadowbrook. This should prove an entertainment treat to the many visitors that will h... the city during the holidays.

Following Count Basie into Meadowbrook will be Johnny Otis and his large orchestra. Otis is a great favorite on the eastside of Los Angeles, where he played for many weeks at the Club Alabam and it is believed that his swing fans will go out to Meadowbrook in great numbers to hear him play and dance to his music.

Babe Wallace Dickering To Publish Songs

LONDON, England—Babe Wallace, who authored "A Chicken Ain't Nothing But a Bird," "Bring Enough Clothes for Three Days" and other novelty ditties, may have some of his more serious musical thoughts published.

Appearing here with Hilda Simms in "Anna Lucasta," the former co-star with Lena Horne in "Stormy Weather," has aroused some interest in his ballads. Especially, "I'll Never Forgive Myself," which is featured by Ormonde Wilson and The Basin Street Boys.

Jack Hylton Ltd. is currently examining the score of several Wallace tunes.

★AMUSEMENTS★

HADDA BROOKS, popular recording artist recently returned from the east, was one of the guest artists at the West View Benefit Fashion Revue held Nov. 30 at Club Alabam. Miss Brooks has appeared on several benefit programs for West View Hospital, and, as usual, she left the audience clamoring for more.

Lena Horne Says London People Cheery, Polite

NEW YORK — Lovely Lena Horne who is currently pplaying to "standing room only" audiences at the Casino Theatre in London, observes in a recent letter that, "despite the extreme shortages of food and clothing, the people in the street are cherry and wonderfully polite. Many have stopped me on the street and said, 'Youre Lena Horne, aren't you? We're glad you're here and we do hope you'll have a wonderful time in England. Good luck—cheerio! ! ! It makes your heart feel so warm that you forget theres a fuel shortage."

La Fitzgerald Jacquet Plan Concert Tour

NEW YORK—One of the most momentous announcements in the history of swing (or "jazz" if you prefer to quibble over terms) music was issued here this week when it becomes known that Ella Fitzgerald and Illinois Jacquet would in all probability be united for an extensive concert tour in January covering concert halls in 14 states. This combination of artists will present the two undisputed kingpins in their respective fields.

Miss Fitzgerald has long been recognized as the greatest singer of popular and folk songs in America today and the sensationally brilliant tenor sax star has climbed to a position of unprecedented eminence in a brief few years of work.

John Chas. Thomas Will Sing Jan. 4th

Sunday afternoon, Jan. 4, John Charles Thomas, America's beloved baritone, opens the first major concert event of the coming New Year at Philharmonic Auditorium.

Probably no male singer today has so firm and deserved grip upon the appreciation and respect of the concertgoer. Whether it is in musical comedy —where Thomas first made his fame; in light opera, for which he is well remembered — or in radio, where he has made his speaking voice as familiar as his ringing singing tones, Thomas means magic in music.

Jimmy Stewart, star of "Call Northside777" which is now being finished at 20th Century-Fox, plans to bring his father and mother out from Indiana, Pa., to spend a white-less Christmas in Hollywood.

NEW ACCOMPLISHMENT

Patty Andrews takes inordinate pride in the fact that she is gradually learning the fine art of typewriting. The blonde member of the famous Andrews ("Club 15") Sisters wants all of her associates to know that she now has mastered the word machine to the point that she can type out all the lyrics to the songs which she and her sisters sing on the CBS broadcasts.

GLOUCESTER, N. J.—John Anthony, owner of the Twin Bars here, has just announced the signing of The Basin Street Boys featuring Ormonde Wilson, for 2 weeks starting January 12. The contract is unique in that they will be working on six two-week options.

This will be the first eastern night club appearance of the Basin Street Boys, who, currently, are co-starred with Dusty Fletcher in a touring unit.

Charlie Barnet Ends Dates At Sepia Theatres

NEW YORK — Charlie Barnet concludes two top run engagements in the leading sepia showhouses of Washington, D. C., and New York City this week, having appeared during the past two weeks at both the Howard and Apollo theatres.

Featured in the Barnet aggregation were Bunny Briggs, bronze tap dancer and the top singer currently attracting attention on Barnet's new "East Side West Side" disking being released on the Apollo label. Also sharing spotlight honors was Jimmy Nottingham, sensational trumpet man formerly of Lionel Hampton's orchestra and now a permanent member of the Barnet crew.

Briggs, Nottingham and the entire Charlie Barnet band follow their Apollo theatre run with a two-week stand at New York City' Strand theatre and more disk cuttings for Apollo Records. The three Barnet platters already released by Apollo include "Bunny," "Caravan" and the new "East Side West Side" (Apollo No. 1064).

3rd Concert Of 'Musicians In Making' Dec. 21

The third Concert of the "Musicians in the Making" 1947-48 series sponsored by the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center in their auditorium, 5008 Beverely blvd., will take place on Sunday, December 21, 4:00 p.m. This "Musicians in the Making" series will present Margaret Heller, pianist, and Howard Ross, tenor, who have won the audition contest held at the Center.

"Musicians in the Making" is an informal series of concerts sponsored by the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, which aims to give young talented artists an opportunity to be heard before the public.

Johnny Crawford Nears End Of Long and Successful Stand

For over 49 weeks the inimitable Johnny Crawford, great tenor saxman, and his 6-piece band has kept the San Pedro Club, Jefferson and So. San Pedro, jumping. Presently winding up a 52-week engagement at that spot the best proof of Johnny's popularity are the crowds that attend the club nightly. One trip there will convince you that the guy must have something on the ball to keep the place jammed.

Crawford formerly headed his own band in New York City, playing many outstanding engagements, and during the past war he led an Army band. The Crawford aggregation at the San Pedro Club gets plenty attention from the dance-minded because of their ability to play swing as it is played today for the younger generation. Then, too, the oldtimers like his music because he mixes in a generous portion of the old tunes that never die.

When Johnny Crawford closes at the San Pedro Club he will rest for awhile and then accept engagements, preferably from night clubs or theatres.

Four Ink Spots Signed By Gale

NEW YORK—The Gale Agency signed the famous four Ink Spots to a booking contract last week. They will start booking the Spots immediately upon the closing of their Christmas and New Year engagement at the Strand theatre in New York.

Duke Will Ride Discs Dec. 29

NEW YORK — The amazing Duke Ellington has added still another feat to his already impressive list of accomplishments. On December 29 the Duke will begin his own disc-jockey show on WMCA in New York, which will be transcribed and carried by stations across the country.

During his twenty-year career as a handleader the Duke has made a tremendous impact upon modern American music. This, coupled with his winning personality shall more than qualify him for his latest chore.

Toni Palmer In Ohio Hospital

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—Toni Palmer, attractive night club singer, is confined to General Hospital here, in a very serious condition.

Miss Palmer was stricken while appearing at the Cotton Club and thus interrupted her first engagement in this city.

Hospital attaches believe Toni will be confined for several more weeks. She is not expected to return to her work until late January or early February, all bookings for her have been cancelled pending final medical direction.

Piney Brown Plans For '48

BALTIMORE, Md. — Piney Brown, rated with Wynonie Harris, Gatemouth Moore and Joe Turner as the nation's top blues singers, this week began plans for a bright and successful 1948 season.

Piney ,already signed to record on the Miracle label, is negotiating for the services of a personal manager. He is expected to sign with Gene Travick. Bookings will be handled by the Rollo S. Vest Enterprises.

Piney Brown just completed a feur-week run at Club Blue Grass in Cleveland.

Disc Jockies Hear Hawkins

NEW YORK — An honor unprecedented in the annals of show business was paid to Erskine Hawkins last Friday when the disc jockies in the city of New York turned out enmasse to pay tribute to the Twentieth Century Gabriel at his opening show at the Apollo theatre.

The aggregation, led by Fred Robbins, Jerry Roberts, Symphony Sid, Hal Tunis, Paul Brenner and Art Ford, decided that since Hawkins was too busy with his full schedule of Apollo shows to make any appearances on their programs they would pull a switch and appear at his opening as a gesture to the maestro who has supplied them with so many recording hits for thtir turntables.

George Bias Is In Smoky Town

PITTSBURG, Pa.—George Bias, former Columbia recording artist and considered "the most unusual voice in cafes," opened a four-week optional booking here last week.

Bias just completed 9 weeks in Jackson, 8 weeks in Montreal and 6 weeks in Columbus.

John Hodiak has already bought his wife, Anne Baxter, a Christmas present. It's a fire extinguisher.

Santa Monica Notes

By LOWELL EVANS

According to a Santa Monica businessman, the cost of labor has increased "alarmingly." He declares, for instance, that a carpenter who received $8 a day in 1939 today gets $17.50 a day; a plumber $19 as against $9 a day in 1937, but for some reason this same businessman failed to compare the increase in the cost of living.

The same laboring man who paid 75 cents for a work shirt in 1939 now has to pay $4 for the same article. This is true all along the line. Prices for all commodities have greatly increased, not to mention the hike in the cost of food, shelter and income tax.

One does not have to be a student of economics to figure out the reason that labor has requested increases in pay. It is conceded that the price of labor has increased, but how about his take-home pay today in comparison to what it was in 1939?

The Citizens Committee is soliciting the protests of all citizens of the Bay Area against the proposed hike in fares. This is a good move, could be even a better move if the same group would interest itself in forcing the bus operators to adopt the principle of fair employment.

Los Angeles downtown merchants are said to be considering the employment of Negro clerks, and of course it is to be expected that Santa Monica merchants will follow their example.

Willowbrook News

Judge Stanley Moffatt, who with his daughter made a tour of Europe last summer, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Progressive Citizens of America in the Willowbrook Grammar school last week. The trip covered 8 different countries, and his report about those countries was most comprehensive.

In England, he said, a garment worker's reply to the question about the severe crisis we read so much about in the U. S. papers, was: "In the first class there is a crisis (meaning the rich), but in the second class (meaning the workers), there is no crisis. Before the Labor party got into power, we had scarcely any salaries. Now the minimum is $25 per week."

A miner said: "Before the Labor government took over, the mines were unsafe and unsanitary. We want socialization."

Judge Moffatt said there is no war hysteria in Europe and that there is no imminent danger of war. The Europeans are afraid of the atomic bomb, and fear the Americans will drop the bomb on them.

In Rome, Progressive Catholics as the Conservative party and the Communists representing the Republic, have a 50-50 following.

Florence, the center of art, is also the center of progressive political action.

Switzerland has had no war for 300 years.

Brussells has no price controls. Kaiser-Frazer automobiles range in price from $2400 to $4500, which shows why there is a car shortage in the United States.

In Amsterdam the people are slowly starving to death. All of their products are being shipped out to fight the war against the Indonesians. Queen Wilhelmina has large investments there—blocks of palace, and a one-million-dollar per year income.

The question Judge Moffatt was asked most frequently, he said, was: "What do the people of the U. S. A. think of Mr. Wallace as president?"

The European people think Wallace is the man of the United Nations, and expressed their hope that we elect him President of the United States.

In Czechoslovakia the people have nationalized 70 percent of their banks. There are 4 political parties, each with equal free radio time. They adopted this plan in 1945.

The whole Willowbrook district is wondering what the Board of Education of the Willowbrook elementary schools has done or intends to do about the accusation made by the former nursery school teachers against the head teacher of the Palm Lane Nursery school in regards to alleged financial irregularities.

Many residents thought that by now at least, Joseph R. Terry, chairman of the board, whom the people elected and fought so hard to seat after his election, would come forth with some statement to the public. The people of the community feel that these charges are of extreme importance. They do not know if there is any basis for the charges, but they do know that a very unhealthy situation exists in the community because no responsible official has taken any steps to make public the facts.

A fire broke out Tuesday night at about 10:45 o'clock in one of the Riding Academy's stables. Hilton A. Phillips called the fire department. It was on the scene of the fire in about 5 minutes after the alarm was given.

The fire seems to have started in a shed where feed and other materials were stored. There was no night watchman there. The flames spread by leaps and ignited other rubbish and several little shack-like buildings on the grounds.

The Willowbrook citizens should demand that this district be cleaned up.

The County Health Department is making wonderful progress in the drive to clean up the district, but there is still much to be done and all the citizens should cooperate with the Department 100 percent.

'Star Kickers' Cast for Stork Club Movie Role

VENICE — The "Star Kickers" orchestra, composed of eight juvenile youths of Venice, Calif., under the direction of 18-year-old Val C. Chalk, has been cast to appear in an educational film, "Mr. Stork," being produced in the interest of "universal fingerprinting."

Each member of the large cast, which includes Hollywood juvenile talent, has been fingerprinted for civilian identification by Director Carol Jon Farol, a Venice resident.

About 50 Negro children and mothers will be cast for the film, and many of them were interviewed and cast last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Evans, 658 Westminster avenue. Those cast included:

Baby Joan Edward Bursey, age 3 months; Welford C. Bursey, 2 years; Dorothy Jean Bursey, 4; Enola Marie Bursey, 6; and their attractive young mother, Mrs. Mavis Bursey, all of Venice.

Baby Everett Dude Sarpsy, 9 months; Elizabeth Meadows, 13; Clifton Alexander, 14; James McClendon, 15; Charles, Maddie and Montie Goodridge, and Marion Jo Evans.

Casting will continue next Saturday at the same address, from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Assisting in casting were Adolph J. Johnson, song writer, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Ruth Schwind, club woman of Los Angeles; Jack Kaufman, cameraman of Santa Monica; Carol John Farol, woman fingerprint expert; and Mrs. Everta Clark of Venice.

Several hundred members of Stork Club Associated will portray roles in the club play, which is designed to sell parents on the idea of fingerprinting and registration of pre-school age children.

Hope Chest Affair Success

The Home Protective Association made merry at a Hope Chest party given in the home of the president, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, 4073 South Central avenue, last Friday evening.

The hope chest was filled with contributions from the various business men of the community. Then not one prize but scores of beautiful prizes were given away to the holders of the lucky tickets.

Games were played the beginning of the evening, and refreshments were served. Mrs. H. A. Reeves Sr., Mrs. Eason, Mrs. Henry Laws, and Mrs. Pauletta Fears were members of the committee which made the party a success.

The HPA was organized to fight restrictive covenants, especially the case of the Henry Laws family. This family were ordered out of their home, 1235 East 92nd street, just because they are Negroes. They went to jail rather than obey the unconstitutional order. Their case has been taken by the HPA through the municipal courts, the county courts, and it is now awaiting a decision in the State Supreme court.

Charlotte Preston Rushed To Hospital

Mrs. Charlotte Preston, of 4073 South Central avenue, was rushed to the General Hospital last Friday evening for emergency treatment.

Mrs. Preston had been very busy working to make the Carol Brice concert a success, when she was seized with influenza that necessitated hospital treatment.

On The Sidewalk

By C.A.B.

...the Sunday, December 14, issue of The Times Hedda ...ooper bent over backwards in her description of Miss ...tie McDaniel as an artist and an individual.

"But," said Miss Hopper, "the details I picked up ...en't pretty. Hattie, I discovered, had not been vic...zed by the whites. She had been attacked by certain ...bers of her own race, simply because she had tried ...earn an honest dollar' by playing roles those critics ...ght degrading to Negroes. Her part in 'Song of the ...h' caused many theatres to be picketed."

...I agree with you, Miss Hopper and I am sure the ...ority of the Negro people share in this opinion, that ... McDaniel is a fine artist and a good citizen.

...Your feeling description of Miss McDaniel's artistic ...ess on the stage and screen, and your recital of the ...cks by certain members of her own race, Miss Hopper, ...e same old soup warmed over that has been used ...he political enemies of the Negro people since recon...ction days.

...d it is being used now not only against Negroes, but ...on all who believe in those principles of government ...ciated in the Bill of Rights: That there shall be no ...idgment of freedom of speech or of the press.

...Do you really mean what you say, Miss Hopper?

...Negroes know that Hattie McDaniel has ability and ...ligence that fits her for any role within her sphere, as ...terpreter of the thoughts and feelings in the char...s she portrays. It is not Miss McDaniel that the Negro ...le find fault with. It is the policy pursued by pro...rs and directors in prescribing stereotyped parts and ...to Negro actors and actresses that reflect discredit ...he entire race—that they object to.

...Yes, we know that Negro Americans were involuntary ...s for more than 250 years in this nation. But we also ...v they fought to break their own shackles.

...e text books used in the public school system refuse, ...categorically, to make any mention of the Negroes' ...in the building of this nation, nor their contribution to ...arts, sciences, literature, of even industry.

...I think you will agree with me, Miss Hopper, that the ...ro people should take no greater pride in the fact ... they were once slaves, than your people should who ...e also slaves in Europe before the dawn of American ...ization.

...As a group of American we contend for our con...tional liberties. When these are fully and completely ..., we will fill positions according to our ability on the ...e, the screen, and in all industrial and professional ...s of life. And this is what we fight for.

...ain repeat that neither the N.A.A.C.P., the Negro ...wspapers, nor individuals are fighting Miss Hattie ...aniel. For your enlightenment we are fighting a ...nable system that keeps Miss McDaniel and the rest ...s second class citizens.

...Negroes are not nearly so concerned over Communist ...sion of our country as we are over the continued use ...he lynch rope, the poll tax, Jimcro cars, and dis...ination in public places against Negroes and other ...orities who fought every enemy that ever attempted ...vade our contry.

...You suggest that wealthy Negroes invest money in ...-making. Are you kidding, Miss Hooper?

...u know as well as I do that under the present Amer...ican way of life, if all the capital possessed by Negroes ...e United States were used for a film producing ven..., the same forces of race prejudice that blocks the way ...Hattie McDaniel and other Negroes to stardom on an ...l par with whites, would defeat the effort in the mak...

...You say Miss McDaniel hates Communism. Well, to ... I have not had time to study and find out what it's ...bout, so I can't say with her that I hate it. I only ...w that right or wrong, this is my country. And I am ...eated to the proposition of helping to drive out the ...nies within its borders that work for the destruction ...e peace that our Americans, black and white, fought ... died to establish.

...I am not unduly sensitive, Miss Hopper, but I am call...to your attention that there is no recognized term as ...gress." Time and time again it has been called to the ...ntion of newspapers that "Negress" used when re...ing to American Negro women, is insulting. We over...that epithet on your part as being due to ignorance. ...at the same time, Miss Hopper, we wish to point out ... an American newspaper woman should not be too ...rant of the facts too many times.

Trial Highlighted By Clash of Defense Attys.

Three local men were acquitted this week of the charge of murder following a spectacular court battle in Judge Brand's court.

The men, Matthew Roberts, Odis Roberts, and Fred Rainey were charged with the murder of Nathaniel Taylor, prominent hotel man, last July 10.

The prosecution contended that the three men killed Taylor in connection with local gang operations, but failed to show any motive for the killing.

Taylor had gone with friends last July 10 to a store near Adams and Compton ave. to pick up some clothing he had previously left there to be repaired. While sitting in his car in front of the shop an altercation arose between Lacy Kirkland, one of the men in Taylor's car, and Odis Roberts, one of the three defendants.

Prosecution witness Beulah Jackson testified that Matthew Roberts had told Odis, his brother, to "kill them all."

The court heard considerable testimony regarding an earlier fight in which Matthew Roberts

Father Dunne's Play on B'way

NEW YORK—Father George H. Dunne's play, "Trial by Fire," a dramatization of the Fontana tragedy in which a Negro couple and their two young children were burned to death when restrictive covenanters fired their home, is currently being presented to New York audiences at the Blackfriars Theatre, 320 West 57th st.

The play lambasts the official investigations which whitewashed the tragedy, attributing the explosion and fire to an accident.

Says Bar Group Unfit to Sponsor Freedom Train

Sponsorship by the lily-white Los Angeles Bar Association of Freedom Train's visit to Los Angeles should be cancelled because of the association's refusal to admit Negro lawyers, Atty. Gen. Tom Clark has been told.

The demand came from the Committee Against Racial Discrimination in the Los Angeles Bar Assn., and was made public yesterday by Committeeman Daniel G. Marshall in the following telegram to Clark:

"Board of [illegible] of Los Angeles Bar Assn. limits membership to Negro lawyers. Sponsorship by association of Freedom Train visit outrages spirit of its historic document.

"This committee of members of the association now urging

Protests Slur On Joe Louis

In an scathing letter of reproach addressed to the Associated Press, G. Wm. McKinney, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Branch of the NAACP protested the use of the word "mammy" which appeared in a sports article and made reference to the mother of Joe Louis, the heavyweight boxing champion of the world. The article appeared in the Salt Lake Tribune, Saturday, December 6 on the Sports Page and recounted the reactions of the champ's mother as she listened to the Louis-Walcott fight.

The article was an Associated Press general release and carried their symbol "AP." McKinney told the AP that not only was the use of the word "mammy" an insult to Joe Louis and his mother but a "slur" against the whole Negro race which Louis so ably represents. A public apology was demanded.

The article was brought to the attention of the NAACP by Mark L. Thomas, 1788 West 36th place, an ardent supporter of the Association's work.

Woman's Lover Held; Inquest Set for Today

A coroner's jury will hold an inquest at 9:30 this morning into the tragic deaths of a woman and three small children in a fire in the Watts area last Sunday.

Meantime, police are holding Rufus Avery, 42 year old longshoreman, on suspicion of settting the fire. Avery was accused of starting the fire by Mrs. Vera Dudley, grief-stricken mother of the three children. Mrs. Dudley described Avery as her "former boy friend."

Dead in the fire that engulfed her little frame house at 1035½ S. Hickory st., Watts, were Mrs. Dennis Dudley, 51, and her grandchildren, Lawrence, 7, Carol, 6, and Kenneth 4.

Returning from a trip downtown while three fire companies fought to keep the fire confined to the single dwelling, Mrs. Vera Dudley hysterically accused Avery of deliberately setting fire to the house.

She told detectives that several months ago Avery at-

Tries Suicide, Writes Note to Benny Carter

In one of two notes he wrote immediately prior to his suicide attempt, William A. Strothers Jr., 25-year-old white song writer of 1817 N. Whitley avenue, apologized to Benny Carter, orchestra leader, over failure to produce songs for him.

The other note told of Strother's love for his estranged wife and his despair over what the future held.

Strother, who swallowed 36 sleeping tablets in his suicide attempt is in General Hospital in a serious condition.

Watts Transit Plea Turned Down by Board

Watts citizens got a slap in the face this week when the Los Angeles Board of Public Utilities denied an application for permission to operate a new bus service in that area.

Curiously, announcement of the denial of the application was accompanied by a statement by Commissioner Lloyd M. Smith, concurred in by the other commissioners, to the effect that Smith had received "a very definite impression" that the top management of Los...

...holds a virtual transportation monopoly in the Watts area, "is influenced by what is colloquially known in this city as a 'public be damned' attitude."

Smith explains that this impression was received subsequently to the board's hearing

Duarte Sanitarium to Dedicate Park, Honor Memory of the Late Frank A. Harvey Sun. Afternoon

A public memorial service honoring the late Frank A. Harvey, well known business man and philanthropist, will be held Sunday afternoon, December 21, at 2:30 o'clock at 1460 East Duarte rd., Duarte, Calif.

The memorial service will also partake of the nature of dedicatory services for the nucleus of a beautiful park and gardens for the patients of the Duarte Tubercular Sanitorium. An archway is being built bearing the name of FRANK A. HARVEY, which will be a permanent entrance to the park and gardens.

Harvey was for more than ten years the treasurer of the Outdoor Life and Health Association, the sponsor of the Tubercular Sanitorium. He was a charter member of the Association, and a staunch worker in the cause of promoting and preserving health. He passed away December 22, 1946. The movement for the park is being inaugurated as a memorial of the first year of his death.

Dr. Leonard Stovall, president and founder of the Outdoor Life and Health Association, will be in charge of the services. Among the speakers will be: Attorney Charles H. Matthews, Paul R. Williams, noted architect; Father E. Randolph Moore, of St. Philips Episcopal church; Attorney Clarence A. Jones, Prof T. A. Greene, member of the executive board of the association; and former Assemblyman Fred M. Roberts.

Contributions to the Harvey park and gardens in the form of trees, plants, flowers, will be gladly accepted in the future.

To reach 1460 East Duarte rd. from Los Angeles, go out Huntington drive to Santa Anita blvd., turn right or south one block on Santa Anita, then left or east to Duarte rd.

Tenants Urged To Air Gripes

WASHINGTON — Tenants who think their area control offices are not moving fast enough on their complaints against landlords should get in touch with the front office.

Acting Housing Expediter Tighe E. Wiods this week told a delegation of tenants here to lobby for extension and strengthening of rent control, that he wanted to hear about it when area rent officials were not doing their job to protect tenant interests under the law.

White House Aspirants Duck NAACP Query

NEW YORK—Few of the indviduals who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the Presidency on the Republican or Democratic tickets have been willing to date to answer the request of the NAACP for opinions on the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights. On November 14, Walter White, NAACP secretary, asked each of the aspirants "Do you approve of the Committee's recommendations? If not, will you tell us which ones you disapprove and the reasons for your disapproval."

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan and Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon have replied that pressure of work in connection with the special session of congress has prevented them from giving the recommendations contained in the report as thorough study as they wish to give. Both senators have promised opinions at a later date.

Charles Dahle, assistant press secretary, has acknowledged the NAACP letter on behalf of Governor Earl Warren of California and promised to call to the governor's attention the request for a comment "at the earliest opportunity."

Harold E. Stassen has made the only forthright comment in a telegram dated December 5 from Columbus, Ohio reading, "In response to your letter of November 14 I consider the Report of the Wilson Committee on Civil Rights to be a superb document. I give it general support now and intend to speak on its recommendations in detail in the coming months."

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, made no direct reply. James C. Hagerty, executive assistant to the governor instead wrote his opinion as follows: "A careful reading of the recommendations lead me to believe that the State of New York, under Governor Dewey's leadership, has already taken many of the steps which the report recommends." Hagerty calls attention to the New York State law against discrimination in employment and to introduction in congress by Senator Irving M. Ives of New York of a "Fair Trades Employment Act" which is presumed to mean the Fair Employment Practice Act. White has thanked Hagerty for his opinion but requested that Governor Dewey give his views.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower has replied through an aide that as long as he is chief of staff of the U. S. army he is unable to express opinions on this and other matters involving legislation.

No reply has been received to date from Senator Robert A. Taft, General Douglass MacArthur, Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, Henry A. Wallace and former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Editors Note: Henry Wallace has commented favorably in public print on the Report, and in his recent tour of the South was outspoken in his attacks on racial discrimination and jimcrowism.

Felony Charge Filed in Wire Tapping Case

Sound Engineer R. D. Mason who claims he was hired by State Senator Jack Tenney to install dictographs in the Civic Center, is facing three felony counts in a complaint sworn out against him yesterday by District Attorney William S. Simpson.

Investigators, busy since last month following the discovery of strange wires around Civic Center, had put the finger on Mason. Mason denied any intention of tapping telephone wires in Civic Center, but said he was hired by Tenny to install dictographs in un-American Committee hearing rooms.

California Delegation to Press For Independent Action in '48 At PCA National Parley in Jan.

The Progressive Citizens of America moved another step toward clarification of its 1948 political alignment with the decision of the Southern California board of directors to call upon the national organization to back an independent candidate for President of the United States next year if neither party offers "a clearcut choice to the voters" on what it called the basic issues, "war or peace, economic security or ruinous inflation."

Although Henry Wallace was not specifically named as the potential candidate, the board stated that his "program and outlook deservedly enjoy greater popular support than that of any other public figure."

The statement will be presented by 86 delegates representing the Southern California PAC and its 26 affiliated chapters at the National Convention of the organization in Chicago on Jaunary 17 and 18, 1948.

Expanding on a previously adopted policy stand regarding California, the board emphasized the interest of PAC in the success of the current efforts to qualify an Independent Progressive (third) party on the ballot by next February, and urged members to help beat the deadline by participating in the signature-getting. At the same time, the statement lauded the efforts of the Democrats for Wallace and claimed that if Wallace enters the California primary he will have the support of PAC members who are registered Democrats.

GOP Solons In Attack on Public Housing

WASHINGTON—House Republicans yesterday opened an attack on public housing in California with an investigation of alleged misconduct and "possible fraud" by officials of the public housing administration in the San Diego area.

The investigation was ordered by the House subcommittee on government propaganda, which struck out at public housing officials' criticism of Congress' failure to act on housing by alleging "efforts of public agencies to mislead officials and the Congress," threatened to extend its investigation to cover the housing agency's activities in other California cities and elsewhere.

The committee is headed by Forrest A. Harness, Indiana Republican.

Grocers Urged Cut Prices on Frozen Foods

Retail grocers and other retailers of frozen food products were urged to pass on the reductions in frozen food wholesale prices to the housewife in a resolution passed this week by the Frozen Food Council of Southern Caliofrnia, according to C. E. Riefsteck, secretary of the council.

The council bases its requests on the stand that the buying public should be the ultimate beneficiary of any economizing measure realized in the food industry under present high cost conditions, Riefsteck said.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Western Bloc In UN Votes Down Lynching Ban

GENEVA—The United Nations Commission on Human Rights today stood on record of having rejected a Soviet proposal to make racial and religious discrimination and propaganda inciting "national hatred" crimes punishable by law. The proposal was vigorously opposed by the by the United States.

It was defeated 10 to 4 with China, Egypt and the Philipines abstaining. Voting for it with Soviet Russia were Yugoslavia, Byelo-Russia and the Ukraine. The western bloc, led by the United States, were in solid opposition to the proposal.

In presenting the proposal, Soviet Delegate A. E. Bogomolov said that only by declaring racial discrimination a cirme "will we be able to end such acts as lynching of Negroes."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, U. S. delegate, objected that the Soviet proposal implied a legal obligation which would bring "even a slight infringement by an individual under criminal law."

U.N. BODY APPROVES RACE RIGHTS BILL

GENEVA—A world bill of racial, religious and political rights was adopted yesterday by the United Nations Commission

The bill was criticized as failing to provide "fundamental economic and social rights" by the Soviet Union, which has been in the forefront of the fight for a forthright declaration on human rights. Joining the Soviet Union were Yugoslavia, White Russia and the Ukraine. The four nations abstained from voting on the bill.

Conn. Governor Blasts National Guard Jimcrow

NEW YORK—In response to an inquiry of the NAACP concerning Connecticut's policy toward Negroes in its national guard units, James L. McConaughty, governor of the state, in a letter dated Dec. 2, 1947, stated:

I am using every influence within my power to eliminate national guard, with the firm conviction that there should be no segregation of military units based on color in Connecticut."

After referring to the War Department policy as set out in the Gillam Report providing for integration on the unit basis only, the governor's letter went on to state:

"This I object to, particularly in connection with Connecticut units. Other states are free to set their own policy, but it is my sincere intention to see that enlistments in any Connecticut national guard unit be open to any man qualified to serve, irrespective of race, creed or ancestral origin."

How about it, Governor Warren?

Jones' Achievements Read Like 'Who's Who'

Hon. Sidney A. Jones Jr., principal speaker at the mass meeting for the Third party held in the Shrine auditorium last night, has a string of accomplishments and offices held that reads like the biography of a favorite in Who's Who.

SIDNEY A. JONES

He was graduated from Atlanta university in 1928, from Northwestern University law school in 1931 with the degree of jurisdoctor; he has been in general practice of law in Chicago since 1931, and from 1939-46 was senior attorney for the U. S. Department of Labor.

He is vice-president of the Chicago Branch of the NAACP, general secretary of the Cook County Bar Association, vice-president of the Chicago Chapter of the National Lawyers' Guild, and a member of many civic organizations. He was a candidate on the Progressive party ticket for judge of the superior court of Cook county in the November election of this year, and polled more than 200,000 votes. The Chicago Bar Association's committee on candidates said of him: "He is a man of integrity, ability and judicial temperament. He is qualified for the office."

Tension Grows Over U.S. Bases In Panama

PANAMA CITY—U. S. sailors and soldiers were twice restricted to the aPnama Canal Zone this week as population indignation exploded over the proposed lease of 19 Panama bases to the United States.

Shore police and MPs were withdrawn to their posts along the zone border after army and navy commanders decided that the sight of U. S. uniforms on Panamaian soil might transform the anti-U. S. tension into widespread riots.

The restrictions, originally ordered last Saturday after a student-police clash in which 33 persons were injured, had been rescinded at non Tuesday.

However, emotions mounted over the weekend as students throughout the country went on strike and Panama City's mayor prepared to resign. U. S. military officials concluded that the decision to reopen the zone border had been premature.

To Picket New Orleans Dept. Stores

NEW ORLEANS—White and Negro citizens here are up in arms over the recently established practice by four large women's clothing stores of refusing to permit Negro women to try on better hats, dresses and foundation garments. Under the leadership of the New Orleans branch of the NAACP several conferences have been held with the management of the four stores. When these conferences bore no results a parade and several mass meetings were held. The four stores are Maison Blanc, Meyer-Israel, Inc., Godschaux Clothing Company and D. H. Holmes Company.

Preparations are being made for an interracial picket line in front of the stores. The police have made veiled threats to arrest the picketers claiming that the constitutional guarantees of free speech do not apply to a picket line for such purposes. The police department objections, however, have not deterred the completion of plans for picketing and all possible efforts are being made to persuade the police department to abide by the federal constitution and protect the rights of picketers to express their indignation. Protests of the community have resulted in the cancellation of numerous charge accounts in the four stores and a virtual boycott of them by colored women.

The Truth Will Free The Nation

It is time for the American people to get down to the business of making democracy work.

We have done a whole lot of talk about ours being a democratic form of government. What we need to do now is to impress the outer world with acts and facts that will substantiate our claim.

On face value our claim to democracy is like a Latin defective verb—wanting in many of its parts.

Who can explain why ten Hollywood figures, accused of being Communists or Communist sympathizers, are indicted for contempt of Congress? The only basis for the contempt charge was the men's refusal to answer questions concerning their political belief.

Paradoxically here is the other side of the record. On November 4, a number of members of American Legion Post 127 and several newspaper men—a group of 20 in all—like vultures hungry for the food their appetites craved, swooped down on a Democratic Club meeting in the popular La Crescenta district, and ordered the members to leave within ten minutes or else!

Their crime? These self-appointed enforcers of the law had heard that the Club was opposed to the 80th Congress, and was planning to "overthrow it!" Well, that's just about what every decent American citizen is planning to do. We want to overthrow it so forcefully in the 1948 election, that no reactionary member of that Congress will ever attempt to rise again.

What's wrong with that? That's what our democracy boasts of. We can change our government, if we wish, every two years. We change it at the ballot box. That is the only "force" we ever need to use. And if we use it, as we should, our government can and will come through the shoals of this aftermath of war, victorious.

We can boast then of America as being not only the "most powerful" nation in the world. It will also be the greatest in the truest sense of the word—in neighborliness, in the charity or love that begins at home, in the sharing of our material wealth in such a way that it will produce more abundantly than ever. In this way we shall be in truth the leader of the world.

But now note the difference in the treatment of those hoodlums in America Legion caps, and the American citizens who refused to answer the impudent questions of the House Un-American Activities Committee. They have been accorded every courtesy the law permitted. They have not been judged guilty before they were tried. They had attorneys to defend them. Those attorneys were permitted to examine and cross-examine all witnesses freely. They could read all the statements they wished.

But those others—in Washington! Not a question could be asked by anyone. No attorney could cross-examine any witness. No statement could be read. It was like a trial before a judge in the Spanish inquisition, when the guilt of the victim was determined before he ever came to trial.

It is such a travesty of justice the Democratic Club of La Crescenta wishes to "overthrow." And every decent American citizen surely wishes to join them in this overthrowal. Is that treason? Is that un-American? Then make the most of it. The truth will eventually penetrate into the souls of all Americans, and will make America free.

A Plea For Peace

This is the season of the year when we turn our thoughts toward peace on earth. Or at least we are supposed to discipline our wandering minds and force them to think of peace. Although there may be no peace.

"Peace seems within our grasp but a kind of moral and mental paralysis also grips us . . . The mightiest effort we can make for peace is the least we can do here and now." This is the sentiment of Clarence Dykstra.

Says Thomas Mann, "We cannot but shiver at the thought of a Third World War—a war which would certainly turn the world into a physical and moral desert."

"We must pray," says William Jennings Bryan, Jr., "for the day when all nations acknowledge the dignity of man and pledge his essential freedom in attaining the necessaries of life. I know of no other basis for lasting peace."

All those who believe in prayer will answer, "Amen." But we must do more than pray. We must work. Work hard. Desperately. For faith without works is dead.

Let us remember that as we celebrate the birthday of the Prince of Peace, and dedicate ourselves to work harder than ever in 1948 for a world peace that will endure.

Congresswoman Douglas Proposes Tax Cut

The first tax bill to grant real tax relief to the lower income groups without jeopardizing the retirement of the public debt was introduced in Congress last Monday by Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democratic Congresswoman from the 14th Congressional District.

Mrs. Douglas explained that her tax plan would serve the dual role of providing an offset to the lowest income groups against present day inflationary prices and of curbing the incentive of the corporations to change all the traffic will bear.

The war-time excess profits tax on corporations would be brought back. This would net something like $6,000,000,000 of additional revenue, and would permit a reduction of taxes in the lower income groups. In other words, in yours and mine.

The Douglas bill will give to each taxpayer a cut of $100 for himself, and $100 for each of his dependents. In other words, if you are single the neat sum of $100 will be chopped off your tax. If you have a wife and three children, $500 will be taken off.

Mrs. Douglas stated: "Income tax reduction can be achieved in different ways. Mr. Knutson talks in terms of stimulating management incentive and investment capital. I talk in terms of bread and milk and shoes, and keeping the consumer in the buying market. Mr. Knutson wants to play this tax reduction game in diamonds. I say, let's play it in hearts."

Excess profits were taxed during the war. "Why shouldn't they be now?" Mrs. Douglas asks. "Corporate profits after taxes for the first half of 1947 were at an annual rate of $17,000,000,000—more than 67% above the profits of the banner war year of 1943. The nation must be protected from its peacetime profiteers."

This is a tax bill which every little man and woman can support wholeheartedly. The way we can support it, here in Los Angeles, is to write letter after letter to our Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, telling her how much we appreciate her efforts, and asking her if there is anything further we can do to make those stubborn members of Congress see the light. We're proud of Congresswoman Douglas. Let's say so.

Attack On Freedom Of The Press

That old gag about "freedom of the press" failed to register completely last month when there came a genuine threat to liberty in the form of a proposed bill to be presented to Congress by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, of Michigan.

Stung by the criticisms of the Press, Hoffman announced that he would bring before his Labor Sub-Committee the writer of any story that did not meet with his approval. He made good his threat by calling on the carpet an editorial writer for The Washington Star and a reporter for The Washington Post. These two, he said, did "belittle the Congress as a whole and their articles ridiculed, vilified, and smeared individual members of Congress." He said he would call in any other individual writer guilty of the same offence.

Well, the newspapers who usually bellow loudly about the "freedom of the press" whenever an attempt is made to increase newsboys' wages or any news or editorial appears voicing any liberal sentiment, were virtually silent on this affront to their freedom.

It was really coming close to home. But, it is what one can expect. An attack on one is an attack on all. Editorial writers or newsboys on the street corners—they all come under the same ban. Tnd the quicker the editorial writers realize this truth, the better the freedom of the press and of the country can be preserved.

A Veteran Look At Job Appointments

According to Veteran's World, a small newspaper published in the interest of UNAVA, Negroes are segregated everywhere except in the Veteran's Administration office in Virginia. Of course, no Negroes are employed in the administration building except the woman who sweeps.

The veteran, even the one fresh from the battlefields of Europe, knows that it is still his lot the last to be hired and the first to be fired. In his bewildered state of mind, job seeking, he is wondering when the South will become a real part of the United States.

Of course under the Roosevelt administration, Negroes were integrated in all departments of government, from custodial to white colar jobs. Civil Service banned the practice of submitting photographs with job applications which eliminated much discrimination.

Since the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, employment for Negroes is on the downward trend. Day by day veterans march wearily up and down the streets, looking for jobs and houses that are not there.

These commodities are scarce for all veterans, but particularly scarce for Negroes.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Those "Communists" in North China seem to be doing very well, thank you, in spite of all the frantic opposition of the "democracies" of the world. For it is in the villages of that northern country where true democracy prevails, not the mere show of democracy brightly bespangled with many high-sounding names.

"It is here," says an eye-witness, writing in The New Republic, "that one finds the soul of China's civil war. From these villages come the men who trudge from one battlefield to another in the continuously eddying struggle. Over the pathways radiating in a spider web pattern from each village comes the grain that feeds the armies and holds back the ever-present specter of famine for a few short months until the next harvest."

The same pattern of life has been followed in these villages for centuries. Even the war seems to have made but a small dent on its surface. Yet these peasants are slowly awakening to the fact that this is their land now, their very own, and that no landlord shall ever again take it from them.

But the peasants did not wholeheartedly and completely become Communists overnight. Few of them still can be classed as Communists literally. They do not like everything the Communists do. It is all so new and strange to them. "They have been oppressed so long," as one official remarked, "that they cannot become accustomed to the idea of not being oppressed."

"Those who work the land must own it; those who own the land must work it," is a slogan the Communists used to bring home to those toilers that absentee landlords would not be tolerated.

One village and the land around it had been owned by seven landlords for generations. They had the power of life and death over every family, and the peasants were serfs. They collaborated with the Japanese, of course, but when these were driven away and the Communist army took control, four of the landlords went with the Japanese but three remained.

These three were brought to trial in the "people's court." Communist propagandists urged the people to come and tell their wrongs. The result was that the people voted their former owners to be beaten with many stripes. "They died slowly," as one villager described it, under the beating.

In another village, however, two landlords who had fought the Japanese and who had aided the Communists, were allowed to keep some of their holdings when it was divided among the peasants. And because they had played square with their tenants, one of these landlords was elected to the village council. But both these former men of wealth worked their share of land, the same as the peasants did.

"Our policy is not to destroy all landlords, but only to restore the land to the peasants," the officials explained. "The landlord who retains some land works willingly with us, and that means that the village has greater unity."

The land surrounding a village is worked by the villagers who go out early in the morning and come home late at night. Each villager has his own particular plot to care for. This has been the custom for hundreds of years, but formerly all the land, including the village, was owned by one person or one family for whose benefit the villagers labored as serfs.

But today under the Communist regime all that has been changed. The land was confiscated, first thing, and then divided as equally as possible among all the villagers. Today each family owns its own home, its own plot of land, and the representatives of all the families meet, discuss, and vote upon the problems affecting all in the village meeting.

The Communist leaders, of course, steer the meetings and see to it, by their persuasive powers, that the vote is as it should be. But—so what? The Chinese peasants in those northern provinces are learning to think and act for themselves, and eventually they will need no guidance from anyone else. And they are happy and contented, for the first time in their lives.

But they cannot understand why the American government is lending aid to their enemies, the Kuomintang. They think that American pilots are flying American planes, and strafing their villages. And there is fear and bitter resentment in their hearts.

When told that not all Americans agreed with what Washington is doing, a peasant scratched his head in bewilderment. "Why do you permit your Fascists to determine your policy?" he asked. "You would be much happier if you were united as we are in Communist China."

THE LIVING SOUTH

MISSISSIPPI VS. MISSISSIPI

These few days before Christmas, I've been reading the 15th chapter of the Gospel of John. And I've been deeply impressed by two things that Jesus the Carpenter, on His way to be crucified by the kluxers of his day, said in that Gospel.

First, He prayed that all of his followers might be one—and, a little while later, one of His black followers, Simon the Cyrenian would be carrying His cross up the gallows hill of Calvary for him. Secondly, He warned His disciples against wolves who would come in and try to tear up His flock.

I think, as a country preacher, that He must have had in mind wolves like Oscar Wolfe, president of the Mississippi State senate, when He warned His people. But I think, also, that He was thinking of others coming along who would undertake to pull the fangs of the wolves' slobbering, slanderous mouths.

I feel that He must have had in mind people like another person who comes out of Mississippi and who belongs like Oscar Wolfe to His flock of the Methodist Church. For Thelma Stevens, a Southern white lady if I've ever known of one, is leading the fight to wipe out all racial divisions and all segregation in that church which began through John Wesley's noble and sacrificing missionary work among the poor and oppressed of England.

Oscar Wolfe, white polltax politico, is leading the fight to keep Negro members of his church from Maine to California in one segregated jurisdiction. He's swearing that "the abolition of segregation will ruin the Methodist Church as far as the South is concerned" and that "the Methodist people in the South will not stand for it."

Oh won't it, Brother Oscar, hoping to go to Heaven in a chariot driven by a black chauffeur and to spend eternity with a black angel keeping your harp bright and polished? If I were you, Brother Oscar Wolfe, who won't ever graze with the sheep in the pastures of Heaven, I wouldn't growl so derned loud, remembering what happened to your "white supremacy" champ, John Rankin, in the recent Mississippi senatorial election.

But there's something a dogoned sight bigger in this whole fight that has shaped up in the Methodist Church since representatives of more than a million Christian women led by the Southern white woman, Thelma Stevens, voted this Christmas month to ask the next meeting of the Methodist general conference to wipe out segregation.

CHURCH WAKING UP

And it's this, that the fight between the old dying South represented by this old swamp-Wolfe and the new, living South represented by Thelma Stevens has now reached down into that strongest of all institutions in the South—the Protestant church in its various denominational branches.

Particularly in the Methodist communion has there been a deep ferment about the "unchristianity" of segregating your own brother and sister Christians in your own denomination. Thousands upon thousands of young Southern Methodists have been deeply affected by the good racial relations teachings and work of the Methodist Youth Federation, an organization which does credit to its church and its Lord.

If the old South can no longer hold the church, with its strong grip on the minds of our people of both races, then what's going to happen to it?

I can tell you and thousands of Southern white Christians will back up my answer when the showdown comes.

It's going to be blown away like trash in a whirlwind.

Let's thank the Lord, this Christmas, for the way that He is moving in the largest American Protestant denomination to help bring about "peace on earth and good will to men" regardless of their race, creed or color. Let's thank him for Christians like Thelma Stevens, executive secretary of the woman's division, who fight the devil—run old South and its influence not only at home but throughout our country.

Merry Christmas!

A Christmas Story

By BERNICE COOK

"Mother, tell me something. Why is it that—"

"Now, Margie, can't you see I'm busy. Don't bother me. Why don't you ask your teacher? She know—"

"I've asked her. I've asked just about everybody. I want your opinion, mother. I value your opinion—mother, please—"

"All right, darling. I can't resist you when you put it that way. You are troubled, aren't you? What is it, dear?"

"It's a big subject, mother, and most people don't seem to have time to discuss or even think about it, but it's very important to me.

"Frankly, Mom—do you think that we, the people of the world, I mean—are getting any nearer to peace and understanding?"

"That is a difficult question to answer, Margie. What on earth ever brought this on—just at this time, I mean."

"It must be the Christmas season, mother. Yes, I'm sure that's it. Not that I don't give thought to the question often, but some how at this time of the year, it's only natural to think of peace and happiness and understanding. Generally, at Christmas time, there's such a nice spirit among people. They seem more friendly, more unselfish. Oh, mother, why can't people be that way all the time?"

"It's a beautiful thought, dear, and you want an answer. Yes, it would be fine to have the Christmas spirit all the year round, and it's not impossible. The fault definitely lies with us human beings, for the words of Christ, 'The Prince of Peace,' are true. Of that I'm sure. And that brings up another point. Perhaps it is because not enough of the people really believe in the Prince of Peace that we have such unrest and unhappiness. Perhaps it's because even those of us who say we believe have not the courage to walk in the world as if we did believe Him. Maybe, my child, we don't really believe in the possibility of peace at all. Lip service is not enough. We must put our beliefs into action—I'm not helping you any darling, I know. It seems that words are so inadequate."

"Your words make a lot of sense, mother dear. You seem to be getting closer to the root of the problem. But what's the matter with people? Is it wrong to worry about the awful conditions facing our fellowmen in other parts of the world? Should we be content to have good food, comfortable homes and many of the luxuries of life, while our brothers and sisters elsewhere suffer for want of the bare necessities? Do you think it is disloyal for us to desire world peace and fellowship, mother? I don't think a man's religion, or the color of his skin should make any difference, do you?"

"Of course not, dear! But you can't solve the world's problems. Why don't you run along to a movie or something. Get such matters out of your mind. Call

W. J. Wheaton Says

Come right in here! That was the greeting from Mary Ann as we reported for our weekly visit and, of course, our anticipated feast of a home cooked, Southern style repast. We were at a loss to understand her excitement, and she kept us in suspense until the meal was over, and we had settled back for the usual conversation.

Turning to her grandchild, who, by-the-way, was at the table with us, she said, "Mary Ann, child, ask the gentleman to explain what you was reading out of the newspaper 'bout us having to move 'count of the rats and what you call the ants?, terms, or something like that. "Termites," said little Mary Ann. "I 'knowd 'twas something like that."

Mary Ann III brought the paper and pointed to the story. Pat Brown, district attorney, has had a crew of private inspectors surveying the "slum districts," and it was a report made by them that was creating consternation in the minds of a number of residents in the reported districts. The report was obvious, because this column, repeatedly, has called the attention, both of the board of health and the board of supervisors to the insanitary, fire hazards, crime breeding area, where so many decent, law abiding families are forced to live. Mary Ann was greatly perturbed. Though the apartment which she occupied, and location was not in the center of the condemned district, her anxiety was for Maty Ann III.

"Just as soon as Josh and Mary Ann get here we are going straight to the farm," she said. "But what am we going to do with little Mary Ann? Just as I said, I'm going to give that child a good schooling as I can afford. She's got a lot of school friends, theys of all races, colors, and as one little Japanese girl says, 'what have you?' They's all Mary Ann's schoolmates, and they all likes to come here 'n' I know that very few folk would understand and treat 'em right. I like to see'm getting along like that, but some folk don't like to see'm mix like that. One sister says to me 'Mary Ann, why you let your little gal mix like that?' I says, 'Sister, the good Lord don't know no difference; neither does Mary Ann. Good bye!'

"So you see, we'uns got to be more understanding. The schoolfates of Mary Ann have set up some kind'r club where they have to wear pants, bloomers, Mary Ann calls 'em. I wasn't so smart for'em at first, so I went down to the place where they play, and there they was, bouncing a ball around, and a screechin' like a mad house. Gals of all colors. One little red head and my Mary Ann, says the lady who was teaching 'em, are the two best on the team. I was stuck on the little Chinese gal. Maybe 'cause I see her most; she generally comes home with Mary Ann.

"When we'uns clean our minds 'n understand that God created all alike; black, yellow, red, and white, this old world will be a nice place to live in, and this U.S. a perfect democracy."

Referring again to the report made by the district attorney's investigators, there are conditions, it declared, that warrant the indictment, conviction, and punishment of the owners of the properties noted. Not only were they insanitary, a menace to health, breeders of crime, but the fire hazards were reported as dangerous to the lives of the tenants. Inflammable oil-soaked rags, ash cans filled with decaying matter, obstructions which would prevent escape should a fire occur, places so unhabitable that if reports can be verified, they are not fit for the habitation of swine. The area condemned in the report is occupied mostly by people of the darker races: Japanese, Negroes, Mexicans, and a goodly number of Jews. They are people whom restricted covenants bar from certain residential districts, even though they might be decent citizens and affluent.

It is a proven fact that Grettos are a detriment and a menace to the progress and betterment of any community. And yet there are many selfish and narrow minds who sacrifice all on the altar of prejudice. It is racial prejudice that segregates the Jew, Japanese, and Negro from occupying decent places to live. We acknowledge the fact that there is an element in all races that is a hindrance to progress. "But water will seek its level." "During the heat of the recent municipal campaign there were two Negroes appointed to housing and planning committees. We have attended several of the meetings, and as far as representation is concerned, well, the less said, the better.

Now that "Pat" has the dope on housing conditions in the segregated area, and it is proven, beyond doubt, that such conditions do exist, what will he do about them? We have all faith in the integrity, ability, and courage of the D.A., and feel confident that he will do his utmost to remedy a most serious problem. In the meantime, should the self-appointed leaders of the congested, segregated district spend more time in seeking to remedy existing conditions, and less trying to vie for petty political positions, much could be accomplished. The appointee immediately forgets that for which he, or she, was appointed. That is, all but posing as a spokesman—who never speaks—for his constituents. Yes, we have them the woods are full of them. If there is nothing doing for self, to Hades with the constituents.

The Road to Health

By WAITE H. MADISON, M. D.

FOOD FOR HEALTH

You've probably heard about the woman who couldn't start her car. She cajoled and called it pretty names. Then she practically stood up on the starter, choked it over and over again, and called it other names, not quite so pretty. Finally, she prevailed upon a passing motorist to push her to the nearest garage.

"There's something horribly wrong with this car. I just can't get it to move," she told the garage attendant.

The garage attendant, wise in the ways of women motorists, asked her to step on the starter. The car shook convulsively, then settled back on its wheels.

"There's nothing wrong with your car, lady. You're just out of gas," he told her.

"Oh, my goodness, I forgot about gas," the lady replied.

The reason I'm telling you this story is because I was reminded of it this morning when Mrs. Watkins stopped into see me.

Mrs. Watkins is a young woman, 32 years old to be exact. She recently had recovered from an attack of influenza and claimed she had not been able to regain her energy and vitality.

"I'd like a tonic, doctor," she said. "It might pep me up."

"Have you been getting plenty of milk and vegetables, as I told you to ?" I asked.

"Oh, I detest milk and I never was much of a vegetarian," she cut in.

"But you need both if you want to regain your energy. You can't expect your body to do its work properly unless you provide it with the kind of fuel the body needs," I told her.

"Oh, I eat a lot, more than anyone else in my family," she said.

"You may eat enough, but do you eat enough of the right kind of food? In order to get back your energy you've got to supply your body with fuel, you need certain basic foods in your meals—milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables, meat, bread and whole grain cereals. You say you don't like milk, but do you like puddings?"

"Oh, yes, I like puddings," she answered. "Why?"

"Puddings contain milk and you can get milk in your diet by eating them if you won't drink it as a beverage. As for vegetables, you needn't be a vegetarain to eat them. Try different kinds of vegetables. You have a wide selection. Be sure to eat both green and yellow ones, since each contains different minerals and vitamins needed by the body. Be careful not to overcook vegetables, they lose much of their nutritive value if cooked too long," I said.

"I never thought of those things," Mrs. Watkins admitted.

A lot of other people don't think of food as a source of health. Eating foods the body needs is not only important in maintaining good health, but also in building up the resistance the body needs to fight off disease.

It doesn't take too much effort to plan meals so that they contain the necessary vitamins and minerals and at the same time are appetizing and attractive.

Another important point I want to stress is that you should never follow a reducing diet or fad without consulting a doctor. If you really need to lose—or gain—weight, consult your doctor. He will prescribe a diet which will accomplish your purpose without injuring your health.

Remember a car won't run without gas and oil. Similarly, your body won't function properly without the right kind of fuel and that is, the right kind of food.

Helen Douglas Asks 'Cost of Living' Credits

WASHINGTON — Rep. Helen Douglas of California yesterday introduced in congress a tax reduction bill giving "cost of living credits" on income taxes.

The measure provides for a $500 exemption for a couple with three children, re-enactment of the wartime exoess profits levy on corporations as a means of avoiding a net loss in government receipts.

State funds are available for purchase of farms and homes for veterans through the State Department of Veterans Affairs.

LAYMAN'S EW

By Leon W. Steward

this is the second year of gel Bowl and the second recognition of its coming column. There were sev- portant questions we had John Hardie and his as- in this enterprise before we could feel justified in mentioning this 1947 edition of the winter classic which made its first appearance just about a year ago.

Steward

It will be recalled that on that occasion teams from Wi- lege and Florida A & M played a very interesting before a rather large night There was no doubt but is affair went off very well and made a good enough to create the hope in of us that a return of the Bowl would be a welcome n to our Eastside winter n. However there had ome reorganization of the Bowl Association and change in the policy of g teams. Last year we saw ell coached Negro teams night. This year we have -star" team gathered from Negro college teams play- unusually good San Pe- ateur eleven on a Sunday on in bright daylight. he change?" we asked the tion.

N HARDEE EXPLAINS

explanations given us by straight-shooting John Hardee, whom we have known long for his truthworthiness and plain words, won our support. He stated that the Association was unable to get any Texas team this year and all of the other eligible teams elsewhere were willing to come were unable to accept the terms offered them. Most wanted large bonuses. Since the reorganized Association found itself unable to meet these conditions it became necessary to look for some other arrangement by which the Angel Bowl might continue this year so as to get into position to invite the most logical teams of the nation as the years pass.

THE CHOSEN PLAN

Having read of his choice of teams for this game we asked why they were selected. We were told that it was the original intent of the Association to ultimately bring great Negro college teams here to play great smaller college teams of California. Since two Negro college teams could not accept the invitation this year the idea is to begin the interracial aspect of the plan at this time. Thus the great amateur San Pedro team, with a brilliant record, agreed to take on any team the Association could produce. Hardee then secured the services of an ex-Wiley end of some years back who is now a coach with a great record with high school, college and service elevens. Marion B. (Mott) Smith, whose teams over the past years have won 60 and lost 7. His Ft. Lewis team, up in Washington, never lost a game in 1943 and last year his Camp Hood team won the first interracial game ever played in Texas.

In preparation for this game Smith has been working with a talented group of college players, some of whom have come from as far as Lincoln University, Mo. We do not expect this all-star agregation to beat this outfit which has been playing together for several years but there is every reason why the game should be a success from every angle. Surely the interracial aspect is not new but not too old in L. A.

The San Pedro supporters of the visiting teams, are already selling lots of tickets will be out in large numbers, plus a large number of folks, who like ourself, want to support the enterprise and see the game, will be there from the Los Angeles section.

THE BOWL QUEEN

There will also be quite a number present at Wrigley field to see the crowning of the Angel Bowl Queen, who will be selected from among the beauties sponsored by the Bishop and Texas college clubs and many of the better social clubs. The daylight feature will attract even more.

So meet us at Wrigley field on the 28th. Let's string along with John Hardee and the Angel Bowl Association in its effort to bring Negro football teams into the total bowl situation of California. Are these teams not contributing their quota of players to big time football?

The U. S. Press And The Recent French Strikes

By PAUL FRENCH

Although every American's future is vitally affected by events taking place in Europe, it is doubtful if any people understand those events less than the America npeople. This is not the people's fault, of course; but arises from the fact that most American newspapers are completely unreliable reporters of these events, and are so utterly dishonest in interpreting the meaning of such events as to leave the people who depend upon them completely ignorant of the real meaning of what is happening.

For example, when the current French strikes began with a walkout at Marseille, all that an American could make of it was that "Communists" — and everybody who strikes are called "Communists"—had, apparently without any reason whatever, "attacked the City Hall, beat up the mayor and threw some councilmen out the windows." Only by careful watching of the news for some days could anybody come at the truth, that the new city government in Marseille had arbitrarily raised street-car fares, had jailed three so-called "Communists" who had publicly used their right of free speech to criticize this raise, and that the workers of the city were so incensed about this that they not only had stormed the City Hall, but declared a city-wide general strike demanding, as well, wage increases to match the rising cost of living.

The utterly unprincipled manner of news-handling, of course, derived from the unprincipled diplomacy of the Truman administration, is evident in such recent headlines as that saying: "Rioting in France and Italy Blamed On Russia by U. S." Assistant Secretary of tSate Robert A. Lovett (a former Wall street investment banker), had, indeed, made that silly accusation. But the newspapers "played it up," and "played down" his further statement that the French strikes were "caused" by the "imbalance" between sky-rocketing prices and sationary wage rates. The "riots" came about when the reactionary governments, under "Marshall Plan" orders from American imperialism, tried to break the strikes with police and troop violence.

The fact that French workers, no different than American workers, find the cost of living going up to such a degree that they must demand wage raises, of exactly the same percentage as are currently being demanded by American workers, is concealed in the clamorous lies about their strikes being "blamed on Russia." This is utter nonsense, of course, but it suits the plans of war-mongers in our state department to blame everything hindering American plans to rule Europe under the "Marshall Plan," on the Soviet Union.

If you, as an American worker, find the cost of living rising and your wages remaining stationary, do YOU need any "orders from Russia" to tell you that you should demand a wage raise? Or strike if necessary, to get one? Of course not. And neither does a French worker require any word from "Russia," to tell him he must strike—or starve.

Now, of course, this does, undoubtedly, "interfere" with the Marshall Plan of bolstering up a collapsing capitalism in Western Europe and, incidentally, trying to prevent an economic collapse in America by making Western Europe an American colony. But the fault is in the sad state of world capitalist economy, not in anything the Soviet Union is doing or not doing.

Previous columns by this writer have pointed out the fact that capitalism, in all parts of the world, simply isn't working; that, as a social system, it is sick and dying, collapsing as a functioning system, unable to feed, cloth and shelter the people who live under int, as shown by the economic chaos on every hand and the consequent impoverishment of the masses. As a result, these masses must rebel. Then, to try to mainton their rule, the capitalists strive to break such rebellion with force and violence of fascism, though usually disguised as "democracy."

This struggle is bound to go on, and even become sharper—and to bring economic collapse, unemployment and consequent "disorder" to America, too. There is nothing to do but to fight it out, with the common people uniting to defend their living standards as best they can. But it is to prevent the common people from understanding this simple fact, that the newspapers controlled by the capitalist class try to fill the people's minds with confusion, nonsense and outright lies about events in Europe.

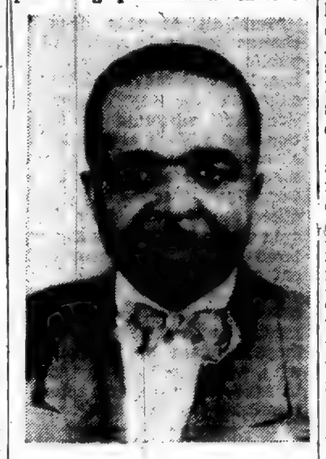
We have a prime example in the fairy tale that the socialist economic system of the Soviet Union is, somehow, not working right; the U. S. state department giving out vague and peculiar stories about a "buying spree" in the Soviet Union (that the Soviet people, like ourselves, are right now buying Christmas presents, is a fact apparently forgotten, and the attempt is made to picture matters as if the value of Soviet money is about to collapse). Remember this lie, and wait and see if it does not prove to be a lie.

The fact is that only a socialist economic system has any stability in the present period of history. That it is capitalism, not socialism, which is unstable and collapsing as an economic system, can be seen on every hand. Observe, for example, the inflation that is undermining American economy. Observe that, in China, it takes 137,000 Chinese dollars to buy a real dollar's worth of goods. Observe that the haughty British Empire is in such a fix that the British government has recently decided to run a gigantic lottery to keep the government going. When one of the world's greatest imperialist governments has to depend on a lottery to maintain itself, can capitalism be said to be anything else but sick and dying? But you don't find these obvious facts in the American newspapers.

Trail Blazers: Leon H. Hubbard

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Nestled among hundreds of beautiful lakes within the environs of metropolitan Detroit is located a small industrial town called Pontiac. Its namesake was the great Indian warrior. In the heart of the Negro community the business area extends an approximate two blocks.



It was in this community that a young lawyer, Leon H. Hubbard, hung his shingle more than 20 years ago. The men of his profession at that time asked, "Is the time ripe for a Negro lawyer?" One of the community leaders answered, "The time is not ripe but we'll make it ripe." However, his career and life in the city have probably answered the question better than any words spoken at that time.

His success was achieved through struggle. Born the son of a minister in Columbia, La., his mother died of childbirth. He was reared by a devout grandmother. His public school education, such as it is in a four and five month system, was meager until he entered Philander - Smith institute. When he saw the injustices that Negroes were receiving at the hands of whites he became interested in law.

One of his classmates suffered an experience which made him more than ever deteermined. His friend was falsely arrested for gambling at the school while they were merely returning from a college lecture. The student was convicted on the testimony of one white boy over four Negroes.

After that incident he volunteered for the army, serving as an instructor for the Students Army Training Corps. Upon being discharged he went to Detroit and worked at various auto plants, including Ford, Packard, Studebaker and Dodge. He even carried mail for the U. S. post office. From his savings he was able to enter Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, Mich., and later the University of Michigan. He received his A.B. degree in 1923 and was graduated from law school in 1927.

Hubbard, who is the oldest practising professional man in the community, began his practise in Pontiac in 1928. In the beginning he practiced criminal and compensation law. Later, when he was admitted to the federal court, he handled 40 per cent of all the cases in the city; less than 1 per cent were Negroes.

Handling a 90 per cent white practise in a Negro neighborhood, a large portion of his clientele is composed of Southern whites. This is because of his reputation won by fighting civil rights and police brutality cases and the attitude of the police department. It's a rare occasion now for the display of brutality by the police department. This victory has been won largely through his efforts.

In the courtroom he carries his point brilliantly without antagonism. And in this way, he has gained the respect and esteem of the bar and the bench. Any of his clients, who seek his services, find him of great value because of this. He is unusually studious and so punctual that a clock could be set by him.

His civic and fraternal affiliations include a group of business and professional men in the community known as the Rema club, legal counsel for the NAACP, Oakland county and Michigan Bar Association, Omega Psi Phi fraternity, two years chairman of the board of directors of the graduate Detroit chapter of the fraternity, which own the largest and finest Frat House in the country.

He is an avid biographical reader and ardent baseball fan. In the summer he takes extensive fishing trips and religiously follows the Big Ten football series in the fall. Married to the former Marion Bostic, petite and charming hostess, he is the father of one married daughter, Gail Burch. Our only Negro lawyer in the second richest Michigan county has established himself as a stalwart figure in the Negro and total community.

Cali- also forbids ineligible aliens to engage in commercial fishing and excludes them from equal benefits of old age pensions and other state relief. Many states admit only citizens to the bar and to the medical, teaching, and other professions, which means that the ineligible alien is permanently barred from these fields.

The bar to land holding—the "alien land law"—most seriously impairs the alien's economic opportunities. The first of the alien land laws, enacted by California in 1913, made it illegal for aliens ineligible for citizenship either to buy agricultural land or lease it for a period exceeding three years. Other western states passed similar laws. However, the alien land laws were not rigidly enforced, partly because it was often advantageous to lease or sell land to the Japanese and partly because of loopholes in the laws. During the second World War the California laws were made much more stringent.

California is now vigorously enforcing its amended alien land law. This law goes much further than to forbid ineligible aliens to own land. In effect, it forbids Americans of Japanese ancestry to support their ineligible alien parents with money derived from the beneficial use of land. It has put in jeopardy the legal title of land purchased for American-born children by alien Japanese parents. Two examples of the effects of this law were cited before the Committee by a Japanese American veteran. In one instance, Japanese American soldiers killed overseas made battlefield wills deeding their land to their parents. The parents could not, under the law, receive the land. Accordingly, it escheated to the state. The other involved two Japanese American brothers who returned from overseas service to find that California had attacked the validity of the title of land purchased for them as children by their parents, and which they had cultivated as their own before entering the service.

These land laws and other manifestations of discrimination against ineligible aliens have been made possible by the discriminatory provisions of our naturalization laws. The moral impact of this situation is indicated by the words of the Japanese American veteran already referred to:

". . . I would like to say that I believe most of us fought as we did because we felt that, in spite of the way we had been kicked around, America was still the land of opportunity for all of us. I know my mother sent five of her sons. Every one volunteered for combat. One was killed. The rest of us were wounded. We have over 30 individual decorations and medals among us. Well, my mother wants to become a citizen. It is for people like my mother and for a lot of Americans of good will throughout the United States who have a lot of confidence in us and our loyalty that we did the job we did.

PROBLEM OF CITIZENSHIP IN GUAM AND SAMOA

The peoples of Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are American citizens, either by birth or by naturalization, as are people in the 48 states. But the 35,000 inhabitants of Guam and American Samoa are in the anomalous position of being neither citizens nor aliens, but nationals of the United States. They have none of the rights of citizenship, yet owe allegiance to the United States. They do not have an organic act establishing a local government and guaranteeing civil liberties, but are ruled by naval administrators who issue decrees, administer the laws, and sit as judges. At the request of the President, the present Congress is considering legislation giving citizenship to these people, providing them with a local government guaranteeing basic civil rights, and transferring the administration of the islands from the navy to a civilian agency.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

A book makes a perfect Christmas gift.

Susan Ott, formerly head of history department in Los Angeles Public Library, has written a delightful little book entitled The Good Night at San Gabriel, which is the story of a Christmas Eve at the Mission at San Gabriel sometime in the 1870's. Father Juan, the young priest at the Mission, tries to explain to the Indians the story of the Christ Child since Father Serra has been delayed in his visit to them. Father Juan has taught the Indians the Christmas play of "The Noche Buena"—(The Good Night) in which the shepherds bring their gifts to the little Jesus. He allows them great freedom in their interpretation and this story is their version of the Christmas story.

Thelma Sharman Brown has edited the Treasury of Religious Plays in which are 20 complete plays suitable for all occasions and groups of all ages, for church, club or school. Most of the plays are for six to eight characters though some have more and some less. The plays depict Biblical characters and events, Christmas and Easter, missions, evangelism, race relations, and such themes as love, home life, honesty, freedom, temperance, etc. There is a good subject index and a list of the plays giving the number of characters and the performance time.

Edith J. R. Isaacs, former editor of Theatre Arts magazine and for many years a leading force in the American theatre, has written The Negro in the American Theatre. It deals with the Negros' early efforts to participate in theatrical activity and traces the evolution of the minstrel show and the inclusion of Negroes in it; of the all-Negro musicals of the last 40 years and the more recent flowering of Negro talent in such plays as "The Emperor Jones," "Anna Lucasta," etc. It also treats the development of Negro music forms in the theatre as the "Blues" and dancing as evolved by a Bill Robinson or a Pearl Primus. It is profusely illustrated and is an important chapter in the history of the American theatre and of our society as a whole.

The Pearl, by John Steinbeck, well-known author of Grapes of Wrath and many other novels, is attractively illustrated with black and white drawings by Jose Clemente Orozco. It is a short book illuminated by the deep understanding and love of humanity for which he is noted. This is an old Mexican folk-tale—the story of the great pearl, how it was found and how it was lost again. It is a simple story of simple people recounted with warmth and sincerity. In Lower California Kino, the fisherman, his wife, Juana, and baby Coyotito dream of shoes for the baby and a rifle for Kino. They find a pearl but tragedy follows, then envy, theft and murder. Though their dream is shattered the family remain closely knit. The story has been bought for movie production.

Lincoln Delano Jones

By ROSE MARY DEWITTE and ANNETTE BROWN

Tony Marsh, young ace aviator, lay stretched full-length in an invalid chair in the hot August sunshine. His plane had recently had rather a bad crack-up and the youth, severely shaken and with a number of minor bruises beside a broken arm and painfully strained back, was glad, for the moment, of the enforced rest and quiet.

His mother had put a small Negro boy to minister to his wants and every afternoon Lincoln Delano Jones would march proudly in at the big white front gate to assume his duties to the "sojer man" . . . said duties being merely to run errands, bring in library books, and wheel young Marsh's chair out onto the broad verandah which circled the great house.

Tony, glancing up from the magazine he had been drowsily reading, saw tears in the little colored boy's round black eyes and putting down the book, he demanded quickly: "Hey, what's the matter, Linc? You seem a bit low . . . anything I can do to help?"

Lincoln Delano Jones shook a woolly head and lowered the wide, tear-filled eyes which had been set fixedly upon the flier.

"Oh, come on now, Linc, what's up? Surely you can tell me," urged Tony with amused interest.

Lincoln Delano sniffed loudly and rubbed a grubby hand across his shiny and very flat nose.

"Mr. Tony," he said solemnly, "I'm want to be somebuddy jus' like you, but I cain't never be 'cause I ain't got no schoolin' for one thing, an' fer another thing I'm a black boy."

"So what? See here, Linc, you're an American, aren't you?" asked Tony sternly.

"Sure is," was the instant and proud rejoinder. And then shyly, "You-all like mah name?"

"It's a fine name, and you'd better live up to it. What do you want to be when you do grow up?"

L. D. Jones thought for a long moment. His concentrated endeavor seemed a somewhat painful operation, consisting chiefly of screwing up his small face and shutting both eyes tightly. Suddenly he said: "I wants t'be a p'liceman or a judge. But look at the colored folks 'round here, Mr. Tony. They ain't none of 'em got far, I'll say."

"Well, that doesn't need to stop you from getting where you want to go. By the way, I know a story about a colored man who got way to the top . . . want to hear it?"

"Sure 'nuff do!"

"All right, youngster, sit down over there on that step and listen."

"Awright, Mr. Tony . . . shoot!" Lincoln Delano scrambled over to the designated place and curled up in the hot sunshine.

"When I was a little chap," began Tony, flattered in spite of himself at the wrapt attention of his small audience, "I went to visit my grandmother who lived in Barbados, a small island in the Caribbean Sea. At that time, some 23 years ago, there were about 20,000 white people on the island, and over 175,000 blacks."

L. D. Jones emitted a shrill whistle and rolled his eyes.

"That's sure mo' blackses than whiteses," was his breathless comment. "Who own that lil' old island, Mr. Tony?"

"The British owned it. One day the government of the colony offered a scholarship of $1500 a year for three years, and transport back to Oxford, England, to anyone who could win it. It was open to whites and colored people alike but the boys who tried for it had to be born on the island."

"I bet some might smart white boy won. No chance fer a lil' old black boy, I bet," remarked the small Negro wistfully.

"Wrong you are! The scholarship was won by a black boy named George Knight, and he went to Oxford university and studied law. And he passed all his examinations and then went back to the island of Barbados."

"That same lil' old island?"

"The same island. And because there were so many colored people there, he had a great many cases among them and he did his work so well the government made him chief justice of the whole island and he was given a title . . . (a very great British honor)—and he became 'Sir George Knight.'"

"My . . . My!" gasped Linc, not at all sure just what this meant, but proud of his race upon whom the title had been conferred.

"And all the while George Knight was in office, there was law and order, and not one murder was committed on the entire island. Then he divided it into parishes, and "the Reverend" of each Parish ministered to his flock, body and soul. One room in the minister's house was always set aside as a "surgery" and here came the ttroubled ones in health . . . and if it was nothing really serious, small bottles of colired water was handed out, to make them well."

"Why colored medicine, Mr. Tony? Color ain't got nothing to do with makin' folks well, has it?"

"Well, they believed in the brightly colored liquids. My grandmother used to help the minister of the parish near her, put up the doses in the tiny bottles. They flavored and colored it with red peppermints. It tasted good and did no harm."

"Dit it make 'em well?"

"Well, they took the stuff, and their faith in it and in their God did the rest."

"Is you got faith, Mr. Tony?"

"You bet I have," said the young man grimly. "It's carrying me, and millions of others, through this war!"

Linc rose thoughtfully and pushed the wheelchair further into the shade, then slid once more comfortably onto the hot, sun-baked step.

"Mr. Tony," he said, after a pause, "Cain't we talk some more, 'bout folks what 'does things in this here world? Color ain't really nothin', is it, if you kin folks proud of it . . . and you!"

"Good for you, Linc. Of course we'll talk some more. But cut along now, and take these books to the library."

Once more Linc got to his feet, wiggling the fat little toes which protruded from the ragged ends of his shoes.

"'Bye, Mr. Tony," he said regretfully. "I'll come along tomorrer, sure 'nuff. Who we talk about, then, Mr. Tony?"

"Don't know now, kid, but I'll think of somebody and have the story ready for you. Okay?"

"Okay!" echoed the little black boy cheerfully, and with the package of books under his arm Lincoln Delano Jones went whistling down the path, head well up and round black eyes shining.

A Christmas Story

Kathy. Perhaps she can go with you?"

"Oh, mother! I hate to get angry, but why is it that all the adults, even you, give us the runaround? Why don't you want us to think about these vital things? Why don't you help us face them and try to solve them?"

"I was only thinking of your welfare, dear. Try not to become so over-wrought."

"Sorry if I spoke unbecomingly, mother. But I do want to face life squarely—that's the Girl Reserve motto you know—what we young folk would like to know is 'what can we do to help build a better world?' We can use one, you know. Honestly, mother,—I'm dead in earnest. It means a lot to me, to all of us. Christmas, that blessed season of peace is here—the New Year is coming in. I'd really like to resolve upon a life of service to my fellowmen—one that will help to bring about Peace on earth and Goodwill to Men."

"My daughter! Really, dear, I hadn't dreamed you'd grown up so much. Seventeen, aren't you? Usually a dangerous age, but I don't believe it will be for you. If you really want my opinion, dear—it is going to be up to the youth, boys and girls like yourself, to make a better world. It will take much faith, a great deal of courage; you must have sound principles and the determination to stand upon them, no mattter what. You must not only say you believe all men are created equal,—you must live and act according to that belief. If you do that, you will be persecuted and kicked around. You'll have to be able to take it. You'll have to beware of crooked politics—of easy money—of undeserved fame. We, your mothers and fathers, have had the light. Most of us haven't had the courage to walk in it. We've chosen the easy way. We've failed miserably, dear. Perhaps the solution lies in your generation, Margie. I believe you'd fight for these ideals. Perhaps a great many of the youth would be willing to suffer for a principle. It would be wonderful,—why, Margie, darling, there are tears in your eyes—what's wrong, my dear?—"

"Nothing's wrong, mom. Nothing at all! I'm happy, so happy. Thanks for telling me all these things. You've given me hope. It took courage for you to admit that you have failed in some things. We all have. But it's so good to know that you still believe in the possibility of world peace. The future had begun to look very dark to us kids, mother. Everything seemed so futile. We're really hungry for peace. We don't want our husbands, our brothers to go to war again, to die for nothing, as so many fine young men have already done. We must have courage to do the right as we see it.

"Now I can send out those greetings I'd planned to send. I wanted to be sure that I wasn't butting my head against a stone wall, mother. Thanks again, you're so sweet, and so right!"

"You're so sweet, my dear,—and so right! What is your message for this Christmas season? Mind if I hear it?"

"Certainly not, mother dear. This is my Christmas message to you, to all my friends, to everyone: 'The Prince of Peace, whose birthday we celebrate today, gave us the key to world peace 1947 years ago. It must have gotten lost in the shuffle of generations of ignorance, malice, prejudice and greed, but it's been found again. Let's all use it. It is, simply, do unto others as ye would have them do unto you. Shall we resolve from this day forward to use the key?'"

"That's lovely, darling. Merry Christmas!"

"Merry Christmas, mother! A very Merry Christmas, indeed!"

1,500,000 Tenants Blackjacked Into 'Voluntary' Rent Raises

WASHINGTON — Occupants of another 118,000 family rental units were blackjacked into paying up to 15 percent higher rents during Nivember under the so-called voluntary clause the GOP-dominated congress tacked on to its 1947 federal rent law. The new figures were released yesterday by Acting Housing Expediter Tighe Woods.

Since the law went into effect last summer, 1,458,000 rental units have been upped in monthly rent under the law, of an estimated 15,700,000 units under federal rent control.

The clause making the boosts possible allows almdlords and tenants to "agree" on a raise up to 15 percent if the tenant signs a lease running into 1949 or longer.

Main motive of tenants for signing such leases has been fear of what the landlord will charge of congress should end rent control next spring. The weak 1947 law will expire March 1, 1948, unless congress extends its life.

The voluntary blackjack clause ceases to be effective at the end of 1947.

Louis to Retire After Next Fight

NEW YORK—Joe Louis told reporters this week that "win or lose" he will retire after his next fight. "I'm tired," he said. "I've been in there a long time."

The heavyweight champion said he would retire to go into business, indicated he had plans to open a brewery in Chicago to manufacture a beer to be called "Champ beer."

He confirmed a report that he had gone into the publicity business with Billy Rowe, Pittsburgh newspaperman.

Watts Transit Plea Turned Down by Board

on the application of Samuel W. Taylor and Simon Jaime, M. D., for a permit a new bus service in Watts together with the application of Landier Transit Company, Inc., for authority to extend its routes under its existing franchise.

The hearing was attended by many Watts citizens, who indignantly testified to the poor transportation service in the district. Atorney Rayfield Lundy presented many witnesses who stressed the need for better buses, more frequent service and extension of buslines into newly developed territory. Most of the witnesses contended that the best solution of the problem was to permit a new company to give service in the area.

In denying application for permission to operate a new bus line, the board ordered the Landier Transit Co. to extend its lines and warned the company that the quality of its services must be improved.

In his statement following the board action, Commissioner Smith in comenting on "certain matters" which have come to his attention subsequent to the board hearing, declared:

"I have received the very definite impression that, so far as Mr. Landier is concerned, he is perfectly willing to give the worst service that he can get away with in the Watts district. These are not final conclusions nor official findings, but they are definite impressions that I have received since the hearing."

Commissioner Smith at the same time defended the action of the board, declared:

"But all of this does not change the basic nature of the public transit problem. This board is still convinced that the only feasible way to get efficient and adequate transportation in the Watts area is to have a coordinated and integrated service operated largely by one company, rather than to add another small competitor in an area which already receives scattered service from three different companies."

He suggested that the board establish "specific standards of service to be required. Then, if these standards are not complied with, we can ask the city council to take the necessary action to terminate the franchise."

Something for the Books; Police Admit 'Mistake' in Mass Arrests Of Mexican Kids at Playground

Confronted by a delegation of 12 irate Mexican-American parents, Asst. Police Chief Joseph Reed yesterday admitted police might have made a "mistake" in a mass round-up of minority group juveniles in the Elysian district Nov. 12.

Councilman Earnest Debs also visited by the delegation, termed the police action "deplorable" and promised the group that if such an incident occurred again he intended to "make an issue of it" before the city council.

Parents said their children, some as young as eight years were taken from the Elysian playground in a mass raid and hailed to central police station without their knowledge for questioning in connection with the fatal injury of a fireman when a rock was hurled at him.

Earlier in the week, Capt. W. Boling of the police juvenile division had declared the police were still rounding up the youngsters and would continue to do so.

John Marrujo, a volunteer assistant, told Reed that police simply invaded the playground, shoved the kids into police cars "and didn't even have the decency to notify the playground director."

Mrs. Philipa Ramirez complained that her 11 year old son was picked up off the street at 7 p.m. as he was on the way to the grocery store on an errand and was not returned until 10 that night.

"We realize a man was killed and we do not object to a police investigation," Marrujo told Reed. "But we definitely object to the way police are handling it. We don't like to see youngsters snatched off playgrounds and taken off the streets. It's getting so the kids are afraid to come to the playground."

Reed said "everybody makes mistakes; we're not in the habit of making arrests on playgrounds," and promise an investigation.

The parents were accompanied by Attorney Jack Frankel, a member of the Lawyers Guild. The Civil Rights Congress also has taken protesting action in the case.

Trial Highlighted By Clash of Defense Attorneys had been beaten by friends of Mrs. Jackson, but ordered this testimony stricken from the records on the motion of the Matthews brothers' attorney, Earl C. Broady. This dealt a body blow to the prosecution, as with the exclusion of all testimony pertaining to this previous fight, there was no evidence of motive for the subsequent killing of Taylor.

The testimony of the prosecution witnesses was literally torn apart by defense attorneys, with cross examination evoking different versions of the killing from each prosecution witness.

The highlight of the trial was the bitter fight between Attorney Earl C. Broady, counsel for the Roberts Brothers, and defense counsel for Fred Rainey. Attorney Broady in open court accused the other defense attorney of seeking to free Rainey by joining int he prosecution's attempt to convict the Roberts Brothers, and defense counsel defense attorneys continued to the end of the trial. Each assailed the other in arguments to the jury.

The jury quickly returned a verdict freeing all three defendants.

Taylor was married and lived with his wife and two small children. He had operated a chain of small hotels throughout the city and was considered by his friends as a well-to-do business.

Aged Couple Pass Away Same Day

Dead within a few hours of each other this week were Rufus L. Brewer, 70, and his wife, Mrs. Climmie Brewer, 69, of 4523 Honduras st.

Mrs. Brewer passed away at her home at 10:40 a.m., and her husband died the same day at 11 p.m. Both were natives of Arkansas, and had lived in California for 20 years.

Services for the couple were held at Grace Memorial church, 41st and Compton, last Saturday.

ment of our democracy nor assert our confidence in its ability to meet every situation," she told a news conference.

Mrs. Roosevelt, here for the sessions of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, of which she is chairman, was asked to define the dividing line between freedom of speech and subversive activity. She replied that the traditional American attitude had been to permit "any political opinion which did not advocate the overthrow of the government by force."

"It seems to me," she continued, "that where there is not the freedom for the individual to dissent, intellectually, morally and spiritually from the majority group, then you do not have real freedom, and I do not see how you can progress, since minorities often become majorities."

The gown was of luscious elvet with a full skirt fall- to a train. She carried a satin white prayer book with orchids. As for her 'something old' she carried a rare old handkerchief of exquisite Philippine needlework, a Loving family heirloom. Her only attendant was her sister, Bernice Trokey and she donned a frock of 'Alice blue' velvet smartly fashioned. The bestman was Dr. Ernest Green, son of Col. J. E. Green and cousin of the bride.

The bride, who is proclaimed to be one of the prettiest girls in the Bay area, is a product of California schools, including the University of California. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Elliott and the niece of Col. and Mrs. J. E. Green of Oakland.

The handsome groom is the son of the late Colonel Walter Howard Loving, famous bandleader, who gained world acclaim with the Philippine Constabulary band, organized under President Taft, and Mrs. Edith Loving King. Colonel Loving, advisor to Pres. Quejon in the Phillipine Islands, was killed in the last war by the Japanese. Since then the groom's mother, Mrs. Edith Loving King, now the wife of Lt. Leslie King, is making her home in Los Angeles. The groom, who is one of the most popular young men of his home state, plans to continue his studies in business administration under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Since his father's death, he has managed the Loving estate.

MONTCLAIR RECEPTION

The reception was held following the wedding in the aristocratic Montclair Woman's Club atop the Piedmont Hills, where more than 500 people gathered to wish the popular couple good luck and long happiness. Their presents were numerous and lovely. Many out of town friends of the families attended the wedding. Among them were. Mrs. Vera Winston of Los Angeles; Dr. Gertrude Curtis of New York and the Boute family of Los Angeles.

Sepia Modeling Students To Be Show Features

Far up on the "must attend" calendar of pre-Xmas affairs is the matinee cocktail fashion show, "Fashions in Furs," which will be held on December 21, at the swank Last Word Cafe.

An exclusive array of furs for morning, afternoon and evening wear will be fashionably modeled by students of the Sepia Modeling school and friends in sympathy with the project.

Exquisitely designed furs of all descriptions will be furnished through the courtesy of Frank's Department Store.

The furs of unequalled splendor will have their use, origin, style, and occasion for wear expertly explained by Faustina Johnson.

Christmas Dinner Party Dec. 20

Plans were completed for the Christmas dinner party of the Orange Blossom Club of Daughter Elks, Hiawatha Temple 91, at the regular meeting held last month at home of Miss Katie Mae Wilson, 4051 Woodlawn ave.

It was decided that the annual event would be held in the rumpus room of the beautiful E. 49th street home of Mrs. Elizabeth Kimbrough, on Saturday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. sharp. Each club member is priviledged to bring one guest, also a present for her guest and her secret pal.

Gamma XI Highlights Events Of Week end with Brilliant Formal on U.C.L.A. Campus

A colorful blue and gold canopy, transformed the huge Women's Gymnasium of the University of California Los Angeles Campus, into an ideal setting for the initial formal ball of the new Gamma Xi chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. The group of college men organized Feb. 24, on campus at UCLA, has grown by leaps and bounds during the year 1947. The formal that catered to the select college group of the city, was typical of Alpha events in that a formal atmosphere definitely prevailed.

The more than 500 guests danced to the music of a 16-piece orchestra from 9 until 1 a.m. Saturday morning. Promptly at 12 midnight, the members of Gamma Xi chapter were introduced for the first time by Jessie Mae Brown, Society Editor of the EAGLE. Albert Jones, Charter president, greeted the guests and presented Dean Clyde Johnson, one of the faculty sponsors. The introduction was concluded by the Alpha fraternity brothers joining in the singing of the Alpha Hymn.

Among the Gamma Xi members presented were: William L. Thompson, Harry J. Thompson, Gerald Stovall, Stanley Robertson, Alfred T. Quinn, Joseph Oliver Jr., Clayton R. Moore, Oscar Little, Eugene J. Lytle, Thaddeaus Hobbs, Bill Hill, D. Rudolph Henderson Jr., Marris D. Hampton, Olston Forrest, Ray Bartlett, Willie Patterson, sgt. at arms; Paul V. Weaver, editor of Sphinx, and general chairman of the formal; Robert A. Boswell, treasurer; Arthur Lewis, corresponding secretary! Artis C. Grant, vice president. Gamma Xi Chapter boasts 36 charter members.

EGGNOG PARTY

On the heels of the formal ball, the tempo of the evening was lifted at the exclusive Eggnog party, closed to Alpha Frat brothers and their company. The gay gathering held sway at Arthur Lewis' home and lasted well into Saturday morning. Curtis Howard was busy snapping pictures of the glamorous ladies of the evening. Included in the group were: Pauline Jones, Marsha Cardinal, Dorothy Quinn, Betty Wallace, Gloria Hurt, Alma Henderson, Wilma Hill, Fay Hopkins, Fannie Craine, Ernie Mae Maxey, Betty Bartlett, Sadie Weemes, Betty Hall, Flora Boswell, Jean Arnold, Mattie Cook and a host of others.

The Gamma Xi formal dance marked one of the first to be held by a Greek letter organization during this holiday season.

SURPRISE FAREWELL party for Juanita Terry, interrupted the general program of work at the Federal Building on Friday afternoon. Fellow workers in the Treasury Department will miss Miss Terry whose work has been outstanding. WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

DEEP ARE THE ROOTS, the play that New Yorkers went to see, and Angelenos read about, has finally made its way to the coast, and will be 'the' play to see during the early weeks of the new year, when we are all taking a little breather from the holiday activities. Adding local interest, Jessie Grayson will be featured in her outstanding role, and I'm quite sure many of her friends and admirers will be out front, bringing her back for curtain call. The play is scheduled for its official opening at the Belasco theatre on January 15, however, the National Negro Congress and American Jewish Council will benefit proceeds from the premiere showing on January 14. First nights are glamorous nights, and its perfectly swell of the company to turn the funds over to these worthy organizations. Ye scribe can only wonder who will be listed among first nighters, and urge that you get your tickets early, especially if you plan to do your bit for the congress. It will be my pleasure, about 1:30 this afternoon (Thurs.), to lunch and chat with the producer and some of the players. This time next week, 't'will be first hand info that you get on the goings-on of "Deep Are the Roots," a must if there ever was one....

EVENTS GALORE

The local social whirl is spinning madly by now. It's true that mid-summer activities slowed down the 'Big' dates that have been observed throughout the years, but believe me, there are many new events, a bit on the small scale, filling the Christmas and New Year calendar. Sunday afternoon, following the Assembly Fashion show, found my way to the new 8th and Town Youth Center, kept a promise to Jay Fairchild, and glad of it. Believe me, the center has all the earmarks of being the living room of any new show place on the 'Hill.' The great Paul R. handled the architectural details, that feature winding staircase, muted shades, collapsible partitions that look like drapes and, I could go on and on,

Juanita Terry Given Faewell Party by Treasury Dept.

Juanita Terry, daughter of civic leader, Mrs. Jessie Terry, was honoree at a farewell party given by fellow workers in the Treasury Dpeartment, Federal Bldg., last Friday afternoon. Miss Terry has been one of the key workers of the department and will be sorely missed.

The workers and superior officers of the department attended the affair and expressed their views on the fine work Miss Terry has done and how the department will miss her. However, congratulations were extended on her promotion to the status of secretary to Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglass. Miss Terry handed in her resignation immediately on receipt of her new appointment.

Among the workers attending the affair were: Ethel Harvey, Thomas Funk, Verna Pederson, Jean Eisenhauer, Kay Fiyikawa, Byron Edwards, Charles Commins, chief of legal department; May Olson, Josephine Hahne, Yvonne Gardner, Madeline Carrick and Alice Dodson. Vera Jackson covered the affair for the California EAGLE.

Vogue Art Club Contributes to West View

Members of the Vogue Art club presented Mrs. Muriel Pradia, member of the Westview League, with a check for the Westview Fund. Each year the club makes a presentation of the proceeds secured from their annual bazaar, to some worthy charity.

News was received by the members of the club that their very diligent president, Mrs. Zeresh Eberhardt, was taken to the Queen of Angeles hospital where she is seriously ill. The club wishes her a speedy recovery.

Board Members Named as Settlement Group Make Holiday Plans

During our annual meeting of the board of directors and membership last Thursday the following were elected to serve on the board for 1948:

Mrs. Malinda Mae Garland was unanimously re-elected to serve a second term as president of Eastside Settlement House; Mattie Mae Stafford, first vice-president; Willie Mae Adams, second vice-president; Ethel Holt, treasurer; the other members of the board: Carrie Fisher, Julia Lee, Mattie Austin, Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, Evelyn Gordon, Elmyra Spencer, Mattie Hurd, Claudia Jernigan, Juanita Miller, Victoria Lewis, Lellia Follis, Minnie Fariera, Alma Hurd, Martha Malone Jefferson, Mildred Moore, Beulah Barber, Ida Robertson, Partee Pitts, Anna March, Myrtle Brown and Esther T. Greenley.

The following were elected on Settlement advisory board: Nathaniel George, chairman; members: Eugene Fisher, Rev. D. D. Turpeou, Randolph Carter, Mrs. Bernice Barnum, Alice Collins, Betty Hill, Mrs. Wilkie Mahony, Duane Robinson and Paul Williams.

Christmas Party

Plans are just about complete for the Christmas party Monday, December 22, at 6 p.m., at which time 200 children from the various clubs, classes and other groups from the neighborhood will be entertained. Many individuals and organizations have made the party possible. The Los Angeles Needlework Guild supplied clothing for each child. The City Service Trucking Co. gave candy for the party, Mrs. L. J. Hahn brought a lovely tree last week, and plans to bring nuts and oranges for the party, the Emergency Club gave stockings for the candy, nuts and fruit and some decorations for the tree.

100 of the children have been invited to a Christmas party Sunday, December 21, at Hollywood High school. The invitation came from the California Toy Manufacturing Association through Mrs. Handler.

Bridge Jottings From G.W.B.A.

By Ellis L. Veil

Ann Daniels team won the G.W.B.A.'s third annual mixed team of four Regional. Members of her team were Franklin Wilson, Estelle Bryant, Jimmy Lawson. In second place and only one half point behind the winners were Margaret Hale-Lewis Woods, Blanche Woods-Ellis L. Veil. This was the largest Regional ever held at 1054. Twelve teams played.

Installation of officers for 1948 will take place at the club rooms Sunday, January 4. The next challenge pair match will be held the same day. Starting time 3:30 p.m. The past match was a hotly contested McKenny Baldwin movement game. Less than ten points separated the first eight pair. Melvin Hughes and Kenneth Scott are boasting that they will repeat but by a greater margin. There is never a dull moment when Mel and Kenneth are in the game wants to give them a bottom. Master players, non-master players are you going to let them win again?

Mr. Robert Lee a master player from Berkeley, California and secretary of the West Bay Duplicate club was in the Angel City for the last Regional. We were surely glad to see him. He did so much to make things pleasant for us when we were in Oakland for the Sectional.

The East Bay Duplicate club of that city is now a full pledged unit of the American Bridge Association with a charter of their own. May it be known that they have the most cooperative and enthusiastic membership of any bridge club anywhere. We are looking forward to many good games with them in Los Angeles, Oakland and with the Golden Gate Club of San Francisco. Ben Gerdon is president of the San Francisco club. Mrs. Gertrude Maxwell is secretary.

San Diego Couple Celebrate 20 Years Martial Happiness

SAN DIEGO — Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. McDonald, 3060 J street, observer their 20th wedding anniversary, on Sunday afternoon, December 7. More than 200 charming ladies, with handsome escorts, gathered at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald during the course of the afternoon.

The elaborate occasion resembled a family reunion. Eighteen relatives of Mrs. McDonald assisted in the celebration and in the entertainment of the guests. Out of town relatives included: Mrs. Harriett Oliver, Denver, Colorado, and Mrs. C. N. Bradford and Mrs. Bradford, Los Angeles, cousins. Mrs. Mary White and Mr. Webster Lawson, aunt and uncle, alternated at the door and gift table. Aunts, Mrs. Tinsa L. Smith and Mrs. Lydia Stackfield, presided at the punch bowls. Aunts, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Charlene Dobbs, supervised the serving of refreshments, assisted by nieces, Norma Jean Baynard and Truelene Russ, and daughter, Mary McDonald.

The lace covered gift table, extending the length of the room, was well laden with lovely and precious china.

Mrs. McDonald was very charming in the white-net-over-satin dress in which she was married, 20 years ago. Mrs. Bradford, in an evening gown of rose taffeta and Mrs. Oliver, in a very exquisite form fitting black crepe Hollywood creation, assisted in the receiving line. Mrs. Oliver will leave for Los Angeles in a few days to be the winter house guest of Mrs. Willa Smallwood.

Sally Wilson Chairs Smart Fashion Review---Proceeds For Assembly Temple Youth

In an effort to swell a music lesson fund for young talented members of the Assembly Temple, 1250 E. 34th st., Miss Sally Wilson capably chaired the fashion review and musical that was given at Masonic Hall Sunday evening. A large audience enjoyed the program that was presented before a perfect garden background. The talented Miss Wilson opened the program by very beautifully singing "The Lord's Prayer" and "Hear The Bells Ringing." Chimes and bells were used in the background of the number, marking it outstanding. Mr. Hermin Crouch presided at the piano during half of the program and Miss Roberta Morgan accompanied several of the musical numbers, as well as played a solo. Little Jacqueline Garden, outstanding child pianist and elocutionist, played and superbly rendered the famous Gettysburgh address. Little Earl Barnes played several Xmas carols on his trumpet, and Mrs. Mildred Hurt, Miss Lola Buchanon, Mrs. Sally Wilson and Mr. Archie McDaniel, also sang solos that completed the musical part of the evening.

VINCENT DESIGN

The fashion review that was highlighted with original creations by Vincent Harris, hats by Robbie Slocum and furs by Arkin and Freeman, held the spotlight of the whole affair. In each division modeled, one adult was given a first prize for outstanding designing and the way she modeled the outfit. Mrs. Isom walked off with honors for the white satin, new length formal gown, featuring a sheer draped over skirt embellished with gold threads. Miss Kitty King, wearing one of Vincent Harris' original, won first place for street wear, and Miss Sally Wilson wearing the very latest in three piece suits, won first place in that division. Miss Wilson's suit was highlighted with fur collar that brought out the lovely tone of the gray hard finished material the garment was made of. The pencil slim skirt was featured and the small helmet type hat was accented with fur that matched the color of the suit.

The Arkin and Freeman furs accented the new stole fashions that are forecast to be the most popular type fur to be worn in 1948. Other adult models included: Lola Mae Buchanon, Mary Willis, Hazel Fauller, Olivia Petrice.

A mock wedding was given by six young children showing the different fashions to be used in weddings. Little Alta Nona Hurt served as bride and her brother Eual Hurt as groom, Jackie Gardner was bridesmaid. Little Beatrice Franklyn modeled a pink gown of net trimmed in blue, her sister modeled a blue taffeta gown. Their change of costume featured dainty little pinafores, Jessie Mae Brown, of the EAGLE, commentated the show.

At the close of the affair, Rev. Green, presided the awarding of a box of groceries that were given little Earl Barnes, who held the lucky number. The gifts to the three fashion winners were presented by "Mother" Green.

The fashion review marked one of the most successful events of the church in '47. General chairlady, Sally Wilson, is extending a hearty thank you to all who assisted in making it so.

Xmas Cheer Will Be Extended Shut-Ins By 'Y' Coed Club

Final plans have been made for the biggest Holiday Youth program the 28th street Y.M.C.A. has ever attempted. The Co-ed Club of the Branch Youth Division, under the leadership of Mrs. Edna Collins, has done a fine job of planning a major portion of the scheduled events which will include boys and girls from eight to eighteen.

Outstanding among co-ed activities in the younger set will be the singing of Christmas carols to World War veterans at Sawtelle on Christmas eve; a special Youth religious service on Sunday afternoon December 29 with Bill Hoyt as guest speaker, Mr. Hoyt was a delegate to the World Christian Youth Conference in Oslo, Sweden this year. Other Co-ed events include parties and outings.

Among the items for younger boys will be basketball, swimming, movies, tournaments, outings, parties and games.

This big holiday program for our community youngsters suggest a "Y" membership for a Christmas gift to your boy. There is no finer place for a boy for development of good health and character than your local Y.M.C.A.

Tide Magazine Features New Smart Woman

CHICAGO—Smart Women, the fashion and home magazine whose debut issue was published here last month, has been featured in the Nov. 28, issue o Tide, the "news magazine of advertising, marketing and public relations."

Says Tide: "Smart Women is the most competent and costly publication" yet aimed for colored women. Its standards prohibit patent medicines and love potion advertising on the advice of Thomas H. Beck, chairman of the Crowell-Collier Publishing Company, "the best known of several such well-wishers."

"Editorially," points out Tide, "the magazine aims to cover the fashion, beauty and home fields generally, but stressing problems peculiar to Negro women which white-published magazines usually ignore. In addition to the usual problems such as skin and hair care, there are many subtler ones, like the notorious crowding of Negro living quarters which complicate even upper income housekeeping."

The first issue "of a brave new publishing experiment . . . lives up to its new name, notably with a bleed photo fashion cover and section featuring Negro models."

Payrolls in its California plants during 1946 totaled $16,319,203, General Motors Corporation reported yesterday. Most of the payrolls, to an average of 5419 employes, went to workers in Oakland and South Gate, where the company operates assembly plants.

Oldest Alpha Chapter On Coast Elects William Freeman President

The members of Alpha Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc., the oldest Negro Greek letter fraternity in the U.S.A., met on the evening of December 5, 1947, to elect its officers for 1948.

Alpha Delta was organized at the home of Dr. John Sumerville and was under the leadership of such renowned personages as Malcolm H. Patton and Bert McDonald. This organization took place in 1921 and Alpha Delta was given campus recognition at the University of Southern California and became the 26th chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

This makes Alpha Delta the oldest and leading Alpha chapter on the West Coast, Alpha Epsilon of the University of California at Berkeley having been organized in 1922, and Beta Psi Lambda, the Alpha Graduate Chapter of this city, as well as the recently organized Gamma Xi Chapter of the University of California, having sprung out from Alpha Delta.

With awareness of the chapter's position of leadership in the community and the traditions and ideals behind the Fraternity of which it is a member, the brothers of Alpha Delta elected the following to represent them during 1948, with confidence that under their leadership Alpha Delta will continue to seek avenues of service to our great community.

Mid-Winter Confab Slated for Feb.

The Mid-Winter Conference Planning Committee met at the Pasadena Y.W.C.A. recently. Representatives from various clubs attended the conference. Plans for the conference to be held at Pacific Palisades in February were discussed.

Mrs. Ruby Denham was made co-chairman of the committee. Mrs. Denham is a residence of Santa Ana and has been a member of the Y.W.C.A. for 2 years.

The Mid-Winter Conference Planning Committee is interracial and its purpose is to bring about leadership ability, relationship experiences, and a better democracy for our business, professional and industrial women in various organizations.

36th Street PTA ives Yule Fete

The Christmas meeting of the 36th street school PTA was held Wednesday night in the school auditorium.

Father O'Callaghan of Holy Name gave a very inspiring message on "The Real Meaning of Christmas."

The Christmas play entitled "The Perfect Gift" was presented by the chorus of Miss Bright's room and the children's chorus of 100 voices was directed by Miss Slike. It was beautifully done and showed a great deal of work and time had gone into the preparation of the play and chorus.

Everyone enjoyed a very nice social hour in the cafeteria following the meeting.

52 Field Managers of Golden Life Hail Opportunities Offered By Company at Banquet Here

"The finest opportunity extended to Negro insurance men to learn modern salesmanship and district management methods," was the opinion voiced by the 52 field managers of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company from California, Illinois and Texas districts, at a banquet last Friday evening concluded a four-day conference of supervisors and superintendents.

The conference was under the direction of Arthur J. Williams, superintendent of agents, and furnished information on new methods of operation and instructions in selling techniques, public relations, and policyholder services. George A. Beavers Jr., chairman of the board and agency director, and Edgar J. Johnson, secretary, presented production and conservation goals for 1948. Highlight of the meeting was a five-hour lecture by President Norman O. Houston, giving information concerning new policies to be issued Jan. 1, 1948, by Golden State Mutual, as well as all other companies operating in the United States, in compliance with the Guertin insurance law.

The firm began the practice of bringing field heads to the home office in December, 1938, and was host to 13 from California districts. This year, which marked the ninth annual event, there were 42 managers from California districts and 10 from Texas and Illinois:

ILLINOIS DISTRICTS

Chicago: State Supervisor Curtis Poree, Asso. Supv. William Robinson, Supts. Elbert Thornton and Joseph Funches.

TEXAS DISTRICTS

Dallas: State Supv. Merle McGaughey, Supt. Conne Cambric, Inspector William Morgan; Houston: Supt. Chester A. Beverly, Inspector William Ponder; Fort Worth: Supt. Ralph Diamond.

CALIFORNINA DISTRICTS

San Diego: Supt. Leycester Brown; Fresno: Supt. Calvin Saunders; Oakland: Supervisors Paul Reid and John Payton, Supts. James Kelly, Lisso Harper, Hardie Backstrom, Harold Riley, Isaac Jones, Charles Furlow, John Cochran; Inspectors M. Robinson Baker, Thornton Betts and George Purdom.

San Francisco: Supv. A. E. Hackshaw; Supts. Robert Coles, Robert Minor, Alvin Nurse; Inspector John F. Curry.

Los Angeles: Agency Trainers Mercer Ray, Nolan Payton, Cecil Davis; Supv. Lonzie Jones; Home Office Reps. Dee Hodges, Milton Alleyne, Berke Hunigan; Supts. Miller Kemp, Russell Young, Joel Pryce, Joe Petteway, Adolph Lecesne, Chester Brown, Anton Perry, Ben Graham, John Thompson, Demmit Griffin, Emmett Jones, Robert Belton; Inspectors E. W. Carter, Alvin Nicholson, John T. Nelson and Charles Thomas.

Walter Gordon In Hospital

Walter Gordon Sr., Central avenue pioneer real estate man, is at present in the Good Samaritan Hospital, suffering from a slight paralytic stroke. There is no cessation, however, in the Gordon real estate business, as his wife, Mrs. Vertna Gordon, has taken over the management and is carrying on in Mr. Gordon's absence.

Gordon is one of the prominent real estate men on Centtral avenue, and his presence is missed. His legion of friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Cites Aid to Negro Automobile Owners and Race In General

Many Santa Monica residents staged a rally recently, in support of Negro businesses, in answer to a call issued to stock holders of the Loyal Automobile Insurance Company, by Forrest A. McCoo, Jr., vice president and secretary of the Corporation, and many responded, subscribed and pledged more money to put over this gigantic and very necessary undertaking.

FORREST A. McCOO JR.

The enthusiastic gathering was keyed to a high pitch by the address of McCoo, who pointed out the many advantages this company is offering to the Negro public; most notably that, in meeting the need for automobile insurance protection, we are helping to create many new jobs and positions for our youth. Already we have more than 70 young men and women trained to carry information regarding this much needed company into the homes. During this reconversion period—an era of new thought, new things and constructive accomplishments—this Company is the forerunner of greater things to be achieved by colored people in the field of business.

"The time has come," he continued, "when we should not have to depend upon anyone for insurance protection of any kind. We should own and operate the various enterprises ourselves. Then there will be no more wholesale cancellation of our automobile insurance at the will of others. Also we will enjoy a sense of security and well-being in the knowledge that we have this vital protection, supported by our dollars, and operated by our men and women. Los Angeles, the home office district, of the company, San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Richmond, Vallejo, Stockton, San Jose, Fresno, Bakersfield, Pasadena, Monrovia, San Bernardino, San Diego, Santa Monica, and other cities in this great State of California have our agents, licensed by the state ,to sell the stock in this company, to a people very much in need of the protection it offers."

"I have traveled the length and breadth of this state several times, speaking to many groups and audiences on this vital issue, and have always found them to be very responsive and cooperative," he said. "We must have big financial institutions, banks, super markets, milk dairies, manfacturing companies, department stores, and what not, if we as a race of people expect to measure strides with the rest of the nation and world. We must be united civicly, politically and financially; in other words, we will have to be self-sustaining, to a very great degree.

"If we want a man in the city council, let's put him there by the ballot, if we want a man in the state legislature, let's put him there by a united effort, if we want a man in the congress of this great nation, let's put him there, and I do say we need all we have and many more. We have unbounded power in all lines and fields of endeavor, but we must unite and exert it. Our ministers, physicians, dentists, scientists, bankers, insurance and business men of all types, musicians, and sofirth, are as capable as others. Just think of Carver, and Booker T. Washington, so let us get together now and fight to put down Jim-crow, build big businesses, and promote better and higher education of our boys and girls. Our boys died on many battlefields in order that democracy might be preserved and "Old Glory" might unfold and wave proudly anywhere on the face of the earth, and that alone makes you a part and a very important cog in the wheel of progress in this nation of ours.

"In closing, let me say that the Loyal Automobile Insurance Co., a California Corporation, is a remedy of our ills in a general way, as well as commercially. Drive carefully, keep your car under control, and watch for small children running into the streets while playing. Keep your eyes on the traffic in front of you, and also use your rear, vision mirror. Many, many accidents can be avoided by cutting down speed, and giving the pedestrians a chance. In doing these things, we protect the lives of others, save money, lessen our worries and greatly increase our prestige among all people."

Eugene Allen, agent and supervisor for the company in the Santa Monica district, has performed a great commercial feat in that area, and is working tirelessly, not only for the company, but for anything that is uplifting to the Negro race. His sole purpose for his great work is this company is to create new lanes of employment for the hundreds and thousands of thousands of Negroes in and out of the institutions of learning, who are capaple of holding positions. of this type.

Willowbrook News

There is at present a petition being circulated to form what will be known as the WILLOWBOOK PLAZA Lighting District. This system will cover an area of about one and one half square miles, (while the entire Willowbrook District only covers three square miles.) The northern boundary of the proposed district is 120th street, south to 130th, street, and the east boundary Wilmington avenue, to Central avenue.

The question is, Why should there be lights for only one half of the District? It is true that the area north of 120th street to Imperial hwy. between Central ave. and Mona blvd. is considered the slums of the district but a few of our citizens are not satisfied with the existing conditions and realize that the citizens of the south end are not helping us to change the conditions by asking the Edison Company to install lights in a part of the district, pattern of discrimination that has been used in this area for years.

We are calling upon every resident in this district, to demand that the entire District has lights. That all of us want improvements, lights sewers, sidewalks, etc. The Edison Company wants $2.50 per pear per lot and must have over 51 percent of the property owners sign to show their willingness to pay their share for a period of thirty years.

It makes no difference that you live in the "Plaza" or Willowbrook, you are still part of the whole and anything that effects any part effects all.

The Cross Town Bus was put in operation December 1 and runs east and west on Imperial hwy., which serves a great need to the people of this area. In the past any person wishing to go south of Imeprial hwy. and west of Avalon blvd. was compelled to travel north to Manchester blvd. then travel south again.

The open forum sponsored by the Palm Lane Library under the competent director, Mrs. Abolyne Winge, held Dec. 7, in the main auditorium was a huge success. The Rev. Douglas F. Ferrell was the pseaker of the evening. All present expressed themselves as having enjoyed the discussion.

Dr. William L. Smith, who is a newcomer to our community but one who has shown a sincere community interest, will be the main speaker at next Forum. The date is tentative and the meetings are free to the public.

were assured that necessary steps would be taken in regard to the allegations made by seven former Palm Lane Nursery School Teachers. The board of trustees of the Willowbrook Elementary Schol District, will call a special meeting onep to the citizenry of the district, at which time a statement will be forthcoming from the board. Mr. Terry, chairman of the board says "there would have been a meeting called sooner but their calendar was filled."

Modernettes Buy Insurance Stock

On December 6, the Modernettes Social club made purchase of stock in the Loyal Automobile Insurance Company at the home office, 4421 S. Avalon blvd. Mr. Carl W. Finney was salesman.

The Modernettes as many other clubs in the city, realize the importance of the investment in the company and the future of employment in this timely enterprise.

DR. H. CLAUDE HUDSON, prominent Los Angeles dentist with offices at 4266 South Central ave., extends to his many friends best wishes for a very Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year. Dr. Hudson is one of the sponsors for the Independent Progressive party, and believes that it will help materially in making 1948 a happier year for America.

BREAKFAST CLUB AUXILIARY TO AID 12 BIG SISTERS WITH PROCEEDS FROM BREAKFAST SUN.

Sunday, Dec. 14, from 8 to 10:30 a.m. the Breakfast Club Auxiliary to Friendship Center invited all races and creeds to attend its annual Christmas breakfast. A toy or its price for either boy or girl admitted guests.

A program of musical numbers, carol singing, and outstanding speakers was presented. Spreading Christmas cheer in Friendship's way, slogan for the morning.

The 12 Big Sisters, hostesses for the breakfast and recipients of the toys for their annual Christmas parties planned for the mentally handicapped and unadjusted young women and girls. This is their type of program as recognized by the proper authorities.

Friendship Center uses the Breakfast public meeting as its medium of expressing the value to become better acquainted with one another that we might destroy the prejudices we hold and not create any that might arise.

Deborah Chapter Eastern Star Confers Amaranth Degree

Nov. 28, at 8 p.m., will live in the hearts and memories of all Eastern Stars and Master Masons who were fortunate enough to witness Deborah Chapter confer the Amaranth degree upon more than 45 candidates.

The Masonic Hall on 50th st., lost its identification once you were on the inside and became a royal court in all its glory. So decorated to bring all the beauty and symbolic allurement of a court of high repute.

Matron Fannie Dean and her court officers were gowned as royalty should be. Each officer knew and performed her duties to near perfection. The matron was so charming and captivating throughout the evening, all held interest throughout the affair.

The following chapters and their matrons asked Deborah to confer the degree upon candidates for them, which Deborah so graciously consented.

Electa Ch. matron Grose, Queen of Sheba cha. Matron Estelle, Affectional Ch. matron King, Victory Ch. Matron Doster, Queen Vashti Ch. Matron Strickland, Olivett Ch. Matron Frierson and Rose of Sharon, ch. matron Thompson. These were the 1947 matrons and a place of honor in the East was reserved for them. Also taking the degree wasa candidate from Spokane, Wash., and Beulah Ch. of Oakland.

Lady Claribell Ashcraft introduced distinguished visitors and they were escorted to the place of honor by Asst. Marshal Ann Powell and Louise B. Key.

A special choir rendered suitable music for the occasion. The moment awaited was the change to the Master Mason of our eminent Patron, Andrew Powell. Never has a charge been given to surpass that of the Patron. His diction, delivery and pronunciation was as near perfect as one could hope to hear. Andrew Powell is the finest timber to be found in the Masonic family and has the respect and admiration of all who have the privilege of knowing him as a man and a Mason.

We must acknowledge the ability of the decorating and reception committees in bringing us both beauty and daintiness, and Lady La Gulia Shaw, for standing by our matron throughout the degree work. To each and every members of Deborah Chapter who helped in any way to make the conferring of the Amaranth Degree the beautiful affair it was, we say to each to the other thanks, for it is that spirit which makes our chapter the beloved order it is.

Alberta D. Parker, reporter.

Brilliant Y's Men Banquet Attended by Local Visitors

"Brilliant" and "superb" are the two words that best describe last Thursday night's Y's Men's Banquet. Those hustling, bustling goodfellows of the Los Angeles 28th St. Y Men's club, aided and abetted by their wives and sweethearts, hung up a record for well balanced and high calibered program that will hold the spotlight for a long time.

The rafters fairly rang with the applause as George Comfort, baritone, sang "Glory Road and One World." Chuck Jones, ex-Army major and swimming instructor, brought forth reams of laughter with his comic skit, "Society Sneeze."

A warm welcome was extended to out of town Y's Men and their wives by Atty. David W. Williams, chairman of the YMCA board of managers. Christmas carols and rousing pep songs, led by Lloyd Stone, city Community Sing official, and Toastmaster Toussaint Jennings, inspired a high degree of fellowship and goodwill in the interracial gathering. Beautiful and talented Amenda Haynes was at the piano.

High spot of the gala affair was the brilliant address by Y's Men's International vice-president, George Goold, who described his 30,000-mile air tour of Europe, Scandinavia, the British Isles, and behind the Iron Curtain. Goold drew lucid word pictures of the horror that is Europe and the aftermath of destruction and evidences of brutality that he saw. He pointed out that in the midst of all the still uncleared debris, the starving people are resigned to still another war. In America, the great question is "will there be another war"? In Europe the only question is "When"?

The world traveler wound up by telling of the woman who said the United Nations Organization would never amount to anything as long as it has so many foreigners in it. . . . He stated that although the woman's reasoning was faulty, she was right, because a foreigner is someone we do not understand and, consequently, are suspicious of. The great world need is for everyone to try to understand the foreigner. As our understanding increases, our suspicions decrease and we are better able to take the foreigner's hand and turn him into a friend.

The Y's Men's movement is world-wide, covering some 26 nations. Its principal fields of service are boys work, young men's work, counseling, world outlook and world youth fund. Local officers are: Toussaint L'o Jennings, president; Charles MacArthur, secretary; Beecher Zebbs, vice president; Harold Prince, treasurer.

LANGSTON GRADUATE DELTAS SPONSOR JABBERWOCK

LANGSTON—Beta Iota Sigma Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority presented its second annual Jabberwock here in Page Auditorium last Tuesday evening. The theme around which the program centered was, "America The Melting Pot."

Greek letter fraternities and sororities at Langston university and the high schools at Langston and Guthrie presented competitive skits carrying out the theme, while Beta Upsilon Chapter of Belta Sigma Theta offered a non-competitive skit. In addition, non-competitive numbers were presented by Jeanette Temple, literary interpreter and Mrs. Frank Luster, vocallst.

First prize was awarded Alpha Zeta Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority for the presentation of a skit dipicting the contributions made by different races and nationalities who have migrated to America. Beta Kappa Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity was awarded second prize. The skit presented by this organization centered mainly around the development of aspects of democracy such as educational opportunities, suffrage, freedom of speech.

According to a statement made by Opal Mae Bell, recording secretary of the sponsoring organization, the proceeds from the program will be used to provide scholarship awards to a high school senior at Faver high school, Guthrie and Langston City High school.

Original Soc. Few Mourn Passing of Club Mother

The Original Social Few club is observing a 30 mourning period in memory of the charter club mother, Mrs. Alice Ray, who passed last week. Mrs. Ray, mother of club member Beatrice Lemon, served diligently as mother to the club for more than 14 years. Many are the cards and telegrams of sympathy received by the club, who take this means of thanking the public and many friends for kindnesses shown. A special 'thank you' is extended Rev. C. L. James, who officiated the funeral services; Rev. Arthur Peters, who sang, and Miss Bernice Jernal who presided at the piano.

Due to the mourning period, the scheduled annual Social Few Xmas Dance has been cancelled for the month.

Moral Growth To Be Stressed at Jeff P.T.A. Today

The meeting of Nov. 20 proved quited an interesting one. The youth panel from U.C.L.A. consisting of a Protestant, a Jew and a Catholic ably discussed the subject: "Foundations of World Understanding." A quiz followed. A solo was rendered by Miss Joan Penn, a student of Jefferson.

Dr. Paul Fisher, principal, and Mrs. Hazel Whedon, girls vice principal spoke complimentary of the decorum of the Jefferson students on the campus. Music was furnished by Mrs. Betty Jones.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 18 when the principal speaker will be Rev. G. Raymond Booth, executive director of the Council for Civic Unity. Subject: "Foundations of Moral and Spiritual Growth." Christmas carols will be sung.

All persons interested in community betterment as well as parents of the Jefferson students are urged to attend.

Settlement Worker Resigns Post to Serve in Japan

The Eastside Settlement staff announces the resignation of Mrs. Poole, who has done outstanding work at the Settlement House as Group Work leader, to accept work with the United States Army as recreation director for one of the centers in Japan.

Mrs. Poole came to the Eastside Settlement with a rich experience, having worked for three years with the Red Cross in England, Belgium, France and Germany. The staff and board of directors regret the loss of this competent worker. However, the members are happy to know that this new job will mean that she may be working with her husband who has two more years of service as special service officer with the army in Japan.

Mrs. Poole will be greatly missed by the children of the House.

Journalism Frat Organized

A chapter of the Beta Phi Gamma was formally installed for East Los Angeles Junior college Saturday evening, December 13, during an impressive meeting of the national convention of the Beta Phi Gamma fraternity at Pasadena City college. The ELAJC journalistic chapter will be known as the Alpha Delta chapter.

A large group of distant state delegates were on hand for the meeting. Initiated formally in Beta Phi Gamma were East Los Angeles Junior college students Vivian Kettner, June Parker, Bob Barraza, John Manning, John Costello, Bob Hull and Gennie Hier.

The above were selected for membership to the fraternity on the basis of scholarship and their participation on the college student publications, announced Dr. C. T. Shirley, dean of men and journalistic adviser.

Watts Youth Chorus To Go On Air Soon

The Watts Youth chorus has been chosen as one of the 25 City-sponsored Youth choruses to appear on a new weekly half-hour radio broadcast.

Presented by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, the program will be aider each Saturday on KFI, 2:15 p.m. J. Aruthur Lewis, coordinator for the bureau, said a different chorus will be selected each week and the community represented will be featured in the narration.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron will open the first broadcast December 20 which will present the Concert Youth Chorus. Directed by Roger Wagner, supervisor of Youth choruses, the Concert group is composed of outstanding young singers picked from the entire city.

Lewis said date of the Watts broadcast will be announced in the near future.

To give choruses an opportunity to hear their own performance the broadcasts are being transcribed in advance for the Saturday afternon programs.

Annual "Hanging Of Green" Scheduled For Fri. Dec. 12

Members and friends of the Y.W.C.A., Woodlawn Branch, 4260 Woodlawn Avenue, atttended the traditional "Hanging of the Green" ceremony held on Friday, December 12, from 7-9:30 p.m.

The custom of "Hanging of the Green" originated centuries before Christ. The Romans hung greens in their pagan temples in honor of harvest time and in rejoicing over success in war. In England, the Druids used the custom in their worship, and when Jesus came and gave the world Christianity, the early churches took over the custom from pagan celebration and made it one of religious signification.

Every nation, in some way, observes the celebration. And so today, we hang the green in memory of the Christ Child and in recognition of the spirit of good-will abroad and in all the world.

Beautiful Surprise Reception Given Mrs. Wendell Ross

A large group of members and friends of the Kingdom Baptist church gathered in the home of Rev. A. Wendell Ross, 700 Micheltorena street, Thursday, December 11, to "Welcome Home" Mrs. Eujetta A. Ross who recently returned from a 13-weeks vacation in Missouri and Kansas. Elaborate preparations had been made for the occasion, which was a complete surprise to Mrs. Ross. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers.

Greetings were given by Mrs. Beatrice J. Hamilton. Felicitations by Mr. S. P. Johnson, Mrs. Jean W. Holmes, Mrs. Marie Williams, Revs. Ernest S. Redd, J. P. Ramsey, Charles H. Davis, and Mr. Samuel McKinney. Mrs. Rhidonia J. Cain, mistress of ceremonies. Music was furnished by Mrs. Willie Mae Coleman and Mrs. Pauline E. Hopkins.

Mrs. Ross received many beautiful gifts. A most unique feature of the occasion was a solo, "The Rosary," was sung by Rev. Ross in presenting to his wife a beautiful diamond clasped necklace of pearls.

A delicious turkey dinner was presided over by Mrs. Rachel Rogers. This "Welcome Home" will always be remembered by the honoree as a most beautiful episode in her life.

'New Look' Topic Of Bus. and Pro. League Meeting

"New Look with the Well Groomed Lady" was the theme of the Fellowship Dinner attended by more than 35 members of the Business and Profesional Women's League, Tuesday evening, December 2, at the Woodlawn branch, Y.W.C.A.

Illustrated talks and illustrations on The New Look in accessories and five methods of lengthening skirts, presented by LaVira Rivers, showed that the "New Look" can fit easily in the working girl's budget.

Beatrice ones, who presented "Vogue's Idea of Beauty in Attitude, Attire, and Make-Up," stated that the "New Look" enables milady to enhance her feminity at all times.

Shorter and softer hairstyles, a must in completing the "New Look," were discussed by Elies Taylor.

This was the third in the series of informative and entertaining programs presented by the program committee which includes Marguerite Moore, chairman; Easter McNeal, La Vira Rivers, Zeresh Eberhardt, Marie Reynolds, Essie Rodgers, Ola Mae Brown, Elouise Lacey, Blanche Groggs, Alma Bowles, Beatrice one., Marie Smith, president, and Matred McKissick, branch director.

Mamie Modwell New President Of Women's Club

The regular meeting of the American Business Women's Athletic club was held at the home of Mrs. Lorraine Scott. The main item on the agenda was election of officers with the charming Mrs. Mamie Modwell elected to the presidency for the new year. The complete roster will be carried by the EAGLE Social Silhouette at a later date.

Plans were discussed for the club's annual Beaux Art Ball to be given in February.

The Sunshine committee of the A.B.W.A.C. gave a stork shower for Mrs. Robbin Norton, who is infanticipating. Many beautiful little gifts for the expected new arrival were presented by the club members and friends.

Husbands Will Be Honorees At Monalisa Event

The Mona Lisa Girls' bridge club met Dec. 15, at the home of Mrs. Sameona Wilkerson. Final plans were made for the Xmas party that will honor the husbands of the club members, at the home of Mrs. T. Bone Walker.

The usual four changes of bridge were played with Mrs. Arcelle Thomas winning first prize; Mrs. Ellen Brinson, second, and Mrs. Mattie Lee Gooden third.

A tasty repast was served by the hostess. Meeting adjourned until Jan. 11, when Mrs. Eva Wyatt will play hostess.

Mental Institution To Be Scene of Xmas Festival

The 12 Big Sisters wish to thank the public for its co-operative response given toward the Harvest Festival. A steady crowd filled the Alpha Bowling Club from 3 until 11 p.m. There were 14 concessions where one could buy gifts or eat to their heart's content. Each and every person considered the project well worth continuing each year. Be sure and look forward to the 12 Big Sister's Harvest Festival for 1948.

The funds netted from this program will make some youngster or young woman quite happy. Already, plans were completed before the Festival to visit 50 girls at an institution recommended by the 12 Big Sister's Godmother Mrs. Margaret Pratt, Referee Judge of Juvenile Court. Personal articles including some clothing will be given each girl of teen age.

Another party had been planned after having discussed with the State mental hygiene director, Dora Shaw Heffner early part of 1947 for patients of a mental institution. This party will include gifts of a personal nature also and both will be held the week of Xmas.

The 12 Big Sisters set their organization goals, when making their By-Laws and Constitution to enter fields that had not been entered by any other group of Negro women without prejudice or segregation, so it is that these parties will be of mixed races. It is the first group to center their entire program around these mentally handicapped and correctlinally unadjusted of Negro women.

Beginning the year 1948 plans are in the making to socially adopt 12 girls from various institutions giving them shee throughout the year. This means that each Big Sister will actually become a Big Sister to some less fortunate girl and it will be her responsibility to give that girl a social chance and assist in guiding her when released.

We wish all of our friends a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year.

Carver Glee Club Sing for Patients At Hospital

Girl's Senior Glee Club of Carver Junior High school will sing in the wards of General Hospital today (Thursday), and will make a half hour transcription of Yule music to be played in wards during the holiday weeks.

On Tuesday of this week, the Glee club sang carols for patients at Olive View Sanitarium.

The group is under direction of Mr. Floy Hamlin Heck.

Young Adults

New and varied features of entertaining were discussed at a meeting of the Young Adult Recreation Club held at the Y.W.C.A. last week. Miss Edna Driver, vice president of the Club, urged all young adults to attend the meetings held every Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Orchid Girls Will Play Santa At Lincoln Theatre Sunday

The Orchid Girls held their regular meeting Wednesday, Dec. 3, at the home of Mrs. Nancy Skillman. Plans were completed for their annual Christmas party, given for underprivileged children which will be held at the Lincoln theatre, Sunday morning, Dec. 21.

The club purchased its toys wholesale this year, thus eliminating the annual Christmas Formal, that for years has been a highlight of the holiday season. The group, under the leadership of President Ramelle Bagnerise, feels that the wholesale purchasing of toys will give more variety and a better selection.

The candies, nuts and fruits are being purchased from donations given by the public. The EAGLE will carry a complete list of donors at a later date.

The hundreds of children invited to enjoy the party will be entertained by the "Covans," famous kiddies show, with music donated by the recording transcription fund of the musician's union.

KINLOCH'S ☆ KORNER

Dedicated to the memory of John Kinloch, who died in the struggle to destroy Fascism

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

"Christmas is coming, and the goose is gettin' fat. Please put nny in the school boy's hat, 'cause he needs it." That should he slogan to keep in mind as we enter the Yuletime season, the weeks of kind thoughts and the Christmas spirit.

But it isn't as simple as all of that for the average boys and of high school age. They have problems that must be faced ey are to maintain joy and the things that go with family life. first and most serious of all youthful problems is employment. e the war is over and a large majority of the veterans have re-ed, they get first choice as to just about everything, including That leaves roughly 150,000 boys and girls throughout the who would like to work, only there are no jobs to be found. year we find thae the postoffice is taking only veterans for 10,000 jobs they have to offer. The same is true in many other s. But what can be done? It's only fair that the veterans ld get first choice to any jobs that are available. But that still es the school boys without jobs. They walked the streets day day without success.

Unfortunately I haven't the answer to the question, and ner does anyone I know. But there are some jobs, and some loyes are picking boys for the jobs. In taking on high school ers, there is about as much discrimination and prejudiced ac- as to be found in any other walk of life. It's the same old lem, and the same old type of thinking that must be done with in the years to come. I get rather disguested when I of the situation throughout the nation, and the world today. are approaching the most significant period of the year, and the memories of war, and Pearl Harbor, are still ringing in ears.

Youth are unable to fight the battle alone. They need aid and it soon. The words "I'm sorry, son," are about the most aging words that can be said by an employer or counselor to y who wants desperately to help himself and his family by ng a job and working during the Xmas season. Whether we ze it or not, youth have feelings; very sensitive feelings they too, and half of the time when adults think they're putting ething over on a boy they're wrong, and should be kicked— ld be kicked.

Employment is not the only problem that youth are facing ughout the city and nation, but employment is the forerunner ther problems just as difficult to master. For when boys are ble to get work, they are unable to provide for themselves the gs that they need. If we are not dealing with an industrious, , and sound minded boy, there is undobtedly going to be some ble. When boys can find work, they are glad to earn their money. But when jobs are not available, some boys will think of what they want, and how they can get it without paying. dle brain is the Devil's workshop, and what a workshop the l is going to have with one out of about every ten boys from of 150,000 going on the rampage.

Before saying s'long for this week, I would like to remind you n that we must fight and continue to fight the proposal for ersal Military Training. The voice of the American youth can most effective if used loud enough, long enough, and often gh. The representatives in Washington will have to take the ce of the young people when voting for or against the bill of ary training. Let us see to it that they vote against it. By g awake and active, we can govern ourselves as we wish to be rned. We can see to it that or representatives put nothing over their lightning-like rapidity, as could be done in the case of ersal Military Training. But we still have the right to petition, the only thing that we can do is keep pouring the letters in to hington, and the representatives there.

Board Calls for Elimination of Jimcrow Schools

WASHINGTON — Elimination of school segregation and two free years of college for all worthy students, with lower tuition fee for upper classmen and graduate students were recommended yesterday by President Truman's Commission on Higher Education.

In urging abolition of racial segregation and "quota systems," the Commission pointed out that jimcrow practices "requiring duplicate school systems is wasteful and lowers education opportunity for both" Negroes and whites.

The 103-page report cited the fundamental differences between democratic and fascist philosophies and said the extension and strengthening of the democratic system is a primary responsibility of higher education.

American college students need to be prepared for "world citizenship," it said, and must learn about the customs and standards of other nations, including Russia.

Describing Russia as "one of the world's greatest powers," it said the average American college graduate knows "almost nothing" about it.

"The study of the USSR, in a sincere attempt to understand it, must be given an important place in American education," the report said.

The Commission recommended a system of "community colleges" to provide all qualified students with at least 14 years of free education, continuing through the first two years of college.

It urged prompt elimination of the "quota system" which "now serves in many schools and colleges . . . to exclude Jews, Negroes and others;" expansion of support of education by the federal government, and an expanded and imaginative adult education program.

What's Happenin'

By "The Steamer" alias Stanley Robertson (while Johnny Delgardo wrestles with Uncle Sam's mail trucks.)

THINGS I SAW FRIDAY NIGHT AT THE ALPHA FORMAL

While strolling about the beautifully decorated gym at UCLA last Friday night, your old steamer saw Bill Jones and Kathleen (oh S.L.) Mason dancing cheek to cheek. Gloria (who's Kappa frat pin were you wearing) Crouch and Pasadena's gift to the female population James (was that your pin) White, dancing dreamy eyed across the floor: Rudy Henderson and my old flame Faye Hopkins, dancing on a cloud: Herbie (Bulldog) Howard and his constant companion Joyce (some guys have all the luck) Finney, Calvin (how cool can one man be) Spann and Peggy (dreams do walk) Westerfield, playing it cool as usual: Chase (le tete) Edmonds with Audrey (Miss Student Union of C.C.) Cloyd on his arm as usual: Everett (the creeper) Beize and Bernice (now I've seen everything) Rigard, about this your old Steamer is speechless! Also talked to Arthur (Oh! boy) Lewis and his new love, Jean Arnold: Randy (I want some publicity) Godsby with Beverly (how cute can one little girl be) Winston, talking about Einstein's theory of relativity: Larry Winston and the girl he's carrying a torch for, Jackie Lewis, talking about how many gum drops are there in a bag of gum drops: Tanis (Mountain Street's favorite pin-up girl) Fortier and Mr. BeBop himself, Lorenzo Horde, looking for Buicks: Jackie Dickerson and Henry Mingleton, again your old Steamer is speechless!

Also saw that great woman journalist Jessie Mae Brown looking very chic in a green velvet formal. The only thing that I didn't see when I saw Jessie was the Big Beaver. Saw Harold (Bandboy) Jones in the company again the old steamer blows out a few puffs of smoke and remains speechless: accidentally bumped into Dorothy (another one of my old flames) McLaughlin and Eric (the great mouthpiece) Beecker. As I stumbled on I caught glimpses of Norman (Bugs Bunny) Watson and Georgette (on her even the old look looks good) Shores, whispering sweet nothings of chops and hamburgers to one another.

As the formal came to an end, and the many cars found their way out of Westwood, I saw a few of the Alpha Pledges, Kenny and Hugo Hill, Louie Robinson, and James Jones, racing about the campus calling for C-L-O-H-O-E, or any other girl they could think of.

The Pyrimid Pledge Club of Delta Sigma Theta sorority held its annual elections Sunday, when it met at the home of Tanis Fortier. The new Pyrimid officers are: Lucille Watson, president; Willie Avery, vice-president; Tanis Fortier, recording secretary; Betty McDonald, financial secretary, and Evelyn Strickland, reporter and publicity chairman. At the present moment, the Pyramids are making plans for their coming

Scouts Hold Bill Of Rights Jamboree

The KFI Scout Jamboree, a half-hour weekly radio broadcast presented in the public interest by the Boy Scouts of Southern California and the public service department of radio station KFI, held a Bill of Rights jamboree in the auditorium of Lafayette Junior high school, Dec. 12, at 2 p.m.

The theme for this jamboree was the Bill of Rights. The Mitchell Boy Choir, the famous singing Scouts of Troop 800, known for their outstanding performances in "Going My Way," "The Jolson Story" and "Duel in the Sun," took part in the jamboree.

Clem Glass, Radio Scoutmaster for six years; the Boy Scouts who attend Lafayette Junior high; Principal M. E. Herriott, Boys' Vice Principal Leon L. Kaplan, and Roger Willis, District Scout Executive, also took part in the jamboree.

Stars Added To Gigantic Watts Youth Program

The roster of stars who are slated to appear on the gigantic youth program slated for the Jordan high school in the Watts area Sunday, December 21, continued to grow with the added names of Pete Johnson, noted boogie woogie pianist, and blues singer Joe Turner. The latter named pair will augment an already stellar cast headed by the nation's No. 1 athlete, Jackie Robinson.

The affair jointly sponsored by the Watts Community League and the Youth Activities Committee of Jordan high school, will benefit youth members of the 77th Street police division deputy auxiliary police and youth of the Jordan high school youth group.

The matinee show is to start at 2 p.m. and the evening show at 7 lasting until 9. This huge affair is calculated to enrich the youth fund of the Watts area in a measure sufficient to provide play and athletic equipment throughout most of 1948, committeemen pointed out.

1,200 Attend Glover's School 'Harvest Prom'

Glover and Son's Institute of Garment Making and Design, 445 Towne avenue, boasting a total of 500 students with more than two-thirds of the enrollment ex-G.I. students studying the skilled arts of tailoring, held its third annual "harvest prom" Tuesday evening in the huge Avalon Ballroom, 9th and Spring streets. More than 1200 persons were in attendance.

Guests of the organized student body were greeted upon entrance to the lobby of the dance pavilion with a lavish display of student "trophies" in the way of expertly tailored garments in the miniature, made by students in the various steps of their training schedules.

Audition Winners In Concert Sunday

The third concert of the "Musicians in the Making" series sponsored by the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly blvd., will take place Sunday, December 21, at 4 p.m. Marguerite Heller, pianist, and Howard Ross, tenor, who have won the audition contest held at the Center recently, will be featured in this program.

The concert is open to the general public. Admission Center members, free of charge; nonmembers, 25c.

"Musicians in the Making" is an informal series of concerts, which aims to give young talented artists an opportunity to be heard before the public.

Signs With Army For Clerical Training

After talking it over with friends, Raymond A. Tracy, 21, 243 E. Vernon ave., decided the U. S. army is offering him the best opportunity for clerical training and the chance to travel. Formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, Tracy has been in Los Angeles looking around for a suitable position.

Investigating army opportunities, Tracy decided the clerical training he wants, plus the high pay, make the service a must for him, so he signed up at the army and air force recruiting headquarters, 610 South Main st.

According to T/Sgt. Carl Pritchard, Tracy is now assigned to army training to prepare for more specialized schooling.

Picketing Of Sears Store to Be Stepped Up

SANTA MONICA—Plans for stepping up the picketing of Sears Roebuck and Company's Santa Monica store were announced this week by Frank Barnes, president of the Santa Monica Bay Area branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The branch has been picketing the store each Friday and Saturday in protest against the discriminatory hiring policy of the management since November 14. Beginning Tuesday of last week the branch arranged to have a token picket line every day, and mass picket demonstrations Fridays and Saturdays from 4 to 9 p.m., Barnes said.

He added that the latest development in the campaign to secure hiring of Negroes by Sears without discrimination was "the failure of Stern or any other representative of management to keep an appointment to meet with a committee of the Santa Monica branch of the Los Angeles County Human Relations committee last Thursday to discuss the matter."

Barnes said: "Sears certainly is not building up the kind of goodwill in the company that a new store needs by such actions. Among th leading citizens of the committee who were left cooling their heels when Stern did not show up last Thursday were Judge Thurlow T. Taft, Rev. John Gabrielson of the Venice Community church, Rev. Teel of the Santa Monica real estate board, Robert McClurken of the AVC, Mrs. Leta O'Brien, Mrs. Oscar Fletcher, and Mrs. Isadore Posner."

The NAACP president also charged that the statement which appeared recently in an eastern weekly circulated in this area to the effect than an appointment between the Sears management and an NAACP committee to discuss the matter again had been arranged through the office of a representative of the paper was entirely erroneous. He added that the press representative has not talked with him at all and efforts by Barnes to reach him at the telephone number left at Barnes' homes were fruitless since no one at that number knew the newspaperman.

Barnes said that the NAACP has distributed about 19,000 leaflets on the controversy with Sears in Santa Monica, and plans to distribute another 8000 this week.

"We have been encouraged by the sympathetic response we have met in the community and in the entire Los Angeles area," Barnes said. "We have also received a very encouraging letter from Noah Griffin, NAACP regional director in San Francisco."

"All of our friends are invited to attend the mass meeting 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Santa Monica," he addded. "We expect a number of outstanding labor leaders from the Los Angeles area to be present and to address our meeting."

AT HOME—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nelson, newlywed, are receiving friends at the Dunbar Hotel, where their smart apartment is located. The local business man and Mrs. Nelson were wed on Nov. 24.

YMCA Plans Gala Christmas Program

The Youth Division of the 28th street YMCA has announced plans for the biggest holiday program in its history. The schedule is spread over the full two weeks of the school vacation running concurrently from Monday, December 22 through Saturday, January 3, 1948.

Something special has been planned for each day, and will include youngsters from 18 years of age. Outstanding program features will be: two all day invitational basketball tournaments, in which 17 community group work agencies will participate with teams coming from as far as Riverside, Redondo Beach, Whittier and San Bernardon. A big Christmas party for younger boys, a dance for older boys and girls, sponsored by the Co-ed Club; Christmas Caroling for war veterans at Sawtelle Veterans Hospital by members of the Co-ed Club on Christmas Eve; visiting "shut-ins" on Christmas morning by Hi-Y Clubs and the Co-ed Club; special tournaments in checkers and ping pong; a special youth service at a local church on Sunday afternoon, December 29; a hayride to the Mojave desert, and a big barbecue sponsored by the Co-ed Club; a trip to the desert for younger boys, and in invitational swimming meet in the

CIO Urges Members Back King Family

The Los Angeles CIO Council last night moved to support Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King of 1359 E. 60th st., in their fight against restrictive covenant hoodlums. CIO Council Political Action Director James Burford arranged a meeting to discuss with Undersheriff Jewel the progress of the investigation into the identity of the 50 or more white hoodlums who entered the home of the Kings on November 10 and threatened them with violence if they did not vacate their home.

Thus far the sheriff's office has indicated no progress in its investigation of the case. CIO was prepared to demand that adequate force of investigators be assigned to this case until such time as the evidence for criminal complaint is obtained.

The CIO Council also directed to the King family a communication praising them for their courage in refusing to be intimidated by threats. The CIO pledged the Kings full support in their fight and addressed an additional communication to more than 150 CIO members who are living between Central ave. on the west and Alameda on the east, Slauson on the north and Florence on the south.

The CIO Council pointed out that one of the major struggles in obtaining the unity of the working people of this country was the fight against discrimination in any form. "We must struggle against restrictive covenants and discrimination in the community just as vigorously as we have fought "restrictive covenants" or job discrimination on the job," stated the CIO communication to its members.

World Shortage of Fats and Oils Stressed in Food Report

NEW YORK—A world increase of 200 million people, equal to the number of persons in all of North America, has been added since the first world war, reports D. A. Fitzgerald, secretary-general of the International Emergency Food Council. This many more people to be fed makes the world-wide shortage of fats and oils even more acute. Dr. FitzGerald also lists heavy war damage and slow reconstruction as among the chief reasons for the current world shortage of nearly 8 billion pounds of fats and oils.

Due to these causes, world production of fats and oils is 12 percent less than pre-war production. Because of the tremendous damage wrought by the last war, reconstruction has been relatively slow and many nations will lack equipment and materials to reorganize and produce fats and oils as they did before the war. The imperative need to save every drop of used kitchen fats cannot be overemphasized in view of these world conditions. Used kitchen grease can take the place of critically needed foot fats. Used kitchen fats are processed for industrial use and augment overall world supplies of fats and oils.

Dr. FitzGerald sums up the job that salvaged used kitchen fats can do. "There are many more mouths to feed and a tremendous job of reconstruction and rehabilitation to be done. In the face of the great world-wide shortage of fats and oils it is obviously necessary to conserve every possible pound of used fats."

Service to veterans in filing claims against the government and obtaining other rights to which they are entitled is provided by county service officers and community service centers in 142 California cities.

Century Club Marks 28th St. 'Y' Anniversary

Members of the Century Club of the 28th St. Y.M.C.A. and their guests gathered in the club room of the Branch building Thursday evening to celebrate service in this area. Allan C. Woodard III and Lawrence P. Wilson, as co-chairman, arranged a very enjoyable evening.

Eddie Green served as master of ceremonies to announce a program of instrumental and vocal music. The principal address of the evening was made by Leo Gallin, executive director of Jewish Welfare in this area. He was introduced by Norman O. Houston of Golden State Insurance Company, who challenged the membership of the club to assume a larger share of responsibility for suppporting the social agencies in the Community, especially the 28th stree Branch of the Y.M.C.A.

Negro Congress, Civil Rights Congress Merge

NEW YORK—The Civil Rights Congress yesterday announced plans to create a CRC Committee on Negro Rights "to implement the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights as regards to the democratic rights of the Negro people."

This announcement is included in a "Statement on the Merger of the National Negro Congress with the Civil Rights Congress," issued by a Joint Committee of the two organizations upon authorization of the NNC national board and the CRC national conference, both of which met in Chicago, Ill., November 20-23.

Hailing the NNC-CRC merger "as an occasion for throwing its resources, even more fully than in the past, into the struggle for the democratic rights of the Negro people," the Joint Committee statement outlined the following plans for the immediate future.

- Creation of a national Negro Rights Committee of CRC;
- Organization of an Anti-Lynch Crusade to Washington, D. C. during February 1948;
- Taking over the former NNC office (307 Lenox avenue) as the Harlem office o fthe CRC of New York;
- Invitations to NNC national board members to serve on the board of CRC;
- Invitations to autonomous NNC local councils to become CRC affiliates; and
- Provision for transfer of NNC memberships to CRC without payment of additional fees.

The joint statement was signed, for the National Negro Congress, by Thelma Dale, acting secretary, Ernest Thompson and Doxey A. Wilkerson, members of the national board; and for the Civil Rights Congress by George Marshall, chairman of the board; Joseph Cadden, national executive secretary; and Louis Colman, executive secretary of the New York Civil Rights Congress.

Seeks Cut In Prices of School Lunches

The Americain Youth for Democracy is urging the Los Angeles Board of Education to correct the situation existing in high schools because of the high prices of school milk and lunches. In a series of personal interviews and high school polls it was concluded that the average high school student cannot afford to pay 7c for ½ pints of milk, and the approximate 50c, the price of a nutritious hot lunch.

The AYD is planning to circulate 50,000 petitions setting forth these facts and asking for their correction. There will also be a factual brief based on 6 weeks' research sent to parent, women, student, church, labor, business, minority, and youth organizations.

Essay Gives 4-H Youth Start in Successful Livestock Farming

WASHINGTON—With an essay he won a pig, and with the pig he won a calf and 150 chickens. That's how Clinton Mooring, Texas Negro 4-H youth, has got his start in livestock farming.

It all started three years ago when Clinton, who did not have a pig or a calf to take to the district fair, decided to enter an essay he had written on farm life. The essay won him a purebred Poland China pig which he took home to raise. Clinton was careful to keep his pig well fed, properly housed, and well groomed. The next year his gilt won the district championship and with it 150 White Leghorn baby chicks and a registered Jersey heifer which now has a calf.

With egg money from his Leghorns, Clinton bought 25 baby turkeys the next year, raised and sold them. Last year he increased his turkey flock to 50, and this year to 100.

During the last two years, Clinton's gilt has farrowed 37 pigs. Eight of these he has given to other 4-H'ers in the community for brood stock to help improve the quality of hogs in the county, 24 of his pigs he has sold, and the rest he is raising for market.

In totaling up his gross income from projects last year, young Mooring shows in his records $200 from eggs, $235 from turkeys, and $208 for pigs. After taking out feed expenses which he owed his father and money for a bicycle, Clinton added the rest to his money for college.

The 15-year-old youth, who is in the 10th grade, plans to study agriculture at Prairie View A. & M. college after graduation from high school. "I want to learn to be a real livestock farmer," says Clinton. "Then I want to come back here and help my father develop and enlarge his 165-acre farm."

The Moorings bought their farm for $3300 in 1940 after being tenants for 18 years. Last year they were offered $20,000 for it. "We bought our farm," Mrs. Myles Mooring says, "by scrimping and saving and we plan to hold on to it. Most of the money for the farm came from the sale of chickens and eggs and the things we grow on the side along with our cotton; we grown most of our own food, too.

"Now my husband and Clint are getting started with hogs and cattle," Mrs. Mooring continues, "by the time Clint is out of college, we ought to be ready to really go in for livestock."

By C. A. TUCKER

The rain's a-patter; night is near.
The cocktails blend with love and bliss;
I'll hold you close; let's dance, my dear.

Embodied in the music here
Is the warmth and softness of a kiss.
The rain's a-patter; night is near.

The rear of thunder gives you fear;
I saw you shudder, and heard a hiss;
I'll hold you close; let's dance, my dear.

Your eyes reflect the lights in here,
Like mirrors, not a glow amiss;
The rain's a-patter; night is near.

I'd love to kiss your little ear;
I'd smell your fragrant hair in bliss.
I'll hold you close; let's dance, my dear.

Your lips are trembling like a tear;
I'll still their shimmering with a kiss.
The rain's a-patter; night is near . . .
I'll hold you close; let's dance, my dear.

Seven Points for Information 'Bomb'

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y.—The 156th anniversary of the ratification of the Bill of Rights was observed here yesterday in historic Saint Paul's church with pleas for the substitution of an "information bomb" for the atom bomb as a weapon for peace.

Dr. Frank L. Mott, dean of the school of journalism of the University of Missouri and Pulitzer Prize winning historian, was the principal speaker.

THRIFTY laboratory technicians in a corner of the testing room at the Thrifty Ice Cream Plant analyze a sample from each batch of Ice Cream and Sherbet to determine purity, consistency and flavor richness.

ICE CREAM 160 degrees hot pours out of the topmost vents to cascade over brine cooled pipes in a matter of seconds and reach the receiving tray at the bottom 125 degrees cooler. Both Ice Cream and Sherbet are cooled in the same manner after Pasteurising.

NIMBLE fingers at one of the battery of packing tables form cartons, pass them under feeding pipe and pack twenty quarts of Special Occasion Ice Cream per minute. Cartons are then stored at 20 degrees below zero prior to shipping.

Cancer Sufferers

What appears to be the hardest hitting and finest formula as yet designed, with regard to the control of cancer and leprosy, is labeled, Blue Print Formula.

After four years of study, a local chemistry student designed this formula. It is composed of special oils, perfect diet, and a combine of botanical elements that destroy the germs, strengthen the body and speed cure, constituting a six-purpose "trouble shooter" formula that, as a curative, is rapid, calculating and specific.

However, it will require time to get on, and it is copyrighted. It will be patented, and as rapidly as possible, copies of this formula will be sent out to institutions specializing in treatment of cancer and leprosy, in order that the formula may further prove its merits.

You may glean knowledge by reading, but you must separate the chaff from the wheat by thinking. —Osborn

Use of Parks 'Social Equality', Says Judge

LOUISVILLE, Kentucky—The old bogey of "social equality" was raised yesterday by Jefferson Circuit Judge Lawrence E. Speckman in ruling that city parks and the Iroquois Amphitheatre were not obligated to admit Negro Americans.

Judge Speckman ruled in the suit brought by Dr. P. O. Sweeney that Sweeney sought "social equality rather than political equality."

The judge said that while the constitution guarantees the latter, "there is nothing in it that guarantees social equality."

Needle Workers Map Plans For Strike Here

Los Angeles sportswear workers affiliated with the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union yesterday declared a "state of emergency" and directed union officers to gird for a general strike. Louis Levy, international vice president and Pacific coast director of the powerful AFL garment workers' group, announced that the executive board of Sportswear Workers' Local 266 had instructed leaders to prepare for a walkout on a date to be selected at a mass meeting later this month.

The action came after the California Sportswear Dress Association, an employers organization failed to ratify a new collective bargaining agreement concluded by the association's negotiating committee and union representatives.

The present agreement contained a "no-strike" clause, Levy explained, and the union will observe the pact until its expiration date, December 31. More than 5000 members of the ILGWU, including the sportswear group, Garment Cutters Local 84 and Lingerie Local 496, will stop work, he revealed. He said the strikers will call upon thousands of workers from non-union shops to join the walkout in an effort to obtain agreements from their employers.

The union leader charged that manufacturers had forced the strike decision by failure to conclude an agreement after two different employers' committees bargaining with the ILGWU.

The Story of the Miracle of Modern Ice Cream Manufacture

One of the most pleasantly rewarded chores of the horse and buggy era was the task of turning an ice cream freezer handle on the back porch. The reward for this task was the opportunity of scraping the mixer blades after the ice cream was made and the scrapings somehow never found their way past the youngster who supplied the manpower for the mixing.

The planning for the inclusion of ice cream at a dinner or party in those days was a project. Today, the best ice cream can be purchased at a moment's notice and actually stored in the home refrigerator or deep freezer for weeks or months until ready for use.

Typical of the size of the industry to which ice cream making has grown is the Thrifty Ice Cream plant which supplies ice cream exclusively for Thrifty Drug Stores. It has a capacity of over two and a half million gallons per year, with all of the ice cream produced in this plant, distributed to and sold at Thrifty Drug Stores. To give some indication of this production, the plant can produce enough ice cream to feed every single person in the United States a more than generous portion of ice cream once a year, which represents over 100 million portions.

Making ice cream is a highly regarded art and science that the mechanical age has bettered. For example, at the modern Thrifty plant a process has been established that is overwhelmingly more sanitary, exacting and resultant in better ice cream than the old-fashioned home freezer methods could possibly have made it, and yet the flavor of fine home-made ice cream has been preserved.

Rich cream, eggs, sugar and the other ingredients are first weighed and measured in exact proportions and placed into a large stainless steel tank. This tatnk is sealed and the temperature is raised to 160 degrees Fahrenheit and held there for 30 minutes. This is the process known as pasteurizing. The mixture is then run through stainless steel pipes to another large machine called the homogenizer, where its smooth velvety texture is created.

It is then piped to the top of a two-story high series of 30 horizontally placed parallel pipes. The mixture, which is now 160 degrees hot, escapes through a series of holes and flows over the outside of these 60 pipes, to cascade into a receiving pan at the bottom. These pipes contain a freezing cold brine which lowers the temperature from 160 degrees at the top to about 35 degrees in a matter of seconds.

From the receiving pan, the ice cream goes into a huge stainless steel storage tank. From the storage tanks, the ice cream mix is fed into 100-gallon flavor tanks. It is at this point that the mix becomes ice cream as we know it. Flavor is added, whether it be vanilla, chocolate, or any of the great number that Thrifty makes. Ripe fresh fruits are added if the result is to be a fresh fruit cream. Strangely enough, the ice cream does not taste properly of its flavor until it has "aged' for at least 24 hours. Immediately after the flavor is stirred into the mix, a sample is taken off each 100-gallon batch which is analyzed by the Thrifty Ice Cream Laboratory. It is tested for texture, consistency, butterfa-t content and purity. Any deviation is rare, but if found it is corrected properly, or the batch is discarded.

From the flavor tank it is piped into an instantaneous freezer which forces the now thick ice cream through a feeding pipe to the packing tables. Paper cartons are rotated under the feeding pipe and are filled exactly to the top and then sealed. Each feeder pipe can fill about 40 pints of ice cream a minute, with quarts taking just about twice as long.

All ice cream that comes through the plant is stored for 24 hours in a storage vault that is kept at 20 degrees below zero. This storage insures complete permeation of the flavor through the ice cream. It is called the "wedding" of the ice cream. The storage vault has a capacity of 25,000 gallons at one time. Chutes deliver these "hard as a rock" packages directly to the fleet of refrigerated trucks which make daily trips to Thrifty Drug Stores.

Pure food laws require that such a plant be completely dismantled every eight hours and cleaned thoroughly. Thrifty does this every seven hours. Each moving part of each machine is broken down, washed in water and washing powder, and rinsed in scalding water. All the stainless steel pipes are taken apart and cleaned in the same manner. When this is all finished and it is reassembled once again, live steam is forced through the entire system to completely sterilize every part for its next use.

All of this is a far cry from the teen-ager turning a crank on an ice cream mixer many years ago. Like many another product which was hand-made in the past, the modern miracle of machinery has done more than produce just a finer quality product more quickly and more conveniently. Today, the vast majority of ice cream users in Southern California have found Thrifty Ice Cream the greatest buy in the realm of food. When compared with other higher price ice creams, it was invariably found that Thrifty Ice Cream was smoother, better tasting and richer, whether it was Thrifty's DeLuxe brand or the still higher quality Thrifty Special Occasion Pack.

To Ask County, City to Outlaw Race Covenants

An ordinance outlawing restrictive covenants is being drawn up for presentation to the Los Angeles city council and the board of supervisors, the National Negro Congress announced yesterday.

The action was voted by the Congress' executive board and the ordinance is in process of preparation by the local chapter of the National Lawyers Guild, John Forrester, NNC exeeutive secretary, said.

Forrester said the Congress felt "legal action must be taken immediately to alleviate the difficult housing situation which is threatening the safety, health and general welfare of the inhabitants of Los Angeles."

Restrictive covenants, he pointed out, force Negroes and other non-Caucasions including Chinese, Koreans and Filipinos, to live in heavily overcrowded, run-down districts.

Another reason for abolition of covenants, he said, is that such restrictions "promote hatred and misunderstandings between Negro and white, leading to actual violence."

He pointed to recent threats made against Mr. and Mrs. Sidney King of 1359 E. 60th st., by a mob of white property owners as an example.

Forrester said he had earlier visited the Kings and that a committee from the Congress had been set up to organize community support behind them to guarantee adequate protection by the sheriff's office and to press for arrest and prosecution of the mob leaders.

Students Told India Has Deep Interest in Problems of Negro

ATLANTA, Ga.—The people of India have a deep interest in the problem of the Negro in the U. S., Dr. William Stuart Nelson, dean of the School of Religion at Howard university, told the students of the Atlanta university system this week. Dr. Nelson addressed the students of Spelman and Morehouse colleges at their chapel services. At the forum meeting at Atalnta university, he showed films made on his trip.

Dr. Nelson was in the Far East as a representative of the American Friends Service Committee. Throughout his eight months' tour, he found the peoples of India constantly raising the question as to how Negroes can endure the treatment that they are subjected to in this democracy.

Dr. Nelson is convinced that the peoples of India will survive their freedom because of the type of leadership they have in men like Nehru and Ghandi "who have the profoundest social vision." These men and others like them have dedicated their lives to the relief of the terrible poverty which is in India today.

Although he found tension everywhere, Dr. Nelson reported that actually the outbreaks in India are confiied largely to one province. The trouble did not start when the British left the country, he stated, but because (1) the two new governments had difficulty in getting organized; (2) the army was divided on religious grounds; and (3) the general widespread poverty of the country. He believes that a similar situation would exist in the U. S. in regard to Negroes, if there were more of this group.

Unlike the students in the U. S., Dr. Nelson found that the students of India have no social organization, but rather a type of organization based on the political life of the ciuntry. Otherwise, he said, their interests are similar to those of students here.

Junior Has Right Idea On Spinach

INDIANAPOLIS — Spinach has about the same nutritional value as hay and if it were good for you, nature would have given it a pleasant taste, a public health consultant said yesterday.

"If God had intended for us to eat spinach, he would have flavored it with something," said Dr. Thurman B. Rice of the Indiana State Board of Health. He added that Popeye of the comic strips couldn't get enough strength out of spinach to lift his pipe.

Students Assail Racial Bias At Chicago U.

CHICAGO—White and Negro students, actively backed by two faculty members, held a mass meeting yesterday to protest racial discrimination at University of Chicago medical institutions.

A crowd estimated by the campus newspaper at more than 1000 participated in the demonstration. Many carried placards with anti-discrimination slogans. University press agents attempted to minimize the demonstration, declared that only 302 students "actively participated" in the demonstration.

Dr. Maynard Krueger, professor of economics, and Dr. Maltolm Sharp, service professor of law, addressed the meeting. They described the demonstrations as "useful, constructive action," and complimented the students for "refusing to compromise."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: The Prince of Peace; Lesson Text and Outline, Isaiah 9:2-7; Revelation 11:15; 15:2-4. Motto Text Luke 2:4.

Introduction

The coming of the Prince of Peace was forecast in the prophecy of Isaiah, and the consumation of his kingdom is forecast in the apocalypse of John.

Comments

1. Those that want the gospel walk in darkness, and know not what they do nor whither they go; and they dwell in the land of the shadow of death, in thick darkness, and in the utmost danger. When the gospel comes to any place, to any soul, light comes, a great light, a shining light, which will shine more and more. It should be welcome to us, as light is to those that sit in darkness, and we should readily entertain it, both because it is of such sovereign use to us and because it brings it own evidence with it. Truly that light is sweet. The gospel, when it comes in its shining light and power, brings joy along with it, and those who receive it aright do therein rejoice, therefore the conversation of the nations is propheside of by this.

Justly is Jesus called wonderful, for he is both God and man. His love is the wonder of angels and glorified saints; in his birth, life, death, resurrection, and ascension, He was wonderful. A constant series of wonders attended him.

2. The kingdoms of this world have become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ. They were always so in title, both by creation and purchase. They thankfully observe his actual possession of them, and reign over them; they give him thanks because he had taken to him his great power, asserted his rights, exerted his power, and so turned title into possession. They rejoice that this, his reign, shall never end: He shall reign for ever and ever, till all enemies be put under his feet; none shall ever wrest the sceptre out of his hand.

Comment on the Motto Text

Glory to God, whose kindness and love designed this favor, and whose wisdom contrived it in such a way as that one divine attribute should not be glorified at the expense of another, but the honor of all effectually secured and advanced. Other works of God are for his glory, but the redemption of the world is for his glory in the highest. Let men have the joy of it: On earth peace, good-will toward men. God's good-will in sending the Messiah introduced peace in this lower world, slew the enmity that sin had raised between God and man, and resettled a peaceable correspondence. If God be at peace with us, all peace results from it: peace of conscience, peace with angels, peace between Jew and Gentile. Peace is here put for all good, all that good which flows to us from the incarnation of Christ. All the good we have, or hope, is owing to God's good-will; and if we have the comfort of it, he must have the glory of it. Nor must any peace, any good, be expected in a way inconsistent with the glory of God; therefore not in any way of sin, nor in any way but by a Mediator.

2nd Baptist Presents 'Messiah'

Beginning promptly at 7:30 the evening of Sunday, December 21, the Senior Choir of the Second Baptist church, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, minister, will render "The Messiah," by G. Frederick Handel, in their auditorium, 24th street at Griffith avenue, under the direction of Anna G. Morrow, with Luvenia Nash at the organ; Bernice Lawson, pianist, Lawrence Lassiter, violin soloist. Featured soloists are: Tenor, Paul Troy, soloist of the West Adams Presbyterian church; soprano, Margaret Pett; contralto, Eloise Crawford and Seth Toney, all three of whom are members of the Second Baptist church.

All-Star Musical Slated at 2nd Baptist New Year's Eve

The Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith ave., Rev. J. R. Henderson pastor, will celebrate New Year's with an All-Star Musical beginning at 12:15 a.m. They expect all roads to lead to Second Baptist on New Year's Eve.

This first musical of '48 is being sponsored by the Pastor's Aid Societies of the Mt. Moriah and Opportunity Baptist churches, of which Rev. Earl A. Pleasant and Rev. Eugene D. Smallwood are the pastors.

The two great choirs of Mt. Moriah and Opportunity will combine to form a chorus of 100, under the direction of Prof. R. L. Hatter, one of Los Angeles' great exponents of music, with Jerry White at the piano.

All of the favorite gospel singers will be there. The program will feature such outstanding singers as: Gladys Scroggins, Frances Bussey, Pauline Pleasant, George Bramlette, Mme. Collier, Rev. A. A. Peters, Rev. N. Kirkpatrick, The Sunshine Melody Girls, Mt. Moriah Male Ensemble, R. L. Hatter Female Octette and Community Singers, Mrs. M. J. Gipson, Bernice Edwards, and Second Baptist's special guests, the Ferguson Singers of Texas.

Watch this newspaper for additions to this mammoth program.

Mount Monarch Choir to Give Cantata Sunday

The Senior Choir of Mount Moriah Baptist church will give its first Christmas cantata on Sunday, December 21, at 3:30 p.m. in the Paradise Baptist church, 50th street and Compton blvd. The Choir will be augmented by a Girls' Choir who will help the cantata, "Yuletide Memories," make a lasting impression on the minds of the audience.

The Choir will repeat the cantata in connection with the Sunday school and Christmas tree program to be given Tuesday night, December 23, at 7:30 o'clock at its home sanctuary, 1021 East 41st place.

Rev. E. A. Pleasant, is pastor of Mount Moriah church, and Rev. Iverson of the Paradise Baptist. R. Lemuel Hatter is director of the choir.

Overflow Crowd Attends Opening Of Bebee Memorial CME Temple

REV. L. S. WHITE

OAKLAND—The members of Bebee Memorial CME temple of Oakland, Calif., saw the realization of their dream Sunday, when the pastor, Rev. L. S. White, led them into their new edifice located at 598 - 31st St.

The building, which has a seating capacity of more than 800, was filled for the Sunday morning service with quite a number being turned away because of the immense crowd. Three services, morning, afternoon and night, engaged the attention of the members and friends and more than 80 persons were fellowshipped into the church on the opening day. More than $10,000 was reported from a special building fund drive, of which $500 came from the First Episcopal district presided over by Bishop R. A. Carter, the senior bishop. The drive will continue until the first of the year.

The opening program called for a two weeks' celebration in which ministers from all sections of the Bay Area, and all denominations participated.

The plant, purchased by Rev. Lindsey Rucker at a cost of $55,000, has an estimated value of $150,000 and is equipped with a $10,000 organ, two heating systems, some 20 educational and departmental rooms and a dining room that will accommodate 100 persons. A parking lot that will care for more than 50 cars relieves the parking troubles of the many church goers.

Rev. White was recently transferred from Houston, Texas, where he built and pastored Bebee Tabernacle, the second largest CME church in Texas. He served this church 13 years, during which time he rebuilt and refurnished the churc hat a cost of some $30,000, practically on the pay-as-you-go plan.

Aside from rebuilding the church which he pastored, Rev. White organized six other mission churches in Houston with a combined valuation of $100,000. Immediately upon his arrival in Oakland he launched a spiritual and financial drive by which he hopes to greatly increase the membership and pay the churrch debt off during this conference year.

Consecration Services For Kingdom Baptist Set For Sun., Dec. 28

Consecration and groundbreaking services for the Kingdom Baptist church, will be held Sunday, December 28, at the Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith streets, Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor. The Kingdom Baptist church will be located at the corner of Temple and Occidental streets. Rev. A. Wendell Ross is pastor.

The program for the services will be given under the auspices of the Western State Baptist Convention, Dr. W. P. Carter, president ;and the Los Angeles District Association, Dr. C. B. Charles, moderator. Music will be furnished by the choirs of the Second Baptist, the Victory Baptist, and the McCoy Memorial churches.

An invitation is extended to all pastors, churches, auxiliaries, civic organizations, and business enterprises to attend, and to appoint a representative to appear on the program.

Victory Baptist Presents Christmas Cantata

Victory Baptist church approaches the Christmas season with a thankful spirit and a spirit of joy, because of the blessings which have been showered on her during the past 12 months. In the joy which Victory feels, she is attempting to share with all of the community through a series of Christmas programs commemorating the birth of our Saviour, and presented to the public with devout hearts.

On Sunday, December 21, a Special Christmas Message will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. A. A. Peters, at 11 a.m. The Victory Choir will furnish appropriate music for the service.

At five o'clock of the same day, the Church school will present its program and Christmas tree. The young people of the Church school have worked faithfully to prepare this treat for the members, and especially for all visiting children who can attend. They extend a cordial invitation to all the children in the community to share this day with them.

In the evening, the Victory Choir presents its annual Christmas Carol Service, "The Story of Christmas Carols," and among other familiar and less familiar numbers, will fill the air with the harmonies of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "I Saw Three Sheep," "The Seven Joys of Mary" and others. You will be charmed by the renditions of young Carl Johnson, 12-year-old soloist; and hearts will be gladdened by the voices of the 80-voice combined youth and adult choirs. The narrator for the Candle Light Processional will be talented James Jackson, and the soloists will be Robert McLechlin and Augustine Dillon.

Don't miss the Hightower Youth Orchestra in their annual program "On Christmas Morn" at five o'clock Christmas morning. You will hear their rendition of some very fine vocal numbers of traditional Christmas Carols sung by boys and girls. Also, for your pleasure, the youth orchestra, featuring brass and reed sections, will render solos, duets, trios and ensembles. Carl Johnson, Betsy Ann Williams and Caroline Thompson will be the special young soloists who will appear. We will expect to see you there, to greet with us in the early dawn, the day of Christ's Birthday.

Zion Club Daughters At Trinity Sunday

The members and friends of Trinity Independent church, 5108 South Central Ave., are sponsoring a musical program by the Daughters of Zion Club for the benefit of their building fund at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, December 21.

A special musical program of Gospel Songs will be rendered by some of the city's favorite soloists. Among those on the program will be Mrs. Lenora Dunlap, of the People's Independent church; Mrs. Louise Ingram, and others. Hugh Ballantine, of the Peoples' Independent church, will be master of ceremonies.

Rev. Hydes is pastor of Trinity church. The financial and moral support of everyone is solicited for this worthy cause.

Christian Science Lecture Broadcast

A lecture on the subject "Christian Science: The Science of Divine Mind" will be radiocast over station KFWB (980 kc), Friday, December 19, at 8 p.m., from Thirty-second Church of Christ, Scientist, Los Angeles. The lecturer, Florence Middaugh, C.B.S., of Los Angeles, is a member of The Christian Science board of lectureship.

Special Xmas Music At Wesley Sunday

Sunday will be a high day at Wesley Methodist church, 1029 East Vernon ave. Dr. E. W. Rakestraw will deliver a special Christmas sermon on the subject, "The Blessed Journey," at the morning worship. There will also be special Christmas music by the Junior and Senior Choirs and "A Christmas Tree to Christ."

The Church school will present a Christmas pageant at 4:30 p.m., which will relate the Christmas story and will be supported by the Children's Verse Choir under the direction of Alma Covington, and the Singing Youth Choir directed by Marguerite Chapman.

The Senior Choir under the direction of Lucille Huley will render Handel's "Messiah" during the Vesper Hour. The public is invited to all services.

Second Baptist Extends Yuletide Greetings to All Los Angeles Residents

The Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith Ave., the largest and most beautiful church west of Chicago where visitors are always welcome, through its minister, Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, together with the Henderson Community Center, extend to all citizens the choicest greetings of the Yuletide season.

Second Baptist believes newcomers to Los Angeles should consider this great church for their membership. It offers: good preaching, fine music, a dignified yet spiritual order of worship, home for the aged, dormitories for working girls, recreational building for all ages and—Good News! A day nursery that will open in a few weeks. This is a church with something more than a mere preaching program. They also support a missionary in Africa.

In the spirit of Christmas, Second Baptist members have just given $100 to Outdoor Life and Health, $250 to the Community Chest, and $300 to the needy. Early in 1948 they plan to donate funds to furnish completely a room in West View Hospital.

As we salute you in good will, we say: Join Second Baptist and subscribe for the California EAGLE.

This is our Christmas Greeting.

Gilbert Gospel Preachers and Singers at Friendship Sunday

VERSATILE—The Gilbert Gospel Preachers and Singers

The Friendship Baptist Church of Green and DeLacy streets, Pasadena, will be host to the versatile Gilbert Gospel Preachers and Singers from Miami, Florida, Saturday night, December 27. Rev. J. A. Alexander, founder and president of the Ruth Esther Home for Women, will sponsor this great service in behalf of the Home.

This will be the Gilberts first appearance in Pasadena, and if members of Friendship Baptist Church assemble as other churches have done, there will be standing room only. Dr. W. D. Carter is the pastor of Friendship Baptist.

The Gilbert Gospel Preachers and Singers are truly considered spirit filled children. They preach and sing with ease and power. Their singing sets the soul on fire. Once heard they are not forgotten. By all means come and hear these Servants of the Most High.

Baha'i News

World Faith for World Freedom will be discussed by Mrs. Florence Holsinger at the regular Sunday afternoon public meeting of the Los Angeles chapter of Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire avenue, on Dec. 21, at 3 o'clock.

World faith is the light of love illuminating the hearts and minds of its citizens. All are a part of the whole world. All divine manifestations are from God and are as one, although aypearing at different intervals of time. Baha'u'llah said, "The world is one home and mankind its citizens."

Miss. Baptists Raise $5000 For Natchez College

BELZONI, Miss.—A total of almost $5000 was reported raised for education at the Thanksgiving session of the General Missionary Baptist Convention of Mississippi held here. This means a new era for Natchez college, it was predicted. There is already a program of expansion under way, and the additional amount it will receive will enable it to take its rightful place in the educational world.

Eric E. L. Hercules, author and lecturer of Buffalo, N. Y., was the principal speaker of the evening session. He urged all Negroes to "get together for the good of the race as a whole. We must maintain courage in spite of adverse circumstances," he declared, and said he foresaw a "new day for Southern Negroes. The recent election of Judge Stennis to take the place of Bilbo in the U. S. senate is a straw which shows which way the wind is blowing."

Dr. Calvin Perkins, aggressive president of Natchez college, was one of the prominent Baptists of Mississippi who attended the convention. Natchez college is an institution supported wholly by Baptists of the state for the traning of Negroes in the field of liberal arts, sciences, theology, and agriculture.

Rev. Dr. H. H. Humes, of Greenville, president of the Convention presided.

Stock to Head Church World Service Here

George E. Stock has been named director of Church World Service for the Southwest Area, according to Dr. Hubert C. Noble, chairman of the executive committee. He succeeds Rev. Melvin H. Harter who will be regional director of five states in the Middle West, with Chicago as headquarters, after January 1. Rev. Harter is now at the national headquarters of Church World Service in New York City, and will return to Los Angeles on December 18 before taking up his new position.

Of the 100,222 pounds of clothing, shoes and other supplies contributed during November, 15,811 pounds were sent on the Friendship Train and 30,506 lbs. of clothing bundles and school boxes were given by the Councils of Church Women.

Communities contributing 1000 pounds or more of materials during November in addition to the Councils of Church Women were: Claremont, 1228 pounds; First Congregational Church of Los Angeles, 4521 pounds; Glendale, 3590 pounds; Pasadena, 2332 pounds; Riverside, 11,070 pounds; and Santa Paula, 4032 pounds.

FOR FEDERAL SCHOOL AID

Extension of federal education aid to states and districts was urged by the convention of the National Council of Chief School Officers. The convention, which ended this week, stressed the strengthening of public education to instill greater zeal for democracy.

Titus Alexander Gives Talk On Life of First Negro Catholic Bishop in the United States

Titus Alexander, 3740 La Salle ave., recently gave a most informative talk on the life of the Right Reverend Bishop James Augustus Healy, at a meeting of the Brothers of the Holy Name. We give excerpts of his speech.

Bishop Healy was the first colored Catholic bishop in the United States of America. He was born near Macon, Georgia, April 6, 1830, the son of Michael and Eliza (Clark) Healy, the eldest of 7 children —4 boys and 3 girls. A brother, the Rev. Patrick F. Healy, became the 28th president of Georgetown university, Washington, D.C. Another brother, Rev. Sherwood Healy, was proclaimed Bishop of Boston, but died before his consecration could take place. Two of the three sisters became Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame. One was elected superior. Bishop Healy died in Portland, Maine, August 5, 1900.

Like St. Augustine's mother, St. Monica, Bishop Healy's mother was a Negro. No family in the United States of America, perhaps, has contributed more to the propagation of the faith of the Catholic Church than this mixed family of Negro and Irish parentage. There were three priests, two sisters. Two of the priests became bishops and one was president of a university. Two sisters were Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame and one became Mother Superior.

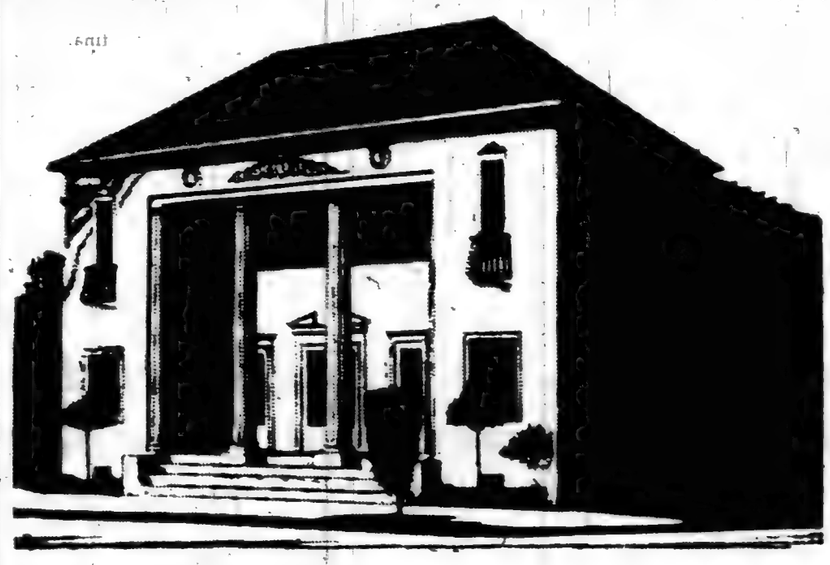
This family is doubly distinguished in that the father was an Irish Catholic and the mother an American Negro, Eliza Clark Healy.

Bishop Healy's father was a sea captain and early moved his small family to New York where he placed his oldest son, James Augustine Healy, in the Friends' school, Flushing, Long Island, N.Y., and later in Burlington, N. J. He was one of the first to enroll at Holy Cross college, Worcester, Mass., and was graduated with the first class in 1849. He began his theological course at Sulpitian seminary, Montreal, Canada and completed it in Paris, France.

He was ordained priest at the Cathedral Notre Dame, Paris, June 10, 1854, by Archbishop Sibour. He began his priestly labors at Boston, as secretary to Bishop Fitzgerald, and became the first Chancellor of the diocese.

In March 1866, Father Healy was named pastor of the St. James Church (Boston) by Bishop Williams. He served there 9 years, 1866-1875. He was elected Bishop of Portland, Maine, to succeed the Rt. Rev. David W. Bacon, deceased, and was consecrated June 2, 1875 by Williams, assisted by Bishops O'Reilly and McNierney. His diocese included the states of Maine and New Hampshire.

In 1884 the diocese of Manchester was set off, containing the state of New Hampshire. The Diocese of Portland after then contained only the State of Maine.



Bishop Healy had been bishop of Portland scarcely 11 years when Portland celebrated its 100th anniversary, 1786-1886. He had a prominent place on the program, and delivered one of the memorable addresses on that occasion.

So in his lifetime he was honored by all, and upon his death in 1900, the Catholics of all the world grieved at his loss — this boy whose mother was a Negro. We are proud today to do reverence to his name, the Rt. Rev. Bishop James Augustine Healy, the first colored Catholic Bishop in the United States of America.

The Messiah—George Frederic Handel

The Messiah, Handel's great oratorio, takes us to the plains of Bethelehem and tells us the story of the first Christmas. Though the Messiah goes beyond the nativity, though it presents the resurrection and ends with an affirmation of faith, universal and beyond story-telling, it is the most famous of all Christmas compositions.

George Friedrich Handel, the composer of The Messiah, was born a German, but later became an English citizen, living most of his life in London. He became George Fredric Handel of England. There he became known first through his superb playing of the organ and afterwards through the production of innumerable operas. These operas were the popular entertainment of London and Handel was London's most celebrated musician, but the public of the 18th century was no less fickle than today's public. The people began to tire of Handel's operas. He had earned a good-sized fortune but now he lost it staging operas to empty houses. He sank deeper into debt. His health was ruined; he had a paralytic stroke; he could no longer use his right arm; he could no longer play or conduct. Seemingly, he was a broken man.

But, fortunately, his constitution was so powerful, his love for life so great, his urge to write so compelling that he rallied. Pardon, please, this personal reference. The preceding sentence is filled with the thinking of the writer. When I was injured a few seasons ago, I had the same determination to live. The specialists in my case—Doctors Robert J. Gustafson and Earl Warren, had given up all hope of my recovery. After a few days to all material thinking, I was dead—they said I had slipped away, but no, I was like Handel during his illness, but with one thought added—I had put my trust in the Great Physician—the one divinely authorized to perform miracles. I rememebred my early religious training from the very moment of the accident that almost became tragic.

My loving and devoted mother taught me from infancy that God could do all things. His was the Power and Glory through Jesus Christ. With this foremost in my thinking I had faith; I trusted; I believed that God would bring me through; I believed that God would restore me and make me a greater person; I felt there was a greater work for me to do; a greater contribution to humanity; I wish remembered the hymn my sainted father would sing in the weekly prayer and praise service—"Hold to God's Unchanging Hand," and the hymn mother would often sing when doing her housework, "Leaning on the Everlasting Arm." I put all of this into practice, I leaned on the sustaining Infinite and here am I, telling my readers to rely wholly on God the Father, God teh Son, and God the Holy Ghost. We do not find in any of our research any statement made by Handel during his illness concerning Deity, but to those of us who have suffered as Handel suffered and rallied as did the great Handel, it is ours to know that only God can bring us back from the darkness "Into His marvelous light." And so Handel took a new lease on life and in so doing he took a new lease on popularity, by turning to the oratorio. An oratorio is music using a holy text and employing orchestra, soloists and choruses. To the Londoners of Handel's time, the oratorio was an opportunity to hear good music and good singing when they could not go to the opera.

Handel wrote The Messiah in 24 days, August 22 to September 14, inclusive, 1741. He worked in an almost feverish exaltation. He closeted himself in his room, often he forgot to eat. His servant found him staring into space, oblivious to everything around him. Handel said afterward, "I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the Great God Himself."

The Messiah was rapturously received in Dublin. Two years later, it was performed in London. The custom of standing up during the "Hallelujah" Chorus traces its origin to this gala performance. King George II was so moved by the power and glory of this chorus that he stood up in his box; of course, the entire audience had to rise with the king. To this day concert audiences stand. The Messiah is one of the noblest expressions of the religious spirit, written by a man of large faith, honest, convincing and exalted music, music good for the soul. It embraces all the spirituality of our God.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. GEORGE W. MERRITT, composer of "My Heart Decided on You."

Worrill Addresses Hamilton Youth Sun.

Hamilton Youth, of the Hamilton Methodist Church, centered their attention this month on the theme of the month of the Hamilton church—"The Place of Youth in Kingdom Building."

Walter Worrill, of Pasadena, will be the main speaker at a climax of the month's activities to be given Sunday, December 21, at 11 a. m. Worrill is the first Negro to be employed in Y.M.C.A. work in Pasadena. He is a graduate of Whittier college. He proved his capabilities as a speaker when he co-chaired the meeting held for Jackie Robinson at the First Baptist church.

There will be an hour of general fellowship at 6:30 p.m. to be followed by a pre-Christmas social for all the young people of Hamilton Methodist Church.

Ministry Hits U. S. Policy on Displaced Persons

"America is losing a great opportunity by not alowing more of the freedom loving people in the displaced persons camps of Europe, to come to this country," says Rev. Canon A. R. Pepper, vice-chairman of the Church World Service board of directors, who recently returned from a survey of several of the displaced persons camps.

In the American Zone of Occupation in Germany and Austria, he said their religious affiliations are chiefly "Lutherans, Mennonites, Servian and Russian orthodox, along with a few Baptists and Methodists." Life in the camps is indescribably hard. Food is limited, and heat is at a premium.

Cantata Xmas Morn At Christ Temple Ch.

Christ Temple church, at 54th and Hooper ave., will be the scene of a lovely Christmas cantata which will be presented by its Senior Choir at 5 o'clock Christmas morning. Mrs. Ursula Murrell is director of the choir.

Bishop C. P. Jones is pastor of the church, and Rev. C. L. Carhee, acting pastor.

XMAS CANTATA CARVER A.M.E. ZION

The Carver Memorial Community A.M.E. Zion Church Senior Choir will be presented in its annual Xmas Cantata "Chimes of the Holy Night," in the church auditorium, 21st at Griffith, Sunday afternoon, December 21st, at 5:00 o'clock. The featured soloists are Mr. James L. Miller, Mrs. Lillian E. Thompson, Mr. L. Irwin and Mr. J. Smith. They will be supported by the twenty-four voice Senior Choir of Carver, under the direction of Mrs. Irene L. Prince, Mrs. Blance B. Patterson, pianist.

This year's cantata is certain to excel the cantatas presented in previous years by the choir. A cordial invitation is extended to the music lovers of Los Angeles.

THIRD SERMON OF SERMON SERIES

At 11:00 a.m., Sunday, December 21st, Dr. Paul M. Marshall, the minister and founder of Carver will deliver the third of the pre-Xmas sermon series from the general theme "What Christians Believe." The subject for Sunday morning will be: "If Jesus had not been Born." Every Christian believer ought to hear this message delivered by one of Los Angeles' outstanding pulpiteers and churchmen. Special music has been planned for the entire series, which will conclude with a sunrise service at 5:00 a.m. Christmas morning.

You are also invited to start the New Year by worshipping at Carver's watch meeting service with Sallie Martin and her gospel singers, of Chicago, Illinois, beginning at 11:00 p.m.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The church school's annual Xmas Party will be held on Xmas Eve; also the young people will present their annual Xmas play. Mrs. Jessica Marshall, general superintendent; Mr. Alonzo York, reporter.

First Baptist Choir To Render Christmas Carols, Anthems Sun.

Spend an evening at the Greater First Baptist church, 57th and Hooper ave., Sunday, December 21, at 7 o'clock. There will be an inspirational program of Christmas carols and anthems presented by the choir, together with a program rendered by the children.

Rev. Robert R. Williams is pastor of the church. Mrs. Esther F. Williams is director of the choir, and Mrs. Bertha Higdom is director of the children.

'Future Artists' Win Plaudits of Audience At Church Recital

Zoe Wise, talented young violinist, won high praise as guest artist on the Second Annual Future Artist Concert Sunday at Bowen Memorial Methodist church as did many of the boys and girls among the "future artists" who appeared on the program.

Little Douglas Sides opened the program with two tuneful pieces and then accompanied the audience in singing "Jingle Bells." Leslie Bellamy, who played little boy pieces last year, got out of the sick bed to play "Spring Night" by Robyn and the "Banjo" by Wright, and then went back to bed with a high fever. Donald Wiggins won the respect of all when although he lost his way in playing Chopin's "Polonaise in A" refused to give up until he had finished it with flying colors. Indeed all of the children and Miss Wise made the Second Future Artist Concert one to be remembered.

Among the other youngsters on the program between 4 and 12 years of age who impressed those present with their talents were: Duke Monday, who pinch hitted for his pal Jerry Lemons; Gloria Jean Palms, Alita Simpson, Ruel Chester, Mildred Young, Patricia Houston, John LaMont Bennett, and Beverly Jean Hankins. The children were all pupils of Mrs. Dovie Steward, Mrs. Ethel Thompson and Miss Ruby E. Lyle.

Leon W. Steward, chairman of the project, announced that money derived from the offering will be spent for hymnals for the Bowen church school. He also stated that the project will be presented many years to come. Miss Zoe Wise led the audience in singing Christmas anthems at the close and all went home happy.

WINGS OVER JORDAN AT BOWEN

Wings Over Jordan and the Rev. Glenn T. Settle will be guest of Bowen Memorial Methodist church, East 36th and Trinity streets, Sunday, December 21st, at 11 o'clock. You have heard them on stage and over the air, now is your chance to worship with them. At 7:30 p.m. the Methodist Youth Fellowship will present its Xmas play "Follow the Star." The public is invited to both these services.

John C. Bain, Minister

Christian Science Topic on Atomic Force

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is chosen from the Psalms and reads, "The word of the Lord is right; and all his works are done in truth. . . . For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast." The question "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject.

Matthew's Gospel reports that after Jesus had fed the multitude, he "constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, . . . And . . . he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone. But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary. And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. . . . Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws. His acts were the demonstration of Science, overcoming the false claims of material sense or law."

Box Lunch to be held sometime around the first part of January. Being a personal friend of a few of the Pyramids, your old Steamer will keep you well informed about the Box Lunch, and I DO MEAN well informed! Other "Big Wigs" in the Delta Pledge club are Anne Smith, "Dot" McLaughlin, Janea Lawson, and Doris Edwards. Cherlaine and Charlotte Derricks, two recently "made" Deltas are still working very closely with the Pledge club. Lorraine Tennete and Betty Thomas are Co-Deans of Pledges.

SOME MORE GAMMA'S

The Gamma Phi's, a recently organized group of select young ladies, are planning big things to come, according to Choquita Adams. One of the BIG things coming off involves a radio prize, so if you're approached by some charming young lady, and I use charming in the future tense, who will try to talk you into buying a ticket, she will probably be a member of said mentioned Gamma Phi. According to my very unrellable sources, Beverly Winston, Tanis and Janis Fortier, Evelyn Strickland and her sister Donna (Oh! such a lovely child, but so young) Peggy Adams, and a few of the other Big Wheels from the North Pole comprise the Gammas.

THINGS THE STEAMER WOULD LIKE TO KNOW

Who does Conner Bauman and Carol Hithe think they're fooling? Here Connor's going around singing I WANT A SUNDAY NIGHT KIND OF LOVE. Whose Kappa frat pin did Gloria Crouch have on at the formal. How come two certain City college co-eds are so interested in Pasadena? Why Herbie Howard whistles "Louise" all the time?

Why they call Johnny Delgardo "The Geek?" Why Scott Gilbert has just began to notice Sally Jones? Who is Freddy that Ann Smith is always ready for? How Cool can Hal Mayture get? And lastly but not leastly, can Carl Wills speak English?

THE STEAMER SCOOPS JESSIE MAE BROWN

I learned just a few hours ago that Rebecca Brown and Billy Farrington have been secretly married for some time. Congratulations are in order seriously for two swell people. It seems only yesterday that Becky and I were sitting on the grass in front of Kierkoff Hall out at UCLA, but people, like anything else, change. Best of wishes to Becky and Billy.

Xmas Card Depicting Crucified Negro Child Riles K. C. Spokesman

NEW YORK—A spokesman for the Knights of Columbus yesterday denounced as "blasphemous and sacrilegious" a series of Christmas cards issued by the Progressive Citizens of America. The cards carry a simple statement by Henry A. Wallace saying: "I hear no armies marching. I hear only a world crying for peace."

One of two cards singled out for attack by Matthew F. Kennedy, chairman of the Catholic affairs committee, showed a sad little Negro boy with pierced hands, a crown of thorns and a halo.

Paul Strand, head of the PCA art division, retorted that the charge of blasphemy "makes one wonder at the depth of Mr. Kennedy's own religious feeling."

Revive Plan to Send 5,000 GI Babies to U.S.

LONDON, England—That question of the unwelcomed babies of English sweethearts of American Negro GIs is up again.

According to a spokesman of the Negro Welfare Society of London plans are still being considered to ship to the S. S. 5000 of an estimated 10,000 babies left behind when Negro troops pulled out of Britain. Homes are being found for the babies in colored communities of the U. S. "to save them from growing up as social misfits," the Society spokesman said. The Society is currently awaiting approval of the British Home Secretary of its plan.

The babies range in age from 2 months to 5 years. Their young mothers, not being able to keep their children in their own homes, have found it almost impossible to locate foster parents to adopt them because of the color bar, the Society said.

'Most Virile Man' And Queen Crowned At Junior College

Coronation of a new king and queen highlighted "The Cave Men's Crawl," Friday evening dance, climaxing the annual "Men's Week" activities at East Los Angeles Junior college.

Suzi Coger, 4011 South San Gabriel street, San Gabriel, feminine co-star of the recent ELAJC Arena Players' production "Dear Ruth," won queen honors by an eyelash over runners-up Mitzi Ishihara, 2725 Eagle street, and Chloe Daniel, 2423 S. Gaspar avenue, at a high-jinx assembly progrem Thursday.

Adolph Hinkel, 1331 South Clela, was proclaimed the most virile man on the campus after winning the week-long beard-growing contest and entitled to rule with the queen over the "Huskie" student body.

Earlier in the week, the Freshmen emerged victorious in the tug-of-war and pie-eating contests.

MARY ASTOR CAST

Radio—Walter Winchell

Chosen by nationally known critics including Burns Mantle, Norman Corwin, Lewis Gannett, and Walter White, the winners will each be presented with a bronze plaque.

"The four major forms of entertainment in America came of age this past year," Ebony asserts. "The popular entertainment fields are making frank, honest efforts to improve interracial understanding. "The year 1947 saw Hollywood openly tackle the subject of race hate. A new high in literature about racial problems flooded the market.

"Broadway's stages saw at least four musicals with mixed casts during the year," Ebony continues. "And radio, long wary of racial issues, came out of its shell this year to tackle in regular programs like soap operas, children's programs, and news commentaries the problem of amity for minorities here at home."

A strong winner was Sinclair Lewis' Kingsblood Royal, which garnered the vote of the New York Herald Tribune's Lewis Gannett, the New York World Telegram's Harry Hansen, and Fisk university librarian Arna Bontemps. The remaining two judges in the book panel were critic Carl Van Vechten who voted for Willard Motley's 'Knock On Any Door' and Sterling North of the New York Post who voted for 'Gentlemen's Agreement.'

"Finian's Rainbow," winner of the theatre award, earned the vote of three judges also, with the New York Daily News' Burns Mantle, the Saturday Review of Literature's John Mason Brown and the American Negro Theatre's Abram Hill all casting for it. Dissenting votes were polled by Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, and Louis Kronenberger of P M, who voted for "Street Scene" and "Call Me Mister," respectively.

Voting for the other winners was highly varied, with no more than two judges casting ballots for any one nominee.

"Crossfire" won the movie award on the strength of votes by Louella Parsons and Sidney Skolsky, both Hollywood columnists. Other judges and their votes were, Jimmie Fidler (McNaught Syndicate) "Black Gold," Hedda Hopper (Chicago Tribune-New York Daily News) "Song Of The South;" NAACP Secretary Walter White, "Body And Soul."

Votes by John Crosby of the New York Herald Tribune and Dan Burley of the New York Amsterdam News gave Walter Winchell the edge in the radio division. CBS producer Norman Corwin cast his vote for Superman and Chicago Sun radio editor Ulmer Turner liked Duffy's Tavern. New York Mirror columnist Nick Kenny voted for Arthur Godfrey.

Riverside Man Wins Place in Collection Of Lyrics, Poetry

NEW YORK—Billy Lacey, 4495 Grove ave., Riverside, California, is one of the authors whose work merited a place in Important American Poets and Songwriters, this year's most outstanding volume of lyrics and poetry.

Thousands of manuscripts were submitted from every conner of the globe, according to Valiant House, New York publishers of the book. Many of the authors represented have been previously published in other books, magazines and newspapers. Some of them have authored outstanding volumes of their own.

"The Outcast," starring John Carroll, Vera Ralston, Broderick Crawford, and Robert Paige, continues filming at Republic. Other leading roles in the film are portrayed by Henry Travers, Blanche Yurka, Constance Dowling, and Hattie McDaniels.

Lettuce Strikers Tell Story

PHOENIX— Representatives of 2000 striking CIO lettuce packing shed workers told their story yesterday to a "fact-finding" committee named by Gov. Sidney Osborn.

Gov. Osborn said that committee is to "ascertain all pertinent facts, in the area of present disagreement, and make recommendations to the parties for settlement of the issues."

Shippers and the union already have agreed to a wage increase of 10 percent, but there remains the issue of re-hiring the strikers.

The union rejected a proposal by Gov. Osborn that the 300 to 400 scabs stay on their jobs with shippers to rehire strikers only as they see fit. The union insists that strikers be rehired in accordance with seniority.

FTA Regional Director Jack Montgomery yesterday appealed for financial aid from other unions in the West.

Fanning Urges Air-Mail For Xmas Cards

"The use of Air Mail is the only hope for late mailers who have "put off' mailing their out of town Christmas cards and packeges," Postmaster Fanning stated yesterday.

According to the postmaster, the amount of Christmas cards and packages going through the Los Angeles post office to date has topped all previous records. He said that all out of town cards and packages that have not been mailed should be sent Air Mail in order to insure delivery before Christmas Eve.

Goodlett Blasts S.F. Proposal For 'Red Squad'

SAN FRANCISCO—We are lost if we stop fighting the invasions of our rights by the un-Americans, 3000 people were told here last night at a mass meeting sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America.

"It is difficult to convey the atmosphere of terror that prevaded the Washington hearings," John Howard Lawson, one of ten indicted Hollywood notables, said as he accused the un - American Committee of carrying out "a leading role in the conspiracy against the American constitution.

Bringing the issue of civil rights close to home, Dr. Carlton Goodlett, president of the local NAACP branch, blasted the grand jury's decision to establish a subversive squad in San Francisco.

"They have not yet mastered an elementary understanding of simple race relations in the police department's attitude toward minority groups," Goodlett said.

Other speakers included actress Gale Snodergaard, screenwriter Rign Lardner Jr., muralist Anton Refriegier and Sidney Roger, chairman.

The meeting was concluded with several songs by balladeer Josh White, currently singing at the California Theatre Club.

FIRST AID INSTRUCTION

Accidents annually kill approximately 100,000 persons in the United States. In addition, some 10,000,000 are more or less severely injured. To help reduce this terrific toll, the American Red Cross conducts a continuous and extensive program in first aid, water safety, and accident prevention with 57,448 trained instructors.

Probation Officer Tells Need Of School For Retarded Kids

Mrs. Weist, deputy probation officer, told of the dire need of a non-segregated private school where children of all races can attend, especially the Negro children, at a meeting of the committee sponsoring the Retarded Children's Program, held at the Eastside Settlement House, 1219 East Adams blvd., Thursday evening, December 11. Mrs. Weist reiterated her previous statement that the department in which she is employed would fill the institution once it was started, with resident students.

Parents of the children attending the noon and before-noon classes of Mrs. Williams are pleased with the progress their children are making, it was reported. They realize, however, that if a full time day and resident school could be established with adequate facilities, a greater and more efficient service could be rendered. The committee is planning a campaign to forward this movement.

Mrs. Exie Hampton is director of East Side Settlement House.

HERMAN, the ASTROLOGER, care of the California Eagle, 4071 South Central Ave.

R.W.—Dear Prof. Herman: Just a short note to thank you for the help you have been to me. The blessings you have bestowed upon me have certainly proven how good you are! Some of my friends are also writing you for help as their luck and circumstances are disheartening. Thanks again for everything.

A. E. L.—My husband left me sometime ago, and I would like to know whether he will ever return?

ANSWER—My Psycho-Mental ist Crystal reveals some of the trouble you have had in your home which seems to have caused the separation. However, your husband still cares for you and misses his home, and is seriously thinking of returning.

L. T.—Will I ever meet the boy I have been writing to?

ANSWER—A careful analysis of your question indicates that you have been corresponding with this young man during his period in the army, and are wondering if you will get the opportunity to meet him personally. He became very fond of you through your letters, and will no doubt come to visit you just as soon as he is able.

D. B. A.—Will I ever get married?

ANSWER—Your Lucky Star and Guiding Planet indicate marraige in the not too distant future. Further information regarding this matter will be given you, if you will write in for private reply.

M. J. M.—Will I get the job that I have applied for?

ANSWER—Concentrating upon your question I am of the opinion that you are fully qualified for this position and will be given due consideration. It would do no harm however, to contact these people again.

Miss E. S.—Does he love me enough to marry me?

ANSWER—Probing into the matter I find that you are still quite young, and should really be concentrating upon furthering your education and finishing school. This boy is fond of you as a friend, but he doesn't seem to be thinking of marriage just now.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico.—Living up to his advanced notice "War Coin" shipped down to the border course by Albert Johnson, former star jockey who won two Kentucky Derby winners, won the feature attraction last Sunday with ease. The distance was six furlongs and the good son of Trace-Call racing colors came from third place in the stretch to catch "Pere Fly" and "He Kuene" to win going away. The time was 1:12 flat. The winner paid $5.40, $7.60, $5.00.

In the secondary event, named in honor of the San Diego Rotary club, the gray ghost known as "Cadmium" came from far back to overtake the leaders and win by a neck, paying the good odds of $11.20 for two. The daily-double made its lucky backers happy when it paid $281.60. The winning combination was "Timothy K.A." and "Evenspun." The Quiniela paid $47.20 when "Likefather" finished first and "Aunt Ada" was second.

General manager Walter C. Marty announced that this week end another program of ten exciting races will be held featured by "The Xmas Handicap" at one and one-sixteenth miles. For a purse of $1500. The secondary attraction will be "The Kris Kringle" at six furlongs for a purse of $1200. This event will attract some of the best sprinters on the ground and the new sprint champ "War Coin" will probably be the favorite. The first race will be named "The Holly." The third, "The Yuletide" and the sixth, "The Mistletoe." Post time will remain at noon.

'Y' Holds Cage Tournament

During Xmas vacation the members of the Youth Division of the 28th street YMCA will play host to basketball teams from over 20 local youth-serving agencies in a two-day invitational tournament. The event marks the beginning of a series of such tournaments to be conducted each year during the holidays.

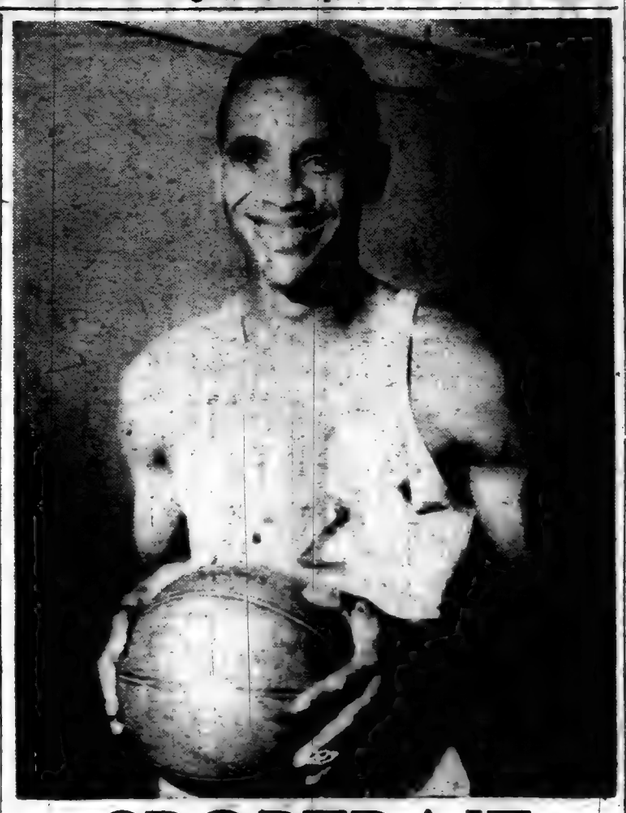
Thirty teams have been entered from such agencies as All Peoples Foundation, Avalon Community Center, Soto Michigan Center, Times Boys' Club, Redondo Beach, Hollenbeck Center, St. Odilia CYO, Henderson Community Center, Ross Snyder Playground, Central and John Adams Jr. High school playgrounds, Riverside YMCA, Long Beach YMCA and others.

Competition will be held on Tuesday, December 23 and 30 and will include boys between the ages of 12 through 17 years.

ELACC TO PLAY IN HOOP TOURNAMENT

Coach "Ching" Duhn and his Los Angeles Junior College basketballers, fresh from a victory over the Los Angeles City Coltario, Calif., during this week to lege team, will travel to Onparticipate in the Chaffey Annual Basketball Invitationals. The casaba tournament will take place over a period of four days, December 17, 18, 19, and 20.

Manual Defeats Jeff. 34-28



Manual Arts High School basketball team made it two in a row over a Jefferson High School team that fell apart in the last five minutes of play Tuesday on the Democrat hardwood, 34-28.

The game marked the second time in as many starts that the Democrats have fallen before the Toiler onslaught.

Fairly close until the last few minutes of play when Manual switched from a racehorse to a post offense, Tuesday's contest was highlighted by the 16 points of forward Williams of the Democrats.

Starting lineups:

Jefferson (28)		Manual (34)
McGinnis (3)	F	S'nds't'ltee (10)
Ward (3)	F	Salterlee (15)
Young (4)	C	Hastings (0)

SPORTRAIT
Introducing
DAVE MINOR OF UCLA

(First in a series intended to better acquaint the people of Los Angeles with leading local Negro athletes.—Ed.)

NAME: DAVAGE MINOR.
HEIGHT: 6:2.
WEIGHT: 175.
AGE: 25.
SPORT: BASKETBALL.
SCHOOL. UCLA.
COMMENT: "One of the great basketball players in America today."

Davage Minor is truly a basketball players' "Player." He can do anything with a ball but eat it, and sometimes to hear him talk, you'd think that he could even do that. He roams about the court like a deadly leopard seeking out his prey. He can shoot with either hand, and is especially deadly with a peculiar two-handed push shot that he has perfected from midcourt. It was mainly due to the sensational play of Minor and his devastating teammate-friend Don Barksdale that the Bruins won the Southern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference last year.

"Dauntless Dave" came to Westwood last August before which he was known from one corner of the country to the other, and even overseas, the name of Davage Minor was well known in basketball circles.

Minor received his early basketball training in Gary, Ind., which he calls home. From 1939-41, Minor was chosen on the All-State basketball team. In '41 he led Froebel High school to the state crown, and was highest scorer in the state. He was chosen All-State that year, not only in basketball but in track as well. Minor won the 200-meter low hurdles and the broad-jump. He also set a mark of 6:4 which still stands as the Indiana state high school record.

In 1942, Dave entered Toledo U in Ohio, where he lead the boys from the Cash Register city to second place in the National Invitational Basketball tournament held at Madison Square Garden in New York. The sports writers of N.Y. voted Minor the outstanding player to perform in the Garden that year, he was also selected Sporting News All-American. Before being inducted into the army, Minor was informed that he was the eighth highest scorer in the nation for the season of '42-43 and had been selected to play on the College All-Star Basketball team. But before he could play with the All-Stars, Minor was inducted into the army, and was sent to Clarke Field, Texas. While at Clarke Field, Davage won the heavyweight boxing championship of the base, by beating a former AAU boxing champion.

After playing basketball overseas for almost three years, where he was voted on virtually every All-Team from Italy to Norway, and winning the 200-meter hurdles in the Armed Forces games at London, Minor returned to the states in the summer of 1946 to enter UCLA.

Voted the "Athlete of the Month" for February, 1947, Minor is a junior at UCLA, majoring in physical education. Neither the world's best nor the world's poorest student, Minor plans to play professional basketball after graduation and then go into the night club business either on the Pacific Coast or in Gary, Ind.

Married and the father of a 2 month old son, Davage Jr., Minor resides on the Westwood campus in the veterans housing propect provided by the university for married veterans.

Atlanta U. Gets Highest Rating

ATLANTA — At its annual meeting, the Association of American Universities, voted to place the names of Atlanta university, Morehouse college and Spelman college on the list of approved institutions whose qualified graduates are admitted to graduate schools of the Association. This is the highest accreditation possible for an educational institution to receive in this country.

The Association of American Universities is an organization of graduate schools.

Whizz Kids Comets in Grudge Tiff

One of the most heated and bitter rivalries in local basketball history will be renewed Friday night at Echo Park gym, when the highly touted Whizz Kids and the much revered Comets square off at one another at 8 p.m.

Lead by former Marin J.C. and Camp Ross star Emerson Chapman and boasting of their two fool proof twins, Kenny and Hugho Hill, the Whizz Kids will be out to revenge the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Comets the last time the two clubs met several weeks ago. Also slated to see a lot of action for the brainy boys are Vernon "Butch" Randall, ace center and Clyde Davis, a fleet-footed guard.

Don't think that this will be any runaway however, for the Comets are talent laden themselves, with Minny Taylor, Gabe Randolph, Clayton Moore, Hal Garrison, and John Waller leading the way.

AUBREY O. PRINCE, above, managing director of the Second Annual Angel Bowl game, slated for Wrigley Field on the 28th of December, announced today that coach Mott Smith of the Texas All-Star team that will face the San Pedro Athletic Club in the game, has secured the services of "Fantastic Fred" Moore, flashy halfback who starred on last year's LeMoyne College team. Prince also said that the San Pedro Athletic Club won its 34th consecutive game Saturday afternoon and are "really pointing" for the Angel Bowl classic on the 28th.

Ritchey, Henderson, Brown Inc. Go Down Fighting As Vikings Win In Last Minute, 13-12

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Like the Vikings of old who roamed the Seven Seas, almost 1000 years ago, just when it seemed as though everything was lost and a trip to Davey Jones' Locker inevitable, the football Vikings of Santa Monica High School came fighting back in the fourth period to snatch certain defeat from the misty waters and go on to win a 13-12 victory over a stubborn San Diego High School team Saturday before 26,601 frenzied fans in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The victory gave the Santa Monica Norsemen the possession of the perpetual trophy, semblance of gridiron supremacy in the C. I. F. It was the first time since way back in '41 when head Norsemen Barney King and Tom Duncan led the lads from the banks of Wilshire boulevard to the Big Bowl, that a Santa Monica team had won the C. I. F. championship.

LEWIS SCORES WINNING TOUCHDOWN

It was halfback Bob "Bobo" Lewis, as hard a running back as you can find any place, who scored the winning TD for the Viks. With the shadows lengthening deep across the floor of the Big Bowl, and one minute and 15 seconds remaining in the game, Lewis climaxed a 38-yard Samohi drive by going across the Hiller goal line from the one-yard line. The score had been set up when San Diego halfback Ted Ritchey, who proved to be all what he was advertised to be and more, fumbled a triple reverse and guard Chuck Stiener, a bulldog on defense all day for the Vikings, recovered on the Hiller 38. With "Jarrin'" Jack Kaplan and "Bobo" Lewis running the ball, the Blue and Gold went the distance in five plays. The running try for the extra point was no good, but the damage had been done.

HILLER STAGES COMEBACK

With less than a minute left in the game, San Diego's never-say-die ball club which had been installed a two-touchdown underdog, but led the Vikings for 58 minutes of the game, put on as valiant a comeback as you would ever dream to see. Fullback Joe Brown took the kickoff after the Samohi score and raced with it all the way to the Santa Monica 38 where he was finally halled down. In two plays "Terrible" Ted Ritchey went to the Viking 17. With the ball on the 17 and less than half a minute to go, fate stepped in and called the Hillers to a halt. The game Diego boys were penalized 15 yards, which proved to be the straw that broke the camel's back. The game ended with San Diego still fighting for an opportunity to score; an opportunity which never came.

RITCHEY DRAWS FIRST BLOOD

The contest was scarcely seven minutes old when Ritchey found a gapping hole over his own right guard, eluded five or six would-be Samohi tacklers, and raced 44 yards to score standing up. The attempted try for extra point was no good, and the Hillers led, 6-0.

SMITH SCORES No. 2.

Early in the second quarter, to the Samohi 20, where the big Blue and Gold forward wall stiffened and held for downs. The second play after the Hiller drive was stopped, much-publicized Samohi QB Dick Horn, who was out-shown by the visitors' Neal Henderson all day, threw a pass intended for end Ike Jones in his left flat, but big Ernie Smith, who wins my nomination for the best player on the field, intercepted Horn's pass and rambled 25 yards to score. Samohi center Alvin Baldock crashed through the line and blocked the boys drove within the sight of Hiller try for the extra point; a point that was to prove to be the downfall for the San Diegans.

SANTA MONICA FINALLY SCORES

With Jack Kaplan, Larry Neal and "Bobo" Lewis running wild in the third period, the Samohi the land of milk and honey on several occasions, but their lack of fire inside the Hiller 20, coupled with Horn's inability to find his receivers, the chances went for naught. Just before the third period ended, the Blue and Gold got the ball on the San Diego 44, and in five plays had scored. The scoring play coming on the first play of the final period when Horn pitched a perfect strike to end Lynn Walton 30 yards downfield. Walton crossed the goal line unmolested. The play that probably won the game for the Blue and Gold was Dick Horn's lateral to Larry Neal for the extra point. Neal raced around his own right end to score dragging two or three tacklers with him as he went.

BETTER TEAM WON

The better team truly won, looking at the statistics of the game, this is very evident. Santa Monica ran up 17 first downs to the Hillers 4, gained 108 yards to 44 by passing, and 220 yards on the ground compared to the Hillers' 121. The game was closer than it was supposed to be, the Santa Monica team being two-touchdown favorites. The play of Ernie Smith, Ted Ritchey, Neal Henderson, Joe Brown and Tom Lowerson of the Hillers was nothing short of brilliant. Equally as fine and sterling was the performance of Ike Jones, Lynn Wallace, Chuck Stiener, Larry Neal, Bobo Lewis and Jack Kaplan for the Vikings.

All in all, it was a clean, hard-fought game, one of the best seen in the Coliseum this year, in which the better team won.

Starting lineups:

San Diego	Santa Monica
Walton	Wallace
Van Doren	Leavitt
Hansen	Crum
J. Davis	Baldock
Calindo	Fitzgerald
Edwards	Trent
E. Smith	Jones
Henderson	Horn
C. Davis	Wiseman
Ritchey	Neal
Lowerson	Lewis

Score by quarters:

San Diego	6	6	0	0	12
Santa Monica	0	0	0	13	13

Scoring touchdowns: San Diego—Ritchey, E. Smith. Santa Monica—Lewis, Wallace (sub for Wiseman).

The two "kid" football teams will play during the halves of the San Pedro Athletic Club and the Texas All-Star game.

MOTLEY LEADS BROWNS TO AAC TITLE

NEW YORK—That man, Marion Motley, and his rifle armed teammate Otto Graham, combined Sunday to hand the New York Yankees a 14-3 pasting in the All American Conference Championship game held at Yankee Stadium. Of the 165 yards gained by the Browns on the ground, Motley, former U of Nevada star and last year's All Pro fullback, gained 109. The Yankees' flying twins, Buddy Young and Orbin "Spec" Sanders were held scoreless by the big Brown line. The victory marked the second time in two years that the Cleveland team has won the league championship.

WILBERFORCE DEFEATS PRAIRIE VIEW, 26-0

SAN FFRANCISCO—The mighty Green Wave of Wilberforce University of Xenia, Ohio, rolled to an impressive 26-0 victory over an outclassed Prairie View Panther Sunday afternoon in the first annual Fruit Bowl game here in Kezar Stadium.

HAMPTON HIGHLY TOUTED

ATLANTA—Hampton's basketball Pirates were being heralded throughout the south this week as the "team to beat in the CIAA," following their rout last week of a strong Morehouse team, 57-40. Hampton led at the half, 24-15.

SOUTHERN TWO TOUCHDOWNS FAVORITE

DALLAS—Southern University's Jaguars, undisputed champions of the Southwest Conference, and boasting of all conference halfback Marshal Keyes, were being rated a two touchdown favorite to defeat the Fort Valley (Georgia) Wildcats in the second annual Yam Bowl game here Christmas Day.

SANTA ANITA PARK

The Odds are 3 to 1...

In this democracy of ours the majority rules.

Californians by the overwhelming majority of 3 to 1 endorse Thoroughbred racing in the State.

This was established by an independent public opinion poll conducted by Knight and Parker for the Western Fairs Association. The survey represented a cross-section of California opinion.

Those who believe that racing is beneficial to the State advance the following reasons. It furnishes desirable recreation; it affords revenue for the State, it attracts tourists; it creates employment; it brings out-of-State money to California; it affords a new market for merchants.

These are all good reasons.

Yet the reasons advanced completely neglect the all-important contributions racing makes to agriculture.

The public is ill-informed regarding one of the principal functions of racing at Santa Anita and other California tracks. Some 99 per cent of California residents favor the fairs conducted in the State. Yet only 3.7 per cent of those interviewed realize that these fairs are supported by the revenues of Thoroughbred racing. The 76 fairs of the State are one of the most powerful stimulating influences for California agriculture, which now ranks first in the nation.

The great majority of Californians realize that such a turf club as Santa Anita cannot support its lavish stakes schedule and its racing plant worth $10,000,000 solely through its share of the pari-mutuel wagering, and that it must look to such items as gate receipts, concessions and parking fees for its margin of profit.

Racing, like the fairs it supports, enjoys the confidence of the public.

Public confidence in the sport will be increased when Californians are fully and honestly informed regarding the conduct of racing at Santa Anita and the other tracks of the State.

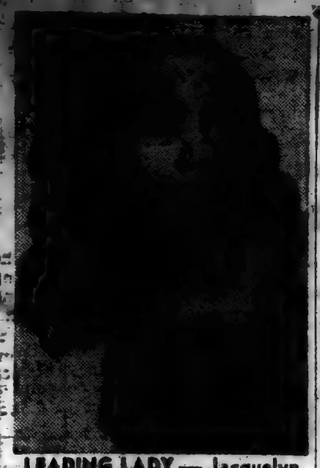
Will Select 'Miss Fine Brown Frame' On Xmas Night



NEW YORK—Beauty queens from allover the nation will compete for the coveted crown of "Miss Fine Brown Frame of America" in the national finals of bandleader Buddy Johnson's second annual contest to determine the girl with the finest brown frame in all America, which will be held Christmas Night, Thursday, December 25, at the Elates Ballroom, 711 South Broad street, Philadelphia.

In addition to the national acclaim that goes with the title of "Miss Fine Brown Frame of America," the winning contestant, as chosen by a panel of qualified judges, will receive a cash award, a silver loving cup and a theatre engagemtnt with Buddy Johnson and his orchestra. There will be special consolation prizes to the second place winner and third place winner.

Maestro Johnson has been conducting "Fine Brown Frame" contest in various localities throughout the country all year long, and winners of these sectional preliminaries will be among the many beauties competing in the national finals at the Elates Ballroom in Philadelphia. All girls between the ages of 16 and 30 are eligible to compete for the crown of "Miss Fine Brown Frame Of America."

Contestants in the "Fine Brown Frame" finals will be judged on the basis of three specifications: beauty, talent and personality, Johnson announced. In the event that a contestant can sing or dance, she will be given an opportunity to perform for the benefit of the many agents, night club operators and talent scouts who will be on hand with an eye toward seeking new entertainment possibilities.

Buddy Johnson and his versatile orchestra will play for the entire evenings dance at the "Fine Brown Frame" Pageant, which is being presented by the Philadelphia Veterans of World War II.

LEADING LADY—Jacquelyn Levy of Bronx, N.Y. is the leading lady with the American Negro Repertory Players which is currently touring the South.

Lena Horne is a beautiful MGM film star.

Record Firms Beckon Jacquet

NEW YORK—Illinois Jacquet, the exciting "Dynamo of the Saxophone," is being deluged with offers from leading recording firms following revelation of the fact that his contract with Aladdin Records expired recently.

Jam Sessions Finding Favor At Ringside

Alton Redd, local well known musician, in charge of the newly formed jam sessions at the beautiful Ringside Club, announced last week that the regulars, Bumps Myers and Marshall Royal, will be augmented by the finest talent in the music world.

Since the innovation on Monday nights the jam sessions have been steadily increasing patronage at tthe club. The sessions are held every Monday night and begin at 9 p.m.

The next musical spasm goes on with Bumps Myers, Marshall Royal, Teddy Edwards, the famous bass player, Red Callender and many others.

Watch this paper for the grand announcement regarding the Ringside's New Year's eve party.

Marvin Johnson and his Blue Rhythm Boys are in their third terrific week, with Madeline Green doing the vocals and those kingsmen of the blues and boogie, George Vann and Sylvester Scott, still pleasing the customers.

★AMUSEMENTS★

JOHNNY OTIS, personable young bandleader, will follow Count Basie into Meadowbrook Gardens after the holiday season. Otis has one of the largest orchestras on the West Coast.

Annie Laurie Scores On Air

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The weekly Sunday evening radio broadcast over WJMR of Paul Gayten's trio featuring the tall, tan and terrific rebop thrush, Annie Laurie, over the Supreme Broadcasting System's network is receiving terrific response.

The program, one of the most popular on local station, features Gayten at the ivory keys supported by George Pryor on the bull fiddle; Jack Scott, guitarist and "Sweet Peas" Green, drums. Both Paul Gayten and Annie Laurie, outstanding Deluxe Recording stars, handle the vocalization.

Gayten and Laurie are currently appearing at New Orleans' Club Robin Hood.

TRUMPET KING—Louis Armstrong, as the year draws to a close, is still the best of the crop with his instrument. Picture work and important engagements keynoted 1947 for him.

Benny Goodman Heads Holiday Jazz Concerts

Clarinet virtuoso Benny Goodman stars in disc jockey Gene Norman's special holiday concerts Dec. 26-27. On Friday evening, Goodman, with a stellar sextet including Red Norvo, Mel Powell, Red Callender and Lee Young, performs in the Long Beach auditorium. Sparking the lineup will be Hollywood's charming vocal rage, Kay Starr. Boogie-woogie pianist Pete Johnson and a host of other famous musicians also are scheduled.

On the following Saturday night, Dec. 27, the above personnel takes over the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles. In order to accommodate music lovers in different areas, Norman switched from his Pasadena spot to the Long Beach and Shrine locations for these Yuletide festivities.

These events mark two of the rare public performances by the eminent Benny Goodman in Southern California.

OTIS BAND FOLLOWS

The sensational band of Johnny Otis will follow Basie in the Washington Blvd. spot, and it is predicted that Johnny will draw as large an enthusiastic following her as he has consistently throughout the country during his eight months theatre tour with the famous Ink Spots.

Roy Milton and his orchestra are slated to appear at the Auditorium in Oakland on Christmas night, Dec. 25.

RADIO BRIEFS

"DADDY" COMES THROUGH

Cast members and production crew members of Columbia's "Baby Snooks Show" are tossing roses at Hanley "Daddy Higgins" Stafford for his Rose Bowl gag and parade suggestion. Stars Fanny Brice and the gang rehearse their "Baby Snooks Show" on New Year's Day and were a bit glum about having to miss the big game—that is until Hanley came through with the invitation to hold the rehearsal at his house where they can witness the game on his new television set.

BUSY WITH PRELIMINARIES

Alan Young, featured comedian on the CBS "Tony Martin Show," is spending his time away from Columbia network studios currently in wardrobe fittings and preliminary camera work for his role in 20th-Century-Fox's "Sweet Sue," which stars June Haver.

AT LINCOLN—Gerald Lee Hutton is the rising young baritone with the "Wings Over Jordan" choral ensemble now appearing on the stage of the Lincoln theatre.

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

SHORT TAKES—The gal who won the 1947 Esquire award as the most promising new female singer of the year, SARAH VAUGHAN, is living up to advance predictions. She is leading in popularity polls new being conducted by "Metronome" and "Down Beat," trade journals. Miss Vaughan is currently at the Onyx Club on New York's 52nd street . . . When ELLABELLE DAVIS, soprano, is heard in concert Jan. 13 at Carnegie Hall, one of the highlights will be the first presentation in this country of a major excerpt from Henry Purcell's "Harmonica Sacra" . . . BILLY ECKSTINE winds up a week at the Club Astoria in Baltimore today (Thursday) and will head directly for Hollywood after completing a series of recording sessions . . . COUNT BASIE has revived the number "Blue and Sentimental," made famous by the late and great HERSCHEL EVANS. RCA victor will release it Saturday with PAUL GONSOLVES playing the tenor sax part which Evans set the nation on fire with. BOB BAILEY does the vocal . . . By the way, the original record, which was on the Decca Label, is a rare collector's item and sells for as much as $25 a copy . . . There will be a special preview performance of "Deep Are the Roots' presented by the National Negro Congress and American Jewish Labor Council, Wednesday, January 14, at the Belasco theatre. The play opens officially on the stage of that theatre a day later. We think this preview worthy of your attendance because the proceeds go to two splendid organizations . . . Forgot to mention last week that DUCHESS LeMONTE is the pretty vocalist with the band of Johny Crawford. She hails from Brooklyn, once sang at Smalls Pardise, and came here to join Johnny's band after playing an engagement at the Brown Peacock in Houston, Texas. By the by in the band line-up Eddie Myers on piano, Leroy Moses, bass, Goo Goo Hutchinson, trumpet, Robert Cyphax, drums, and of course Johnny on the tenor sax . . . "Chapavev," an outstanding Soviet film, will be presented by the American Youth for Democracy Friday at 8 p.m. at the Echo Park Women's Club, 1004 Echo Park avenue . . . Seen out night clubbing the other P. M. were PERTHERINE RICHARDSON, LAURETTE JONES, FRED JONES, VIOLA WALTERS and JOHNNY GIBBS . . . It's said that AL HOOSMAN, west coast heavyweight, who couldnt find work here but is rated highly in the east, is to be sponsored by Count Basie in a climb towards a match with JOE LOUIS . . . SAVANNAH CHURCHILL will have her big "day' Saturday when she is presented the Cash Box magazine award for the best race record of the year at the Golden Gate Club of N. Y. during the weekly Mutual Broadcasting feature "Hospitality Club" . . . A syndicated column from Hollywood describes the solo voice of RUTH BLACK, who is heard with the St. Paul Church Choir of L. A., as exciting on Capitol's "Yield Not to Temptation" . . . ERSKINE HAWKINS and band currently at the Savoy Ballroom in N. Y. . . . Since this writer refuses to call JOHNNY MOORE'S Blazers the "Three Blazers" because we know there are now four we'll just refer to them as Johnny Moore's Blazers until the boys count themselves and find a new name. Anyway the Blazers are now getting set for a four-night stand at Chi's Savoy Ballroom. They open Xmas night at the record guarantee of $8500 against 60% of the gate receipts . . . Pretty fine people is BENJAMIN F. ADAMS of the "Wings Over Jordan" choir. He wants to stage a concert for underprivileged children featuring the choir, which is currently attracting large crowds to the Lincoln Theatre. We hope that it is put over and will tell you more about it next issue . . . The choir climaxes its series of concerts at the Lincoln with a spectacular Christmas Eve spiritual dramatization of the birth of the Savior Wednesday . . . Get your theatrical news in early because the Xmas issue of this paper will be on the streets Wednesday. Deadline is Monday at 4 p. m.

THE LAST WORD, cafe that is, is really becoming the last word in entertainment. Currently holding forth in the top spot of the show is the dreamy-eyed EFFIE SMITH, who sets the place on fire with her blues singing. Coming up with a Fourth of July explosion of blues on Xmas eve and New Year's eve nights will be the one and only T-BONE WALKER, king of the blues, with his singing electric guitar. T-Bone has been signed again by the cafe because of his tremendous box-office appeal which he more than demonstrated in two previous engagements. The "Bone" will head a show opening Xmas eve night and continue on into the New Year. Don't miss him.

Weekend Policy Popular at Meadowbrook

Meadowbrook Ballroom's new policy of staying open Friday, Saturday nights only is proving successfully that most dine-and-dancers prefer to "do the town" on the weekends. This policy will be generally adhered to with the exception of special holiday parties, the first of which gala event will be held New Year's Eve.

Christmas week will mark the close of the engagement of the Count Basie band. So popular is the Basie aggregation with visitors at the Culver City ballroom, that the Count's jivin' crew is held over for an extra week.

YOUNG ACTRESS HONORED

The Southern California chapter of Phi Beta Sorority has chosen Elizabeth Taylor for honorary membership.

The group, which is comprised of outstanding students in the dramatic and musical fields, lists among other honorary members, Mary Pickford, Lily Pons, Judith Anderson, Ethel Barrymore and Helen Hayes.

THE DISC

By I. Spinum

NEW YORK—For two opponents in an "I-Can-Blow-Better-Than-You" feud, the nation's two tenor saxophone sensations, Arnett Cobb and Illinois Jacquet, present a surprisingly lengthy list of similarities.

Both Cobb and Jacquet come from Houston, Texas; both have recorded for Apollo Records and are two of the top sellers of all artists for that diskery; Jacquet's "Robbins Nest" for Apollo vies against Arnett Cobb's "Still Flyin" on the same label in the same record stores; and each of the young jazzmen was once a featured star in the Lionel Hampton band.

Today, both Arnett Cobb and Illinois Jacquet have fulfilled lifelong ambitions and head their own jazz combos, booked several seasons ahead in the leading theatres and nightclubs of the country. Regardless of the professional competition between them, and contrary to general belief, Cobb and Jacquet remain the best of friends socially.

Arnett Cobb is being released this month on the new two-part Apollo jazz disking of "When I Grow Too Old to Dream."

Johnny Moore's Three Blazers, who are riding high in the nation's jukeboxes with two hit records, "Changeable Woman" and "Merry Christmas, Baby," on the Exclusive label, have come up with a new platter, which marks the recording debut of guitarist Oscar Moore as a member of the Blazers.

The new Exclusive disc by the Blazers couples "Money's Getting Cheaper" and "It's Over," both sides featuring the guitar plucking of the brothers Oscar and Johnny Moore and the inimitable vocalising of pianist Charles Brown.

NEW YORK—Buddy Johnson, the young man with the "Magic Touch" at the piano keyboard, will be out with a new Decca record on Jan. 5, coupling two of Buddy's own compositions, "You Can't Tell Who's Lovin' Who" and "Serves Me Right," the former featuring the blues singing of Ella Johnson and the latter the crooning of Arthur Prysock. Both songs are published by Buddy's newly formed music firm, Sophisticate Music.

ROMANCE-DRAMA—Pictured above are Gig Young, Ida Lupino and Errol Flynn who star in Warner Bros. exciting production, "ESCAPE ME NEVER," now playing at Warners Hollywood, Downtown and Wiltern theatres. The film also stars Eleanor Parker in a love story which is based on Margaret Kennedy's celebrated novel and play. Peter Godfrey directed the picture for producer Henry Blanke.

Gertrude Gipson's CANDID COMMENTS

MY PUBLIC—

This week we are bringing you none other than the lar and well-liked master of ceremonies, the incom- ble LEONARD REED. We know you'll like him.

—GERTRUDE GIPSON

LADIES and GENTLEMEN . . . Now isn't that a al M. C. introduction? But doing a guest column is ly out of my line. As a matter of fact being an M. C. o out of my line since I'm in the cleaning and pressing ess with my friend Teddy Rhodes, golf protege of Louis (still champ that is). Ted incidentally finished d Monday at Montebello in the Pro-Amateur meet a neat 72 under par. He will play in the $2000 Open ng Friday. It will be 72 hole medal play. Good luck, we would like to see you win this one.

If you think Joe Louis had a tough fight last week hould have seen me trying to fight my way through Xmas crowd downtown. You see each year about this I must do my Xmas window shopping.

Talked to Dottie Seaman the other night and learned she and Carita Harbert were going to Las Vegas to and dance. I believe that has something to do with business of which I haven't been a part of lately . . . you remember when you could go to a night spot and real fine show with plenty of girls, good acts and e band? I wonder if that will ever happen again? Gee, sh it would so I could do their cleaning business g).

n sure happy that G. G. let me write this column so n mention cleaning and pressing whenever I wish. on me the phone is ringing . . . Hello, Champion ners, who? Ted Rhodes, the boss, oh, he's out, can I you? This is Leonard, sure we pick up and deliver. is this, Merie Bryant? I thought you were in Las s being a sensation as usual. Oh, you're back and had a wonderful engagement? That's great, well ks for calling and I'll pick up those things right away. l bye.

Now I'm back with you again. Little Miss Cornshucks he Basket Room Sunday morning moved the whole when she sang "So-Long." She left Monday fo rthe she has the cuttiest expressions I have ever seen. I love her, I hope she returns to the West Coast real Believe me when I tell you, Jackie (Brooklyn gers) Robinson hits a pretty good golf ball. He's al- in the low 80' and on me the other day he was par . . . 7 ptat Western ave.

While I'm on golf I think it should be known that a g sepian man, 24 years old, name Eural Clark, last won the S. O. championship, the first time any ed person has done that. And won from such great e players as Smillie Quick, Johnnie Dawson and a t field of others. So let's cheer for the first time Eural k, Southern California champion . . . Something I d like to see is more girls taking up that sport. ell, but why mention it. I suppose it's too much walk- But it's good for the figure or does that interest you it does me. Just food for thought that's all.

Dusty Brooks is soon to open the Cricket Club. I d like to see Bill Day with that show. I think it would eat, think it over Dusty . . . That Bill can really sing. Bill Watkins if you don't believe me. He sang Watkins f ten weeks rent and take it from me that's singing u know Watkins . . . There's a hotel that should be ed the Theatrical House or the House of Personalities the Joe Louis, Ray Robinson, the Nat Coles, the Louis ans and everybody great, with a great guy like Bill kins . . . and the Mills Bros. are just checking in.

I wish so many people would stop asking me about Joe Louis-Joe Walcot fight. You know what I'm going ay, the judges weren't blind and Joe Louis is still mp and if they fight again in June or in January he still be champ and that I will bet, so that's that . . . ere is any doubt as to who won, go see the picture, I

Nelson Creswell is still the perfect host at his Cresbar re the East meets the West and everything happens. 's where I found my girl. She was clinging to the bar a second mortgage and had more curves than a moun- road and was on a 90 proof diet. Boy was she sharp. n you would stand by her it was like standing by an fireplace.

Madolyn Green at the ringside singing, "You Go to Head" did just that to me the other night. If you n't heard her, don't miss going and besides Miss Green will also hear a newcomer, a young fellow named Paul ks, and he can really sing.

Have you seen Audrey, "The Body Beautiful" at the heri-la yet? You know she's really doing a very fine e and of course she's the attraction there . . . Bardu is handling the M. C. spot an doing it well, Billie chell is as funny as always. "Race Horse," doing his e from the Kentucky Derby, had every one in es . . . My favorite spot in the show of course would he chorus girls led by cute, little Peter Rabit.

I understand the Hefflins are opening the Club Ala- for the holidays. That's a good gag, wish I had ght of it. I could have used the script.

Sorry to hear of Sam Taylor's illness. He's in the hwest Hospital. Let's drop him a get well quick card. Bobbie Chafteen, the figure beautiful, is up and around n. That makes us happy. Boy, what a . . . never mind, ave it . . . Fashion in furs is the next affair to be held he Last Word, so I understand. That should be nice.

I am also told that Essie Gipson and Zeke Pettiford to repeat I do's around Santa Claus time. That's a nice ent for both . . . "Deep are the Roots" will feature mie Williams as Bret with Jessie Grayson as the house- per when it opens at the Belasco Theatre. As stage ager you will find Don Wheeldin and I know some- who has a crush on you, Don, and if you will contact I'll give you the low down . . . Now to tell the truth tired trying to find the keys on this pecking machine besides I should have never tried to write a column. see I said it before, you had a chance to and I'm glad ore I really stop, let me put you on the beam, if you're up on the new look and you don't give a chitterling or dinner just to make it sound nice, you are a square the best night is Saturday, the more the merrier.

Well it's pressing time and I must clean up. I'll be sing you . . . So long, I was once in show business . . . ONARD REED.

ARRIVING WITH SANTA at the Last Word Cafe Christmas eve will be T-Bone Walker, ace blues singer, who will top an all-star show. Call Oklen Levy, AD. 9846, for reservations for the opening also for New Year's eve. Currently at the club is Effie Smith, queen of the blues; Hattie Noel, comedienne; Emily Foster, song and dance emcee; "Wildcat" Chatman, comedy and song; Addie Williams, vocalist, and Gene Phillips recording band.

LAST MINUTE TIPS!! . . .

Maxine Sullivan is such a soothing radio artist that methinks WNEW will scarcely let her go for some time to come. Which is what should happen when one helps build a new idea into an audience captivator!! Ellington Concerts will roll forth soon! Tondelayo, looking but GREAT in that cab on 8th Ave., t'other day! The Atlanta-Moorehouse-Spellman Choirs will be a Sunday feature of CBS for the next few months!! Their first performance was really enjoyable and not overcluttered with talk of worn-out Spirituals!!

Roger Furman, Scenic Designer, will probably walk off with the setting arrangement he's done for ANT's current production of "Rain," the sketches are very good! Olga James, beautiful voiced petite bundle of talent, is studying at Juillard currently!! Anne Campbell is considering an offer from N. Y. U. for an instructorship!! Some items that appeared as "firsts" in this column, will be nationally confirmed shortly, so watch for it, I'm still proud of my record for knowing whereof I speak!!

Dean Dixon's Concert Series are Sat. afternoons at the Brooklyn Aca. of Music!! Lawrence Winters' Nov. Concert was nice. I liked the Villa-Lobos "Xango," a thing that got raves in So. Amer. recently! Louis Jordan, French star, first mentioned in Negro press via this column, will be in Joan Fontaine's film, "Letters From An Unknown Woman." Nellie Lutcher will do a couple of short engagements after her Cleveland theatre date! Gertz Dept. Store in Long Island, first there to use sepia models in Fashion Show recently! Jamaica's RKO theatre audience liked Lillette's piano playing vry much and want the fast paced comedy team back!

DECEMBER PRELUDE!! . . .

Fred Robbins handling one night concert stands like a vet! B'way "know-alls" laughing at reports of protests to televised Inter-Racial performances of Walter Nicks & Julie Robinson, saying such program producers are interested SOLELY in bang-up talent finds! Am trying to fill that space on the Godfrey Talent Scouts broadcast, Miss Mann, will submit a "find" soon! "Meet Miss Jones" due to hit, and James P. Johnson's music is fine! Flournoy Miller did the book! Congrats to ole schoolmate Marion Atkins and brand new Hubby! Eddie Whitfield.

ill for a while. Jon Rainbow being handled by a B'way Booking agency! The Edwards Sisters adding terrific stuff to their record collection! Wm. Greaves in the "Joe Louis Film" plays a Juvenile Delinquent. Film will be pre-viewed this week!

To one and all, so-long from this space and happy holidays.

Ella Fitzgerald Will Invade West Coast February 18th

Ella Fitzgerald, the tear voiced Tisket-Tasket girl comes West for her first singing engagement as a star in February when she will headline at Billy Berg's Supper Club. The first lady of song opens her engagement February 18 and continues for four weeks until March 16.

This will not be the first visit made to these parts by the New York songbird. She played an engagement on the movie lots in 1939 and has been thrilling the California music lovers on other occasions appearing as featured vocalist with the late Chick Webb band.

This return visit of Miss Fitzgerald will be a real treat for her California fans for since her last visit she has blossomed into the unquestioned position of topmost singer of popular songs on the American scene today. As a star in her own right she has an enthusiastic welcome awaiting her.

Wins Audition To Appear At Carnegie Hall

ORANGEBURG, S. C.—Eileen Jackson Southern, concert pianist, has been invited to play in Carnegie Hall in New York City as a result of her winning in the South Carolina Division of the Nationwide Auditions of the Associated Concert Bureau, Inc., of New York. These auditions are being held to select the Musical Champions of America, and Mrs. Southern will represent the State of South Carolina in piano at Carnegie Hall. The exact date of her appearance will be announced at a later date.

Boys' Choir To Be Presented

One of the pre-holiday treats will be the appearance of 28 members of the Tucson Boys' Choir at the Wilshire Ebell Saturday evening, December 20, and Sunday afternoon, December 21. The concerts are being sponsored by the Music Foundation of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, Robert P. Hastings, president.

Finishes Stand At DeeCee Club

WASHINGTON—Lil Green, the queen of the bues singers, returned to the site of some of her first successful engagements this week when she once again invaded the Capitol City for a brief one-week stand at the Club Bongasi here. She completed her stay Thursday night.

'Deep Are The Roots' Due In L.A. Jan. 15th

"Deep Are the Roots," described by New York critics as the most provocative play on race relations ever produced in America, will be staged by film director John Berry, who recently completed directing chores on "Casbah" and who has directed such outstanding movie hits as "Miss Susie Slagle's," "From That Day Forward" and "Cross My Heart," as well as such stage presentations as "Cry Havoc" and "Native Son" on Broadway.

The play has been set for a West Coast premiere on January 15 by producer Ray Spencer at the Belasco theatre and it will boast a cast of distinguished professional actors.

Clark Gable once gave up a $12 a day job as a tool dresser to join a stock company at $10 a week.

Arena Players To Present New Play 'On Stage'

Arena Productions, East Los Angeles Junior college drama department, will present the Benjamin M. Kayes hit "On Stage' as the second selection of the fall season, during the first two weeks of January.

"On Stage" will be presented by means of central staging, following the success of "Dear Ruth," the first play produced by the Arena Players in this fashion. The cast, as yet unannounced, is again under the direction of J. R. Bietry, East Los Angeles Junior college drama coach.

'Wings Over Jordan' Now on Lincoln Stage

The current program at the Lincoln Theatre offers thrilling entertainment on both stage and screen: "Wings Over Jordan," world famous Negro choir, is holding forth at every performance. Still under the skilled guidance of the Rev. Glynn T. Settle, this splendid musical aggregation is better than ever this season—if that were possible.

GILBERT ALLEN
CONDUCTOR
WINGS OVER JORDAN CHOIR

The famous screen expose of the K.K.K., "The Burning Cross," is the film program. Tense with dramatic action, this is one of the most absorbing and exciting pictures of the year. Seldom has a picture dealt so frankly with an issue of national importance as does "The Burning Cross," which courageously exposes the Ku Klux Klan.

THEATRE NOTES

Roddy McDowall, associate producer and star of Monogram's "Rocky," winds up 1947 with a total of 73 personal appearances which he has made during the last twelve months.

Eddie Albert has been set to invade the ranks of the singing cowboys in his current starrer, "The Tenderfoot." Albert will warble two numbers in the King Bros' Allied Artists film—"Old Dan Tucker" and "Green Grow the Lilacs."

Producer Jack Wrather leaves Hollywood shortly after the first of the year for New York City, to scout locations for "Follow Me Quietly," his first production for Allied Artists release.

Rod Cameron, star of "Panhandle," a Champion production for Monogram, never invites his friends to previews of his films.

Producer-director Roy Del Ruth has announced that Mrs. Lou Gehrig, wife of the late great New York Yankee first-baseman, has been signed to make her screen acting debut in "The Babe Ruth Story."

For the first time since 1910, California trappers will be able to take advantage of an open season on golden beaver.

Gladys Cooper treasures a note sent backstage to her at the London playhouse when she was portraying "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." It read, "You are even better than Mrs. Pat Campbell!" and it was signed by the late King George.

Her role in M-G-M's "B.F.'s Daughter" completed, Barbara Stanwyck is heading for Palm Springs. The actress, who has been suffering with a cold since the day she began work in the film, says she will pass twelve hours in the sun each day—provided the sun shines that long.

Of all the Hollywood stars and executives who are in the poultry-raising business as a side line, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Jim Craig will be the least affected, Months ago, he voluntarily cut his output from 5000 turkeys in 1946 to 3000 for 1947.

"I Wanna Go Back to Michigan," Irving Berlin's popular song hit of 1915, was the first number recorded for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Easter Parade" with Fred Astaire, Judy Garland, Peter Lawford and Ann Miller. Charles Walters directs the Technicolor musical, with Arthur Freed producing and Berlin associated with him.

Santa Monica Notes

By LOWELL EVANS

According to the latest census reports, the Santa Monica-Venice area now has a population of 173,500, a large increase over the previous census figures.

As a citizen of this area I am chiefly concerned about the economic security of the Negro people here, and accordingly have made a partial survey of the city jobs held by Negroes. The Santa Monica municipally-owned bus company does not have a single Negro operator on its payrolls, the city schools do not have a Negro teacher, the police department has employed only two Negro policemen and they are seldom seen.

Now could it be that our leaders in this area are asleep at the switch? I cannot conceive the idea that they have not raised the question of employment of Negroes at a time when this nation is trying to sell its particular type of democracy abroad. This is the opportune time for us to raise the question, Why Not Make it Work at Home?

Not only our leaders, but every minority group citizen has the right and the duty to raise that question. And to implement it, too, now that election time is approaching, by registering to vote in '48. Your ballot means jobs, justice and many other important recognitions. The time is here for all of us to awaken to our sense of civic duty and to realize the importance of the ballot in our fight for fair employment and decency.

Rev. Lorenzo D. Revoal, pastor of the First Baptist church of Venice, this week praised the action of Clifton's Cafeteria in rejecting the protests of a white customer who asserted that Clifton was "losing white trade" by its policy of non-discrimination. Rev. Revoal read to his congregation an exchange of correspondence between himself and Edmond J. Clinton, president of Clifton's Cafeterias.

VENICE—The Sunday school of the First Baptist church, Venice, is making plans to celebrate the birthday of the Christ Child. A youth committee, with George Pryce as chairman, is collecting food packages for needy families in the community, with the Intermediates of the B. T. U., under the leadership of Mrs. Ola Kirby, engaged in a similar project.

Tuesday, December 23 at 7:45 p.m. the young people will sponsor a Christmas vesper service, and Old Santa plans a party for all Sunday school pupils that same evening.

The public is invited, especially are the parents and friends of the children expected to attend.

ILL — Walter L. Gordon Sr., prominent local real estate broker, and the father of attorney W. L. Gordon Jr., was suddenly stricken this week with a slight paralytic stroke and taken to the Good Samaritan hospital where he is reported mending rapidly. Mrs. Bertna Gordon, wife of Mr. Gordon, is managing the business until his return.

tempted to burn the house by hurling ignited rubbish on the roof after they had quarrelled.

She succeeded in putting out the blaze before any appreciable damage occurred, she said.

Avery was picked up several hours later at the Victor Hotel, San Pedro, by Detectives A. J. Johnson and V. V. Little. He denied taking any part in the tragedy.

The fire was discovered by 8 year old Claude Davis Jr., whose father's house at 10351 S. Hickory st. is directly in front of the Dudley home.

Clyde said he was awakened by crackling and burning timbers, and immediately aroused his father, who called firemen.

Neighbors said the blaze, aided by a high wind, raced so swiftly through the frame house there was no chance for any of the four victims to escape from their front-room sleeping quarters.

Nearly 100,000 California veterans of World War II have filed preliminary applications with the State Department of Veterans Affairs to establish eligibility under the California farm and home purchase plan.

Traffic Signals Installed at 51st and Avalon

The compaints of East Side citizens on traffic hazards at 51st and Avalon blvd. bore fruit this week with the installation of traffic signals at that busy intersection.

Councilman Kenneth Hahn led the fight for this improvement, pointing out that many children cross the street at that point to play in South Park, and that the Zion Hill Baptist church is located at 51st and Avalon and much traffic is routed along that street.

Just a holiday without end. Many thought "anything for a change."

Because I never had a holiday our poor little children have never had a Christmas tree. Well now one say, I had my holiday but I didn't enjoy it.

Out here in our hospital we have juvenile boys and girls that may have living fathers and mothers but do they know just where they are? Some do and some don't. Now just who are going to make a Merry Christmas for them?

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

for Jay made a perfect guide and I saw every detail. Many guests were still on the scene of the affair towards the end. Had an interesting bit of chatter exchange with Atty. Grubbs and the Mrs., concerning their riding club, La Carmon, that will not be meeting till after Xmas. Mitchell Miles was there, by the way, the Miles family donated a refrigerator-stove combination to the center that is simply the last word. Mrs. Theadore Lumpkin, diligent worker of the church was in evidence. Passed compliments to Artesia Jordon and her husband, who is Rev. of the church; glimpsed the library of the center that was the incentive for the Poinsettia Tea, and believe me, had a perfectly grand afternoon . . .

In passing . . . the Gamma Xi formal Friday night at UCLA was strictly formal in every sense of the word. The debs attending were looking most glamorous and their escorts had donned the "bib and tucker" for the evening. Glimpsed Janice Brooks and her brother, who is quite the young man now, enjoying a dance or two. Grace Davis, Gloria Crouch and Ysable Gray wore the new short length evening gowns, while Fay Hopkins was quite stunning in an off shoulder blue gown. Paul Weaver's date was Betty Hall, and believe me, they do make a cute couple. Edgar Bishop and Althea Warren were dating again. Edwin Sneed and Margaret Potter danced the whole of the evening together, as did Joe Oliver and Evelyn. The co-ed group was much in evidence. The new Alpha undergraduate chapter is well on its way with the success of a perfect formal evening to its credit. By the way, the Alphas held election of officers Sunday. The new president will be announced later . . .

The coming weekend offers much to do . . . Friday night, the popular Double Four social club is turning its installation of officers ceremony into a holiday party. Althea Polk is prexy of the girls and Eddye Neal, Corrs. Secty. The new leaders will take the oath around 9 p.m. . . . On the same evening, the Doll Leaguers will exchange gifts and fill stockings for the Kiddie party. Irene Wright's home will be the scene of the festivity, and egg-nog will top the menu . . .

After a brief chat with Charlie Nesbit and listening to different comments on what's happening over the weekend, the Conservative Dukes Semi-Formal will steal the spotlight. The Dukes are noted for their gay affairs, and this one promises to be outstanding plus. Officers of the club are: Elmer Leon Jones, pres.; Kenneth O. Jefferson, vice; Sterling W. Henderson, secty., Louis Tenette Jr., treas.; Earl Straughter, corres. secty.; Joe Dural, bus. mgr.; Charlie Nesbit, sgt.-at-arms. Harold Arnold, Robert Henderson, Johnnie Ballinger, Bob Johnson, Tommy Palmer, Cyril Thompson and Claude Zeely make up the membership . . . More than 500 guests are expected at Les Charmantes formal New Year's night.

MISCELLANY

Following the Brice concert a week or so back, enjoyed an after-performance dinner, at one of the fashionable Western avenue dining rooms. The food was good, music tops and the various guests very interesting. Edith Bailey and family were enjoying the evening out. Little Judy included. Josephine Cooper, with a table of friends enjoyed singing along with the entertainers. Vivian Wilson, off the sick list now, seemed to be finding much to talk about. The David Williams, Ouida and the two little cherubs were also dining out that evening, as were Georgia Hardimon and the doctor . . . In mentioning Carol Brice concert, brings to mind the Grad chapter of AKA is meeting with outgoing president Martha Malone Jefferson Friday night. She will play hostess to a party following the meeting. Loucille Bonnett is prexy elect . . . After a shopping spree in Paris, fun aplenty in London, Dorothy Nicholas and Jerry perrye scribe from Switzerland, where they are learning winter sports and doing swell at it. The expected return to L.A. before Xmas may be impossible, however they are trying hard to make it. The beautiful Hotel Richmond in Geneva has been their residence now for several weeks. Dorothy writes hellos to all her friends here, sorry she couldn't send cards, but due to some ill wind, she left her address book in the U.S.A. . . . Lt. Paul Lehman will arrive Saturday night to spend the holidays with the family. He's taking pilot training at Randolph Field, Texas . . . Atty. Walt Gordon is back in L.A. after spending a few days up in Frisco. By the way, Walt Gordon Sr., is on the speedy road to recovery. Mrs. Gordon has been exercising her business talents since his illness . . . Lt. and Mrs. Leslie King will spend Christmas in Oakland. The newlywed Walt Lovings will not be back from their Mexican honeymoon until after the holidays . . . Vade Maman, the French notable visiting Sunny Cal, as guest of the French councilor, has been spending leisure hours discussing the Southland with Althea Warren in his native tongue. Althea, a French major, is doing great with the conversing . . . Zarish Eberhardt's friends are pulling for her to get well, especially before Xmas . . . Missed out on Johnnie Brewer's radio program Monday afternoon . . . The new arrival at Bertram and Joan Willis' home is little Bertram Stevens . . . Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Galloway, (Dolly) plan to have their little daughter christened Sunday morning. Leon Stewart will be godfather. A reception will follow at the church . . .

Dorothea and Nate Fearonces' home is quite the show place. Enjoyed a small party there a few days back, quite an affair. The color scheme of the newly decorated abode is burgundy and blue. By the way, the Crop 'N' Tail Xmas party will take place right there . . . Speaking of homes and newlyweds, the William Roan Farrington's will be receiving guests at their home shortly after the holidays. Surprised, well so was I, when first learned that Billy and Becky had eloped to Tijuana, Mexico. Congratulations are in order . . .

Among those present at the Y's Men's banquet last Thursday night were: Amenda Haynes, George Comfort, Roslyn Austin, the Beecher Zebbs, Esther Wallace, the Charles Williams, the Tom Jacksons, Charlies MacArthur, Mel Andrews and Carlton Flamer . . . Norma and Eddy Green plan to celebrate Xmas in a big way, now that they have a daughter to play Santa for . . . The same will be experienced by the Bal Kemps, Bessie and Clifford Wilson, and many another young family . . .

In making deadline, all "Hamptonians" are urged to get in touch with Aubry Prince. A party is in the making for Bob Mann, who will be playing with the visiting team in the Rose Bowl game . . .

Probation Officer Tells Need Of School For Retarded Kids

Mrs. Weist, deputy probation officer, told of the dire need of a non-segregated private school where children of all races can attend, especially the Negro children, at a meeting of the committee sponsoring the Retarded Children's Program, held at the Eastside Settlement House, 1219 East Adams blvd., Thursday evening, December 11. Mrs. Weist reiterated her previous statement that the department in which she is employed would fill the institution once it was started, with resident students.

Parents of the children attending the noon and before-noon classes of Mrs. Williams are pleased with the progress their children are making, it was reported. They realize, however, that if a full time day and resident school could be established with adequate facilities, a greater and more efficient service could be rendered. The committee is planning a campaign to forward this movement.

Mrs. Exie Hampton is director of East Side Settlement House.

R.W.—Dear Prof. Herman: Just a short note to thank you for the help you have been to me. The blessings you have bestowed upon me have certainly proven how good you are! Some of my friends are also writing you for help as their luck and circumstances are disheartening. Thanks again for everything.

A. E. L.—My husband left me sometime ago, and I would like to know whether he will ever return?

ANSWER—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals some of the trouble you have had in your home which seems to have caused the separation. However, your husband still cares for you and misses his home, and is seriously thinking of returning.

L. T.—Will I ever meet the boy I have been writing to?.

ANSWER—A careful analysis of your question indicates that you have been corresponding with this young man during his period in the army, and are wondering if you will get the opportunity to meet him personally. He became very fond of you through your letters, and will no doubt come to visit you just as soon as he is able.

D. B. A.—Will I ever get married?

ANSWER—Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate marraige in the not too distant future. Further information regarding this matter will be given you, if you will write in for a private reply.

M. J. M.—Will I get the job that I have applied for?

ANSWER—Concentrating upon your question I am of the opinion that you are fully qualified for this position and will be given due consideration. It would do no harm however, to contact these people again.

Miss E. S.—Does he love me enough to marry me?

ANSWER—Probing into the matter I find that you are still quite young, and should really be concentrating upon furthering your education and finishing school. This boy is fond of you as a friend, but he doesn't seem to be thinking of marriage just now.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico.—Living up to his advanced notice "War Coin" shipped down to the border course by Albert Johnson, former star jockey who won two Kentucky Derby winners, won the feature attraction last Sunday with ease. The distance was six furlongs and the good son of Trace-Call racing colors came from third place in the stretch to catch "Pere Fly" and "He Kuene" to win going away. The time was 1:12 flat. The winner paid $5.40, $7.60, $5.00.

In the secondary event, named in honor of the San Diego Rotary club, the gray ghost known as "Cadmium" came from far back to overtake the leaders and win by a neck, paying the good odds of $11.20 for two. The daily-double made its lucky backers happy when it paid $281.60. The winning combination was "Timothy K.A." and "Evenspun." The Quiniela paid $47.20 when "Likefather" finished first and "Aunt Ada" was second.

General manager Walter C. Marty announced that this week end another program of ten exciting races will be held featured by "The Xmas Handicap" at one and one-sixteenth miles. For a purse of $1500. The secondary attraction will be "The Kris Kringle" at six furlongs for a purse of $1200. This event will attract some of the best sprinters on the ground and the new sprint champ "War Coin" will probably be the favorite. The first race will be named "The Holly." The third, "The Yuletide" and the sixth, "The Mistletoe." Post time will remain at noon.

'Y' Holds Cage Tournament

During Xmas vacation the members of the Youth Division of the 28th street YMCA will play host to basketball teams from over 20 local youth-serving agencies in a two-day invitational tournament. The event marks the beginning of a series of such tournaments to be conducted each year during the holidays.

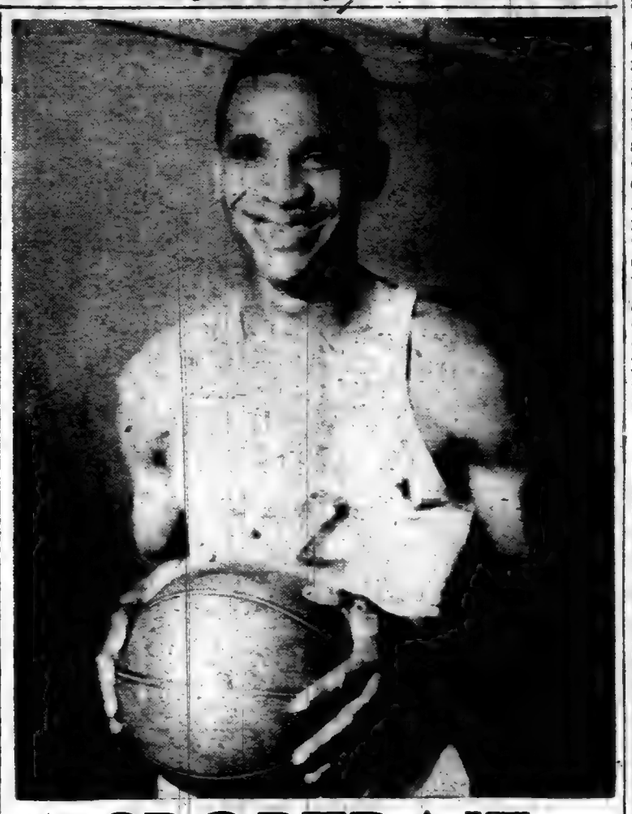
Thirty teams have been entered from such agencies as All Peoples Foundation, Avalon Community Center, Soto Michigan Center, Times Boys' Club, Redondo Beach, Hollenbeck Center, St. Odilia CYO, Henderson Community Center, Ross Snyder Playground, Central and John Adams Jr. High school playgrounds, Riverside YMCA, Long Beach YMCA and others.

Competition will be held on Tuesday, December 23 and 30 and will include boys between the ages of 12 through 17 years.

ELACC TO PLAY IN HOOP TOURNAMENT

Coach "Ching" Duhn and his Los Angeles Junior College basketballers, fresh from a victory over the Los Angeles City Coltario, Calif., during this week to lege team, will travel to Onparticipate in the Chaffey Annual Basketball Invitationals. The casaba tournament will take place over a period of four days, December 17, 18, 19, and 20.

Manual Defeats Jeff. 34-28



Manual Arts High School basketball team made it two in a row over a Jefferson High School team that fell apart in the last five minutes of play Tuesday on the Democrat hardwood, 34-28.

The game marked the second time in as many starts that the Democrats have fallen before the Toiler onslaught.

Fairly close until the last few minutes of play when Manual switched from a racehorse to a post offense, Tuesday's contest was highlighted by the 16 points of forward Williams of the Democrats.

Starting lineups:

SPORTRAIT
Introducing
DAVE MINOR OF UCLA

(First in a series intended to better acquaint the people of Los Angeles with leading local Negro athletes.—Ed.)

NAME: DAVAGE MINOR.
HEIGHT: 6:2.
WEIGHT: 175.
AGE: 25.
SPORT: BASKETBALL.
SCHOOL: UCLA.
COMMENT: "One of the great basketball players in America today."

Davage Minor is truly a basketball players' "Player." He can do anything with a ball but eat it, and sometimes to hear him talk, you'd think that he could even do that. He roams about the court like a deadly leopard seeking out his prey. He can shoot with either hand, and is especially deadly with a peculiar two-handed push shot that he has perfected from midcourt. It was mainly due to the sensational play of Minor and his devastating teammate-friend Don Barksdale that the Bruins won the Southern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference last year.

"Dauntless Dave" came to Westwood last August before which he was known from one corner of the country to the other, and even overseas, the name of Davage Minor was well known in basketball circles.

Minor received his early basketball training in Gary, Ind., which he calls home. From 1939-41, Minor was chosen on the All-State basketball team. In '41 he led Froebel High school to the state crown, and was highest scorer in the state. He was chosen All-State that year, not only in basketball but in track as well. Minor won the 200-meter low hurdles and the broad-jump. He also set a mark of 6:4 which still stands as the Indiana state high school record.

In 1942, Dave entered Toledo U in Ohio, where he lead the boys from the Cash Register city to second place in the National Invitational Basketball tournament held at Madison Square Garden in New York. The sports writers of N.Y. voted Minor the outstanding player to perform in the Garden that year, he was also selected Sporting News All-American. Before being inducted into the army, Minor was informed that he was the eighth highest scorer in the nation for the season of '42-43 and had been selected to play on the College All-Star Basketball team. But before he could play with the All-Stars, Minor was inducted into the army, and was sent to Clarke Field, Texas. While at Clarke Field, Davage won the heavyweight boxing championship of the base, by beating a former AAU boxing champion.

After playing basketball overseas for almost three years, where he was voted on virtually every All-Team from Italy to Norway, and winning the 200-meter hurdles in the Armed Forces games at London, Minor returned to the states in the summer of 1946 to enter UCLA.

Voted the "Athlete of the Month" for February, 1947, Minor is a junior at UCLA, majoring in physical education. Neither the world's best nor the world's poorest student, Minor plans to play professional basketball after graduation and then go into the night club business either on the Pacific Coast or in Gary, Ind.

Married and the father of a 2 month old son, Davage Jr., Minor resides on the Westwood campus in the veterans housing propect provided by the university for married veterans.

Atlanta U. Gets Highest Rating

ATLANTA — At its annual meeting, the Association of American Universities, voted to place the names of Atlanta university, Morehouse college and Spelman college on the list of approved institutions whose qualified graduates are admitted to graduate schools of the Association. This is the highest accreditation possible for an educational institution to receive in this country.

The Association of American Universities is an organization of graduate schols.

Edward Arnold made more than 40 silent pictures at Essanay Studios in Chicago.

Whizz Kids Comets in Grudge Tiff

One of the most heated and bitter rivalries in local basketball history will be renewed Friday night at Echo Park gym, when the highly touted Whizz Kids and the much revered Comets square off at one another at 8 p.m.

Lead by former Marin J.C. and Camp Ross star Emerson Chapman and boasting of their two fool proof twins, Kenny and Hugho Hill, the Whizz Kids will be out to revenge the defeat they suffered at the hands of the Comets the last time the two clubs met several weeks ago. Also slated to see a lot of action for the brainy boys are Vernon "Butch" Randall, ace center and Clyde Davis, a fleet-footed guard.

Don't think that this will be any runaway however, for the Comets are talent laden themselves, with Minny Taylor, Gabe Randolph, Clayton Moore, Hal Garrison, and John Waller leading the way.

AUBREY O. PRINCE, above, managing director of the Second Annual Angel Bowl game, slated for Wrigley Field on the 28th of December, announced today that coach Mott Smith of the Texas All-Star team that will face the San Pedro Athletic Club in the game, has secured the services of "Fantastic Fred" Moore, flashy halfback who starred on last year's LeMoyne College team. Prince also said that the San Pedro Athletic Club won its 34th consecutive game Saturday afternoon and are "really pointing" for the Angel Bowl classic on the 28th.

Ritchey, Henderson, Brown Inc. Go Down Fighting As Vikings Win In Last Minute, 13-12

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Like the Vikings of old who roamed the Seven Seas, almost 1000 years ago, just when it seemed as though everything was lost and a trip to Davey Jones' Locker inevitable, the football Vikings of Santa Monica High School came fighting back in the fourth period to snatch certain defeat from the misty waters and go on to win a 13-12 victory over a stubborn San Diego High School team Saturday before 26,601 frenzied fans in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The victory gave the Santa Monica Norsemen the possession of the perpetual trophy, semblance of gridiron supremacy in the C. I. F. It was the first time since way back in '41 when head Norsemen Barney King and Tom Duncan led the lads from the banks of Wilshire boulevard to the Big Bowl, that a Santa Monica team had won the C. I. F. championship.

LEWIS SCORES WINNING TOUCHDOWN

It was halfback Bob "Bobo" Lewis, as hard a running back as you can find any place, who scored the winning TD for the Viks. With the shadows lengthening deep across the floor of the Big Bowl, and one minute and 15 seconds remaining in the game, Lewis climaxed a 38-yard Samohi drive by going across the Hiller goal line from the one-yard line. The score had been set up when San Diego halfback Ted Ritchey, who proved to be all what he was advertised to be and more, fumbled a triple reverse and guard Chuck Stiener, a bulldog on defense all day for the Vikings, recovered on the Hiller 38. With "Jarrin'" Jack Kaplan and "Bobo" Lewis running the ball, the Blue and Gold went the distance in five plays. The running try for the extra point was no good, but the damage had been done.

HILLER STAGES COMEBACK

With less than a minute left in the game, San Diego's never-say-die ball club which had been installed a two-touchdown underdog, but led the Vikings for 58 minutes of the game, put on as valiant a comeback as you would ever dream to see. Fullback Joe Brown took the kickoff after the Samohi score and raced with it all the way to the Santa Monica 38 where he was finally hailed down. In two plays "Terrible" Ted Ritchey went to the Viking 17. With the ball on the 17 and less than half a minute to go, fate stepped in and called the Hillers to a halt. The game Diego boys were penalized 15 yards, which proved to be the straw that broke the camel's back. The game ended with San Diego still fighting for an opportunity to score; an opportunity which never came.

RITCHEY DRAWS FIRST BLOOD

The contest was scarcely seven minutes old when Ritchey found a gapping hole over his own right guard, eluded five or six would-be Samohi tacklers, and raced 44 yards to score standing up. The attempted try for extra point was no good, and the Hillers led, 6-0.

SMITH SCORES No. 2

Early in the second quarter, to the Samohi 20, where the big Blue and Gold forward wall stiffened and held for downs. The second play after the Hiller drive was stopped, much-publicized Samohi QB Dick Horn, who was out-shown by the visitors' Neal Henderson all day, threw a pass intended for end Ike Jones in his left flat, but big Ernie Smith, who wins my nomination for the best player on the field, intercepted Horn's pass and rambled 25 yards to score. Samohi center Alvin Baldock crashed through the line and blocked the boys drove within the sight of Hiller try for the extra point; a point that was to prove to be the downfall for the San Diegans.

SANTA MONICA FINALLY SCORES

With Jack Kaplan, Larry Neal and "Bobo" Lewis running wild in the third period, the Samohi the land of milk and honey on several occasions, but their lack of fire inside the Hiller 20, coupled with Horn's inability to find his receivers, the chances went for naught. Just before the third period ended, the Blue and Gold got the ball on the San Diego 44, and in five plays had scored. The scoring play coming on the first play of the final period when Horn pitched a perfect strike to end Lynn Walton 30 yards downfield. Walton crossed the goal line unmolested. The play that probably won the game for the Blue and Gold was Dick Horn's lateral to Larry Neal for the extra point. Neal raced around his own right end to score dragging two or three tacklers with him as he went.

BETTER TEAM WON

The better team truly won, looking at the statistics of the game, this is very evident. Santa Monica ran up 17 first downs to the Hillers 4, gained 108 yards to 44 by passing, and 220 yards on the ground compared to the Hillers' 121. The game was closer than it was supposed to be, the Santa Monica team being two-touchdown favorites. The play of Ernie Smith, Ted Ritchey, Neal Henderson, Joe Brown and Tom Lowerson of the Hillers was nothing short of brilliant. Equally as fine and sterling was the performance of Ike Jones, Lynn Wallace, Chuck Stiener, Larry Neal, Bobo Lewis and Jack Kaplan for the Vikings.

All in all, it was a clean, hard-fought game, one of the best seen in the Coliseum this year, in which the better team won.

Starting lineups:

San Diego	Santa Monica
Walton	Wallace
Van Doren	Leavitt
Hansen	Crum
J. Davis	Baldock
Calindo	Fitzgerald
Edwards	Trent
E. Smith	Jones
Henderson	Horn
C. Davis	Wiseman
Ritchey	Neal
Lowerson	Lewis

Score by quarters:

San Diego	6	6	0	0	—12
Santa Monica	0	0	0	13	—13

Scoring touchdowns: San Diego—Ritchey, E. Smith. Santa Monica—Lewis, Wallace (sub for Wiseman).

Prince, managing director for the second annual Angel Bowl game slated for Sunday, December 28th, at Wrigley Field, announced this week that through the courtesy of the Los Angeles Dons, local professional football team in the All-American Conference, that the Al Jolson Sunnyboys and the Jimmy Durante Snozzolas would take part in the game.

The two "kid" football teams will play during the halves of the San Pedro Athletic Club and the Texas All-Star game.

MOTLEY LEADS BROWNS TO AAC TITLE

NEW YORK—That man, Marion Motley, and his rifle armed teammate Otto Graham, combined Sunday to hand the New York Yankees a 14-3 pasting in the All American Conference Championship game held at Yankee Stadium. Of the 165 yards gained by the Browns on the ground, Motley, former U of Nevada star and last year's All Pro fullback, gained 109. The Yankees' flying twins, Buddy Young and Orbin "Spec" Sanders were held scoreless by the big Brown line. The victory marked the second time in two years that the Cleveland team has won the league championship.

WILBERFORCE DEFEATS PRAIRIE VIEW, 26-0

SAN FFRANCISCO—The mighty Green Wave of Wilberforce University of Xenia, Ohio, rolled to an impressive 26-0 victory over an outclassed Prairie View Panther Sunday afternoon in the first annual Fruit Bowl game here in Kezar Stadium.

HAMPTON HIGHLY TOUTED

ATLANTA—Hampton's basketball Pirates were being heralded throughout the south this week as the "team to beat in the CIAA," following their rout last week of a strong Morehouse team, 57-40. Hampton led at the half, 24-15.

SOUTHERN TWO TOUCHDOWNS FAVORITE

DALLAS—Southern University's Jaguars, undisputed champions of the Southwest Conference, and boasting of all conference halfback Marshal Keyes, were being rated a two touchdown favorite to defeat the Fort Valley (Georgia) Wildcats in the second annual Yam Bowl game here Christmas Day.

SANTA ANITA PARK

The Odds are 3 to 1...

In this democracy of ours the majority rules.

Californians by the overwhelming majority of 3 to 1 endorse Thoroughbred racing as the State.

This was established by an independent public opinion poll conducted by Knight and Parker for the Western Fairs Association. The survey represented a cross-section of California opinion.

Those who believe that racing is beneficial to the State advance the following reasons. It furnishes desirable recreation; it affords revenue for the State, it attracts tourists; it creates employment; it brings out-of-State money to California; it affords a new market for merchants.

These are all good reasons.

Yet the reasons advanced completely neglect the all-important contributions racing makes to agriculture.

The public is ill-informed regarding one of the principal functions of racing at Santa Anita and other California tracks. Some 99 per cent of California residents favor the fairs conducted in the State. Yet only 3.7 per cent of those interviewed realize that these fairs are supported by the revenues of Thoroughbred racing. The 76 fairs of the State are one of the most powerful stimulating influences for California agriculture, which now ranks first in the nation.

The great majority of Californians realize that such a turf club as Santa Anita cannot support its lavish stakes schedule and its racing plant worth $10,000,000 solely through its share of the parimutuel wagering, and that it must look to such items as gate receipts, concessions and parking fees for its margin of profit.

Racing, like the fairs it supports, enjoys the confidence of the public.

Public confidence in the sport will be increased when Californians are fully and honestly informed regarding the conduct of racing at Santa Anita and the other tracks of the State.

Will Select 'Miss Fine Brown Frame' On Xmas Night

NEW YORK—Beauty queens from allover the nation will compete for the coveted crown of "Miss Fine Brown Frame of America" in the national finals of bandleader Buddy Johnson's second annual contest to determine the girl with the finest brown frame in all America, which will be held Christmas Night, Thursday, December 25, at the Elates Ballroom, 711 South Broad street, Philadelphia.

In addition to the national acclaim that goes with the title of "Miss Fine Brown Frame of America," the winning contestant, as chosen by a panel of qualified judges, will receive a cash award, a silver loving cup and a theatre engagemtnt with Buddy Johnson and his orchestra. There will be special consolation prizes to the second place winner and third place winner.

Maestro Johnson has been conducting "Fine Brown Frame" contest in various localities throughout the country all year long, and winners of these sectional preliminaries will be among the many beauties competing in the national finals at the Elates Ballroom in Philadelphia. All girls between the ages of 16 and 30 are eligible to compete for the crown of "Miss Fine Brown Frame Of America."

Contestants in the "Fine Brown Frame" finals will be judged on the basis of three specifications: beauty, talent and personality, Johnson announced. In the event that a contestant can sing or dance, she will be given an opportunity to perform for the benefit of the many agents, night club operators and talent scouts who will be on hand with an eye toward seeking new entertainment possibilities.

Buddy Johnson and his versatile orchestra will play for the entire evenings dance at the "Fine Brown Frame" Pageant, which is being presented by the Philadelphia Veterans of World War II.

LEADING LADY — Jacquelyn Levy of Bronx, N.Y. is the leading lady with the American Negro Repertory Players which is currently touring the South.

Lena Horne is a beautiful MGM film star.

Record Firms Beckon Jacquet

NEW YORK—Illinois Jacquet, the exciting "Dynamo of the Saxophone," is being deluged with offers from leading recording firms following revelation of the fact that his contract with Aladdin Records expired recently.

Jam Sessions Finding Favor At Ringside

Alton Redd, local well known musician, in charge of the newly formed jam sessions at the beautiful Ringside Club, announced last week that the regulars, Bumps Myers and Marshall Royal, will be augmented by the finest talent in the music world.

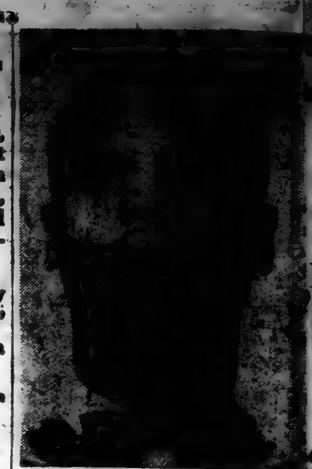
Since the innovation on Monday nights the jam sessions have been steadily increasing patronage at tthe club. The sessions are held every Monday night and begin at 9 p.m.

The next musical spasm goes on with Bumps Myers, Marshall Royal, Teddy Edwards, the famous bass player, Red Callender and many others.

Watch this paper for the grand announcement regarding the Ringside's New Year's eve party.

Marvin Johnson and his Blue Rhythm Boys are in their third terrific week, with Madeline Green doing the vocals and those kingsmen of the blues and boogie, George Vann and Sylvester Scott, still pleasing the customers.

★AMUSEMENTS★



JOHNNY OTIS, personable young bandleader, will follow Count Basie into Meadowbrook Gardens after the holiday season. Otis has one of the largest orchestras on the West Coast.

Annie Laurie Scores On Air

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The weekly Sunday evening radio broadcast over WJMR of Paul Gayten's trio featuring the tall, tan and terrific rebop thrush, Annie Laurie, over the Supreme Broadcasting System's network is receiving terrific response.

The program, one of the most popular on local station, features Gayten at the ivory keys supported by George Pryor on the bull fiddle; Jack Scott, guitarist and "Sweet Peas" Green, drums. Both Paul Gayten and Annie Laurie, outstanding Deluxe Recording stars, handle the vocalization.

Gayten and Laurie are currently appearing at New Orleans' Club Robin Hood.

AT LINCOLN — Gerald Lee Hutton is the rising young baritone with the "Wings Over Jordan" choral ensemble now appearing on the stage of the Lincoln theatre.

Benny Goodman Heads Holiday Jazz Concerts

Clarinet virtuoso Benny Goodman stars in disc jockey Gene Norman's special holiday concerts Dec. 26-27. On Friday evening, Goodman, with a stellar sextet including Red Norvo, Mel Powell, Red Callender and Lee Young, performs in the Long Beach auditorium. Sparking the lineup will be Hollywood's charming vocal rage, Kay Starr, Boogie-woogie pianist Pete Johnson and a host of other famous musicians also are scheduled.

On the following Saturday night, Dec. 27, the above personnel takes over the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles. In order to accommodate music lovers in different areas, Norman switched from his Pasadena spot to the Long Beach and Shrine locations for these Yuletide festivities.

These events mark two of the rare public performances by the eminent Benny Goodman in Southern California.

OTIS BAND FOLLOWS

The sensational band of Johnny Otis will follow Basie in the Washington Blvd. spot, and it is predicted that Johnny will draw as large an enthusiastic following her as he has consistently throughout the country during his eight months theatre tour with the famous Ink Spots.

Roy Milton and his orchestra are slated to appear at the Auditorium in Oakland on Christmas night, Dec. 25.

TRUMPET KING—Louis Armstrong, as the year draws to a close, is still the best of the crop with his instrument. Picture work and important engagements keynoted 1947 for him.

RADIO BRIEFS

"DADDY" COMES THROUGH

Cast members and production crew members of Columbia's "Baby Snooks Show" are tossing roses at Hanley "Daddy Higgins" Stafford for his Rose Bowl game and parade suggestion. Star Fanny Brice and the gang rehearse their "Baby Snooks Show" on New Year's Day and were a bit glum about having to miss the big game—that is until Hanley came through with the invitation to hold the rehearsal at his house where they can witness the game on his new television set.

BUSY WITH PRELIMINARIES

Alan Young, featured comedian on the CBS "Tony Martin Show," is spending his time away from Columbia network studios currently in wardrobe fittings and preliminary camera work for his role in 20th-Century-Fox's "Sweet Sue," which stars June Haver.

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

SHORT TAKES—The gal who won the 1947 Esquire award as the most promising new female singer of the year, SARAH VAUGHAN, is living up to advance predictions. She is leading in popularity polls new being conducted by "Metronome" and "Down Beat," trade journals. Miss Vaughan is currently at the Onyx Club on New York's 52nd street . . . When ELLABELLE DAVIS, soprano, is heard in concert Jan. 13 at Carnegie Hall, one of the highlights will be the first presentation in this country of a major excerpt from Henry Purcell's "Harmonica Sacra" . . . BILLY ECKSTINE winds up a week at the Club Astoria in Baltimore today (Thursday) and will head directly for Hollywood after completing a series of recording sessions . . . COUNT BASIE has revived the number "Blue and Sentimental," made famous by the late and great HERSCHEL EVANS. RCA victor will release it Saturday with PAUL GONSOLVES playing the tenor sax part which Evans set the nation on fire with. BOB BAILEY does the vocal . . . By the way, the original record, which was on the Decca Label, is a rare collector's item and sells for as much as $25 a copy . . . There will be a special preview performance of "Deep Are the Roots' presented by the National Negro Congress and American Jewish Labor Council, Wednesday, January 14, at the Belasco theatre. The play opens officially on the stage of that theatre a day later. We think this preview worthy of your attendance because the proceeds go to two splendid organizations . . . Forgot to mention last week that DUCHESS LaMONTE is the pretty vocalist with the band of Johny Crawford. She hails from Brooklyn, once sang at Smalls Pardise, and came here to join Johnny's band after playing an engagement at the Brown Peacock in Houston, Texas. By the by in the band line-up Eddie Myers on piano, Leroy Moses, bass, Goo Goo Hutchinson, trumpet, Robert Cyphax, drums, and of course Johnny on the tenor sax . . . "Chapavev," an outstanding Soviet film, will be presented by the American Youth for Democracy Friday at 8 p.m. at the Echo Park Women's Club, 1004 Echo Park avenue . . . Seen out night clubbing the other P. M. were PERTHERINE RICHARDSON, LAURETTE JONES, FRED JONES, VIOLA WALTERS and JOHNNY GIBBS . . . It's said that AL HOOSMAN, west coast heavyweight, who couldnt find work here but is rated highly in the east, is to be sponsored by Count Basie in a climb towards a match with JOE LOUIS . . . SAVANNAH CHURCHILL will have her big "day' Saturday when she is presented the Cash Box magazine award for the best race record of the year at the Golden Gate Club of N. Y. during the weekly Mutual Broadcasting feature "Hospitality Club" . . . A syndicated column from Hollywood describes the solo voice of RUTH BLACK, who is heard with the St. Paul Church Choir of L. A., as exciting on Capitol's "Yield Not to Temptation" . . . ERSKINE HAWKINS and band currently at the Savoy Ballroom in N. Y. . . . Since this writer refuses to call JOHNNY MOORE'S Blazers the "Three Blazers" because we know there are now four we'll just refer to them as Johnny Moore's Blazers until the boys count themselves and find a new name. Anyway the Blazers are now getting set for a four-night stand at Chi's Savoy BaHroom. They open Xmas night at the record guarantee of $8500 against 60% of the gate receipts . . . Pretty fine people is BENJAMIN F. ADAMS of the "Wings Over Jordan" choir. He wants to stage a concert for underprivileged children featuring the choir, which is currently attracting large crowds to the Lincoln Theatre. We hope that it is put over and will tell you more about it next issue . . . The choir climaxes its series of concerts at the Lincoln with a spectacular Christmas Eve spiritual dramatization of the birth of the Savior Wednesday . . . Get your theatrical news in early because the Xmas issue of this paper will be on the streets Wednesday. Deadline is Monday at 4 p. m.

THE LAST WORD, cafe that is, is really becoming the last word in entertainment. Currently holding forth in the top spot of the show is the dreamy-eyed EFFIE SMITH, who sets the place on fire with her blues singing. Coming up with a Fourth of July explosion of blues on Xmas eve and New Year's eve nights will be the one and only T-BONE WALKER, king of the blues, with his singing electric guitar. T-Bone has been signed again by the cafe because of his tremendous box-office appeal which he more than demonstrated in two previous engagements. The "Bone" will head a show opening Xmas eve night and continue on into the New Year. Don't miss him.

Weekend Policy Popular at Meadowbrook

Meadowbrook Ballroom's new policy of staying open Friday, Saturday nights only is proving successfully that most dine-and-dancers prefer to "do the town" on the weekends. This policy will be generally adhered to with the exception of special holiday parties, the first of which gala event will be held New Year's Eve.

Christmas week will mark the close of the engagement of the Count Basie band. So popular is the Basie aggregation with visitors at the Culver City ballroom, that the Count's jivin' crew is held over for an extra week.

YOUNG ACTRESS HONORED

The Southern California chapter of Phi Beta Sorority has chosen Elizabeth Taylor for honorary membership.

The group, which is comprised of outstanding students in the dramatic and musical fields, lists among other honorary members, Mary Pickford, Lily Pons, Judith Anderson, Ethel Barrymore and Helen Hayes.

ROMANCE-DRAMA—Pictured above are Gig Young, Ida Lupino and Errol Flynn who star in Warner Bros. exciting production, "ESCAPE ME NEVER," now playing at Warners Hollywood, Downtown and Wiltern theatres. The film also stars Eleanor Parker in a love story which is based on Margaret Kennedy's celebrated novel and play. Peter Godfrey directed the picture for producer Henry Blanke.

THE DISC

By I. Spinum

NEW YORK—For two opponents in an "I-Can-Blow-Better-Than-You" feud, the nation's two tenor saxophone sensations, Arnett Cobb and Illinois Jacquet, present a surprisingly lengthy list of similarities.

Both Cobb and Jacquet come from Houston, Texas; both have recorded for Apollo Records and are two of the top sellers of all artists for that diskery; Jacquet's "Robbins Nest" for Apollo vies against Arnett Cobb's "Still Flyin" on the same label in the same record stores; and each of the young jazzmen was once a featured star in the Lionel Hampton band.

Today, both Arnett Cobb and Illinois Jacquet have fulfilled lifelong ambitions and head their own jazz combos, booked several seasons ahead in the leading theatres and nightclubs of the country. Regardless of the professional competition between them, and contrary to general belief, Cobb and Jacquet remain the best of friends socially.

Arnett Cobb is being released this month on the new two-part Apollo jazz disking of "When I Grow Too Old to Dream."

Johnny Moore's Three Blazers, who are riding high in the nation's jukeboxes with two hit records, "Changeable Woman" and "Merry Christmas, Baby," on the Exclusive label, have come up with a new platter, which marks the recording debut of guitarist Oscar Moore as a member of the Blazers.

The new Exclusive disc by the Blazers couples "Money's Getting Cheaper" and "It's Over," both sides featuring the guitar plucking of the brothers Oscar and Johnny Moore and the inimitable vocalizing of pianist Charles Brown.

NEW YORK—Buddy Johnson, the young man with the "Magic Touch" at the piano keyboard, will be out with a new Decca record on Jan. 5, coupling two of Buddy's own compositions, "You Can't Tell Who's Lovin' Who" and "Serves Me Right," the former featuring the blues singing of Ella Johnson and the latter the crooning of Arthur Prysock. Both songs are published by Buddy's newly formed music firm, Sophisticate Music.

Gertrude Gipson's CANDID COMMENTS

MY PUBLIC—

This week we are bringing you none other than the lar and well-liked master of ceremonies, the incom- ble LEONARD REED. We know you'll like him.

—GERTRUDE GIPSON

LADIES and GENTLEMEN . . . Now isn't that a al M. C. introduction? But doing a guest column is ly out of my line. As a matter of fact being an M. C. o out of my line since I'm in the cleaning and pressing ess with my friend Teddy Rhodes, golf protege of Louis (still champ that is). Ted incidentally finished d Monday at Montebello in the Pro-Amateur meet a neat 72 under par. He will play in the $2000 Open ng Friday. It will be 72 hole medal play. Good luck, we would like to see you win this one.

If you think Joe Louis had a tough fight last week hould have seen me trying to fight my way through Xmas crowd downtown. You see each year about this I must do my Xmas window shopping.

Talked to Dottie Seaman the other night and learned she and Carita Harbert were going to Las Vegas to and dance. I believe that has something to do with business of which I haven't been a part of lately . . . you remember when you could go to a night spot and real fine show with plenty of girls, good acts and band? I wonder if that will ever happen again? Gee, h it would so I could do their cleaning business).

sure happy that G. G. let me write this column so mention cleaning and pressing whenever I wish. on me the phone is ringing . . . Hello, Champion ers, who? Ted Rhodes, the boss, oh, he's out, can I you? This is Leonard, sure we pick up and deliver. is this, Merie Bryant? I thought you were in Las being a sensation as usual. Oh, you're back and had a wonderful engagement? That's great, well s for calling and I'll pick up those things right away. bye.

Now I'm back with you again. Little Miss Cornshucks e Basket Room Sunday morning moved the whole when she sang "So-Long." She left Monday fo rthe she has the cuttiest expressions I have ever seen. I ove her, I hope she returns to the West Coast real Believe me when I tell you, Jackie (Brooklyn ers) Robinson hits a pretty good golf ball. He's al- in the low 80' and on me the other day he was par . . . 7 ptat Western ave.

While I'm on golf I think it should be known that a sepian man, 24 years old, name Eural Clark, last won the S. O. championship, the first time any ed person has done that. And won from such great players as Smillie Quick, Johnnie Dawson and a field of others. So let's cheer for the first time Eural , Southern California champion . . . Something I like to see is more girls taking up that sport. ell, but why mention it. I suppose it's too much walk- But it's good for the figure or does that interest you it does me. Just food for thought that's all.

Dusty Brooks is soon to open the Cricket Club. I like to see Bill Day with that show. I think it would eat, think it over Dusty . . . That Bill can really sing. Bill Watkins if you don't believe me. He sang Watkins f ten weeks rent and take it from me that's singing know Watkins . . . There's a hotel that should be d the Theatrical House or the House of Personalities the Joe Louis, Ray Robinson, the Nat Coles, the Louis ns and everybody great, with a great guy like Bill ins . . . and the Mills Bros. are just checking in.

wish so many people would stop asking me about e Louis-Joe Walcot fight. You know what I'm going y, the judges weren't blind and Joe Louis is still p and if they fight again in June or in January he till be champ and that I will bet, so that's that . . . re is any doubt as to who won, go see the picture, I understand the Hefflins are opening the Club Ala- for the holidays. That's a good gag, wish I had ht of it. I could have used the script.

Nelson Creswell is still the perfect host at his Cresbar e the East meets the West and everything happens. s where I found my girl. She was clinging to the bar second mortgage and had more curves than a moun- oad and was on a 90 proof diet. Boy was she sharp. you would stand by her it was like standing by an fireplace.

Madolyn Green at the ringside singing, "You Go to lead" did just that to me the other night. If you 't heard her, don't miss going and besides Miss Green ill also hear a newcomer, a young fellow named Paul s, and he can really sing.

Have you seen Audrey, "The Body Beautiful" at the eri-la yet? You know she's really doing a very fine and of course she's the attraction there . . . Bardu handling the M. C. spot an doing it well, Billie ell is as funny as always. "Race Horse," doing his from the Kentucky Derby, had every one in s . . . My favorite spot in the show of course would e chorus girls led by cute, little Peter Rabit.

Sorry to hear of Sam Taylor's illness. He's in the west Hospital. Let's drop him a get well quick card. obbie Chafteen, the figure beautiful, is up and around . That makes us happy. Boy, what a . . . never mind, ve it . . . Fashion in furs is the next affair to be held e Last Word, so I understand. That should be nice.

am also told that Essie Gipson and Zeke Pettiford to repeat I do's around Santa Claus time. That's a nice nt for both . . . "Deep are the Roots" will feature ie Williams as Bret with Jessie Grayson as the house- er when it opens at the Belasco Theatre. As stage ger you will find Don Wheeldin and I know some- who has a crush on you, Don, and if you will contact ll give you the low down . . . Now to tell the truth ired trying to find the keys on this pecking machine esides I should have never tried to write a column. see I said it before, you had a chance to and I'm glad e I really stop, let me put you on the beam, if you're p on the new look and you don't give a chitterling r dinner just to make it sound nice, you are a square he best night is Saturday, the more the merrier. Well it's pressing time and I must clean up. I'll be ing you . . . So long, I was once in show business . . . NARD REED.

LAST MINUTE TIPS!! . . .

Mexine Sullivan is such a soothing radio artist that methinks WNEW will scarcely let her go for some time to come. Which is what should happen when one helps build a new idea into an audience capivator!! Ellington Concerts will roll forth soon! Tondelayo, looking but GREAT in that cab on 8th Ave., t'other day! The Atlanta-Moorehouse-Spellman Choirs will be a Sunday feature of CBS for the next few months!! Their first performance was really enjoyable and not overcluttered with talk of worn-out Spirituals!!

Roger Furman, Scenic Designer, will probably walk off with the setting arrangement he's done for ANT's current production of "Rain," the sketches are very good! Olga James, beautiful voiced petite bundle of talent, is studying at Juillard currently!! Anne Campbell is considering an offer from N. Y. U. for an instructorship!! Some items that appeared as "firsts" in this column, will be nationally confirmed shortly, so watch for it, I'm still proud of my record for knowing whereof I speak!!

Dean Dixon's Concert Series are Sat. afternoons at the Brooklyn Aca. of Music!! Lawrence Winters' Nov. Concert was nice. I liked the Villa-Lobos "Xango," a thing that got raves in So. Amer. recently! Louis Jordan, French star, first mentioned in Negro press via this column, will be in Joan Fontaine's film, "Letters From An Unknown Woman." Nellie Lutcher will do a couple of short engagements after her Cleveland theatre date! Gertz Dept. Store in Long Island, first there to use sepia models in Fashion Show recently! Jamaica's RKO theatre audience liked Lillette's piano playing vry much and want the fast paced comedy team back!

DECEMBER PRELUDE!! . . .

Fred Robbins handling one night concert stands like a vet! B'way "know-alls" laughing at reports of protests to televised Inter-Racial performances of Walter Nicks & Julie Robinson, saying such program producers are interested SOLELY in bang-up talent finds! Am trying to fill that space on the Godfrey Talent Scouts broadcast, Miss Mann, will submit a "find" soon! "Meet Miss Jones" due to hit, and James P. Johnson's music is fine! Flournoy Miller did the book! Congrats to ole schoolmate Marion Atkins and brand new Hubby! Eddie Whitfield, ill for a while. Jon Rainbow being handled by a B'way Booking agency! The Edwards Sisters adding terrific stuff to their record collection! Wm. Greaves in the "Joe Louis Film" plays a Juvenile Delinquent. Film will be pre-viewed this week!

To one and all, so-long from this space and happy holidays.

Ella Fitzgerald Will Invade West Coast February 18th

Ella Fitzgerald, the tear voiced Tisket-Tasket girl comes West for her first singing engagement as a star in February when she will headline at Billy Berg's Supper Club. The first lady of song opens her engagement February 18 and continues for four weeks until March 16.

This will not be the first visit made to these parts by the New York songbird. She played an engagement on the movie lots in 1939 and has been thrilling the California music lovers on other occasions appearing as featured vocalist with the late Chick Webb band.

ELLA FITZGERALD

This return visit of Miss Fitzgerald will be a real treat for her California fans for since her last visit she has blossomed into the unquestioned position of topmost singer of popular songs on the American scene today. As a star in her own right she has an enthusiastic welcome awaiting her.

Wins Audition To Appear At Carnegie Hall

ORANGEBURG, S. C.—Eileen Jackson Southern, concert pianist, has been invited to play in Carnegie Hall in New York City as a result of her winning in the South Carolina Division of the Nationwide Auditions of the Associated Concert Bureau, Inc., of New York. These auditions are being held to select the Musical Champions of America, and Mrs. Southern will represent the State of South Carolina in piano at Carnegie Hall. The exact date of her appearance will be announced at a later date.

Boys' Choir To Be Presented

One of the pre-holiday treats will be the appearance of 28 members of the Tucson Boys' Choir at the Wilshire Ebell Saturday evening, December 20, and Sunday afternoon, December 21. The concerts are being sponsored by the Music Foundation of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, Robert P. Hastings, president.

Finishes Stand At DeeCee Club

WASHINGTON—Lil Green, the queen of the bues singers, returned to the site of some of her first successful engagements this week when she once again invaded the Capitol City for a brief one-week stand at the Club Bongasi here. She completed her stay Thursday night.

'Deep Are The Roots' Due In L.A. Jan. 15th

"Deep Are the Roots," described by New York critics as the most provocative play on race relations ever produced in America, will be staged by film director John Berry, who recently completed directing chores on "Casbah" and who has directed such outstanding movie hits as "Miss Susie Slagle's," "From That Day Forward" and "Cross My Heart," as well as such stage presentations as "Cry Havoc" and "Native Son" on Broadway.

The play has been set for a West Coast premiere on January 15 by producer Ray Spencer at the Belasco theatre and it will boast a cast of distinguished professional actors.

Clark Gable once gave up a $12 a day job as a tool dresser to join a stock company at $10 a week.

Arena Players To Present New Play 'On Stage'

Arena Productions, East Los Angeles Junior college drama department, will present the Benjamin M. Kayes hit "On Stage' as the second selection of the fall season, during the first two weeks of January.

"On Stage" will be presented by means of central staging, following the success of "Dear Ruth," the first play produced by the Arena Players in this fashion. The cast, as yet unannounced, is again under the direction of J. R. Bietry, East Los Angeles Junior college drama coach.

'Wings Over Jordan' Now on Lincoln Stage

The current program at the Lincoln Theatre offers thrilling entertainment on both stage and screen: "Wings Over Jordan," world famous Negro choir, is holding forth at every performance. Still under the skilled guidance of the Rev. Glynn T. Settle, this splendid musical aggregation is better than ever this season—if that were possible.

GILBERT ALLEN
CONDUCTOR
WINGS OVER JORDAN CHOIR

The famous screen expose of the K.K.K., "The Burning Cross," is the film program. Tense with dramatic action, this is one of the most absorbing and exciting pictures of the year. Seldom has a picture dealt so frankly with an issue of national importance as does "The Burning Cross," which courageously exposes the Ku Klux Klan.

THEATRE NOTES

Roddy McDowall, associate producer and star of Monogram's "Rocky," winds up 1947 with a total of 73 personal appearances which he has made during the last twelve months.

Santa Monica Notes

By LOWELL EVANS

According to the latest census reports, the Santa Monica-Venice area now has a population of 173,500, a large increase over the previous census figures.

As a citizen of this area I am chiefly concerned about the economic security of the Negro people here, and accordingly have made a partial survey of the city jobs held by Negroes. The Santa Monica municipally-owned bus company does not have a single Negro operator on its payrolls, the city schools do not have a Negro teacher, the police department has employed only two Negro policemen and they are seldom seen.

Now could it be that our leaders in this area are asleep at the switch? I cannot conceive the idea that they have not raised the question of employment of Negroes at a time when this nation is trying to sell its particular type of democracy abroad. This is the opportune time for us to raise the question, Why Not Make it Work at Home?

Not only our leaders, but every minority group citizen has the right and the duty to raise that question. And to implement it, too, now that election time is approaching, by registering to vote in '48. Your ballot means jobs, justice and many other important recognitions. The time is here for all of us to awaken to our sense of civic duty and to realize the importance of the ballot in our fight for fair employment and decency.

Rev. Lorenzo D. Revoal, pastor of the First Baptist church of Venice, this week praised the action of Clifton's Cafeteria in rejecting the protests of a white customer who asserted that Clifton was "losing white trade" by its policy of non-discrimination. Rev. Revoal read to his congregation an exchange of correspondence between himself and Edmond J. Clinton, president of Clifton's Cafeterias.

VENICE—The Sunday school of the First Baptist church, Venice, is making plans to celebrate the birthday of the Christ Child. A youth committee, with George Pryce as chairman, is collecting food packages for needy families in the community, with the Intermediates of the B. T. U. under the leadership of Mrs. Ola Kirby, engaged in a similar project.

Tuesday, December 23 at 7:45 p.m. the young people will sponsor a Christmas vesper service, and Old Santa plans a party for all Sunday school pupils that same evening.

The public is invited, especially are the parents and friends of the children expected to attend.

ILL — Walter L. Gordon Sr., prominent local real estate broker, and the father of attorney W. L. Gordon Jr., was suddenly stricken this week with a slight paralytic stroke and taken to the Good Samaritan hospital where he is reported mending rapidly. Mrs. Bertna Gordon, wife of Mr. Gordon, is managing the business until his return.

tempted to burn the house by hurling ignited rubbish on the roof after they had quarrelled.

She succeeded in putting out the blaze before any appreciable damage occurred, she said.

Avery was picked up several hours later at the Victor Hotel, San Pedro, by Detectives A. J. Johnson and V. V. Little. He denied taking any part in the tragedy.

The fire was discovered by 8 year old Claude Davis Jr., whose father's house at 10351 S. Hickory st. is directly in front of the Dudley home.

Clyde said he was awakened by crackling and burning timbers, and immediately aroused his father, who called firemen.

Neighbors said the blaze, aided by a high wind, raced so swiftly through the frame house there was no chance for any of the four victims to escape from their front-room sleeping quarters.

Nearly 100,000 California veterans of World War II have filed preliminary applications with the State Department of Veterans Affairs to establish eligibility under the California farm and home purchase plan.

Traffic Signals Installed at 51st and Avalon

The compaints of East Side citizens on traffic hazards at 51st and Avalon blvd. bore fruit this week with the installation of traffic signals at that busy intersection.

Councilman Kenneth Hahn led the fight for this improvement, pointing out that many children cross the street at that point to play in South Park, and that the Zion Hill Baptist church is located at 51st and Avalon and much traffic is routed along that street.

Just a holiday without end. Many thought "anything for a change."

Because I never had a holiday our poor little children have never had a Christmas tree. Well now one say, I had my holiday but I didn't enjoy it.

Out here in our hospital we have juvenile boys and girls that may have living fathers and mothers but do they know just where they are? Some do and some don't. Now just who are going to make a Merry Christmas for them?

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

for Jay made a perfect guide and I saw every detail. Many guests were still on the scene of the affair towards the end. Had an interesting bit of chatter exchange with Atty. Grubbs and the Mrs., concerning their riding club, La Carmon, that will not be meeting till after Xmas. Mitchell Miles was there, by the way, the Miles family donated a refrigerator-stove combination to the center that is simply the last word. Mrs. Theadore Lumpkin, diligent worker of the church was in evidence. Passed compliments to Artesia Jordon and her husband, who is Rev. of the church; glimpsed the library of the center that was the incentive for the Poinsettia Tea, and believe me, had a perfectly grand afternoon . . .

In passing . . . the Gamma Xi formal Friday night at UCLA was strictly formal in every sense of the word. The debs attending were looking most glamorous and their escorts had donned the "bib and tucker" for the evening. Glimpsed Janice Brooks and her brother, who is quite the young man now, enjoying a dance or two. Grace Davis, Gloria Crouch and Ysable Gray wore the new short length evening gowns, while Fay Hopkins was quite stunning in an off shoulder blue gown. Paul Weaver's date was Betty Hall, and believe me, they do make a cute couple. Edgar Bishop and Althea Warren were dating again. Edwin Sneed and Margaret Potter danced the whole of the evening together, as did Joe Oliver and Evelyn. The co-ed group was much in evidence. The new Alpha undergraduate chapter is well on its way with the success of a perfect formal evening to its credit. By the way, the Alphas held election of officers Sunday. The new president will be announced later . . .

The coming weekend offers much to do . . . Friday night, the popular Double Four social club is turning its installation of officers ceremony into a holiday party. Althea Polk is prexy of the girls and Eddye Neal, Corrs. Secty. The new leaders will take the oath around 9 p.m. . . . On the same evening, the Doll Leaguers will exchange gifts and fill stockings for the Kiddie party. Irene Wright's home will be the scene of the festivity, and egg-nog will top the menu . . .

After a brief chat with Charlie Nesbit and listening to different comments on what's happening over the weekend, the Conservative Dukes Semi-Formal will steal the spotlight. The Dukes are noted for their gay affairs, and this one promises to be outstanding plus. Officers of the club are: Elmer Leon Jones, pres.; Kenneth O. Jefferson, vice; Sterling W. Henderson, secty., Louis Tenette Jr., treas.; Earl Straughter, corres. secty.; Joe Dural, bus. mgr.; Charlie Nesbit, sgt.-at-arms. Harold Arnold, Robert Henderson, Johnnie Ballinger, Bob Johnson, Tommy Palmer, Cyril Thompson and Claude Zeely make up the membership . . . More than 500 guests are expected at Les Charmantes formal New Year's night.

MISCELLANY

Following the Brice concert a week or so back, enjoyed an after-performance dinner, at one of the fashionable Western avenue dining rooms. The food was good, music tops and the various guests very interesting. Edith Bailey and family were enjoying the evening out. Little Judy included. Josephine Cooper, with a table of friends enjoyed singing along with the entertainers. Vivian Wilson, off the sick list now, seemed to be finding much to talk about. The David Williams, Ouida and the two little cherubs were also dining out that evening, as were Georgia Hardimon and the doctor . . . In mentioning Carol Brice concert, brings to mind the Grad chapter of AKA is meeting with outgoing president Martha Malone Jefferson Friday night. She will play hostess to a party following the meeting. Loucille Bonnett is prexy elect . . . After a shopping spree in Paris, fun aplenty in London, Dorothy Nicholas and Jerry pen ye scribe from Switzerland, where they are learning winter sports and doing swell at it. The expected return to L.A. before Xmas may be impossible, however they are trying hard to make it. The beautiful Hotel Richmond in Geneva has been their residence now for several weeks. Dorothy writes hellos to all her friends here, sorry she couldn't send cards, but due to some ill wind, she left her address book in the U.S.A. . . . Lt. Paul Lehman will arrive Saturday night to spend the holidays with the family. He's taking pilot training at Randolph Field, Texas . . . Atty. Walt Gordon is back in L.A. after spending a few days up in Frisco. By the way, Walt Gordon Sr., is on the speedy road to recovery. Mrs. Gordon has been exercising her business talents since his illness . . . Lt. and Mrs. Leslie King will spend Christmas in Oakland. The newlywed Walt Lovings will not be back from their Mexican honeymoon until after the holidays . . . Vade Maman, the French notable visiting Sunny Cal, as guest of the French councilor, has been spending leisure hours discussing the Southland with Althea Warren in his native tongue. Althea, a French major, is doing great with the conversing . . . Zarish Eberhardt's friends are pulling for her to get well, especially before Xmas . . . Missed out on Johnnie Brewer's radio program Monday afternoon . . . The new arrival at Bertram and Joan Willis' home is little Bertram Stevens . . . Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Galloway, (Dolly) plan to have their little daughter christened Sunday morning. Leon Stewart will be godfather. A reception will follow at the church . . .

Dorothea and Nate Fearonces' home is quite the show place. Enjoyed a small party there a few days back, quite an affair. The color scheme of the newly decorated abode is burgundy and blue. By the way, the Crop 'N' Tail Xmas party will take place right there . . . Speaking of homes and newlyweds, the William Roan Farrington's will be receiving guests at their home shortly after the holidays. Surprised, well so was I, when first learned that Billy and Becky had eloped to Tijuana, Mexico. Congratulations are in order . . .

Among those present at the Y's Men's banquet last Thursday night were: Amenda Haynes, George Comfort, Roslyn Austin, the Beecher Zebbs, Esther Wallace, the Charles Williams, the Tom Jacksons, Charlies MacArthur, Mel Andrews and Carlton Flamer . . . Norma and Eddy Green plan to celebrate Xmas in a big way, now that they have a daughter to play Santa for . . . The same will be experienced by the Bal Kemps, Bessie and Clifford Wilson, and many another young family . . .

In making deadline, all "Hamptonians" are urged to get in touch with Aubry Prince. A party is in the making for Bob Mann, who will be playing with the visiting team in the Rose Bowl game . . .

Blasts Jimcrow In Announcing His Candidacy

CHICAGO—Henry A. Wallace this week declared self an independent candidate for president of the ted States.

His bolt from the two major parties and formation new progressive party followed the day after Wallace de a fighting "declaration independence" for American groes in an address pre- ed for the Alpha Phi Alpha ternity national convention Tulsa, Okla. A blizzard that nketed the East Coast pre- ted Wallace from attending convention but his speech s read before the cheering dience by Dr. Clark Fore- n, president of the South- ern Conference for Human Welfare.

In a Monday night nation-wide broadcast over the Mutual network announcing his candidacy, Wallace called on farmers and workers, whites and Negroes, small business men and professional people to join him

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

I have just read that "Freedom Train will boycott mingham on racial issues."

This decision, it appears, was reached after D'Arcy phy, president of the American Heritage Foundation, announced that Freedom Train would pass up Birgham, Ala., next Monday, because three of the City nmissioners insisted upon segregation of the races, aning whites and Negroes, who would have visited it.

A telephonic conversation between Cooper Green, sident Birmingham City Commission, and the American itage Foundation head, culminated in the Birmingham -stop decision. Despite the fact that Green stated that 00 persons would visit the train in a two-line pro- on—one white, one Negro—the Foundation held to ecision, "There can be no racial segregation on the dom train."

The Freedom Train Birmingham episode is one scene he American drama of racial differences, hates, scorns, petty jealousies.

I have heard much talk about iron and silken curtains g in Europe. These curtains are figments of the Ameri- diplomat's imagination.

For if the American people, who it appears, have as- ed the responsibility of clearing the path to peace in ope, would stop long enough to pull back the iron tain that keeps separate, races and colors in our own on, it woud take fewer Marshall plans, less Taft- tley bills, and certainly fewer big "I" and little "You" ferences to make Russia and some of the other coun- s believe we mean what we say.

I not only contend, but prompted by what happened to Freedom Train in Birmingham, am appealing to the ro people of this nation to step forward and take the ative in pulling back the iron curtain on their own eaders.

Here is a case for action. Cooper Green, Birmingham Commission president, said the idea of separate lines ging at the entrance to the Freedom Train, was ap- ved by Birmingham's leading Negro citizens, outstand- among them Dr. E. W. Taggart of the National Asso- ion for the Advancement of Colored People, and J. J. el, publisher of The Southern Press.

Dr. Taggart, because of his position in this matter, uld be dropped from the membership of the N.A.A.C.P. Israel should be banished from the Fourth Estate.

And what I say of these I say of all Negro leaders use their professional titles as badges for entrance the category of leadership, but with the selfish mo- of personal profit. Such leaders must be exposed relegated.

There is one and only one cure for our national so- ed race problem, and it is summed up in the release of nor Roosevelt, Thursday, December 25.

Mrs. Roosevelt tells how she visited two schools in tzerland, one for girls and one for boys. In these ols from 20 to 30 nations are studying together, ob- ed Eleanor Roosevelt. United States Minister Carter cent's daughter stood between a child from India and ild from Italy in a class. There was no friction.

These people early in life learn there is good and in every country and that neither race nor color is onsible. Only governmental interference stirs up strife plants the seed of hate.

Freedom Train has set the example. If our govern- will follow its lead the territory on the other of the Mason and Dixon line will become united, and al barriers and segregation will exist no more.

Protest Move to Put Child Aid On Racial Basis

SAN FRANCISCO—A racist suggestion from the state Department of Soical Welfare to cut, on the basis of alleged racial eating habits, the budgets of needy children anywhere from 4 to 14 percent brought sharp public protest at a joint session of public officials and welfare directors here.

Claude O. Allen, on behalf of the mayor's Committee for Civic Unity of Oakland, presented an resolution remanding that "the aid contemplated for needy children . . . be granted without regard to race, national origin, former area of residence within the United States or the size of the family."

The prosposal that children of southern migrants and of such minority groups as Negroes and Mexicians be given less food had not been heard here since the days of the lod SRA in the 1930's.

News Vendor Found Dead

Tom Lind, 71 year old white newsstand man, popularly known on Central avenue as "Old Tom", was found dead last Saturday in the rear house he occupied at 990½ East 41st street. He is believed to have died of a heart attack.

The body was found by his landlady, Mrs. Cordella Johnson, sister of Charles Colly, present operator of the newsstand at 41st street and Central, where Old Tom had his stand until about ten months ago. Before he gave up the stand, Old Tom had chalked up a record of 21 years and 7 months on the same corner.

He lived for 18 years at the East 41st street address, always paying his rent one year in advance.

Local Fascist Sheet In New Slanderous Attack on Negroes

Encouraged by the immunity its race-hatred propaganda has long enjoyed at the hands of city, state and federal officials, the notorious racist sheet, the Los Angeles Equalizer, came out last week under date of "Xmas 1947" with another vicious and slanderous attack on Los Angeles' Negro population.

The paper used the slum conditions and resultant tensions on Main street's skidrow as a springboard for its attack. It repeatedly used the insulting epithet "nigger," denounced the absence of discrimination in the bars and dives along skidrow, and called for the exclusion of Negroes from Main street.

In typical lynch-incitement fashion, the sheet plays up a a fight between a white man and a Negro, in which the former got the worst of it, while according to the Equalizer's fascist-minded editor, "a mob of Niggers, winos and common drunks" looked on. 'The derelicts," it said, 'stood and watched the savage bloodletting without lifting a finger."

The Equalizer acknowledges the fact that Roosevelt Henderson, the Negro in the case, was arrested, but deplores the slow process of the courts, although it is confident that Henderson "is going to San Quentin."

In a veiled invitation to police brutality, the paper expresses sympathy for those white policemen assigned to skidrow. "It's inhuman to ask

Two Teenagers Shot in N. Y. Gang Warfare

NEW YORK — Two teenage boys, one of them white, were shot and seriously wounded Monday in Loew's Burland Theatre in the Bronx. The shooting believed to be a juvenile gang war, occurred during screen performances and panicked a crowd of 1500 in the movie house.

Police found the two boys lying on the floor beneath their seats. They were identified as Peter Martinez, white, and Stanley Taylor, 16, who was shot in the back.

Supreme Court Hears Covenant Cases Monday

WASHINGTON — Oral arguments on four restrictive covenant cases now before the U. S. Supreme Court will open next Monday, January 5.

Of the four cases, one is from Missouri, one from Michigan, and two (consolidated) from the District of Columbia.

The Missouri case will be argued by Atty. George L. Vaughn of St. Louis; the Michigan case by NAACP Attys. Thurgood Marshall, of New York, and Loren Miller, of Los Angeles, and the District of Columbia cases by Atty. Charles H. Houston, of Washington, D. C.

Dixie Station Cuts Civil Rights Program Off Air

WASHINGTON—The NAACP has lodged a protest with the Federal Communications Commission against Station WFOR, Hattiesburg, Mississippi, which cut the NBC broadcast "America United," Sunday, Dec. 7, because it "got off on the racial question."

The participants in the broadcast, a round table discussion, entitled "Our Civil Rights—Are They in Danger?" were Leslie S. Perry of the NAACP, Palmer Weber, research director of the CIO Action Committee, Fred Bailey of the National Grand, and Frank Donner, asst. general counsel of the CIO. After 19 minutes of the 30-minute program the Hattiesburg station cut it off.

C. J. Wright Jr. manager of Station WFOR, as an excuse for cutting the program from the air, stated "We are down in the Deep South and you get off on the radio audience that this is a off the air at 12:19 CST, telling the raido audience that this is a controversial issue and that both sides were not represented."

Hattiesburg was one of the first cities in the South to declare that it would not have the Freedom Train unless the races were completely segregated.

Federal Court Rejects Trick to Bar Negro Vote

RICHMOND, Va.—White primaries were outlawed in South Carolina by the fourth U. S. district court of appeals yesterday in a decision which, if upheld by the U. S. supreme court, may have far-reaching effects upon the political and economic structure of the southern states.

Upholding a decision by District Judge J. Watties Waring, the appeals court blasted the contention of South Carolina Democratic party officials that the party is a "voluntary political association which can exercise unrestricted choice of membership" and that Negro Americans have "no more right to vote in the Democratic primary . . . than to vote in the election of officers of the Forest Lake Country Club."

"No election machinery can be upheld if its purpose or effects is to deny the Negro an effective voice in the government of this country or the state or the community where he lives," said the appeals court decision.

Drop Plans to Film Life Story Of Dr. Carver

The disorderly retreat of Hollywood film executives before the Thomas-Rankin Un-American Committee continued this week, with Dore Schary, executive producer of "Crossfire," dropping plans to shoot the life story of George Washington Carver, great Negro scientist whose research gave America hundreds of new products from the sweet potato and the peanut.

Mrs. Bass in Chicago For Wallace Parley

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE, left Saturday for Chicago on the Santa Fe "Chief" to confer with Henry A. Wallace, former vice-president, in regard to Wallace's position on heading a third party movement in 1948.

In Chicago, Mrs. Bass will join other delegates from the west and middlewest who are converging on that city for a conference with Wallace.

Westside Man Acquitted in Cafe Shooting

Frank Anderson, 50 year old owner of a cafe at 1488 West Jefferson, was acquitted Tuesday in the court of Judge Walter S. Gates, of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The charge grew out of a shooting incident last Nov. 9 in which Thomas Denton Jr., 25, claimed that while in Anderson's cafe the latter pulled a gun from under the counter and shot him without cause in the neck and shoulder.

Anderson pleaded self-defense. An interesting highlight of the case was the charge by Mrs. Price, mother of the victim, that Anderson and Rev. Jonathan Lyle Caston, prominent Eastside minister, had offered her and her son a bribe of $800 not to prosecute the case. This court discounted the accusation after hearing Rev. Caston and receiving the evidence.

Anderson was brilliantly defended by Atty. Harry Margrid.

St. Louis Crowd Battle Police as Youth Is Killed

ST. LOUIS — Angered by the killing of a Negro youth by two white policemen, a crowd of more than 200 battled police here early last Saturday.

The slain youth was James Taylor, 25, whom spectators accused police of shooting down in cold blood.

According to the police version, Taylor was killed when he opened fire on patrolmen Leo Stewart and Fred Beckman, who sought to question him and two of his friends as they were leaving a tavern. Officers said Taylor's two companions were wounded by wild shots fired by Taylor.

As word of the shooting spread, more than 200 angry citizens rushed to the scene and hurled bottles, ashtrays and other missiles at the policemen.

The angry crowd was dispersed only upon the arrival of heavy police reinforcements.

Army Chaplain Says Champion Took Wife Out

NEW YORK, (CNS)—Joe Louis' well-known penchant for appearing at social affairs with attractive girls got him some unpleasant publicity over the Xmas weekend when an army chaplain, Capt. Matthew Faulkner, in suing for separation from his wife, linked her with the heavyweight champion.

Asserting that published photographs and newspapers have "linked the two together intimating their conduct was not purely platonic, but also of an intimate nature and carried on in a notorious manner," Faulkner declares that he has suffered "humiliation, contempt and disgrace in the community."

In filing his suit in the supreme court, Faulkner asked for custody of their two children, Matthew Kenneth, 4, and Oran Drake, 2.

Faulkner claims that his wife left him on Dec. 11 when he had been on furlough not more than three hours. He charges that that very night "she was seen on 'Wings Over Jordan' Choir Gets Ovation In Concert in L. A.

The famous Wings Over Jordan received an enthusiastic ovation last Friday night when it appeared in a concert in the Independent Church of Christ, Rev. Russell, pastor. The concert was given under the auspices of the California EAGLE.

Receiving special ovations were Rev. Glenn T. Settle, originator and director of the choir, and Gilber Allen, a local product who directs the choir. Allen, well known locally for his achievements in the field of music, first attracted public attention as a director for a WPA chorus. Subsequently he was dean of music at Sam Houston college, Texas.

The program Friday night included Negro spirituals, Christmas carols and one Negro work song, "Ole Man River," which brought the house down.

Rev. Settle, Allen and the choir welcomed to Los Angeles by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the EAGLE. Allen and Settle responded with remarks of appreciation for the EAGLE, its publisher and the people of Los Angeles.

'Prayer March' On Washington Set for Jan. 7

WASHINGTON—The National Fraternal Council of Negro churches yesterday announced a "national prayer day" on Sunday, Jan. 4, to help in achieving the goals recommended by the President's Committee on Civil Rights. On the assumption that God helps those who help themselves, the national prayer day will be backed up by a "prayer march" of 500 ministers from all parts of the country on Washington on Jan. 7, that will climax on the steps of the capitol.

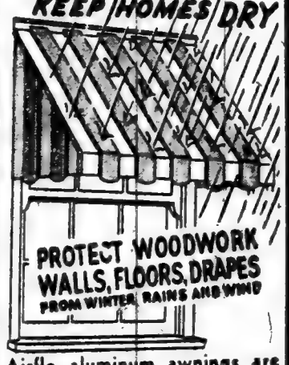
With immediate '48 goals of a federal anti-lynching and FEPC legislation, the Council is asking all churches to designate Jan. 4 for "special prayer in behalf of approximately 13,000,000 Negroes who are victims of a type of second-class citizenship in a country that takes pride in the fact that it is the center of the greatest democracy in he world.

Warren Rejects Adamson's Plea For Clemency

Gov. Earl A. Warren last week had again refused to intervene in the case of Dewey Adamson who is facing execution in San Quentin during the first week in February for the 1944 Los Angeles murder of Stella Blauvelt.

The governor turned down a plea by Morris Lavine, Adamson's lawyer for a commutation of Adamson's sentence. Lavine had pointed out, in a letter to Warren, that Adamson had been tried by an all-white, all-women jury and that his conviction was based solely upon circumstantial evidence.

Adamson has consistently maintained his innocence and has been able to account for his actions throughout the entire day of the murder.



Lavine yesterday charged that the governor had ignored counsel's request that he consult the state supreme court and his own adult authority on the Adamson case. Both agencies are empowered to make recommendations in the case of death sentence.

U.S., UN in Tilt Over Alien Newsmen

WASHINGTON—The State Department announced this week it would seek a "drastic revision" of the United Nations system of accrediting foreign correspondents, following a protest by the UN that American action to deport several UN correspondents was a violation of existing agreements between the U. S. and the UN.

The controversy grew out of the arrest of two correspondents of foreign Communist newspapers here to report UN activities.

$34 Million Unclaimed Here by War Veterans

A New Year's present amounting to about $34,780,000 in terminal leave payments is going begging at the U. S. army finance office, 824 S. Western avenue, according to Lt. Col A. A. Mosley, finance officer. This means, Mosley pointed out, that approximately 148,000 ex-GIs, separated from service in the state of California, have so far failed to submit claims for their terminal leave payments which average about $235 per claim. The local office pays the leave claims of all veterans, wherever they may now reside, who were separated from the army in California.

Hollywood Blacklist Pattern Denounced As Menace To All Labor

The pattern of Hollywood in blacklisting employes of the motion picture industry, will spread to other industries in every part of America, speakers warned their audiences at a meeting held in protest in Park Manor, South Western avenue, last Monday evening.

The Thomas-Rankin Un-American Activities Committee had smeared 19 screen writers, actors, and directors as being "Reds." Ten of these were indicted as being in contempt of congress. Later they were fired by their employers, the producers of motion pictures, as being "subversive." And their names are now on the "blacklist," they can no longer secure jobs from any employer who sympathizes with the motion picture producers.

The meeting was called by the Los Angeles executive council, in conjunction with the AFL, the Railroad Brotherhoods, and civic and social organizations.

"We in the CIO don't see this fight limited to the film industry," said Philip(Slim) Connelly, executive secretary of the Los Angeles CIO., "All labor is involved in the fight. We heard Eric Johnson, czar of the film industry call for other employers to institute a blacklist of their own, and ask congress to pass legislation that would uphold ths sort of thing. Our members see the Hollywood pattern as a threat to our own security. That is why we wish to set up a program that will be a tidal wave of protest against the continuance of this pattern which would lead to tyranny for all workers."

Adrian Scott, director, predicted there would be no more progressive pictures made. "The firing of progressive writers and directors has killed every progressive picture that would have been made," he said. "Pictures that would portray a Negro as a decent American citizen, or some of the horrors of a displaced persons' camp."

John Howard Lawson, screen writer, reiterated the warning that as the producers in motion pictures had capitulated to the Un-American Activities Committee, so other employers in other industries would do likewise. Leon Clifton, of the Retail Clerks Union, AFL, urged all labor to unite to fight this danger.

About 200 delegates and observers attended the meeting. All were asked to write and to get their friends to write to Louis B. Mayer, chairman, the Producers "Blacklist" Committee, Culver City, Calif. and protest this action. Also write your congressman and urge the abolition of the Un-American Committee.

U. S. Names Post Office For Educator

Lauds Anti-Bias Report on U.S. Education Needs

NEW YORK — The recent report of the President's Commission on Higher Education, was praised as "a courageous and forthright appraisal of some of the weaknesses in American higher education," in a statement by Judge Joseph M. Proskauer, president of the American Jewish Committee.

The statement stressed the report's "utter rejection of discriminatory admission quotas maintained by many American colleges and universities," and lauded the declaration in the port that "the time has come to make public education at all levels equally accessible to all, without regard to race, creed, sex or national origin."

The AJC termed the report "a fitting complement" to the recent report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, and declared that "the implementation of these basic contemporary charters of democracy will a profound effect on the stre of the democratic system i United States and throughou world."

1947 has been a year of uncertainty for all the peoples of the world. Progress toward a settled, ordered life has been slow and halting with frequent disappointments.

Yet progress there has been — here and there a little light — bright hint of a happy future through the clouds of doubt.

It may be that in 1948 the world will finally "find itself" and that determined effort will be rewarded with deserved success.

That is our hope and wish — that 1948 will be the Happy New Year for which all of us are striving.

Wallace Blasts Jimcrowism In Tulsa Address

TULSA, Oklahoma—The Thomas-Rankin Un-American Committee was denounced as a "fortress for the defense of jimcrowism" by Henry Wallace at a meeting here sponsored by members of Alpha Phi Alpha, national Negro fraternity. The address was delivered by proxy when Wallace decided that his presence was necessary in Chicago for a conference of third party movement leaders.

Wallace described the House un-American Committee as an "utterly nauseating spectacle" which is trying to stifle the truth.

"I think of its great drives against Liberals, Progressives and Communists," he said.

"This drive is not made against these groups, including Communists, because they are advocating the overthrow of government by force and violence. It is trying to intimidate into silence the professors, teachers, scientists and ordinary citizens who like to speak the truth."

Wallace's speech rushed here by plane, after he decided to remain in Chicago, was read by Clark Forman, of Atlanta, Georgia, an officer of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.

A capacity crowd of 2800 cheered as Foreman finished the speech and pointed to the need of a third party in the United States. Without naming Wallace, Foreman said the American people need a person "they can vote for without holding their noses."

Wallace's chief attacks were directed against the House committee, racial discrimination and the motion picture industry.

He said the nation's greatest weakness has been a failure to take the offensive against jimcrowism.

"We liberal, unprejudiced white Americans have never failed to answer appeals for the defense of the right of our Negro brothers," he said. "But we have not maintained a day-to-day offensive to demand complete justice."

In denouncing the House committee, the former Vice President said the committee is receiving "whole-hearted" assistance from the "craven men" of the motion picture industry.

CHICAGO.—Most of the white bread eaten today by Americans contains a "nerve poison" which may be a cause of mental instability—including alcoholism—Dr. Anthon J. Carlson, professor emeritus of the University of Chicago, said yesterday.

St. Louis Jury Frees Framed Strike Leader

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — William Hayes, who was framed on a statutory rape charge during a 1945 strike of Negro cab drivers which he helped organize, was acquitted in a new trial.

The new trial came after the Missouri supreme court reversed a lower court decision which had found Hayes guilty on the statutory rape charge and had imposed a prison sentence.

The cab franchise owners, among whom are local politicians, showed up at the trial and aided the state by producing witnesses against Hayes. The state showed much interest in the case. Its attorney began by qualifying the jury for the death penalty, an unusual procedure in a rape case.

However, after four days of trial, the jury was out only two hours before returning with its verdict of not guilty.

Known to the striking cab drivers as Big Bill, Hayes was recognized as the strike's leader. He was arrested 28 times during the strike previous to the rape frame-up. Accused by a woman of having raped her 10 year old daughter, Hayes was arrested early on the morning of September 15, 1945. The original trial was a year later.

Sets Goal Of Million Voters

With door-to-door registration scheduled to start January 1, the California Legislative Conference yesterday announced it would push an all-out effort for registration of the county's estimated 1,000,000 un-registered voters.

An appeal to registered voters who have free time during the day to become deputy registrars in their precincts is being made, the conference said.

The conference's 200 affiliated groups in the county are conducting surveys as to the registration status of their members, said Reuben W. Borough, conference chairman.

Surveys are also being pushed among neighbors in commities.

"We will use every means available to make the community registration-conscious—through the press, the radio, telephone campains, leaflets and door-to-door work," said Borough.

NAACP Appeal To UN Hailed As 'Superb' Job

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The NAACP petition to the United Nations "is a superb job" Harvard University's famous professor of history, Arthur Schlesinger Jr. declared yesterday. "I hope it has the effect it should have in rousing the conscience of the world and in stimulating our own government into more effective action."

That no other document on behalf of justice for the American Negro has ever focused so effective and world-wide attention on this problem is the concensus of opinion of scholar, editors, diplomats and other authorities. Thomas L .Stokes, in his widely syndicated column, declares the petition "a timely reminder for us to take a look inward at ourselves while we are declaiming about the shortcomings of people elsewhere." Dr. Frank Kingdom in the New York Post has declared that "the presentation is a masterpiece of research, documentation and legal argument . . . I believe that the Negro question is the most searching moral test of the contemporary United States. We have evaded, dodged, hushed and confused the issue. We can no longer do so. The history is in the record. Those who have put it there have done us the immeasurable service of making us face it honestly."

The NAACP announced yesterday that the 155-page document will shortly be published in printed form either by a regular publishing house with which negotiations are now in progress or by the Association itself. If funds can be raised for the purpose, it is planned also to publish it in various languages for world-wide distribution.

Transit Co. to Honor Dr. Carver

The week of Jan. 5, 1948, has been set aside as George W. Carver Week. The Los Angeles Transit Company will pay its respects to one of the nation's greatest scientists by carrying a portrait likeness of this great American on its weekly passes.

William Jones, executive of the Los Angeles Urban League, brought the fact of George W. Carver Week to the attention of Transit company officials and succeeded in having them dedicate their passes during the week of Jan. 5 to the man who had done so much to aid farmers of the world, particularly the southern farmer, and who gave so much to the world of science.

The officials of the Transit company said, "It is so little to do for a man who has done so much for the world, but it will serve as a means to keep his deeds alive in the minds of the people of Los Angeles."

Real Estate Board Elects '48 Officers

The Golden West Real Estate Board, Inc., wound up a very busy and successful year by electing its new board of directors and officers for 1948.

Elected were, George Canady, president; Dr. C. W. Hill, first vice president; W. J. Fairchild, second vice president; Mynard H. Ammons, secretary; Pauline Stokely, financial secretary; Bernard C. Herndon, treasurer; Allen Woodard III, parliamentarian; and H. A. Howard, chairman of the board of directors.

The entire membership, as well as a host of friends, are looking forward to the board's annual installation banquet, Jan. 14 at the YMCA.

Radio Program Dramatizes Goodwill Victories in '47

Four stirring real-life incidents revealing how racial and minority tensions were successfully solved in 1947 through the exercise of intelligent goodwill, were dramatized in a special year-end CBS documentary unit broadcast, "Among Ourselves," last Tuesday evening.

The script was written by Sol Panitz and directed by Albert Ward, with a score composed by Ben Ludlow.

The first incident dealt with a Japanese-American hero whose combat team rescued a lost battalion of Texans in Europe, and who found himself the victim of poison-pen letters aimed to drive him off his Texas farm where he had settled after demobilization.

The second was the widely publicized incident of the Negro farmer, Harvey Jones, who won an automobile in a raffle at Ahoskie, N. C., and was refused the car because he was a Negro.

An experiment in California in which "white" school children were brought into direct contact with Mexican children, with the resultant loss of prejudice, formed the third incident.

The final episode told of an assault upon an American Jew in Iowa, which aroused the citizens of the entire state.

These formed some of the constructive incidents in the history of 1947. "Among Ourselves" also pointed to the new year as a fresh opportunity for expressions of good will to all.

Supervisors Score U. S. Indian Policy

Official rebuke of the federal government for responsibility of the present "desperate plight" and "concentration camp" conditions of the Indian reservations was voiced this week by the board of supervisors.

A resolution of the supervisors disapproved "the gross neglect by federal bureaus which has brought the Navajos eracy, privation and disease." to their present state of illit-

Also adopted was a program of emergency relief. The supervisors voted to sponsor a "great pageant in the Southwest in the Coliseum to raise money for relief of the Navajo Indians of New Mexico and Arizona.

Methodist Group Backs Drive for Federal FEPC

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The Methodist Federation for Social Action, meeting in convention here, yesterday called for enactment of a federal FEPC, abolition of the poll ta xand the solution of U. S.-Russian relations through understanding and goodwill.

A seven-point resolution adopted by the convention condemned peacetime conscription, demanded an immediate end to U. S. manufacture of atomic bombs and destruction of its stockpile on concurrence of other major powers in the proposals.

"We lift our voices in urgent appeal to the leaders of our government to surrender the methods of war, whether they are 'hot' or 'cold,' and to seek a solution of our relationship with the government of Russia through understanding, goodwill, the mutual respect of the rights and interests of each of our great peoples and cooperation through the structure and processes of the UN," the resolution added.

Jobless Payments Hiked to $25 a Week

SAN FRANCISCO—Important changes in the California unemployment insurance law will go into effect today (Jan. 1), Mrs. Elizabeth Milner, unemployment insurance manager in the San Francisco industrial office of the state department of employment reported yesterday.

Effective with new claims filed after Jan. 1, the maximum amount of weekly benefits has been raised to $25 from the former limit of $20. In addition, the maximum duration for paying benefits has been increased from 23.4 weeks to 26 weeks during a benefit year, but with a further provision that no claimant may receive in benefits more than one-half of the total of his qualifying wages.

STATE'S POPULATION UP

California enters 1948 with a population topping ten million, state and local government costs of more than a billion a year, and assessed valuation touching 11 billion, California Taxpayers' association said yesterday. California's share of federal costs for 1947-48 will be well over three billion dollars. Population of the state is estimated at 10,048,150 for January, 1948.

Taft Condemns Talk of War With Russia

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — In a speech here Monday night, Sen. Robert A. Taft, Republican presidential aspirant, hedged on the high cost of living, ducked the question of racial equality, but denounced what he termed Americans who have "become imperialists."

"They would have America assume responsibilities, bases and territories throughout the world . . . they say for the benefit of the world. But imperialism in any form has behind it the thought of using war as an instrument of policy. In such a theory there is no will to peace," he declared.

He condemned current talk of war with Russia, characterized as "stupid" Administration policies in Germany.

The Ohio senator spoke before the Missouri Republican Club.

Is It Subversive to Seek Lynching Ban, Public Asked in Ad

NEW YARK, N. Y.—The Civil Rights Congress ran a full-page ad. in a recent edition of PM asking the readers of that newspaper to answer certain questions with "Yes" or "No."

They were simple questions, like, "Is it subversive for citizens to protest President Truman's "loyalty" order? To form organizations to outlaw lynching, abolish poll taxes and discrimination? To refuse to disclose how you vote? To say the Thomas-Rankin un-American Committee should be abolished?"

Those are questions with which every American citizen should be concerned. The Civil Rights congress is gratified with the response to its ad. As a result hundreds of protests have been sent to President Truman, asking him to withdraw his "loyalty" order and Atty. General Clark's blacklist.

The Civil Rights Congress urges all American citizens everywhere who are interested in the preservation of real American freedom, to go and do likewise.

Court Hears Arguments in S. S. Bias Case

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The right of Negroes to move freely from state to state under the protection of a state law against segregation was argued before the supreme court in a brief filed by the NAACP, the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Lawyers Guild this week in the case of Bob-Lo Excursion Company against the State of Michigan.

The company owns Bob-Lo Island, an amusement park located in Canadian waters, and runs excursion boats from Detroit to the island. It has refused for years to carry Negro passengers and finally was convicted on a complaint prosecuted by the Detroit NAACP youth council under the Michigan Civil Rights Law.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

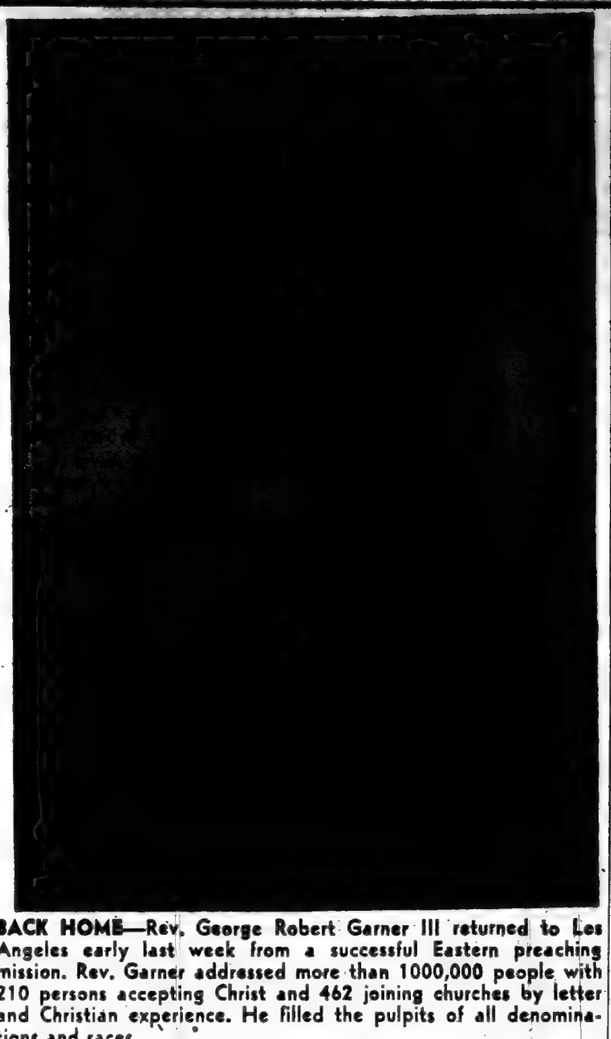
Subject: Beliefs that Matter; Lesson Text and Outline John 20:30-31; Acts 16:11-15; 1. Timothy 4:16; 1. John 5:1-5. Motto Text, 1. John 5:1.

INTRODUCTION

Character and conduct and destiny depend on what one believes. Without believing the Bible, man must live in the dark. Without believing in Christ, he has no dying Saviour and no living Lord. Without believing in the church, he ignores "the pillar and ground of the truth." Without believing in the ministry, he turns away from God's prophets and teachers. Without believing that "faith is victory," he shrinks and sinks into defeat and despair. The beliefs that matter are essential to salvation, service, and success.

COMMENTS

1. Men produce all they have to say that they may gain credit; but God does not, for he can give faith. Had this history been written for the entertainment of the curious, it would have been more copious, for every circumstance would have brightened and embellished the story; but it was written to bring men to believe, and enough is said to answere that intention, whether men will hear or whether they will forbear. "Life through Christ's name," the life proposed in the covenant which is made with us in Christ is what we must propose to ourselves as the fulness of our joy and the abundant recompense of all our services and sufferings.



2. The conversion of Lydia probably was the first that was wrought upon there to believe in Christ, though not the last. In this story of the Acts, we have not only the conversion of places recorded, but of many particular persons; for such is the worth of souls that the reducing of one to God is a great matter. Nor have we only the conversions that were effected by miracle, as Paul's, but some that we brought about by the ordinary methods of grace, as Lydia's.

3. Ministers should take heed to themselves and the doctrine, consider what they preach and teach; continue in them, in the truths that they have received; and this will be the way to save thyself, and those that hear you. Ministers are engaged in saving work which makes it a good work. The care of ministers should be in the first place to save themselves: "Save thyself i nthe first place, so shalt thou be instrumental to save those that hear thee."

4. Our love should appear to be sound and genuine when we love them not merely upon any secular account, as because they are rich, or learned, or kind to us, or of our denomination among religious parties; but because they are God's children, His regenerating grace appears in them, His image and superscription are upon them, and so in them God himself is loved.

COMMENT ON THE MOTTO TEXT

Here the Christian brother is describable by his faith; he that believeth that Jesus is the Christ, that he is the Messiah, the prince, that he is the Son of God by nature and office, that he is the chief of all the anointed world, chief of all priests, prophets, or kings, who were ever anointed prepared and furnished for the whole work of the eternal salvation, accordingly yields himself up to his care and direction; and then he is dignified by his descent: He is born of God. This is the principle of faith, and the new nature that attends it or from which it springs, are ingenerated by the Spirt of God.

BACK HOME—Rev. George Robert Garner III returned to Los Angeles early last week from a successful Eastern preaching mission. Rev. Garner addressed more than 1000,000 people with 210 persons accepting Christ and 462 joining churches by letter and Christian experience. He filled the pulpits of all denominations and races.

San Diego Pastor Conducting Revival At Brown Temple

An old fashioned revival, which began with Watch-Night services at 10:30 last evening, will continue through January 16 at the Brown Temple A.M.E. Zion church, 1201 East 43rd st.

The opening services last night featured a sermon by Rev. K. L. Buford, pastor of the church, Rev. B. L. Carson, dynamic pastor of the Logan Chapel A.M.E. Zion church, San Diego, will take charge of the meetings from now on.

Rev. Carson is one of the most profound and forceful speakers on the West Coast. Any who fail to hear him will miss a rare treat. Assisting Revs. Carson and Buford in the services will be Revs. J. W. E. Wright, S. O. Jones, Julia Drake, Philip N. Moore, and H. W. Potts, associate ministers of Brown Temple. Rev. J. T. Hutcheson, assistant to Rev. Carson at San Diego, will also participate in the services.

Good singing and preaching will be heard in these services where the emphasis will be placed on the necessity for Christian growth. A cordial welcome is extended to all who will attend these services.

AME Ministers, Wives Mark 71st Birthday Of Bishop Williams

In an atmosphere of fine fellowship, A.M.E. ministers and their wives of the Southern California Conference celebrated the 71st birthday of their bishop, the Rt. Rev. Noah W. Williams, presiding prelate of the Fifth Episcopal district, on Christmas Day, at the beautiful California residence of Bishop and Mrs. Williams, 3656 Arlington ave., in Los Angeles, where they spend the winter months. Mrs. Williams was hostess at the affair honoring her husband.

The evening began with Christmas carolling and continued with conversation concerning the 34th quadrennial session of the General Conference to be held in Kansas City, Kansas, during the month of May, 1948. Prominent among guests were these delegates to the General Conference and their wives: Rev. and Mrs. Frederick D. Jordan, Rev. and Mrs. Browning C. Allen, Rev. T. A. Patterson, Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Jones, Rev. and Mrs. B. R. Beauchamp, Rev. and Mrs. Frank A. Harris, Rev. U. V. Green, Rev. and Mrs. S. A. Ames, Rev. and Mrs. X. C. Runyon, Rev. B. E. Edwards, Rev. W. J. Conquest, Rev. and Mrs. Jesse L. Glover, Rev. Jesse L. Boyd, Rev. and Mrs. H. J. White, Rev. and Mrs. Alfred K. Quinn and Rev. and Mrs. D. Porter Stovall. The dean of ministers in the Southern California Conference. Rev. J. M. Brown, and Mrs. Brown were also among the guests, as was Mrs. Carrie Jordan, mother of the Rev. Frederick D. Jordan.

DR. FLIPPER OF KANSAS CITY ALSO IS GUEST

Arriving on Christmas Day from Kansas City, Missouri, was Dr. Carl F. Flipper, president of Western university, vice-president of the Douglass Hospital board of directors, pastor of Ebenezer A.M.E. church for the past 13 years, and a member of the A.M.E. board of Christian Education. Mentioned prominently for elevation to the bishoprie in 1948, Dr. Flipper is the house guest of Bishop and Mrs. Williams. He was accompanied by his wife, who is the niece of Mrs. Williams. On Sunday, he was guest speaker at First A.M.E., 8th & Towne, and Grant chapel

Bishop Williams was showered with scores of lovely gifts which were artistically arranged around a lighted Christmas tree. As guests passed into the dining room for the delicious buffet supper, there were many exclamations over the beautiful lace-covered table with a centerpiece of silvered spruce and Christmas angel candles.

Unique features of the evening were a musical presentation of flowers to Bishop Williams, by Mrs. B. A. Beauchamp and the rendition of special recordings of greetings and vocal selections dedicated to Bishop and Mrs. Williams by Mrs. A. K. Quinn. Accompanists for the carolling were Mrs. Ruth Edwards Smith, a visitor who is the sister of Mrs. Beauchamp, and Rev. Jesse L. Glover.

Assisting the hostess in receiving and entertaining guests were: Rev. and Mrs. Frank A. Harris, Rev. and Mrs. John B. St. Felix Isaacs, Rev. and Mrs. Jesse L. Glover, Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Mays and Mrs. Clara Donaldson.

The funeral of Sosthene Malveaux, aged 74 years, who died December 21 in a local hospital, was held at St.Patrick's cathedral, December 27. Internment was made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Mr. Malveaux was a native of Louisiana, and came to Los Angeles four years ago from New Orleans. He was a member of the "Knights of Peter Claver" for 32 years, and was also a devoted "Holy Name" member.

He leaves to mourn his loss, is wife, Mrs. Felicia Malveaux; ive sons, Lawrence, Adam, Clarnse, and Augustine, of Los Angeles; and Walton of New Orleans; and five daughters, Mrs. Elenora Lotterberry, Mrs. Ineze Tucker, Miss Mogenet Malveaux, Mrs. Carmella Fraches, and Miss Elizabeth Malveaux, all of Los Angeles.

In Memory of My Husband, Chas. H. Dodge

Five years have passed, dear,
Since the angels took you away
Into that land of somewhere,
There with Christ, our Lord, to stay.
Where there is no pain or illness
In a land God planted above,
To bask in songs and praises
In His Heavenly mansions above.

Your devoted wife,
Mrs. Martha T. Dodge

McCoy to Celebrate Family Day Jan. 4

The McCoy Memorial Baptist church, 802 East 46th street, will hold its annual Family Day services on Sunday, Jan. 4. All members are urged to attend, bringing the entire family.

Special effort is being executed to make this one of the most celebrated days in the history of the church. We feel that family relationship cannot be over-emphasized and that it still remains one of the basic factors of human life.

For the morning message the pastor, Rev. E. A. Anderson, will bring an influential and inspirational sermon speaking on the subject, "Family Relationship," and stressing the fact that family relationship is excelled only by relationship with God. The two being so closely related that one is not likely to be present without the other.

The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Revere Green, with Mrs. Joyce Collins, pianist, and Mr. Jules Haywood as guest organist, will render a special song service with a choice of music related to the family worship.

At 3 p.m., the nationally known, popular Gilbert Singers and Preachers will be present as special guests of the day. This service will be one you will not want to miss. Come out and enjoy the beauty and wonderful relationship of worshipping with the entire faamily. This heartwarming service is planned in an effort to more clearly correlate the church and the home. It is our hope that the pattern set up in the Sunday morning worship will be followed throughout the coming year, developing a higher and more practical Christianity.

For the 7 p.m. evening worship there will be baptism and old fashioned Covenant meeting; at the close of this spirit filled worship, Holy Communion will be served.

An added event of the day will be the taking of moving pictures of the entire congregation at the close of morning service. These pictures will be shown on the screen the fourth Sunday night in January at 7 p.m.

The minister wishes all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Baha'i News

Divine Revelation: Spring-Board for Social Action, will be the subject of the lecture given by Mrs. Virginia Foster at Los Angeles headquarters of the Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire avenue, on Sunday, Jan. 4, at 3 p.m.

The Baha'i Faith renews the vigor and vitality of all the previously revealed religions and brings new spiritual laws for the social and economic welfare of humanity as a whole. This is the day of the return of the promised one whom God shall make manifest. The Baha'i Faith confirms all previous manifestations and adds a tremendous spiritual force for this day and age. COST IS IMPORTANT

The comforting beauty and completeness of an Angelus service is important to the bereaved family. To many, however, the matter of cost is equally important. Our wide range of prices for complete funerals enables any family to select an Angelus service at a price within their easy ability to pay.

A PROVED PLAN TO ELIMINATE FUNERAL EXPENSE

A new funeral service policy, recommended by Angelus Funeral Home pays all expenses regardless of how little has been paid in, costs only a few cents a day. Phone or stop in for free information today . . . no obligation.

Rev. Hampton Conducting Revival At Victory Baptist

Victory Baptist church, 48th and McKinley, began the New Year with an old fashioned revival meeting. At 10:30 p.m., New Year's Eve, the watch meeting was the first of a series of revival meetings which will continue through January 11, under the capable guidance of Rev. Charles Hampton of San Diego.

Rev. Hampton is an eloquent speaker, a man with a message, a minister who carries into the pulpit the fire of Christian zeal and the earnestness of soul-saving. Rev. Hampton is the former minister of Bethel Baptist church in San Diego, was once president of the Western States Convention, and has become well-known from coast to coast for his eloquence and for his moving sermons delivered in leading churches in the east as well as in the west.

The theme of the revival meeting will be "The Sufficiency of God's Grace." Each service will be enlivened by the inspirational singing of the Victory Choir, featuring the famous gospel singers: E. D. Smallwood, Earl Pleasant and Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor of Victory Baptist church. Services will begin nightly at 7:30 p.m., and special prayer services will be conducted daily. Each night there will be an inspirational "Hymn Sing", featuring the congregational voices of all present, lifted in the strains of soul-stirring gospel songs.

Rev. Charles Hampton

Ground Broken Sunday for Kingdom Bapt.

Ground breaking services of the Kingdom Baptist church, corner of Temple and Occidental streets, were observed last Sunday at 3 p.m.

The actual ground breaking took place at the site of the new church, following services conducted in the Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith ave. After the reading of a Scripture lesson by the pastor, Rev. A. Wendall Ross, and singing and the offering of a prayer, each person present turned a shovelful of dirt, and thanked God for His manifold blessings.

In the preliminary services held in Second Baptist church, the devotionals were conducted by Dr. Albert G. Miller, Dr. W. P. Carter, president of the Western Baptist State Convention, was master of ceremonies. Words of appreciation were given by Rev. Ross, and a response was given by Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of Second Baptist church.

Felicitations were offered by S. P. Johnson, mortician; Dr. H. Claude Hudson, dentist; Dr. W. D. Carter, of the National Baptist Convention, Inc.; Dr. Frederick Mitchell, Interdenominational Ministers Alliance; Rev. Horace N. Mayes, dean of Religious Education; Dewitt Griffith, Golden State Life Insurance; and Dr. Scott, Progressive Baptist church.

Music was furnished by Rev. A. A. Peters, Rev. Eugene Smallwood, the choirs of the Second Baptist and Progressive Baptist churches; and the Radio Choir of the Victory Baptist church. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Marie Williams, representing the City Missions.

Organ Guild Of Independent Given Party

Members of the Organ Guild of the Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma streets, were given a Christmas party by Madams Jessie Dobbins and Lulu Taylor, Sunday, December 21, in the beautiful and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Parker, 1348 East 20th st.

The house was decorated with poinsettas, chrysanthemums, gladiolas, and the traditional Christmas holly. The dining table was adorned with a very pretty lighted tree for a center piece, around which were lovely gifts to be exchanged.

A delicious turkey dinner prepared by Madams Dobbins and Taylor was enjoyed by all. The evening was spent in music, laughter, and glee. The making of recordings on a home Phono Record maker operated by Mr. Nelson Chen was a feature of the evening.

Greeting some 60 members and their guests were: Mrs. Leticia McDonald and Mrs. Jessie Dobbins.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Mrs. Madie Bonner, president (starting her fifth term); Mrs. Margaret Fisher, vice president; Mrs. Ruby Hayden, secretary; Mrs. Leticia McDonald, financial secretary; Mrs. Carrie Felder, treasurer; Mrs. Jette Skellern, chairman of the sick committee; Mother Nannie Harris, chaplain; Mrs. Matilda Parker, reporter; and Mrs. Fannie Benjamin, advisor.

'Wings Over Jordan' Album Sent Sailor By Rev. G. T. Settle

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Somewhere at sea or in a distant port, Steward 1/c, John Williams Jr., of the United States navy, will receive a belated Christmas present from Rev. Glynn T. Settle, originator and director of the Wings Over Jordan Choir. An album of Wings Over Jordan recordings, autographed by Rev. Settle, has been sent to the young sailor as a token of friendship and appreciation.

Rev. Settle and the Wings Over Jordan Choir received a letter from Williams on December 18, which was written as his ship passed through the Suez Canal. He wrote to express his pleasure in finding an album of the Wings Over Jordan Choir on his last trip to Norfolk, Virginia, and requested that certain of his favorite numbers be recorded also. The young man was unaware that there are eight additional records in a second album which includes some af the spirituals he requested.

Knights, Daughters Of Tabor to Install Officers Thurs., Jan. 8

The Knights and Daughters of Tabor of the Los Angeles District will hold a public installation of officers at the Triangular Church of Truth and Wadsworth streets, on Thursday, January 8, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Pearl C. Woods is pastor.

Mrs. Hamilton Joins Camp Meetin' Choir

NEW YORK—J. Garfield Wilson, director of the famous Camp Meetin' Choir, has announced the addition to his staff of Mrs. Hamilton. Mrs. Hamilton, formerly the associate business manager of the Wings Over Jordan Choir, will travel extensively as the booking and public relations representative of America's foremost jubilee choir.

The new staff member of the Camp Meetin' Choir majored in social work at the University of Michigan and took graduate work at the University of Chicago. She has been superintendent of the Parkside Hospital in Detroit; industrial relations director for the Briggs Manufacturing Company; supervisor of Department of Parks and Boulevards in Detroit; director of a rehabilitation program for tubercular veterans at Alexandria, Arkansas; and most recently of the Wings Over Jordan Choir.

In Memoriam

In loving and tender memory of a dear husband and father, James Ross Morton, who went to be with Jesus one year ago, December 27, 1946.

When loved ones cross the sunset sea
God never meant that there shoud be
Lonely hours of sorrow for those who are left upon the shore.
For if He filled this world of ours
With love and stars and fragrant flowers,
How can we doubt His tender care
Will give more love and beauty there?

Sadly missed by his loving wife, Mrs. Mattie Morton and family.

Home is the dearest spot on earth, and it should be the centre, though not the boundary, of the affections.

Million Dollars Raised in '47 By College Fund

NEW YORK — The United Negro College Fund in its fourth annual campaign in 37 communities has raised over $1,018,000 to help finance the 33 private Negro colleges and improve educational opportunities for young Negro men and women, it was announced yesterday by Frank M. Totton, national campaign chairman and vice president of the Chase National Bank.

"These Negro colleges with an all-time high enrollment of more than 30,000," said Totton, "will be greatly helped by these funds. Their task of balancing the budgets has been made possible by the generosity of the American people."

"Each year," continued Totton, "more and more people become convinced that a fine contribution to the whole field of race relations is being made by the Negro colleges and their graduates. The number of contributors has doubled since the first campaign in 1944 and the number of volunteer workers has more than tripled."

Individuals contributed over $440,000 to the 1947 campaign. Corporations gave almost $300,000, and Foundations contributed over $200,000. Labor unions, churches, lodges, clubs and other associations made up the balance of approximately $80,000. The contributions from Negroes have increased each year. Negroes still in the armed forces contributed $13,592.98.

Christian Science Sunday Theme 'God'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "God" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is chosen from Isaiah, and reads, "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God."

Mark's Gospel reports that Jesus "entered into the synagogue, and taught. And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes. . . . And forthwith, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever, and anon they tell him of her. And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered unto them."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "As mortals reach, through knowledge of Christian Science, a higher sense, they will seek to learn, not from matter, but from the divine Principle, God, how to demonstrate the Christ, Truth, as the healing and saving power."

Truth is the summit of being; justice is the application of it to affairs. —Emerson

Will The Negro Vote Elect Next President?

"The party that wins the Negro vote in 1948," declares Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, "will be the one that offers some concrete evidence that it intends at least to help him get a square deal."

Mr. White points out, in a signed article in a recent issue of Collier's, that the Negro vote holds the balance of power in 17 states of the north and west, and that if the election is close it will be the Negro vote that will send the next president into the White House.

The Negroes are strongest in nine of the states which have a total of 233 electoral votes. It takes only 266 such votes to elect a president of the United States.

The Negro is thoroughly disillusioned by past campaign promises of both Democrats and Republicans, says Mr. White, and "watches with a hard-boiled eye the antics of the would be Presidents and lawmakers. . . . There appears to be no enthusiasm at all for any of the current Republican candidates."

The Negroes should not unite to form a racial block, however, advises Mr. White. All people, no matter of what race, color, or creed, should unite as American citizens and work for the welfare of all. "Whether the Negro does so or not is not a choice he will make. It will be made for him by the politicians."

The California Eagle agrees thoroughly with Walter White's analysis of the political situation. California is one of the crucial states involved. New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, New Jersey, Missouri, West Virginia, Maryland, Connecticut, Delaware, Kansas, Kentucky, Oklahoma, and Massachusetts are the others.

This does not mention the Southern states at all. Of course the Negro vote is not a powerful force there yet, but both Negroes and whites are organizing and by 1948 their influence will be felt.

It's entirely up to us to keep our powder dry and to go on fighting. We have the politicians in both parties scared out of their wits. Now they'd better come across, and show they mean to do something more than make mere promises if they wish to win our vote.

In California a new party is being organized. At the same time liberals in the Democratic Party are working to place Henry Wallace, the one man who can even hope to take the place of Franklin Roosevelt, on the Democratic ticket. All power to them, we say. But if they don't succeed, we warn both Democrats and Republicans that the Negro vote will unite with the votes of other minority groups, with the liberal forces everywhere, and we'll put our own candidate into the White House, in spite of all the Republican and Democratic politicians may say or do.

Holding The Rent Line

Requests of Chicago's Rent Advisory Board to permit residents of the Windy City to increase their rents, were denied last week by Federal Expediter Tighe E. Woods.

Woods told John J. Ryan, chairman of the rent advisory board, that the position of Chicago's landlords appeared to be better than that of the landlords of many other large cities. So therefore there was no need for an increase in rents.

Tenants in the city of Los Angeles hope fervently he will be of the same mind when he decrees upon the rental situation in this city.

Holding the rent line, of course, is important. But of prime importance to most people is getting something to live in at any price. There seem to be as few houses for rent as before. Now that 1948 is just around the corner, with the 1948 elections in plain sight, perhaps both Republicans and Democrats will vie at least a bit in pretending to serve the public by securing homes for voting citizens to live in.

I have yet to see the disease that loves one man or woman better than the next, or one part of the city better than another. On the contrary, the love of disease for all Mankind is so generous that it is willing to share its life with him wherever and whenever he can be found, even if it means taking a trip across town or country.—George M. Uhl, M.D. health officer, City of L.A.

A small eastern clique has burrowed in at the top of a nation-wide railroad-banker-laywer monopoly which is stronger than the government, and which dictates foreign as well as domestic policy.—Robert R. Young, board chairman of the Chesapeak & Ohio Railroad.

Welcome The New Year

Standing on the threshold of 1948, looking backward to the retreating 1947, it is with a degree of deep concern that we strain forward to see into the future.

We still have the rumbling of war in Palestine, in China. Greece is tottering on the verge of a revolution—which all liberals hope will be successful for the so-called Communists, the peasants who are fighting desperately in guerrilla warfare. There is a social upheaval not only in Europe and Asia, but in every part of the world which may not spell peace in 1948, but which nevertheless denotes an awareness hitherto unknown in world conditions.

Here in the United States of America the mobilization in Chicago of citizens from all over the nation who demanded the return in American politics to the principles of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, shows that even here in this complacent country the people are beginning to wake up.

The only man who can possibly take the place of that great friend of the people of America, is Henry Wallace. He is apparently the only man today who has demonstrated not only his ability but also his willingness to return to the people's program.

There is no need to remind the readers of The California Eagle of the great good that has come to the Negro people through the friendship of Franklin Roosevelt—the Fair Employment Practices Act, the anti-discrimination rulings in army and navy, in education, in housing,—the chance of a Negro to rise to the standard of first class citizenship where he belongs.

This great work has been practically stopped since the amalgamation of the Republican and the Democratic parties into one political force, dangerously bordering on Fascism.

Henry Wallace is the only leader who has actively opposed this trend. He is the one man whose platform has been built upon the citadel of democracy for all peoples all over the world. He is the man who must be elected president of the United States of America in 1948.

Guilty Democrats

The fears of the Democrats aroused by the third party movement stems from a guilty conscience, according to Thomas L. Stokes, prominent columnist in last Friday's edition of The Daily News.

He thinks perhaps those fears are exaggerated, just as anyone with a guilty conscience is worried more by what may happen to him than one whose conscience is clear.

"The guilty conscience derives from a realization that this Democratic administration is not," says Mr. Stokes, "in general effect, an active progressive administration, but one inclined rather to take the easier road of compromise."

It doesn't matter so much if we wish to slide down hill when vital issues are not involved. But in the crisis today the question of whether or not the world shall survive is involved. The question of whether the United States of America shall survive.

For in all this hullabaloo about Communism, there lurks the fear of what the Common People, driven too far, may do. There is danger to those who wish to prolong the life of the decadent capitalist system, not only in Europe but in America as well.

"The Democratic Party shows signs of weariness and old age," states Mr. Stokes. It has gone over in a fog of indecision and ineptness to the Republican party, and the columnist feels Henry Wallace has sized up the situation very accurately when he said that what this country needs is a second party.

And so the feeble old donkey desperately striving to stay on its feet and buck the traffic of the demands of a young, progressive, forward-looking America, needs a shot in the arm badly to meet those demands. If Henry Wallace can supply that extra vitality and enthusiasm, whether or not he wins the election, he will be doing the people of America a real service.

We feel that Henry Wallace, and those who believe as he does, can and will supply the needed new blood, if not to the Democratic Party per se, surely to the democracy of America and its ambitious youth.

With the exception of a thin red line of Christian Communist groups, which reaches from the days of Jesus to the days of the Ana-baptists and even to certain present-day sects, the Christian Church, having entered into an alliance with the powers of this world, has forced itself to forget that Jesus and his disciples preached what today we would call Judeo-Bolshevism and that the members of the early New Testament churches had all things in common . . ."—The Protestant.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

There are three resolutions every American citizen should make for the coming year.

The first is to quit war-mongering ourselves, and to do all in our power to discourage this evil among our neighbors and friends. We don't mean by this the war-mongering that is being carried on by our own government. Nor over the radio. Nor in the scare headlines in many of the newspapers.

It's the chatty, gossipy kind. The kind we engage in over the backyard fence with our next-door neighbor. Or when we meet with friends on the street. Or at an afternoon tea or social gathering.

"Oh, we're going to have war with Russia, sure. I heard a man say it wouldn't take more than two or three months now. And I say we'd better do it right away. Before they ever get that atomic bomb they're working their heads off to get hold of. Did you see in the paper the other day . . . ?" You know the kind.

Of course, the Hearst press and other reactionary papers furnish the material for this vicious gossip. But did you ever stop to think they wouldn't print that stuff if their subscribers didn't like to read it? If you don't like what Hearst says, cancel your subscription. And say why.

So, resolve right now never to be a party to such war mongering yourself. And if you hear anyone else talking about what he only imagines, correct him by telling him the truth.

And that brings us to the second resolution we should make for 1948. We should resolve to know more about our own government and what our government is doing in world affairs. If there were an informed electorate in the United States of America, we wouldn't have the Thomas-Rankin Un-American Committee. It simply couldn't operate. We wouldn't have the "loyalty tests." We wouldn't even hear of sending aid to Europe to defeat Communism," nor of any rumors of helping Chiang Kai-Shak.

To find out about our government, we first of all should look up the differences between the two major parties which control that government. You say there is no difference? Oh, yes, there is. One or two individuals can't merge the two into one, not any more than two swallows make a summer. By spending just a few hours in any library, by using any encyclopedia, you can learn more in one evening than you can in days of reading newspapers and magazines.

An encyclopedia is as impersonal as a dictionary. Use it to study our government, our history. To study Russia, China, and any other foreign country. Then see if you can engage in that former stupid gossip you used to delight in.

Victor Yates, member of the British parliament, on a speaking tour in the United States, was amazed at the political confusion in this country. He said he believed "a large portion of Americans do not know the difference between Liberalism, Conservatism, Communism, and Socialism." He was frightened by the widespread feeling in America that war with Russia is inevitable.

"There is nothing in England comparable to the 'Red-hunt' here," he said, "and no giving in to the idea of war."

The difference is due to our lack of information, compared to the political awareness of the English people.

The third resolution should be to quit Red-baiting. As Yates said, "a large portion of Americans" do not know what Communism is. He might have said, "the vast majority of Americans," and have been more nearly correct. If we did know, we wouldn't call everything done for men and women "subversive."

Here again we can go to the library and look up what we don't know. Use the dictionaries. Use the encyclopedias. Any encyclopedia — Compton's, World Book, Americana, International, Britannica—will give you a vast amount of information on Communism. On Socialism. On Russia. On any subject you choose.

I'm suggesting encyclopedias because to date neither Jack Tenney nor the Thomas-Rankin Committee has declared them subversive. They probably would if they read any of them, however. There are scores of other books and magazines. Your librarian will help you if you ask her. Anyway let us resolve that we will be informed citizens of America in 1948. Then war mongering, Red-baiting and all the evils that thrive on ignorance will be abolished.

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

(Sixth Installment)

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

The right of all qualified citizens to vote is today considered axiomatic by most Americans. To achieve universal adult suffrage we have carried on vigorous political crusades since the earliest days of the Republic. In theory the aim has been achieved, but in fact there are many backwaters in our political life where the right to vote is not assured to very qualified citigen.

The franchise is barred to some citizens because of race; to others by institutions or procedures which impede free access to the polls. Still other Americans are in substance disfranchised whenever electoral irregularities or corrupt practices dissipate their votes or distort their intended purpose. Some citizens—permanent residents of the District of Columbia—are excluded from political representation and the right to vote as a result of outmoded national traditions. As a result of such restrictions, all of these citizens are limited, in varying degrees, in their opportunities to seek office and to influence the conduct of government on an equal plane with other American citizens.

The denial of the suffrage on account of race is the most serious present interference with the right to vote. Until very recently, American Negro citizens in most southern states found it difficult to vote. Some Negroes have voted in parts of the upper South for the last 20 years. In recent years the situation in the deep South has changed to the point where it can be said that Negroes are beginning to exercise the political rights of free Americans. In the light of history, this represents progress, limited and precarious, but nevertheless progress.

This report cannot adequately describe the history of Negro disfranchisement. At different times, different methods have been employed. As legal devices for disfranchising the Negro have been held unconstitutional, new methods have been improvised to take their places. Intimidation and the threat of intimidation have always loomed behind these legal devices to make sure that the desired result is achieved.

"WHITE PRIMARY"

Until 1944, the white primary, by which participation in the Democratic primary is limited to white citizens, was used in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, and Mississippi as the most effective modern "legal" device for disfranchising Negroes. While some Southern Negroes succeeded in spite of various obstacles in voting in general elections, almost none voted in the Democratic primaries. Since the Democratic primary is the only election of any significance, the device of the white primary resulted in exclusion of Negroes from government in these states. Over a [illegible] period of time, advocates of white supremacy had refined this device to the point where it seemed to be constitutionally foolproof. The command of the 15th amendment, prohibiting states from abridging suffrage because of race or color, was circumvented by purporting to vest the power to exclude Negroes in the political party rather than in the state.

But in 1944, the United States supreme court in the case of Smith v. Allwright overruled an earlier decision and held the Texas whit eprimary illegal. It declared that the exclusion rules of the Texas Democratic party were in effect the rules of the state and were therefore forbidden by the 15th amendment.

DEFIANCE

Some states adapted their primary laws to the supreme court ruling, others resisted, first, by refusing to open white primaries to Negroes until further litigation made the Texas ruling applicable to them, then, by devising other methods of depriving Negroes of the ballot. Today the effort to preserve the pure white electorial system in these states is continuing.

Two states, Louisiana and Texas, repealed white primary provisions immediately after the supreme court decision; Florida, Alabama, and Georgia were forced to do so by further court rulings. South Carolina called a special session of the state legislature at which all state laws in any way regulating primaries were repealed. The theory governing this action was that by placing the primaries entirely outside the law and the structure of government the ruling in Smith v. Allwright would be rendered inapplicable. In a message to the special session of the general assembly, the governor of the state said:

"After these statutes are repealed, in my opinion, we will have done everything in our power to guarantee white supremacy in our primaries of our state insofar as legislation is concerned. Should this prove inadequate, we South Carolinains will use the necessary methods to retain white supremacy in our primaries and to safeguard the homes and happiness of our people.

"White supremacy will be maintained in our primaries; let the chips fall where they may."

In 1947 the white primary in South Carolina, resting on its new foundation, was held invalid by the United States district court for the Eastern District of South Carolina in the case of Elmore v. Harris. In its opinion the court said:

"Racial distinction cannot exist in the machinery that selects the officers and lawmakers of the nUited States and all citizens of this state and country are entitled to cast a free and untrammelled ballot in our elections, and if the only material and realistic elections are clothed with the name 'primary' they are equally entitled to vote there."

The case will undoubtedly be carried to the supreme court for a final decision.

Alabama took a different course from South Carolina. Instead of repealing the primary laws it sought to continue disfranchisement by establishing "qualifications" standards under which Negroes could be barred by administrative action. The "Boswell amendment" adopted by this state in November, 1946, set up a provision under which voters would be required "to understand and explain" provisions of the state constitution. Exclusion by this kind of device is a familiar southern phenomenon. The tradition is to ignore such tests with respect to white voters but to apply them to Negroes —literally, where there is any possibility of eliminating them under the test; fraudently, where they meet the test.

In a recent case in the Department of Justice files, a Negro school teacher was disqualified under a North Carolina provision requiring an ability to read and interpret the constitution. The registrar refused to register him on the ground that he had not read the federal constitution in a satisfactory mannerr. However, in a statement to the FBI the registrar declared, "my decision not to register him was based solely on the disfranchisement of the colored people in this county rather than on his ability to read, to write and to explain the constitution." This case was subsequently procecuted by the Department of Justice and resulted in the conviction of the registrar.

THE POLL TAX

The poll tax—another important legal obstacle to full suffrage in some southern states—limits white as well as Negro suffrage. The poll tax has frequently had an unequal racial effect, since, like the "understand and explain" clauses, it has been administered in a discriminatory manner. It has been very effective as an anti-Negro device. A poll tax simply places the payment of a fee between the voter and the ballot box. In some states it is cumulative; taxes not paid in years when the voter does not go to the polls pile up and he must pay more than one year's tax before he can vote. The poll tax has curtailed the size of the entire electorate, white and Negro. Seven states—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Caronjlan, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia—still maintain this tax as a prerequisite to voting. Since 1921 four other states have abandoned the poll tax. These are North Carolina, Louisiana, Florida and Georgia.

It was estimated on the floor of the house of representatives on July 21, 1947, that:

"In the Presidential elections of 1944, 10 per cent of the potential voters voted in the seven

W. J. Wheaton Says

"Swing Low Sweet Chariot." As we were about to knock on the door of the apartment occupied by Mary Ann, we heard the voice. It was a voice once heard would linger in memory. It was one of those voices that musicians seek for but seldom find. It was a voice so compelling in its sweet, mellow tones, so pathetic, yet as the words of the song continued, and "Coming For to Carry Me Home" was reached, it rose in volume and majestic power that only faith in divine power could express. The sole accompaniment of the singe was the clatter of the dishes as she moved in setting the table. When the words of the song had ended, and the voice had subsided in a low hum that carried the tune we ventured to make our presence known. The usual kindly smile and handshake greeted me, and "Come right in honey, I'll be ready in a jiffey."

Pushing back my plate, and placing the feeding tools, according to Emily Post, Mary Ann drew up her chair for our usual, after supper chat. With the tune of "Swing Low," still haunting me, I turned to Mary Ann and asked, "Did you ever sing in a church choir?" She smiled. "Honey," she said "Back home we didn't have no church singing; everybody just singed. Didn't have no music, only our own singing."

"Did anybody ever tell you that you had a most remarkable voice?" "No," she replied. I likes to sing and can't help it." Well! we thought if that voice had training years ago we would have had another Marion Anderson. "Mary Ann, there's one of the greatest singers in the world coming here soon, and you and I are going to hear her, maybe we will take little Mary Ann with us, and after the concert is over take you back for introduction. Deep, and mellow, with the zeal of an undying faith, that voice of Mary Ann's would have inscribed a listing memento in musical annals." Swing Low, Sweet Chariot!" That voice intoning the tune, will haunt me for days. Having nearly reached the peak in the musical world, we turned our thoughts to that of literature, the prediction made some years ago by a writer who said "Among American men of letters there will soon appear the New Negro. He will be marked by an analytic proclivity directed with excruciating effect upon Christionity and democracy. His most irritating characteristic will be a desire to see, to know men, things, and movements as they are—free from the veneer put upon them by an environment dominated by Christionity and democracy.'"

"If the analysis made by the writer be correct, based on the experience of a people, those two concepts give sufficient foundation for a new literature. This new writer will be of powerful influence. He will rally to the cross and the flag that body of idealistic men known as devout to an ideal and loyal to a cause and flexible to influenc of environment. If however should be that this new writ should find that these two co cepts (Christianity and demo racy) should stand between hi and the large life, he will teac brushing aside of Christianit and democracy for such concep as he, in the light of his exper ence, here in America may i volve. The most potent weapo of this new writer will be h sense of humor. He will be ab to poke fun at the people of h own race for their impotency i an environment from whic other races of people have wo so much and at white American for their failure and inabilit to make their practice in re ligion, government and life, jib to their boasted theories. He wi ask of Christianity and democ racy why they resist attempt of the Negro to seek the efficac of their tenets. But he (the Ne gro) will continue to teach preach, write and sing of de sirable human life as life no based on Christianity or democ racy or at least as life not base on Christianity and democrac as per the dictum of white Amer icans. Involved in this question ing, which this new writer wi prompt among his own people will be the passing of th dominion of white American ove the thoughts of black Americans a dominion which paliates veneers, and covers up the breaking down of those tw major concepts: Christianity an democracy. That group of writer is in the offing. The Negro, i literature, is developing.

Quite a stir has developed among the tenants of buildings condemned by the Board o Planners. Most of the buildings are occupied by Negroes, mi grants imported from the South as workers. The housing prob lem has been one of San Fran cisco's most potent headaches During the war the housing con ditions were condoned as neces sary evil, but after hostilities the insanitary conditions were so obvious, the menace to health and the spreading of contagious and malignant disease so great that it called for immediate ac tion. A survey showed condi tions, from a sanitary viewpoint and the menace of fire hazards, were even worse than expected. The survey recommended the razing of buildings in whole blocks condemned. What to do with the tenants is the next problem. Housing inadequate, and the people must have some place to go. A roof overhead. Residential restrictions forbid many exchanges. The congested Fillmore area, under the survey doomed to be one of the first districts razed, is occupied mainly by Negro tenants and business. Aside from the condemned buildings, this column has called the attention of the Board of Health to conditions which they were derelict in correcting. The dirty conditions of the thoroughfares, which even occasional visits of the city sweeper could remedy. Having more to say on housing conditions. A Happy New Year for everybody.

The Road to Health

By W. S. Quinland, M. D.

AVOIDING TB IN THE TEENS

Sally came in today for her annual physical examination and chest x-ray.

"I've got to have healthy lungs if I'm going to be a famous singer," she said. "There's nothing like checking up."

"No, there's nothing like checking up," I agreed readily with Sally. But I know that a coveted singing career is not the only reason Sally comes in for her annual check-up. Sally has a wise mother who knows the danger of tuberculosis in young people and who insists that her 16-year-old daughter have a chest x-ray at least once a year.

"I know that if anything goes wrong with Sally I will find it early, before it becomes grave," Sally's mother told me when she called me to make an appointment for Sally. Then she added, "Besides, if nothing is wrong, it's such a relief to know that Sally is in good health."

I wish that more parents would follow the example set by Sally's mother. I wish I could acquaint each and every one personally with the fact that TB kills a greater number of young people between the ages of 15 and 44 than any other disease—that many young lives could be saved if more parents taught their children a few simple health rules.

Early in life Sally was taught sound health principles by her mother. Sally leads an active life, with studies and school activities consuming much of her energy, but she knows that nine or ten hours of sleep every night are essential if she is to continue in good health.

Sally's mother prepares attractive, appetizing meals for her. She sees to it that Sally gets the proper foods in her diet, such as plenty of fruits and vegetables, milk and eggs, meat, whole grain cereals and bread. She knows that the proper diet will build up resistance to fight off disease.

From the time she was a little tot, Sally was taught that cleanliness is important to health. She bathes often and always washes her hands before eating.

In addition to these simple health rules, Sally comes in to see me once a year for a complete physical examination and X-ray, even though she is not ill. She knows that if there is anything wrong with her, I will find it out in the examination and corrective measures will be taken before any serious illness develops.

Ttake a disease such as tuberculosis. There are usually no outward symptoms when TB is in the early stages. Even apparently healthy people may have it without being aware of it. If they follow Sally's example and have an examination and X-ray picture taken at least once a year, they can be sure of the condition of their lungs. The X-ray will show up any signs of disease even in the early stages and treatment can be started. On the other hand, if their lungs are healthy, they will be happy to know that, too.

All parents should know that the best safeguard against TB, and other illnesses, is a sound physical condition. It is up to the parents to see that their children follow good health rules and get a physical examination and chest X-ray once a year.

SEEKS WAGE HIKE

CHICAGO—Wage increases to meet rising living costs will be sought by the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, Ralph Helstein, UPWA president, announced yesterday.

The union had notified the major packing companies that it will open its current contracts "since it is obvious that the present session of congress has defaulted on its responsibility to enact legislation which would curb rising prices."

A LAYMAN'S VIEW

By Leon W. Steward

VETERANS—WHAT OF THE NEW YEAR?

The GI Bill of Rights was a godsend to the young man who had been snatched away from the pursuit of making preparations for life, from budding careers and from fairly good starts towards home making. But its opportunities are gradually slipping away from many who are getting into the situations of false security just as many of their fathers did after World War I—when there was no such aid offered war veterans. This column is written for the purpose of calling out to the young men to begin the new year in a program of training that will make them worth more on the labor market than they now are worth.

Leon Steward

MARRIAGE, SECURITY INDEPENDENCE

During the war it was our pleasure to receive over 100 letters each month from young men in the armed services. Regardless of the branch of service they were in, the war theatre in which they were serving or their rank—from buck private to officer—they all pointed out that when they returned home after the end of the war they would seek MARRIAGE, SECURITY and INDEPENDANCE. There was never a doubt expressed. They had fought for something real and they expressed it in these terms. When they returned home they evidently found the girl agreeable to marriage. Most of them lost no time at it and many of these lost no time making a down payment on a home. However, too many of them appear to have ended the definiteness of this program right at the point where the GI Bill of Rights offers a helping hand—towards "independence and security."

LAYMAN'S VIEW

The matter of throwing off the yoke of controls of the military or parental variety was not simple for young men who do not possess saleable skills nor the urge to secure them—even with the GI Bill as aid. Some rejoined the army, some the navy, while others applied for $40 a week and, after some weeks of "rest from the war," they began looking for a good job. Not finding one that gave them the feeling of security and independence nor the money they wanted, they moved from job to job, growing more and more neurotic in the process.

The problem of getting veterans back in college was not very difficult even after World War I. Overcrowded college campuses of the nation attest to the fact that the young men whose college careers had been interrupted by or before the war are demonstrating that their previous college experience had opened their eyes to the value of such training. Many of those who are now securing skills in the various trades through the GI Bill are either high school graduates or persons who were finding satisfaction in plying their trade before the war. However, it is to those who are not finding their present work or lack of work satisfactory that we are especially appealing to Start the New Year in Training towards Security and Independence.

MEN WANTED

If anyone knows a young man who has neglected securing additional training—even those at some sacrifice of money which he might otherwise earn at the present time—point him to the great possibilities which are still his under the GI Bill of Rights. If he has already conferred with the Veterans Administration and the Urban League, which are both eager to serve him, he may drop us a line in care of the Eagle, 4071 So. Central. Or better yet, he may telephone RE. 7937 and ask for us by name. We are in touch with several training centers. This is a serious matter. The future of many a young man might well be determined by what he did or did not do for himself in 1948—towards making himself happily married, secure and reasonably independent. All of these rest upon whether he has mastered the skills which the job market needs.

Excerpts from Wallace's Epoch-Making Speech

. . . I love the Americanism I was taught to respect in the public schools of Iowa one-half century ago. That Americanism was betrayed after World War I by forces which found their origin in monoply capitalism, yellow journalism, and racial bigotry. Today there is greater menace than ever before. A menace more serious than has ever confronted the human race.

That menace can be met and overcome only by a new political alignment in America—which requires the origin of a new political party.

* * * * *

There is no real fight between a Truman and a Republican. Both stand for a policy which opens the door to war in our lifetime and makes war a certainty for our children.

* * * * *

I say a vote for a new party in '48 will be the most valuable vote you have ever cast or ever will cast.

* * * * *

We're fighting for old-fashioned Americanism at the polls. We're fighting for freedom of speech and freedom of assembly.

* * * * *

(Opposing universal military service, Wallace said that the cost of organizing for peace and prosperity is far less than organizing for war.)

We who believe this will be called "Russian tools" and "Communists." Let the warmongers not distort and becloud the issue by name calling. We are not for Russia and we are not for Communism, but we recognize Hitlerite methods when we see them in our land.

Trail Blazers: Gloster B. Current

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

In every community there are men who rise above the level of mediocrity and become the most progressive and farsighted men in their field. Like that dynamic city of Detroit, Gloster B. Current is such a dynamo and few men have influenced and etched their personalities upon it as has he.

Current is a young man of exceptional stamina and unwavering stability. On a sound principle he's almost uncompromising. And he'll gamble on it, win, lose, or draw. His attitude is not predicated on money for no man is too great for him to challenge and no man is too small for him to give a supporting hand.

A native of Indianapolis, Indiana, he was named for his grandfather, Rev. Gloster B. Bryant, a Methodist minister who built Wesley Methodist church in Los Angeles and Scott Methodist in Pasadena. He attended the public schools of Chicago and Detroit, where he also attended the Detroit Institute of Professional Arts in the field of music. For eight years he was a popular bandleader, gaining a notable reputation as a musician.

During this time he was studying pre-law at the Detroit Institute of Technology, working in the boys department of the YMCA, and became active in the Youth Council of the NAACP. When he accepted the offer to form a band on the campus at West Virginia State and earn his way through school, he once more became active in the Council. There he assumed a leadership role as president of the college chapter and vice-chairman of the national college chapters in 1939. It was on the campus htat he became polemarch of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and met his wife, the former Leontine Turpeau.

Shortly after his return to Detroit he became the executive secretary of the Detroit branch of the NAACP, which grew to be the largest branch in the country under his militant leadership. Current has been responsible for some of Detroit's major civil rights victories and gained widespread acclaim for the Greenfield restaurant fight. Adamant in fighting discriminatory practices, he deplores any tendency to promote Negro welfare at the cost of segregation. This has probably caused a sharp cleavage in his camp but he remains steadfast.

In 1945 he took the Voelker Fellowship award in public administration at Wayne university. He gained national prominence when he was chosen one of the 200 delegates to attend the World Youth Conference in London, where the World Federation of Democratic Youth was organized. And he was one of the first to bring back the story of Britain's brown babies.

More recently he was promoted to the New York office as national director of branches for the NAACP, which has 1247 senior branches and 300 youth chapters in colleges in 44 states and 500,000 members. Current directs the program and activity of the branches, youth councils, and college chapters and it is from his department that 80 percent of the funds are raised to keep the NAACP going. Last year he traveled over 100,000 miles visiting the branches of the Deep South, West, Midwest, and East. Housed in the historic Wendell Wilkie building in the heart of the downtown New York the modern offices of the NAACP occupy three floors.

Liberal in his politics he places great emphasis on the Negro vote and labor for the hope of the Negro South. He is the father of two children, Angella and Gloster Junior and continues to be affiliated with civic organiaztions in Detroit as a columnist for the Michigan Chronicle, board member of the Metropolitan council on Fair Employment Practices, and Michigan Citizen's Committee. And Gloster B. Current continues to move forward in the main stream of things, designing, molding, and influencing progressive thought.

THE LIVING SOUTH

By Harold Preece

Copyright, 1947, by New South Features

SHADE OF 1948

Now, I'm no newspaper "prophet" like Drew Pearson, Dave "Business is God" Lawrence and a lot of the ladys who get big money from the big dailies for figuring out the shape of things to come.

I've never made any profits out of prophesying. When I look at the holes in my jeans and my good wife tells me not how much, but how little, we have in the bank. I don't reckon that I'll ever see much profit from raring back and cussing back at those perched in the seats of the mighty.

But, without any insurance to cover the risk if I'm proven wrong, I'm going to prophesy two things for 1948.

My first prediction is that our national administration, with the son of a Confederate, Harry Truman, leading the parade, and the son of a Confederate, Tom Clark, leading the "thought control" squad, will keep on doing its double damnest to take us into a bloodspilling, Big Business War during 1948. In line with this prediction, I say that the 'national administration, supported by Big Business, will increasingly use the South as its main base for getting millions of us killed and sent ingloriously to glory.

My second prediction is that the South's people of both colors will answer the war drums, sounding down our hills and valleys, with unflagging work and struggle to build the New South.

In line with that prediction, look at the recent showing that Henry Wallace, the leader of what may be called America's Peace party, made in Dixie. Like the man that he is, he spoke to Southerners of both colors in Negro churches where they sent old Jim Crow flying out the window to let in another bird called the dove of peace.

On December 13, I showed that the national administration was converting the South, from Maryland on the far Eastern border, to Texas on the far western border, into one big center of war industry.

BOOM AND BLOOD

We need industry in the South to keep our people working and eating, to keep Southerners of both colors at peace with each other since lynching and discrimination are simply sharp expressions of economic strains and tensions. But we want industry that will be geared to a lasting prosperity of peace instead of a bloom and blood prosperity of war.

Well, here's another item in the plans that the Truman administration has for Dixie. The federal government stepped in to prevent a strike of Negro and white atomic workers at Oak Ridge, Tenn., with the plea that increased production of atomic weapons was urgent.

If Brother Truman figures that increased production is urgent, there's no way of our figuring things except that the need to fight is urgent.

I think that the need to fight is urgent, too. But I'm carrying neither chips nor atomic bombs on my shoulders for Russia. Neither are the Southern people.

In 1948, you are going to see us fight more urgently to build the New South. You saw how we fought for democracy in 1947, how we shooed Jim Crow off the Freedom Train when it stopped in Dixie. You saw a Negro elected to the county governing board of Suffolk county, Va., and the Negro political organization in that county is taking steps to work with white organizations for the election of both white and Negro candidates.

You will see more Negroes elected to office in Dixie in 1948, and always with the help of whites who are waking up like their black fellow-citizens. You will see the South become one of the main and stirring centers of the movement toward a third party of peace and prosperity that will likely be organized and likely have Henry Wallace as its presidential candidate.

The South was the center of treason to civilized America in 1867. We will not let Harry Truman and the war whoopers make it the center of treason to the civilized world in 1948.

Happy New Year.

To Secure These Rights

poll tax states, as against 49 per cent in the free-vote states. In the congressional elections of 1946, the figures are five per cent for the poll tax states as compared with 33 per cent for the free-voting states."

It has frequently been pointed out that the congressional representation of polltav states is based on proportionately fewer voters than the representation of other jurisdictions. It has also been urged that the polltax is in reality a tax levied by the state upon the citizen's federal legislation forbidding the requirement of a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in federal elections. The house of representatives passed an anti-polltax bill for the fourth time in July of 1947. The three previous bills passed by the house were killed in the senate.

methods of disfranchisement, there are the long-standing techniques of terror and intimidation, in the face of which great courage is required of the Negro who tries to vote. In the regions most characterized by generalized violence against Negroes, little more than "advice" is often necessary to frighten them away from the polls. They have learned, through the years, to discover threats in mood and atmosphere. In one case in a deep southern state, a middle-class Negro who had courageously attempted to vote and to complain to the Department of Justice when he was refused access to the polls, subsequently became so afraid of reprisal that he indicated uncertainty whether he would be willing to testify in court. He asked, if he should decide to testify, to be given ample notice of the date so that he could first move his family out of the region.

In past years, American Indians have also been denied the right to vote and other political rights in a number of states. Most of these restrictions have been abandoned, btu in two states, New Mexico and Arizona, Indians continue to be disfranchised. The constitution of New Mexico withholds suffrage from "Indians not taxed." In Arizona the state constitution has been interpreted to deny the vote to Indians as being "persons under guardianship." Protests against these legal bans on Indian suffrage in the Southwest have gained force with the return of Indian veterans to those states.

The constitutionality of these laws is presently being tested. It has been pointed out that the concept of "Indians not taxed" is no longer meaningful; it is a vestige of days when most Indians were not citizens and had not become part of the community of people of the United States. Indians are now citizens and subject to federal taxation. They are also subject to state taxes, except for lands held in trust for them by the United States government. There is therefore little justification for denying them the franchise on the assumption that they are excused from the burdens of other citizens.

THE RIGHT TO BEAR ARMS

Underlying the theory of compulsory wartime military service in a democratic state is the principle that every citizen, regardless of his station in life, must assist in the defense of the nation when its security is threatened. Despite the discrimination which they encounter in so many fields, minority group members have time and again met this responsibility. Moreover, since equality in military service assumes a great importance as a symbol of democratic goals, minorities have regarded it not only as a duty but as a right.

Yet the record shows that the members of several minorities, fighting and dying for the survival of the nation in which they met bitter prejudice, found that there was discrimination against them even as they fell in battle. Prejudice in any area is an ugly, undemocratic phenomenon; in the armed services, where all men run the risk of death, it is particularly repugnant.

All of the armed forces have recently adopted policies which set as explicit objectives the achievement of equality of opportunity. The War Department has declared that it "Intends to continue its efforts to make the best possible use of available personnel resources in the post war army and in any future emergency, without distinction as to race, religion, color or other non-military considerations." The Navy Department, speaking for both the navy and the marine corps, has stated that "No distinction is made between individuals wearing a naval uniform because of race or color. The navy accept no theory of racial differences inborn ability, but expects that every man wearing its unifor mbe trained and used inaccordance with his maximum individual capacity determined on the basis of individual performance."

The coast guard has stressed "the importance of selecting men for whaat they are, for what they are capable of doing, and insisting on good conduct, good behavior, and good qualities of leadership for all hands . . . As a matter of policy Negro recruits receive the same consideration as all others."

FACTS vs. WORDS

However, despite the lessons of the war and the recent announcement of these policies, the records of the military forces disclose many areas in which there is a great need for further remedial action. Although generally speaking, the basis of recruitment has been somewhat broadened, Negroes, for example, are faced by an absolute bar against enlistment in any branch of the marine corps other than the steward's branch, and the army cleaves to a ceiling for Negro personnel of about ten per cent of the total strength of the service.

There are no official discriminatory requirements for entrance into the navy and the coast guard, but the fact that Negroes constitute a disproportionately small part of the total strength of each of these branches of service (4.4 and 4.2 percent, respectively) may indicate the existence of discrimination in recruiting practices.

Within the services, studies made within the last year disclose that actual experience has been out of keeping with the declations of policy on discrimination. In the army, less than one Negro in 70 is commissioned, while there is one white officer for approximately every seven white enlisted men. In the navy, there are only two Negro officers in a ratio of less than one to 10,000 Negro enlisted men; there are 58,571 white officers, or one for every seven enlisted whites. The marine corps has 7798 officers, none of whom is a Negro, though there are 2190 Negro enlisted men. Out of 2381 coast guard officers, one is a Negro; there are 910 Negro enlisted men. The ratio of white coast guard commissioned to enlisted personnel is approximately one to six.

Similarly, in the enlisted grades, there is an exceedingly high concentration of Negroes in the lowest ratings, particularly in the navy, marine corps, and coast guard. Almost 80 percent of the Negro sailors are serving as cooks, stewards, and steward's mates; less than two percent of the whites are assigned to duty in the same capacity. Almost 15 percent of all white enlisted marines are in the three highest grades; less than 2½ percent of the Negro marines fall in the same category. The disparities in the coast guard are similarly great. The difference in the army is somewhat smalled, but still significant: Less than nine percent of the Negro personnal are in the first three grades, while almost 16 percent of the whites hold these ranks.

Many factors other than discrimination contribute to this result. However, it is clear that discrimination is one of the major elements which keeps the services from attaining the objectives which they have set for themselves.

The admission of minorities to the service academies and other service schools is another area in which the armed forces have enjoyed relatively little success in their efforts to eliminate discrimination. With regard to schools within the services, the disparities indicate that selection for advanced training is doubtless often made on a color basis. As for the service academies, in the course of the last 75 years the Military academy at West Point admitted a total of only 37 Negro cadets, while the Naval academy at Annapolis admitted only six. The Coast Guard academy, while it selects applicants on the basis of open competitive examinations without regard to color, has no knowledge of any Negro ever haveing been accepted.

The absence of Negroes from the service academies is unfortunate because it means that our officers are trained in an undemocratic environment and are denied the opportunity to learn at an early stage in their service careers that men of different races can work and fight together harmoniously.

NATIONAL GUARDS

State authorities promulgate the regulations concerning the enlistment of Negroes and the formation of Negro units in the national guard. Most states do not have Negro units; of those that do, all but three require segregation by regulation. Of 34 states answering an inquiry made by the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training, only two permit the integration of Negroes with white units. The Commission, commenting on discrimination, observed that it "considers harmful the policies of the states that exclude Negroes from their nation guard units. The civilian components should be expanded to include all segments of our population without segregation or discrimination. Total defense requires the participation of all citizens in our defense forces."

Looking to the future, the Commission also found that some of the present practices of the armed forces would negate many of the benefits of the proposed universal training program. Speaking of this program, it said:

". . . it must provide equality of privilege and opportunity for all those upon whom this obligation rests. Neither in the training itself, nor in the organization of any phase of this program, should there by discrimination for or against any person or group because of his race, class, national origin, or religion. Segregation or permit them would nullify the important living lesson in citizenship which such training can give. Nothing could be more tragic for the future attitude of our people, and for the unity of our nation, than a program in which our federal government forced our young manhood to live for a period of time in an atmosphere which emphasized or bred class or racial differences."

When an inidvidual enters the service of the country, he necessarily surrenders some of the rights and privileges which inherein American citizenship. The government in turn undertakes to protect his integrity as an individual and the dignity of his profession. He is entitled to enjoy the respect which should be shown the uniform of the armed services of the United States by all persons. Unfortunately, however, the uniform is not always accorded the esteem it warrants. Some of our servicement are all too often treated with rudeness and discourtesy by civil authorities and the public. There are numerous instances in which they have been forced to move to segregated cars on public carriers. They have been denied access to places of public accomodations and recreation. When they attempt to assert their rights, they are sometimes met with threats and even outright attack. Federal officials find they have no present authority to intervene directly to protect men in uniform against such abuses.

The record is not without its brighter side. A start has been made toward eliminating differentials in opportunity and treatment of minorities in the armed forces. The army is making experimental use of small all-Negro units as organized parts of large white organizations.

Significantly, or the 37 Negroes admitted to the academy at West Point since 1870, 21 were accepted in the last ten years. In 1947, five Negroes were accepted, the largest enrollment of Negro cadets for a single year in the last 75 years.

The navy has adopted a policy of non-segregations and has officially opened all branches to all personnel. The coast guard has abandoned, as a matter of policy, the restriction of Negro guardsmen to duty as cooks, stewards, and bakers. Training courses, intdoctrination programs, pamphlets, and films have been provided for officers and enlisted men in the army and navy to promote understanding between groups and to facilitate the use of minority personnel.

But the evidence leaves no doubt that we have a long way to go. The armed forces, in actual practice, still maintain many barriers to equal treatment for all their members. In many cases, states and local agencies and private persons disregard the dignity of the uniform. There is much that remains to be done, much that can be done at once.

Morally, the failure to act is indefensible. Practicnily, it costs lives and money in the inefficient use of human resources. Perhaps most important of all, we most effective techniques for educating the public to the practicability of American ideals as a way of life. During the last war we and our allies, with varying but undeniable success, are not making use of one of the found that the military services can be used to educate citizens on a broad range of social and political problems. The war experience brought to our attention a laboratory in which we may prove that the majority and minorities of our population can train and work and fight side by side in cooperation and harmony. We should not hesitate to take full advantage of this opportunity.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Hermann Hagedorn, distinguished poet and biographer, in his newest book Prophet in the Wilderness: the Story of Albert Schweitzer, has chosen as his subject one of the great men of our time. Extensive research has gone into this work based on personal letters and other writings. Albert Schweitzer is an intellectual giant, a writer of historical works and one of the greatest organists of Europe. At the age of 30 he renounced the promise of a great European career to give his life to the philanthiate service of mankind as a doctor in Africa. This book tells of his struggles under difficult conditions to lift the burden of disease from the African natives. He is now 72 and still carrying on the great medical center which he has created. It is a sympathetic account of an inspirational life.

Jean Plaidy of London is the author of Beyond the Blue Mountains, a richly romantic story of three women who followed the bright beam of love for four decades, from the old world to the new. Kitty Kennedy, mid-18th century beauty, loves too generously and dies on a convict ship bound for Australia. Her love child, Carolan, has to flee too much protection and her own love and marries for safety's sake. But Katharine, born to the spacious freedom of the new land wins the love and fulfillment her grandmother missed and her mother denied and finds the full life they had sought in vain. It is a full-blooded novel of human defeat and victory.

General Bacteriology, by D. B. Swingle, late professor of bacteriology, Montana State college, is a revised edition which seeks to present the subject as a distinct science but closely allied with biology, chemistry and physics. It attempts to present a thorough study of the organisms themselves as a basis for applied work and assumes that the student has had some chemistry and biology. Following the fundamental principles of morphology, physiology, classification, etc., are sections on several branches of bacteriology in their application to human life. The many excellent illustrations add to the interest and usefulness of the book.

How to Design and Make Smart Clothes by Floy White Tilton is an attractive and practical book containing 100 detailed sketches. It has a guide to materials, methods and tools necessary; tells what one should know about color and line, fabrics, sewing and patterns. There is also a section on opportunities in the fashion field and one telling of the importance of specialization and a helpful bibliography.

Nedra Tyre, a Georgia social worker, has written Red Wine First, which is a collection of bitter short stories set against the squalid background of relief during the depression years and told by the reliefers themselves in their own illiterate language. Some are happy-go-lucky, some sorrowful, some tragic figures. Some speak glibly and well and others reluctantly and with difficulty. The book is full of human interest and thought-provoking.

Cooperative Democracy was first published in 1923 and has been reprinted many times. James Peter Warbasse now brings out a fifth edition in which he combines a study of the most recent developments in the field with the original classic exposition of the principles of cooperation. It is a standard reference work on the Consumers' Co-operative movement, valuable for the experienced worker within the movement as well as for the student seeking an introduction to their principles and practices. Dr. Warbasse, the first president of the Co-operative League of the United States, is an eloquent philosopher and spokesman for the movement, besides being an illustrious surgeon and teacher. The main purpose of the book is to discover a way through voluntary association of neighbors by which the individual may save himself from being enveloped and dominated by centralized power, and by which he may preserve his personal freedom without relinquishing personal responsibility.

A Design for Safe Driving is by Haskell B. Schultz, president of Safety Club Cab Company, Fort Wayne, Indiana, who has spent many years in research for constructive material on accident prevention. The book is offered with the hope that it will influence a few readers toward a safer outlook upon automobile driving. He claims that about 35,000 lives are lost each year, over 100,000 maimed for life and over 1,000,000 are injured; also that over 90 percent of these accidents are caused by human failures. This is Schultz' effort to reduce accidents by educating the drivers and indoctrinating them with the philosophy of safe driving and the need for alertness. It is a detailed instruction book with useful diagrams.

Fireside Book of Folk Songs, selected and edited by Margaret Bradford Boni, an outstanding authority, is a collection of 147 of the great ballads and old favorites, She-Shanties, cowboy songs and hymns, railroad songs, songs of valor, spirituals and Christmas carols with 500 colored pictures by Alice and Martin Provensen. It will be of interest to people of all ages. Norman Lloyd has arranged the songs for the piano. It is a most attractive book which would make an excellent gift for anyone who loves the familiar melodies popular with people from all walks of life.

These and other popular books including many mysteries and westerns may be borrowed from your neighborhood libraries—Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi avenue, and Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central avenue. Hours—Monday through Friday from 1 to 9 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LIBERIAN EXPOSITION

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Your valued interest in the activities of our office encourages the following explanation to you at this time regarding the Liberian Victory Exposition program. This program was initiated in a period of happier world conditions. Its well considered objectives were focused principally on such solid functions as improved food production, shelter, community planning, international goodwill and cooperation, rather than the generally accepted concept of "Exposition"—the whirling business business of a lighthearted Fair.

Nevertheless, unsettled world conditions, highlighted by problems of critically short supplies of many human necessities, make it impossible for the Liberian Centennial Commission to execute the essential objectives for which Exposition plans have been completed. The government of Liberia has therefore found it necessary to postpone its Exposition scheduled to open in November, 1948.

To you and our many other friends who have cooperated so generously with this agency during its more than two years of activity we extend our deepest appreciation. The stimulating attitude you and other persons in the United States have taken on behalf of Liberia is most sincerely appreciated by her government and people whom we have had the privilege of representing on the Centennial and Victory Exposition project.

Your continued interest is warmly solicited so that when favorable conditions permit opening the Exposition, we may again be privileged to have your cooperation and support.

on tt i emopen.

At no time has there been so great a world need for rekindling the warm sparks of goodwill and undestanding so expressive of the true spirit of Christmas. And so as the holiday season approaches, we take the greatest pleasure in wishing you a very Merry Christmas and a Happier New Year.

Cordially and appreciatively yours,

Hilyard R. Robinson
Technical Director

1947 FRUITFUL YEAR FOR LOCAL SOCIAL SET

Los Angeles Club Women Show Trend For More Serious Programs of Work

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

OLD 1947 has bowed out, leaving behind a sparking trail of worthwhile events. In reviewing the pages of the California EAGLE'S Social Silhouette it brings to mind the fact that the local women's world did not give way wholly to the frivolous or gay side of life, but intermingled many serious community efforts, organized many new clubs and lent an interested ear to the political happenings on the national local scale. Conventions, concerts, and fashion reviews make up a goodly part of the year's most outstanding happenings.

In January, the Eastside Settlement members elected Mrs. Malinda Garland as president. Throughout '47, this community chest agency carried out a program that led to better development of the moral and physical well being of youngsters in the community. Also starting activities during the first month of '47, were the Men of Sigma, holding their Carver Memorial program that lasted two days. The finale was the awarding of honors on outstanding persons during the preceding year. On the gay side of the social scene, the Omega Psi Phi fraternity presented its first formal ball at the beautiful Pasadena Civic Auditorium. January found attention focused on Miss Ernie Mae Maxey who was starting her national tour with the Panel of Americans. Paulyn Garner, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George Garner embarked for China as a consultant of the Red Cross. The last outstanding event of the month was the very elaborate formal ball hosted by the Pacific Town Club.

Music hath charm and lends culture to a community. The Los Angeles Musicians Association took its second step in February, bringing its second concert series to the community. Hanzel and Gretel was the light opera attended by many in the community. The Zeta Phi Beta sorority opened its polls for nomination of Outstanding Woman of '46. February also found the Social Silhouette of the EAGLE starting a vocational guidance program for its readers that ran five weeks, featuring the work and school requirements in the teaching, social service, medical, nursing, and general fields. The Westview Women's Guild was organized with 40 women taking out membership.

Les Femme Aujurdhui presented a check for $500 to the Laura Slayton Youth Guidance League, and the Beta Pi Sigma sorority raised scholarship funds by presenting a Panorama. February brought quite an honor to the people of Los Angeles, when Mrs. Paul Robeson was presented here in her national lecture tour. One point stressed by this fine woman, wife of Paul Robeson, was the fact that migration of the Negro people was no solution to the present day problems. Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, EAGLE editor, was made national honorary member of Iota Phi Lambda sorority. The famed Marion Anderson was speaker and honored guest of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorors at the annual February Founders Day program. The Zeta Phi Beta Sorors presented another singer to the Angel city during the month, in the person of the very charming Mme. Lillian Evanti.

The windy month of March, found the Silhouette with its annual EAGLE feature of the presentation of debutants by the March Club. The Urban League took to the serious side and staged one of the largest Vocational Guidance programs the city has ever known. Catherine Alexander contributed a goodly part of the feminine brains behind the scene and is to be highly commended in this recapitulation of yearly events. The Royal Syndicators, one of L.A.'s leading male social organizations returned to the local flow of events for the first time since the war, with their annual semi-formal. The great Interfraternal Basketball series had its opening, following an organizing, for the first time of the Intrefraternal Council. The Hair Stylist Guild presented its Fashion Review. Della Williams was re-elected president of the Wilfandel club; the Alpha Wives were organized, local Deltas announced the return of Jabberwock and the EAGLE celebrated its 68th anniversary with much fanfare. The New Phi Bet Sigma undergrads entertained the younger set with an outstanding daneing party.

When April rolled in, all of Milady's attention was focused on fashion and especially the EARL CARROLL Review by L'Tanya for the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation. The Gamma Xi Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha was organized. The Independent Guild presented its annual fashion review, the Scrollers made a contribution to the Independent Boys Home.

In the jolly month of May, the Allied Arts League, one of the most outstanding organizations of the year, celebrated its 10th anniversary and presented one of the most outstanding Interracial Festival of Arts the city has ever witnessed. The showing was held at the Greek Theatre, talent was brought to light and outstanding artists were awarded for their fine work. The Doll Leaugue Charity club chose this month to hold an inter-club meeting to bring about better relations between different groups of the city. The 20th Century Girls held their Introductory Formal at the Elks; a Bon Voy age shower was given in honor of Jane Johnson who traveled abroad as a delegate from the Congregational church. Reports were carried on the mammoth Social Workers Parley held in San Francisco. Many social workers from the community attended the confab. A wide program was adopted. The Crop 'n' Tails started work on the horse show, given to benefit the Duarte Outdoor Life and Health, also lending a bit of variety to the social calendar. Dorothy Nicholas, Hazel Shumate, Eoline Thornton and Mabel Fairbanks were named outstanding women athletes by the American Business Women. The first Inter-fraternal Trophy dance was held at the Civic.

June had its galaxy of beautiful brides. Dr. Alma J. Illery visited L.A. and organized a chapter of the Natl. Achievement Club. June 12 found featured articles on the opening of the well equipped Henderson Center of Second Baptist church. In July, Faustina Johnson organized the 12 Big Sister club that developed into one of the leading charitable groups of the community during the year.

CONVENTION TIME

August rang the bell for convention, conclave, national meet, national tournament and what have you. The Zeta Phi Sorority with Unity and Cooperation as its theme held its national meeting during the early days of August. The Bridgers then took over, convening at the G.W.B.A. August 12 through 19. The doctors carried on with their national meeting that is referred to as being the greatest ever held in the history of the organization. From the auxiliary of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical developed national offices for local leaders. Edith Bailey, director of Far West; Emily Portwig, secty.; Marjorie Bright, organizer. The Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity completed the month of meetings with a conclave that was complete with matters of business import as well as a round of social events that were some of the most elaborate the city has witnessed. This same month found Horace Clark Sr., entertaining in honor of the famous Dr. Goodloe of Washington, D.C. The EAGLE's coverage of this affair brought attention from Ebony that followed with a magazine coverage. The month of August was by far, one of the busiest the social realm has experienced.

September found collegiates treking back to books and vacationers getting down to business, and on a whole, the town resting up from August. Adult leadership was the appeal of the Woodlawn Y. Paul Robeson was much in evidence around town and was honored by the Cultural Division of the Negro Congress. October found music lovers red lettering the date of the Muriel Rhan concert. The Phys Art Lit Mor club held the annual opening breakfast, while the Iota Phi Lambda business sorority welcomed Mrs. Thelma Freeman, regional director, on her first official visit to the coast. The Sunshine Unit of Outdoor Life and Health put on a benefit for removal of buildings that were donated by the Jewish group. Marjorie Elliott proudly opened her Finishing School and the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity launched its "Forgotten Student" drive.

November, still fresh in your minds, found Les Femme Aujurdhui again appearing on the scene with a very gay night in Paree. One of the most unique affairs of the season, ranking high with the clever play staged by the Doll League Charity club "Danger Girls Working," and the Winfandel's Spanish Fiesta. The Sigmas presented their pre-Thanksgiving supperdance. Playtimers were officially presented. Iotas observed educational week. The AKA Graduate chapter presented the famed Carol Brice in her first coastal concert at Philharmonic Aud.

DECEMBER—WHAT A MONTH

Old St. Nick was well received as the last few weeks show. The charity organizations gave their all and the socialites and good timers enjoyed the festivities of it all. This past week found the Phidelphians playing hostess to a Christmas Eve party that was packed with many good wishers, including the Michigan footballers. The Hill Twins, Hugo and Kenneth were surprised with a birthday party. Bobby Lambert held an early Xmas morning affair starting after the Phi Delphians. Rena and Pearl Marlowe had friends in from 12 midnight until 5 A.M. Xmas morn. Mary Frances Peterson played breakfast hostess during the same hours. Christmas day the Crop 'n' Tails gave their annual and open house was the order of the day the city over. The following night the Cobbs put the welcome mat out to the college crowd and the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Davis was the scene of a gathering honoring the much feted Michigan players. Parties went on and on and we can't leave old Dan Cupid out of the running, for again this year he did his part. Wearing sparklers on that main finger is Regina Mingleton, fiance of Hank Milton; Pauline Jones, who will speak vows with Gerald Stovall; Sadie Carpenter whose future better half is Joseph Blue; Mary Coleman wears the sparkler that indicates '48 will find her Mrs. Jackson. Pasadena's Thelma Jackson and Wilfred Robert Duncan will speak vows in early summer. Mildred Saunders is engaged to wed Lt. Antonio Anthony in February and will live in Ft. Bragg, N. C. Just before press time, news came in of Elizabeth Hampton and Dr. Charles Robinson's marriage . . . and the holiday festivities also found your chronicler passing the traditional candy, and wearing LeRoy Beaver's ring, there you have it . . . So much for Xmas.

Back on the serious note, Happy New Year to each of you. The Leap Year of '48, should find the local social scene doing bigger and better things. As your Social Editor, my resolution is to make sure your affairs receive the best attention the Fourth Estate has to offer.

New Year's Eve Party Given by Puente Hostess

Mrs. Ruth Bean was hostess recently to the Puente Hostesses.

The annual Christmas basket will be delivered by Mrs. Myrthene Foreman. Final plans for the annual holiday party were made. The affair was given at the home of the president, Mrs. Mable Troy, on New Year's Eve.

Following the business of the day "Mrs. Santa Claus" in the person of Mrs. Dorothy Bridgewater, distributed the Christmas gifts which were piled around the beautiful Christmas tree and in this way the secret pals were divulged and many useful presents received.

An appetizing turkey dinner was served, after which bridge was played and prizes won by Mrs. Mae Tramel, first, and Mrs. Mary Smith, second. Guests were Mesdames Emma Cutchlow, Ida Davis, Vi Dennis, Julia Tyler and Jewel McCloud, the latter winning the guest prize.

Next meeting with Mrs. Dorothy Bridgewater.

Prominent Teacher Visits L. A. For Xmas Holiday

Mrs. A. Majors Ward, who will retire from public school system of Ft. Worth, Texas, after 31 years of service to the schols and the teaching profession of Texas, is now in Los Angeles visiting her neices, Mrs. Theresa Davis, 2916 Budlong ave., Mrs. Arthur Browning, 1018 E. 49th st., and Mrs. Grandall W. Norman, 4343 Lima street.

ALLIED ARTS LEAGUE, celebrating its 10th year of organization ranked as one of the hardest working clubs of 1947. The Interracial Festival of Arts was one of the League's leading programmed events.

MRS. PAUL ROBESON lectured to L. A. audiences during the early part of the year. Her message was informative and cast a new light on the racial problem. She may be seen front center laughing with friends who met her at station.

MARION ANDERSON is pictured with sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority following the Founders Day Banquet at which she was honored guest.

Omegas Fete Visitors At Informal Party

On Saturday night in the cozy setting of the typically Californian residence of Harry and Theressa Penn, the joint chapters of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, to which Harry is a member, entertained in honor of two of its visiting brothers, Leonard Ford and Bob Mann and their colleague, Gene Derricotte, of the famous Michigan football team here to play in the Rose Bowl.

The affair was informal, with the Omega Frat brothers making a group of perfect hosts. Much in evidence were the lovely wives and sweethearts of the fraternity. Dancing held sway way into the night and all present having an enjoyable time.

Former Carver Club

The Compass Group Xmas Party for the children was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Eleet, 1926 New Jersey street. The children present, enjoying the festivities were Anthony, Michael and Caughey Harris, Carolyn and Janice Reed, Michael, Billy and Barbara Dorsey, Gwendolyn and Carolyn Lassiter, Ida and Brainard Worrill, David Louis Dobson and Beverly Joyce Williams.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE, was an outstanding feature of the EAGLE social section during the month of February. Above photo shows principles, Bernice Barnum and Edna Cohen. Teaching, social work, medicine, nursing and general fields were covered.

Bessie Burke's Home Scene Of Wilfandel Annual Party

Among the most enjoyable events of the holiday season was the second annual Christmas party held by the members of the Wilfandel Club for their husbands and friends on Sunday morning, December 21. The home of Mrs. Bessie Burke, 1351 West 37th street, was the delightful setting of the affair.

Following the singing of Christmas carols and the reading of the story of the nativity, the members and 26 guests enjo eggnog and breakfast and exchange of gifts.

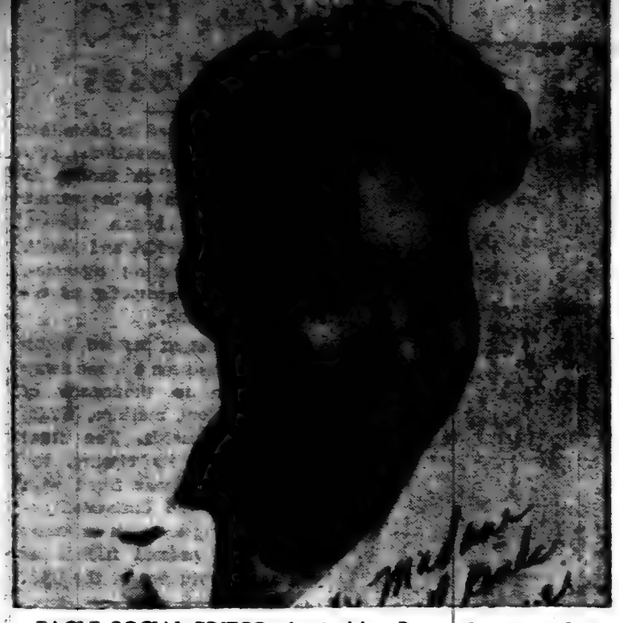
Mrs. Della Williams, presid and Mrs. Fannie Williams, viser, were lavish in their tha for the support given in club's activities of the past y and predicted the early real tion of plans to erect a house of the use and benefi the community.

Pals Elect New Officers Support Given Outdoor Life

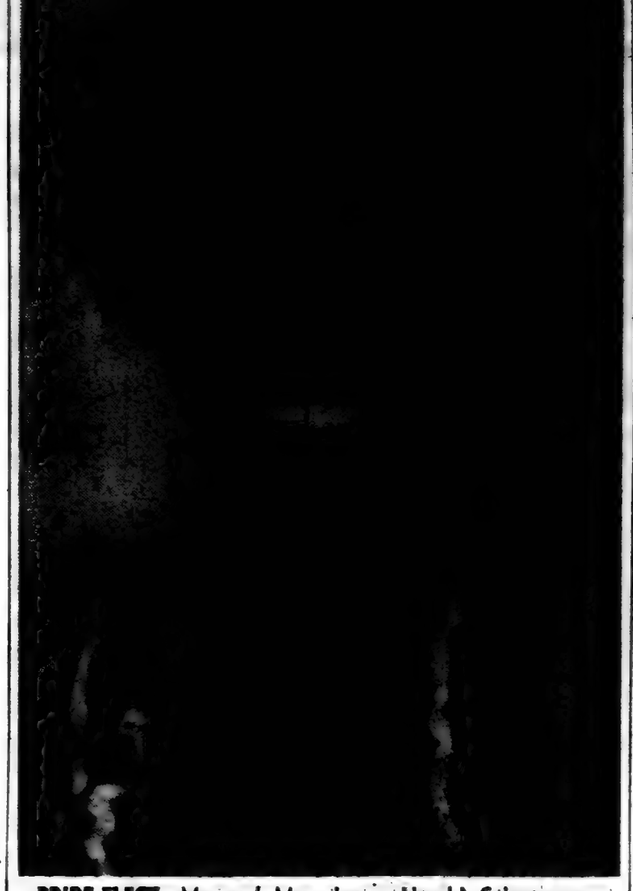
A $50 gift to the Outdoor Life and Health organization that works for the Health Sanitarium at Duarte is the announcement of Publicity Chairman Triune Reynolds, of the Old Pals, the club of California pioneers. In addition to the $50, Mrs. Gussie Davis, a Pal, handed in $25 for the same good cause. It was given in memory of her mother, the late Alice Murphy. To make the amount $100, Mrs. Maude Williams of 2058 W. 24th street put in another $25.

This took place at the meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thornton of 758 East 116th street. Refreshments were served by the Thorntons and Stovalls.

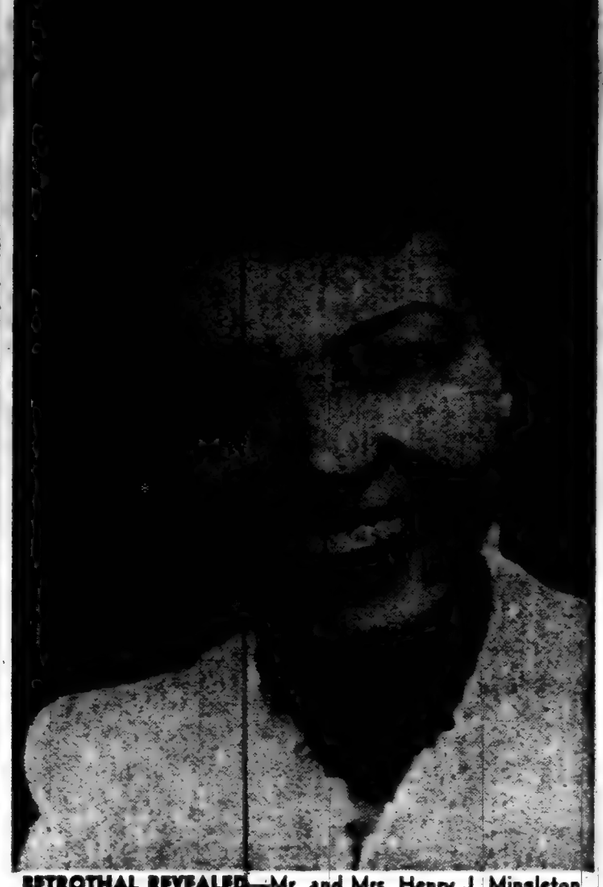
The business conducted the election of Garner Gray as the 1948 president and the election of Mrs. Mattie Nelson secretary and William Stovall treasurer.



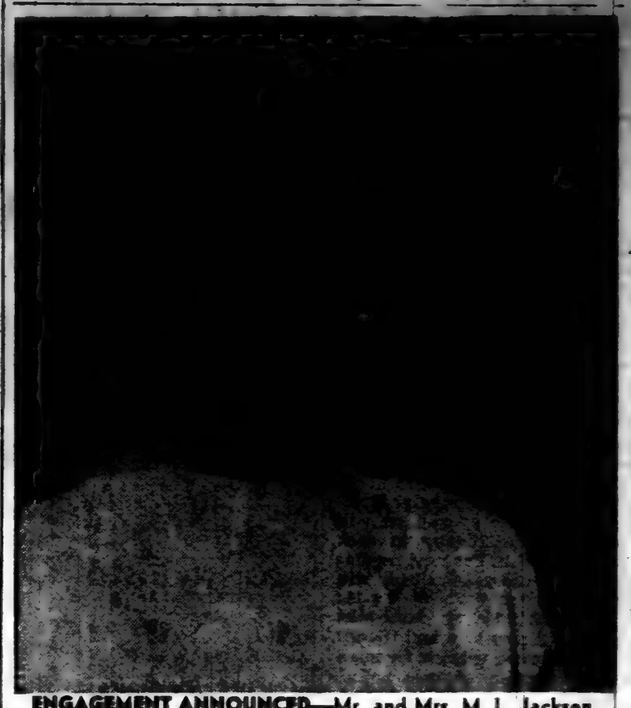
The usual Christmas affair given at the home of Mrs. Ma Williams and instead of the u al formal of turkey that eve one had already eaten for Chr mas, the Pals had an infor party with ice cream, eggn cake, plates of candy and n and black coffee. The Pals re ly had fun with Frederick R erts, next Congressman, acting master of ceremonies like young college student. T also played floor games.



ZETA PHI BETA Sorors as they gave the National Convention programs the final check over. The National meeting was an August highlight.



L. A. MUSICIAN ASSOCIATION rang important note of the year in presenting the annual concert series at Jefferson High School. This picture was taken of key figures in the association following the light opera Hanzel and Gretel that played at Jefferson High School.



EAGLE SOCIAL EDITOR, Jessie Mae Brown, is engaged to wed LeRoy A. Beavers Jr. The betrothal was revealed during the holidays when traditional candy was passed her sorority sisters of Alpha Kappa Alpha and Iota Phi Lambda. Miss Brown, a native Angeleno is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown. Her fiance, also a native, is the son of Mrs. Lilyan Beavers and nephew to George A. Beavers of Golden State Insurance. No date has been set for the wedding.

BRIDE-ELECT—Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Coleman announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to John R. Jackson, formerly of Richmond, Va. The bride-elect is a teacher in the local school system and is advisor to the undergraduate chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. Her fiance is purchasing agent and coordinator of affairs for the Outdoor Life and Health Assoc. The Colemans have been living in this city for many years and is a highly respected family.

BETROTHAL REVEALED—Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Mingleton, pioneer residents of the city, announce the engagement of their daughter Regina Mingleton to Henry H. Milton, son of Mrs. William Smith. The couple are students at UCLA, where the bride-elect is a member of the Ivy Leaf Pledge club to Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and her fiance is a member of Gamma Xi chapter Alpha Phi fraternity. No date has been set for the wedding.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Jackson, of Pasadena, announced the engagement of their daughter, Thelma Bernice Jackson, to Wilfred Robert Duncan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Duncan, also of Pasadena. Miss Jackson is a graduate of Pasadena City College and is now attending USC. Duncan also attended Pasadena City College. The wedding is planned for early summer.

Children At Camarillo Feted By Local Groups

Spreading of 'Xmas cheer to shut-in children was carried to the Camarillo State Hospital by fraternal, civic and social groups, who made a generous contribution of money, tays and clothing to the Laura Slayton Youth Guidance League. The selection of toys and type gifts sent to Camarillo were individual request and appeals made personally by the youngsters. Many of the children receiving toys were without parents to give them Xmas cheer.

The entertainment for the evening was furnished by Willie and Florence Covan and their dancing kiddies, who are continually, graciously donating their services for every worthy cause. The doctors and directors o tfhe institution were so pleased with the excellent performance of these sensational dancers, and the round of applause from the audience was so great that the Covans were asked to return with their show in the very near future.

The solicitation of donations was under the capable supervision of Miss lice DeCuir. The following organizations contributed generously to spread Xmas cheer to these shut-in children: Checks were given by the Omega Phi Psi fraternity and The Gibpers Club. Cash donations were given by the Lucky Dutchess, Les mie Social, The Jolly Wonders, Rainbow Social Club, Fashionettes and Les Femmes Aujourd-hui. Toys were donated by The Gaye Matrons, The Womens Auxiliary to the Southern California Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association, Thrifty Housewives, Social Twenties, All Purpose Club, Mrs. Ruth Center and Mrs. Clara Ramsey. Clothing and personal trinkets, The Commandoettes, Double Four Bridge Club, Deluxe Queens Club, Mrs. Ray Pratt, Mrs. Louise Russell, and Miss Frances Patterson.

The League is very grateful to Mrs. and Mrs. Henry Armstrong for their transportation services and use of their home as headquarters for receiving toys and making contacts.

Warm thanks to Mr. George Wooster of the Yellow Cab Company for the donating of two buses and a Yellow Cab. Without your contribution there would have been no show or trip to the shut-in children at Camarillo Hospital.

Park Manor Scene of Annual Medical Association Banquet

The Medical Dental Pharmaceutical Assocition and the Auxiliaries of northern and southern California held its annual banquet on Sunday Dec. 28, at the beautiful Park View Manor, located on West 7th st. Not one serious note was struck throughout the entire evening, and gayiety of the affair was guided by toast master, Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton.

An informal program held sway, under the supervision of Mrs. Edith Bailey, president of the local auxiliary and Mrs. Marjorie McPherson. Included was a lively group singing of Christmas carols; piona selection by Miss Gloria Taylor; vocal and piano selection by Dr. Sheen, and several other surprise selections. Outstanding was the artistry of Philadelphia socialite Miss Marion Bruce, who will soon open at the exclusive Pavilion on the Strip.

OUT OF TOWNERS

Many were the out of town medics attending the annual affair. From St. Louis came Dr. and Mrs. Earl Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Hoskins were from New York, Dr. and Mrs. D. Solomon of Phoenix, Arizona were present as were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd of East Chicago, Ind., Mrs. Clara Mann, wife of the late Dr. Mann of Michigan; Dr. and Mrs. Fitzeroy Young of Berkeley, Calif; Mrs. Mannie Terry of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilkerson of San Jose. Included in the list of new doctors now practicing in Los Angeles were: Drs. R. Nelson Franklyn, J. Smith, Geraldine Burton, Harwell, A. W. Bassett, J. Garland and a host of others.

At the appointed time, Mrs. Emily Portwig portrayed the role of Mrs. Santa Clause, passing out gifts from the beautifully decorated tree. The Medical dinner was held between the hours of 7-9:30. At the close of the affair, guests attended many after parties that were festive with the holiday spirit. The local Medical Dental and Pharmaceutical Association is under the leadership of Dr. Henry McPherson.

JOINING THE HOLIDAY list of brides is Helena Grace Dugas, whose marriage to James E. Hutcherson was announced by her parents. Snapped by photographer while viewing Xmas presents, is the bride and groom and the maid of honor, Shirley Woodby. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dugas.

Tuskegee Coeds Present Gift to Polio Patients

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—The Upsilon Chapter of the Phi Delta Kappa sorority presented a new typewriter to the Infantile Paralysis Unit of the John A. Andrew Memorial Hospital at Tuskegee Institute. The typewriter, a gift fro mthe national organization and the local chapter ,was given to the Occupational Therapy department which is under the supervision of Mrs. Louis C. Ballard. It will be used as a means of muscle re-education and as a part of the re-vocational training of patients.

The presentation was made by Mrs. Laura C. Buck, basileus of the Upsilon Chapter who mentioned the long standing interest her sorority has manifested in the hospital here and this gift was only one of the many they have sponsored here. Her statement was substantiated by the fact that the presentation happened to be made in a room under their sponsorship and has been repeated recipients of their kindness. lso, the Upsilon chapter will direct the March of Dimes fund drive this season.

Dr. John W. Chenault, director of Orthopedic Surgery, said in accepting the gift in behalf of the hospital that, "along with medical attention given patients here, there is an increasing amount of interest being placed upon rehabilitation of patients so that they may be able to contribute to their support upon returning home. This gift by Phi Delta Kappa fulfills a long standing need for development in this particular area of work and wer are inded grateful for thi smost appropriate gift."

'48 Concert Series Postponed by L. A. Musicians Group

The regular executive board meeting of the L. A. Musicians Association, was held Sunday afternoon at the home of the president, Albert J. McNeil. The president gave another interesting talk on the annual convention. It was duly voted upon to raise the yearly dues of the local branch to $5 per person per annum. The Association's aim is not only to bring good music to the community but to help young artists who show promise.

Plans to acquire a club house was discussed. The regular meeting day for the association will be the second Sunday in each month at 4 p.m. The next regular meeting of the general body will be held January 11, at 4 p.m., at the Hamilton Methodist church. All members and friends are urged to be present for business of great importance.

The L. A. Musicians Association announced that for the year '48 only, the concert series will be postponed. The association is planning to present Kenneth Spencer in recital at Philharmonic in the early spring.

Board members present were, Albert McNeil, Janita Lemmons, Billie Lynthecom, Elberta Franklin, Edith Owens, Mary Overstreet, Eleanor Richards, L. Brown and Ever Hudson.

Y Donnas Set For Busy Year

On Sunday, December 28, the Club De Solteras Y Donnas held their Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Williams, 814 Brooks avenue, in Pasadena. The festive spirit was quite evident with a beautiful Christmas tree laden with gifts for every one. Each member found out who her secret sister for the past year was. New secret sister names were drawn before the affair ended.

The evening was given over to fun and frivolity as the host and hostess had spared no pains to make it a real Christmas party. Guests enjoyed a buffet supper.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held the 3rd Sunday in aJnuary. Officers include: Mrs. Lelia Hill, president; Mrs. Georgia Hughes, vice president; Mrs. Pearl Williams, treasurer; Mrs. Josephine Ladd, secretary, and Mrs. Ida McMullen, reporter.

Leo Gorcey's got a new hat—and his friends think it's about time. It's the first he has purchased in 10 years.

Drs. Davis, Cobbs Fete Rose Bowl Football Players

Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Davis entertained in honor of Robert Mann, Leonard Ford and Eugene Derricotte of the Michigan Rosebowl football team at their beautiful home on S. Arlington avenue on Friday evening, Dec. 26.

Guests at the affair included many important figures in the football world as well as a group of coeds and a host of Dr. Davis, frat brothers of Kappa Alpha Psi. Among those present were: Jackie Robinson, Kenny Washington and Woody Strode, former UCLA footballers; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Houston, Horace Johnson, Dr. Wells Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Brown, Mr. Leroy Hart, Misses Charlette and Charlene Derricks, Melba Young, James White, Bill Jones, John Finney, National Junior College fullback; Robert Boyd, Loyola end; coaching staff of the Angel Bowl football team which comprised the Texas All-Stars.

The appointed table was beautifully arranged. Eggnog and tasty hor d' ouveres were served buffet style. Highlighting the affair, Dr. Davis entertained his guests by showing pictures on his 16mm. camera of recent football games.

COBBS ENTERTAIN

Later in the evening the visiting players were entertained at a party given by the Kappa Scrolers at the home of Dr. Price Cobbs, 4057 Trinity street, where they were graciously received by the host, hostess and other guests. Christmas delicacies were enjoyed along with dancing.

Among those present were: Herbert Howard, president of the Scrollers; Walter Mills, vice pres.; Prince Cobbs, Sherrill Luke, UCLA yell leader, who introduced the Michigan players.

Other guests included Joyce Finney, Jackie Rigard, Bernice Rigard, Joan Moore, Carroll Hiete, Lavon Tyus, Beverly Winston, Virginia Morris, Shirley Qualls. Scrollers taking part in the affair were, Frank Rasbury, Samuel Strain, John Finney, Bob Boyd, Connor Bovinan, James Dausherty, Randal Golsby, Thomas Keyser, Roy Loggins, Cleophos Bowie, Hayward Thompson. Some of the Kappa brothers present were: Norman Houston, Price Cobbs, James White, Bill Jones, Phyromn Taylor, Nat Shaw, Horace Johnson, Gene Walker, Atty. Claude Lundy.

Three Couples Play Host

The holiday season found the popular Sells Reeds, 3002 S. Normandie; the Capertones, 3628 2nd avenue; the W. Robinsons, 2017 W. 29th street, entertaining at breakfast, cocktail hour and dinner.

Many friends of the three couples found much gaiety in stopping from place to place spreading Christmas cheer. First stop was the smart apartment of the Reeds, the next stop was at the Caperton's resident and the final stop at the Robinsons.

'DENA CHIT-CHAT

By JOHNETTA ARMSTRONG

Well, I guess that everyone was beginning to wonder whether or not there would be another column. One or two weeks there just wasn't any news. Happy New Year to all my readers, from the Armstrongs, Jimmie, Johnetta and Lisa.

It seems that everyone waited until the Christmas holiday to give their social events. I just left the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary celebration of the Hebert H. Lampkins at the Friendship Baptist church. Each time I have the privilege of attending a Silver Wedding anniversary I wish that all young married couples could be there to get inspiration for the long years ahead of us. Mrs. Irene Lampkin was a picture of loviness in a white gown, a darling white crown, both made by her sister, Mrs. Roy Turner, who was a bridesmaid, her other sister, Mrs. Lela Belton, was the matron of honor. The other two bridesmaids were Mrs. Roy Buckner and Mrs. Josephine Cummins Ladd. The bride and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of sweetpeas. The ushers were Mr. Leroy Mims, Mr. Fletcher Smith, Mr. Ladd, and the bestman was Mr. Roy Buckner. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Carter and Rev. Brown. Mr. Stewart sang "Because," and Mrs. Primrose Perry sang "I Love You." They were accompanied by Mrs. Buggs. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Pearl Booker.

The reception was held immediately after at the church's reception hall and the couple received many lovely silver gifts and silver coins. Noted among the crowd were Mr. and Mrs. Craig from Long Beach, Mr. Solomon from Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Madge Young, Mrs. Grooms, Mrs. Allie Slater, Mr. Henry Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. James Wood and many many others . . . Congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Lampkins.

It seemed like old times Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Jackson. All the old bunch was on hand to witness the engagement of their daughter Thelma, to Bill Duncan. It was announced after dinner on tiny scrolls tied to miniature rings. On hand to take the happy surprise were Mrs. Fannie Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, Bill's folks, Arthur Duncan, Sal and Henry Gordon, Mable Duncan, his sisters and brothers, Mrs. Jamerson Mavis Jamerson, Gwen Morrow, Jean Jamerson, Anna Harrison, wearing a beautiful blue new-look dress, Lucille Harrison, Jessie Johnson, looking quite clever, Barbara Durham, Lora Jacques, Carolyn Hennington, looking chic as ever, Betty Benson, Pearl McAfee, Peggy Cuoton whom I had seen since her return from Wilberforce. Barbara James wearing a beautiful pink dress, Mable Renfro, Herriette McNeil and others. After the scrolls were passed Bill presented Thelma with her beautiful white gold and diamond ring. Oh yes, Jackie Dickerson was there too, as well as Jackie Bunch. After the announcement was made the fellows came in and everyone sat around and talked about old times and the future.

The guest of honor at a stock shower at the home of Florena Johnson was Agnes Johnson. Many persons were on hand to present the anticipated gifts . . . At the same house the other night the Club Echo had its Christmas party and everyone had a grand time. The girls exchanged gifts and spent the rest of the evening playing games, gabbing and eating.

It was a boy for the Van Wades. Juanita is home now and I saw Van and is he proud papa or is he proud . . . Congratulations . . . It was a boy for the Willie Banks too. Barbara is home now. Betty Shepard presented Spencer with a bouncing baby boy last week. And Emma Biggs presented her husband with a baby boy. Congratulations to all these new parents.

Last week Sy Williams and Unisse Gross had a pre-Christmas party and everyone had a wonderful time. Mary Scott looked stunning in a ballerina wool plaid skirt that was a dream.

Christmas makes people write, people that haven't in ages, and so I heard from Dot Mims still in Chicago, and received a card from the Ivan Houstons with a picture of the three of them,

Angel Bowl Queen of '47 Crowned Before 7500 Spectators at Wrigley's

The second annual Rose Bowl football classic between the Texas All Stars and a San Pedro football team reached an all time high during its half time activities Sunday afternoon at Wrigley Fields, under the dirtction of Stanley Malone. The lovely Miss Dorothy Bradley, member of Les Jolie Femme club of San Diego, Calif., was crowned "Miss Angel Bowl of 1947," by EAGLE Society Editor, Jessie Mae Brown.

More than 7500 people witnessed the crowning of the queen. Miss Bradley, wearing a white satin gown with a six foot train marched to the front of Wrigley Fields and had the pearl spangled crown placed upon her raven black hair. A red velvet cape with Ermin color completed her regal garb. Miss Bradley won honors of queen of the Angel Bowl by taking first place with an overwhelming number of votes, in a popularity contest. Taking second and third respectively were Vivian Johnson of the Texas college club and Cheri Landry of Los Angeles.

Following the crowning, the queen drew the name of Mrs. Lafayette Love of 1326 E. 48th place, winner of the new Ford Deluxe car.

President of the Angel Bowl Association is Mr. John A. Hardy. Manager of the event was Mr. Aubrey O. Prince.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

We are beginning a new year. Here's hoping that it's a successful, and fully rounded out year for every one of you, from me. In making the New Year's resolutions, I sincerely hope that everyone makes this one promise—never to be caught lowering the standards of the Negro race.

He was sitting on the bus singing. He would sing for a while, and then he would whistle. I don't know whether or not he thought himself a nightingale, but it was indeed embarrassing for me, and for the other Negro passengers on the bus. No, he wasn't intoxicated. Perhaps he should have been, for then he would have been guilty of only the crime of getting drunk. He was intelligent looking, and intelligently dressed. But the loud singing and whistling on the bus was not the proper thing to be done. Naturally the Caucasian passengers would look and laugh. As they did so, he continued to sing, louder, and whistle some more. Just what his intentions were, is impossible to say.

But one of the disheartening things about the Negro people is that one can't disgrace himself without disgracing the colored race. The majority is judged by the actions of the minority. And that is very bad.

There seems to be a curse on the name McDaniel. I have in mind presently two McDaniels who are in the movies. One is going under the name of Hattie, and the other is Sam McDaniel. They could be called other names. It's becoming so you can't go to the movies without becoming angry. It appeared, for a time, that the situation in Hollywood was improving, but then came this Communistic witchhunt in our government and now the same old thing is recurring. I am thinking of the sadistic way in which a few colored people disgrace the entire colored race. I have in mind a couple of McDaniel people. Sam and Hattie. I broke off with Hattie some years ago when she made a speech in a predominatly colored neighborhood to the extent that white people are superior, perhaps in not so many words, but strongly enough so that when she left the place she was met by a hail of sticks and stones. As we know, Hattie has disgraced the colored people more than once, and in no vague manner.

And now here is that Sam McDaniel, who is no better in the least. This poor guy never was handsome, and here he allows the make-up artists to go to work on his face. There is nothing Santa Clausy about his appearance when they finish. About the worst portrayal of stupidity on the part of Sam is in a piece of rot called "Badmen of Missouri." And perhaps it could have been called something else. It was trashy. In my opinion, it contained about as much prejudice as can be incorporated in any one picture. And here was Sam, then under the simple name of "Wash." The Carpetbaggers were fighting the Missouri slavers, and "Wash" was fighting on the side of the slavers—or at least the producer allowed him to take care of the white kids while the others fought. And he also carried a note . . . He was urging on the people who had wanted him to remain a slave.

There are some things that money isn't supposed to be able to buy, but leave it to Mr. McDaniel, and you would never know the difference.

And there is Willie Best. His name should be Willie Worst. More than once has he disgraced the colored people, and I believe he will do it again.

In the New Year's resolutions, I wish we would all include one. Or just ask yourself this question, and give yourself a fair answer. Ask yourself where the Negro race would be if all the colored people were like yourself. Don't forgive yourself too easily for the things that you perhaps have done in the past too easily, but remember them in the present and future, and try to see that they never happen again. Le's make this year a fertile and profitable one racially, and fill in the gaps that have been open for such a long time. Nineteen hundred and forty-eight can only be what we make it. Let's make it fruitfull in all ways, especially when it comes to racial improvement.

Here's hoping again that 1948 is a happy year for you. And at the end of that year, it would be a good idea to add up the score. See how much you have contributed to the improvement of racial conditions.

Foot Note: What do you think of a person who tastes a substance to see whether or not it's poison?

High School Students Offered $7,000 in Scholarship, Prizes

"High school student of the Los Angeles city schools will begin the year 1948 with a new stimulus to increased accomplishments," Superintendent of Schools Vierling Kersey announced yesterday. "One of our great California business institutions, the Bank of America, is offering a total of $7000 in cash scholarships, plus more than 600 trophies and prizes, as achievement awards to high school pupils.

The awards, to be known as the Bank of America Achievement Awards, will be given in recognition of leadership as well as scholarship. Winners will be evaluated not only on the basis of scholastic accomplishment, but also on a basis of their promise of future success and service to society.

Achievement awards will be made to high school students in four general fields: science and mathmetics, fine arts, liberal arts, and vocational arts. Winners in each school will be determined by the principal and teachers of the school. These winners will compete with each other in specified areas and finalists will be selected by civic committees. Winners for the entire Los Angeles city school district, which represents one-fourth of the school population of the State of California, will be selected by a district-wide committee appointed by Superintendent of Schools Vierling Kersey.

Interior Decor Class Offered At Y. W. C. A.

The Woodlawn Branch Y. W. C. A. is offering to the public the second nine week's series in interior decoration which will open at the building Tuesday, January 6, from 10 to 12 a.m. The second series will consist of the folowing training: Sipcover for chairs and couches, chair treatments, textile painting, how to paint on wallpaper, furniture finishes, copper tooling and finish copper.

These classes are under the instruction of Mrs. Rea Glovin. For further information regarding these classes, call AD. 1-4103.

The Woodlawn Branch Y. W. C. A. invites you to enroll in a four-week lecture course beginning January 15, through February 5. These lectures are under the auspices of the Personal Service and Counseling department.

Further information may be obtained by calling the branch.

Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, chats with Joe Brown, a 1948 Poster Boy for the March of Dimes, at a meeting of volunteer campaign workers held in La Salle Hotel, Chicago, Ill. Mr. O'Connor told workers the thrilling story of Joe Brown's fight against polio. Care and treatment of the boy and thousands of polio victims, through the National Foundation and its chapters, are made possible by funds received in the annual March of Dimes, January 15-30.

Many Firms, Individuals Helped Make Christmas Merry for Kiddies Of Eastside Settlement House

The Christmas party sponsored by the Settlement House for the children enrolled at Eastside Settlement was so well attended that there was not space to accommodate the children and parents inside the building. More than 200 children received gifts, candy, nuts and fruit. The program presented by the children was planned and prepared by Mrs. Olive Blackwell-Poole, E. S. H. groupworker, and was very interesting, with piano numbers by pupils of the Friday afternoon piano classes taught by Mrs. Constance Tyler and Mrs. Neosha Tatum.

The following persons and organizations contrifuted to the Christmas Spirit at Eastside: City Service Trucking Co., candy; Mrs. L. J. Hahn and friends, tree, oranges and nuts; Compton Junior college, large tree; Los Angeles Needlework Guild clothing; Hamilton High school faculty, toys; Value Wholesale Toy Co, toys; S. H. Kress, Vernon and Central, toys; Frank's Market at Slauson and Compton, cookies; Emergency Club of Eastside Settlement, Christmas decoration of mantle; Mrs. Ruth V. Johnson, stockings and decoration for tree. Trinity Baptist church circles, led by Mrs. V. Shortridge and Mrs. Virgie Small, toys, nuts, candy and fruit. A year's subscription to Wee Wisdom magazine by Mrs. Neosho Tatum.

The following boys and girls appeared on program: Rhythm Band, by a group of Kindergarten children, trained and directed by Constance H. Tyler. Other children appearing on program: Roberta Coleman, Carolyn Mitchell, Juanita Smith, Jacqueline Watson, Clara Mae Garland, Carenna Bostick, Floretta Butler, Doris Bates, Johnnie Mae Love, Audrea Russ, Rochelle and Maredda Butler, Judy Morris, Shirley Ann Hood, Clemons Pennix, John Emmons, James Galbraith, Ernst Jordan, Paul Lewis Williams, Aris Smith, Pauline Jones, Calvin Bates, Harold Printers, Margine Bates, Chalmette Kearney, Norma Bradford, Joe Santial, Robert Santial, James Black, Robert Garrott, Robert Wilson, Ulyssess Livingston. George Bates was master of ceremonies. The program was planned and directed by Mrs. Olive Blackwell-Poole, groupworker of Eastside Settlement Staff.

Sunday, December 21, 200 of the children attended a Christmas party given by California Toy Mfg. Association at Hollywood High school. They sent two large buses for the children. A program was presented by movie stars. The children were served lunch and given toys, candy and nuts. Tihs was an outing and party that will be remembered for a long time by the children at the Settlement House.

The following board members, staff and friends helped to supplement transportation and supervision: Mrs. Malinda Mae Garland, Mrs. Ethel Holt, Mrs. Mattie M. Stafford, Chief Kentau, Robert L. Lackey, Benjamin Thompson, Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton, Mrs. L. Pennix, Mrs. Covington and many other friends.

The following five children were invited to a Christmas party by Mrs. Mariam Hawkins; James Galbraith, Myrle Mickens, Blanche Patterson, Robert Bates and Barbara Jean Patterson.

Christmas Party at U. C. L. A. sponsored by University Religious Conference was attended by the following boys from Eastside Settlement: Chester Bearsley, Harold Printers, Harold Wilson, Andrew Jones, Herbert Brazill, George Bates. Each one was assigned to a different fraternity or sorority house for Christmas dinner and then to Religious Conference Building for party.

Charge Medical Schools Still Discriminate

NEW YORK (CNS)—That the medical schools in New York state—one of the most liberal of states as far as education is concerned—still discriminate against applicants because of their color or religion was charged at a special meeting of the city council.

Some medical schools, as Cornell and Columbia, have "improved" their attitude towards non-whites, but continue to "accept or reject students on a basis other than ability," the council was told.

Council members expressed the opinion that continued failure of the State of New York to provide for a state university, including medical and dental colleges, "is unjust to the residents of the state. This failure is all the more shameful because of the discriminatory tactics employed by the private, tax-exempt educational institutions."

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — Four Catholic priests on trial at Pola, Yugoslavia, have confessed to spying for an unidentified foreign power, the Yugoslav news agency, Tanjug, said yesterday.

Youth Groups Hail Report On Education

NEW YORK — Recommendations for the removal of barriers to equal opportunity in education by the President's Commission on Higher Education, received acclaim from the National Planning and Advisory Committee to NAACP youth councils and college chapters.

In a telegram to President Truman, Chairman W. W. Law of the National Planning and Advisory Committee, stated:

"The Ninth Annual Youth Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which met in Houston, Texas, November 5-9, 1947, went on record favoring the end of all segregation and discrimination in the American system of education. The conference also favored federal aid to education. We are pleased to note that in the first report of the President's Commission on Higher Education, recommendations have been made to remove racial and religious barriers, the quota system and to equalize educational opportunity. We commend you for appointing this commission and we commend the commission on the report itself. The youth councils and college chapters of the NAACP will do whatever they can to achieve its full implementation."

Lectures on India At Jefferson High

Beginning on January 8, 1948, Dr. Gurdial Singh, noted lecturer on India, will give a series of four weekly lectures on various phases of life in India at the Jefferson High school. These lectures will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium on January 8, 15, 22 and 29.

Topics discussed will include "The Land of Infinite Variety," "The Religions of India," "The Political India," and "India in World Politics." These lectures will afford to residents of the Eastside a rare opportunity to become informed on this most interesting new state and its relation to world affairs. These lectures are conducted under the auspices of the school and are free to the public. They are of particular interest to church groups, political study clubs, members of civic organizations and all others who wish to keep informed on world affairs.

March of Dimes Opens. Jan. 15

The March of Dimes, the annual fund-raising appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will begin January 15 and extend through January 30.

Some 80,000 people were stricken with the dread disease of infantile paralysis during 1942-47, and it seems the disease is on the increase, according to Charles H. Bynum, director of interracial activities of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Bynum urges support from everyone for this 1948 campaign. About $30,000,000 is the cost for caring for the victims of the 1946 epidemic, and last summer's outbreak will require additional millions.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was founded by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. This year marks its 10th anniversary. It culminates with a celebration of Franklin Roosevelt's birthday January 30.

War Bond Holders Taking Heavy Loss, Survey Shows

NEW YORK—A war bond bought in December, 1941, for $18.75 and cashed in today is worth a total of $12.45 interest included.

This was revealed in a Federal Press survey based on official cost of living figures, which show that soaring prices have eaten away at the prewar dollar until it is now worth only about 60 cents.

If a bond holder cashed in a 6 year old $18.75 bond today, he would have accumulated enough interest to receive $30.75 in cash. But that $20.75 would buy only as much food, clothing and other products as $12.45 would have bought in 1941.

On a $100 bond bought in December, 1941, the purchaser would get $83 in cash today. But that $83 would go only as far as $49.80 would have gone at the time it was bought.

Government figures show that millions of workers have been forced to learn these facts the hard way. During the war a total of $29 billion was spent on series E bonds—the low-cost bonds that workers could afford. To date, nearly $18½ billion have been cashed in.

A federal survey disclosed that the overwhelming bulk of these bonds have been turned in to meet current expenses—higher food and clothing costs, medical bills and other essentials which many workers can no longer afford to meet out of their weekly paychecks.

In 1946 alone, government figures reveal, 12½ million families had to dig into their wartime savings accounts—to meet their normal essential expense in that year, over $5 billion worth of war bonds were cashed in for such needs.

Big business alone has been immune from the effects of the shrinking dollar. An over-all increase in net profits of approximately 300 percent since the war started has more than compensated U. S. corporations for their higher costs.

Angelenos Overseas

WITH THE 8TH ARMY, OSAKA, Japan — Cpl. Tobin V. Forrest, 117 N. Savannah st., Los Angeles, has recently left anti-tank company, 24th infantry, now stationed at Gifu, Japan, for a return to the United States for discharge from the army. Cpl. Forrest entered the army in July, 1946, and received his basic training at Fort Lewis, Washington. He left for overseas duty in February, 1947.

Before entering the service Cpl. Forrest attended Roosevelt high school.

Cpl. Ruben Caldwell, son of Mrs. Lily B. Caldwell, of 163 W. 57th street, Los Angeles, has recently been assigned to the 24th infantry, now stationed at Gifu. Cpl. Caldwell left for overseas duty in October, 1947. He entered the army in January, 1941, and received his basic training at Fort Hucahuca, Ariz.

Before entering the service Cpl. Caldwell attended Columbus Colored high school and was later employed by the Marshall Canning Co. as a truck driver.

Democratic Chiefs Here For Parley

J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, arrived in the city yesterday on the Superchief for a series of conferences with James Roosevelt, chairman of the California Democratic Committee; Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas and other state party leaders.

McGrath was accompanied by Mrs. McGrath, Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic National Committee, and John Redding, publicity director for the committee.

Employers Set Up World Lobby

PARIS, (ALN)—Employers from eight Western European countries have joined with those of the United States to set up an International Employers Federation, Allied Labor News learned here.

Merging both trade and industrial employers, the new group aims to function as a lobby at the International Labor Organization and the United Nations and to "defend business interests at all international conferences."

Urge Fight for Free Screen

Presidents of all major motion picture companies were urged, yesterday, in communications from the student cabinet of the University YMCA in Berkeley, Calif., to fight in 1948 to continue a free screen. Widely known for its consistent support for many years of the Bill of Rights, the University YMCA held that the attempt by the House Un-American Activities Committee to control the film industry endangered traditional American liberties and should be vigorously opposed.

In view of the fear whipped up by the Thomas Committee the communication expressed sympathy for the industry, but asked it to refuse to be bluffed. The letter to the president of each company was signed by Thomas W. Moore, president of the University YMCA, and by Harry Kingman, general secretary.

Negroes Hired by 955 Employers For 'First Time'

NEW YORK—More than 25,000 Negro workers were placed in jobs during 1947 by local Urban Leagues in 39 important industrial centers over the nation, Lester B. Granger, National Urban League executive secretary, reported yesterday. The number, based on incomplete returns covering only 39 out of 57 League locals, as the story went to press, was expected to approximate 35,000 with the remaining 18 organization reports.

Of tremendous interest to National Urban officials was the tabulation of more than 950 "new job openings"—representing employers hiring Negroes for the first time. Many of the new jobs were in the telephone, public utility, and retail merchandising fields, the result of country-wide Urban League campaigns to break down discrimination in these areas of employment.

High among the list of locals making reports were the Chicago Urban League with 3900 placements, Richmond, Virginia, with 2300, New York with 1200, St. Louis with 5220, and St. Paul, Minnesota, and Providence, Rhode Island, approximating 500 each. A total of more than 65,400 persons came to Urban League offices seeking work during the past year, the report showed.

Cleveland Group Plans Co-op Depart. Store

CLEVELAND (CNS)—A cooperative department store is the goal of a group that met here December 1 in the YMCA auditorium. There were 125 delegates present, representing various labor, co-op and Negro groups.

The group, which is now formally set up for business under the name of Advisory Council for Cooperative Development, plans not only a million-dollar department store, but later excursions into super-markets, housing and health. The department store project is being planned along the lines proposed by Consumer Distribution Corporation, which is assisting in the organization of department store co-ops in three other eastern cities.

Among the speakers endorsing the idea of the Co-op were A. E. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Hardy Merrill of the United Auto Workers, and Charles P. Lucas of the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People.

The first step will be an organization campaign recruiting members for Cooperative Services of Cleveland, which operates co-op food stores.

Canadian Labor Blasts Dominion Hospital Bias

The 62nd annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, held recently in Hamilton, Ont., went on record as "condemning the attitude of Canadian hospitals in refusing Canadian girls admittance to the nursing profession because of their color, race, or religion." The 700 delegates in attendance voted unanimously for adopting this resolution.

The immediate cause for the condemnation occurred recently when a young Negro woman was refused permission to train as a nurse in a hospital at Owen Sound, Ontario. A subsequent survey showed that there is "a real tendency to discriminate specifically against Negro girls."

Film Executive To Head Brotherhood Week Program Here

N. Peter Rathvon, president of RKO Radio Pictures, has accepted the chairmanship for Southern California of the American Brotherhood Week, to be held from February 22 to 29. He was appointed by the permanent committee whose co-chairmen are Stanley Bergerman, David Cannon, Loren Miller, Joseph Scott and George Wasson. President Truman is the honorary chairman nationally and former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson is the general chairman.

American Brotherhood Week has been observed annually since its inception in 1934 by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which is a civic organization of religiously motivated persons to promote justice, amity, understanding and cooperation among Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

WASHINGTON—Abram Flaxer International president of the United Public Workers of America, CIO, representing employes of the federal, state, county and municipal service throughout the nation sharply condemned the directives issued by the Loyalty Review Board on Sunday as "mere window dressing" for police state procedures in a statement released yesterday.

FDR Convinced to End of Need For Amity With Russia

NEW YORK—A hitherto unpublished letter of Franklin D. Roosevelt this week gave the lie to reports that the late President abandoned his quest for friendship andu nderstanding with the Soviet Union in the last weeks of his life.

The letter, sent by FDR less than three weeks before his death to George H. Earle, former governor of Pennsylvania, specifically forbade the latter to publish his anti-Soviet opinions.

"I have noted with concern," the letter said, "your plan to publish your unfavorable opinion of one of our allies at the very time when such a publication from a former emissary of mine might do irreparable harm to our war effort."

"I specifically forbid you," the commander in chief went on, "to publish any information or opinion about an ally that you may have acquired while in office or in the service of the United States Navy."

FDR's blast was occasioned by a letter Earle sent to Mrs. Joen Boettiger, the President's daughter, in which he said that "Russia is a greater menace than Germany." He added that he would make a statement to the American people unless he heard from the President within a week.

Earle has since advocated dropping atom bombs on Russian cities to whip the Saviet Union into line with U. S. foreign policy.

N.C. Governor Refuses to Act In Lynching

NEW YORK, N. Y.—R. Gregg Cherry, governor of North Carolina, has refused to intervene in a case in which lynching was alleged at Angier, N. C.

A mob of white men, it has been established, set upon and killed Charlie (Bud) Smith at Angier, on Saturday, November 22, in reprisal for an argument he had had with one of the members of the group. A friend of the deceased, Daniel Lee Bassford, also a Negro, was seriously injured as a result of this brutal attack and is at present hovering between life and death in a North Carolina hospital.

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, had called upon Gov. Cherry to exercise his executive authority and require officers of the law to investigate the lynching. In replying Gov. Cherry said: "The offense does not have the earmarks of a lynching."

Dr. W. E. Shaw Struck by Car

Rev. Dr. W. E. Shaw, 74 year old retired minister and physician, was knocked down by an automobile Christmas night, on Jefferson blvd. near Normandie.

Dr. Shaw suffered a deep gash on the forehead, a slight concussion, broken collar bone, a fracture of three ribs, and other minor injuries, scratches, and bruises. He is at present in the General Hospital and his condition is reported "fair."

Negro Army Strength Now 58,437

WASHINGTON—On November 1, 1947, the total Negro strength of the army was 58,437. Of this total, 26,593 were serving within the continental United States and 31,844 were assigned to duty stations in foreign theatres of operation. Assigned to either army ground or services forces were 277 Negro troops who were en route from the United States to overseas stations on this date. The total strength of the army does not include the nine Negro cadets at the United States Military acedemy.

Of the army total, 314 were members of the women's army corps. Assigned at Fort Ord, California, were one WAC officer and 144 enlisted women. Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming, was the station of two officers and 47 enlisted WAC personnel. Serving with the air force at Lockbourne Air Base, Ohio, were two officers and 116 WAC enlisted personnel and two WAC officers were on duty in the Military District of Washington.

Included in this total figure of Negro army strength on this date were 937 commissioned officers and warrant officers. One was a member of the women's medical specialist corps, seven were WAC officers and 69 were members of the army nurse corps. The remainder, 860, were commissioned in 24 widely varied arms and services of the army.

Within the United States, Negro troops comprised 9.21 percent of the over?all (army and air force) troop concentration while 8.32 percent of the troops serving in overseas theatres were Negro.

Long Beach Lags in Home Construction

LONG BEACH—Home-construction in this area has shown "a steady dimunition" since March, 1947, according to the Long Beach rent control advisory board No. 13.

The board declared "completion of family units dropped steadily during the year from 426 in January, 1947, to 298 in October, 1947."

The board in a vote of 3 to 2, the two real estate members voting no, recently passed a resolution urging that rent controls be continued bepond their expiration date of February 29, next.

The resolution noted that advertisements for "rentals wanted" in the newspapers serving the area remain "as heavy as ever, and the tenor . . . just as desperate.

Where vacancies occur, they are units renting from over $100 to $200 a month, the board found, and "many of these vacancies have been the result of evictions made possible under the Housing & Rent Act of 1947, which also permitted substantial increases."

It cites the joint state senate-assembly committee report on housing which found after exhaustive studies throughout the state that California families can afford to pay no more than $47 a month.
